After Veto Override

Mayor Tells Council 'Be Careful' With PUD Project Permits

Mayor Francis McCauley said he is not really surprised that the City Council voted 7 to 2 Monday night to override his veto of a council order regarding density in planned unit development areas.

Councillors Richard Koch, Jr., and James Sheets were the only ones to vote against overriding the mayor's veto of an order which increased the square feet per dwelling unit in PUD areas from 250 to 1,000.

Pay Raises Approved For Mayor, Council, School Committee

The mayor, city council and school committee will receive their raises.

The City Council gave final approval Monday night for raises of $40,000 to $50,000 a year, in two steps, for mayor; from $6,500 to $9,000 a year for city councillors, and from $1200 to $2400 a year for school committee members.

There was no discussion. Councillors Theodore DeCristofaro and Joseph LaRaia voted against the tion of the council's original vote," said McCauley.

"I hope the council will scrutinize each individual PUD project and be extremely cautious in granting permits," said McCauley.

Areas zoned PUD must apply to the City Council for a special permit. They are generally the site of major projects, such as Faxon Commons, which has 582 units, and the National Fire Protection Association in West Quincy.

It was noted by several councillors during a lengthy discussion Monday night that there are relatively few PUD areas in the city, compared to other zoning designations.

McCauley also said that he would not resubmit a Planning Board recommendation of 1,750 to the council, as he said he would have if his veto was sustained. In the meantime, the zoning

Calls State Proposal 'Premature'

McCauley Seeks Extension On Shipyard Plans

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN and DAN CONNELLY

Mayor Francis McCauley has written to General Dynamics management on behalf of the employee buyout committee requesting an extension to the deadline for proposals to buy the shipyard.

In a letter Tuesday to Quincy shipyard general manager Gary S. Grimes, McCauley requested an extension of the deadline from Aug. 15 to Sept. 30.

McCauley said the extension was needed so that the committee could complete its feasibility study and decide whether to submit a proposal.

He said that he had met earlier in the day with shipyard union officials including George O'Kane and Tony Svizzero. Arthur Foley, the mayor's administrative assistant, and James Lydon, also attended the meeting, according to McCauley.

The mayor also said it would be "premature" to consider a plan from a government agency. The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, before private firms have had a chance to submit proposals.

The MWRA is considering plans to use up to 50 acres of the shipyard for an operations center that might include a facility to assemble parts for the $1.5 billion Deer Island sewage treatment facility, according to spokesman Eliza Speranza.

"The prime concern is to see if General Dynamics can find a buyer who would utilize the entire shipyard," said McCauley.

"Until all the proposals are in, everything else should be on the back burner," he said.

While time is running out with the workers' plan to buy the shipyard, O'Kane, president of Local 5 of the Shipbuilder's Union, said the purchase by the state of 50 acres would not interfere with their plans.

"There's 182 acres there and they're only looking for a small portion," he said.

Consultants hired by the state expect to report on the feasibility of a worker buyout by mid-September.

Meanwhile, spokesperson Evelyn Murphy said General Dynamics has hired Meredith & Grew, a Boston-based real estate firm to help General Dynamics sell the yard.

"Meredith & Grew are responding to what is called Requests For Proposals (RFP) from different entities which asks what they would do with the shipyard were they to purchase it," she said.

"Right now we have heard from 130 different groups. Among those are 20 industrial users, 62 brokers, 33 developers and seven consulting firms who have interested parties.

"We will keep receiving requests for these proposals which are due back by the middle of August. After that all of them will be evaluated as to what we're looking for to sell the shipyard. This process of evaluation is expected to take until the end of the summer," she explained.

When asked if non-industrial users have applied for RFPs, Murphy said "yes, you could consider brokers as non-industrial users, and developers could be a little bit of everything. That's why we give them an RFP, to see what they would like to do

Reflects School Enrollment Decline

Fewer Neighborhood Celebrations This '4th'

There will be fewer traditional neighborhood celebrations this Fourth of July.

The number of area events is down by three and Richard J. Koch Sr., executive director of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments, says it reflects the decline in school enrollment.

The neighborhood field days and other events are mainly for children of this age group.

Morrisette Legion Post, Atlantic Neighborhood Association and the Adams Heights Men's Club have not scheduled events this year.

They had been held at O'Rourke playground, Welcome Union playground and Faxon Park.

The 15-year decrease in school enrollment from 17,800 in 1971 to 8,500 in 1985 will begin July 3 with a Miss Merry Mount Beauty Pageant Thursday evening and the parade and remaining events to be held Friday, July 4 starting at 1 p.m.

The Ward 2 Civic Association will hold its Annual Field Day Friday, July 4, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Fore River Field on Beechwood St., Quincy Point.

The Baker Improvement Association will conduct its Annual Field Day Friday, July 4, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Baker Beach.

The Houghs Neck Community Council conducted its Holiday Field Day Saturday, June 28, at LaBrecque Playground in Houghs Neck while the Harborview Residents Committee held their Field Day at Palmer Park, Germantown, on Saturday.

Cerasoli Seeks Funds For Burgin Pkwy Pedestrian Ramp

Quincy Rep. Robert Cerasoli has written to the state Executive Office of Transportation and Construction to enlist its support for an application for funding a new pedestrian ramp off Burgin Parkway Extension.

Cerasoli told Transportation Secretary Frederick Salvucci that this request was submitted under the Public Works Economic and Development Grants program.

"My interest and concern for this particular project stems from the numerous inquiries I have received regarding replacement of the old overhead ramp which originated in the Parkingway and crossed over to the shopping mall where Star Market and Grossman's are located," Cerasoli said.

He added that it is his understanding that this request for funding will include plans for a new ramp or access road off the Burgin Parkway Extension, to replace the old ramp removed during construction.

"A new ramp access road is of major concern to me, because I represent many senior citizens from Hancock Court and Hancock House, two elderly complexes, who must presently walk several blocks out of their way to reach shopping facilities and then return with heavy bundles," he said.

According to Cerasoli the seniors were afforded direct access by way of the old ramp, prior to construction of the Burgin Parkway Extension.

"In light of this fact, it is my contention that the city and state should reestablish this direct access for the benefit of these residents and others who used the ramp on a daily basis," he added.

Cerasoli said he has been assured by the mayor that the ramp is a priority.

Donnelly To Help Get Funds For Harbor Cleanup

Quincy officials have enlisted the aid of Cong. Brian Donnelly in their effort to get federal funds to clean up Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay.

During an overnight trip to Washington, D.C. last week, James Lydon, Planning Director; Leo Kelly, chairman of Quincy's Environmental Control Commission, and Peter Kenney, the mayor's executive secretary, met with Donnelly and his staff.

"The results of the trip were very positive" said Lydon. "We're one of the first cities in the nation to call attention to a problem that's not solely related to Quincy."

"Cong. Donnelly responded in a very favorable manner," said Lydon. "He said he will ask federal agencies to do some testing of the bay, and would be prepared to work with the city in terms of ultimately developing funding to clean whatever toxic substances are found."

John Stobierski, an aide to Donnelly, said that the first problem is that no one is quite sure what is in the harbor.

"There hasn't been a study in a couple of decades," said Stobierski.

"Industrial chemicals may be down there, in addition to other wastes."

"Cong. Donnelly is exploring with the Environmental Protection Agency and Health and Human Services what funding is available."

"He is prepared to offer legislation to provide money for the studies, if money is not already in place," Stobierski said.

"Many areas of the country are in a better situation than we are," noted Stobierski.

"With deeper waters off the coast, sludge is washed away. Quincy Bay is quite shallow. We may have a unique problem in Quincy."

Stobierski said that Cong. Donnelly hopes to hear from the EPA and HHS within the next month on what resources are available.

"For the first time, some direction is being put into the immediate problems of what we've put into the bay over the years," said Kelly, also a member of the Mass. Water Resources Authority advisory board.

Kelly said the aim is to keep the harbor in the best condition possible until the new Deer Island sewage facility opens in 10 to 15 years.

"If nothing is done, by the time the new Deer Island Secondary Treatment Plant opens, the harbor will be a total cesspool," said Kelly. "If we can get a program initiated, hopefully we can avert that kind of thing."

Kelly said that the harbor and bay are bad enough already.

He told of two men who have discontinued running fishing excursions from Quincy because last year, 50 per cent of the fish that were caught had fin rot and cancers.

"It's time for the EPA and federal people to be involved in the clean up of the harbor," said Kelly.

City Council Briefs

The City Council took the following action at its meeting Monday night at City Hall, the last before its summer recess:

- Appropriated $600,000 for citywide public works, social services and housing from more than $2 million which was repaid to the city after the sale of 200 Newport Ave.

Planning Director James Lydon said that the amount represents roughly $100,000 for each ward in the city.

Lydon also said that the money could be used to fund security at senior citizens housing in Quincy.

- Appropriated $300,000 for engineering and construction costs for the Ross Parking Deck in Quincy Sq.

Lydon told the council the deck would add at least another 110 spaces to the parking area, could be under construction in October and would take 12 months to complete.

- Appropriated $16,200 to employee insurance so that city employees can seek help for problems at South Shore Mental Health.

Councillor Patricia Toland requested a report in six months to make sure that there has been no embarrassment attached to employee's using the service.

- Accepted a gift of $500 from Hospital Corporation of America, which manages Quincy City Hospital, and $500 from Shawmut Quincy Bank and Trust for the purchase of personal distress locators for the Quincy Fire Department.

- Appropriated $82,576 to the treasurer-collector to pay for banking services for fiscal 1987 in compliance with Chapter 740 of the Acts of 1985.

Treasurer - Collector Franklin C. Jay is to furnish the council with information on Chapter 740.

- Commended Quincy Police Officers Harry Breen and Peter Turowski for delivering a baby girl, Sarah Jean Damon, while on duty June 25, at 6:35 a.m.

Councillor Michael Cheney presented citations to the officers.

Car Looted

Andrew Cardarelli of Phipps St., Quincy Center, reported to police June 25, that his car was broken into and 15 cassettes, a Sanyo radio, and blue and white wallet with license stolen.

Quarry Drowning Site Still Draws Swimmers

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Swingles Quarry, the West Quincy site of a drowning three years ago despite the fact that it is off limits to swimmers, continues to be a headache to city officials.

The Quincy Fire Department, Bay State Ambulance, Quincy Police Department and MDC Police were dispatched to the quarry last weekend after the report of a swimmer who failed to resurface.

Officials decided not to send divers into the 60-feet of water after it was learned that the person who called in the alleged accident was known to make false reports, according to Police Chief Francis Finn.

"It's a very dangerous operation to put divers in (using a crane) without verification," said Finn. "There were no missing person reports."

"In a case like that, you have to assume that it is a hoax."

Finn said that the police are in the area as often as they can be.

"It's a very hard place to patrol. The kids get up in the rocks and hide, then they pelt rocks at the police."

"Police can't use their weapons. They are there to protect, not to hurt," said Finn.

"It's like a Catch 22," he said. "We are trying to help them."

Tony Siciliano, deputy director of Quincy Civil Defense, said that 30 signs prohibiting swimming have been erected at the quarry over the last five or six years and all have been torn down by vandals.

"I don't know how much more the city can do," said Siciliano.

Mayor Francis McCauley agreed.

"There doesn't seem to be any way we can keep the kids out," said McCauley. "It's a very frustrating thing."

"The police check the area, but they can't be there all the time."

The J.F. White Contracting Co. of Newton began draining the quarry in May, 1984, in search of the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, who died in June, 1983, after jumping into the water from a 50-foot ledge.

His body was never found. While the contracting company did drain the quarry, it has filled again with 60-80 feet of water from rain and springs.

McCauley said that the company had contracted to fill in the quarry with clean fill over a period of 15 years and to pay the city on the basis of tonnage, but that has not happened.

"Hopefully, they'll start to fill it in," said McCauley. "We're waiting on them."

7 Appointed To Task Force

Mayor Francis McCauley has named seven people to a task force to control the future of Moon Island.

The task force was suggested by Rep. Michael Morrissey.

He said he was concerned that Moon Island, which was under consideration for the Suffolk County House of Correction until a Boston site was chosen, may be a target for other "offensive uses" by Boston.

Morrissey is among those named to the task force.

Other members are Mrs. Rona Goodman, president, Squantum Community Association; Joseph A.

MacRitchie, City Solicitor; Mrs. Maureen Mazrimas,

Save Our Shores; Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutkey,

Richard Meade, Principal Planner; and Robert McCauley, president, Atlantic Neighborhood Association.

State Ethics Commission Clears Mayor, Aides In Real Estate Transactions

The state Ethics Commission has cleared Quincy Mayor Francis X. McCauley and aides of any wrongdoing, relative to real estate transactions, after he took office in 1982.

The commission conducted an investigation and ruled they violated no conflict-of-interest laws by investing in millions of dollars of real estate.

But the commission told McCauley he should not engage in any future property transactions as mayor without first seeking its opinion.

The Ethics Commission said it is prohibited from commenting on the case, but McCauley and his administrative assistant, Arthur Foley, said they each received a letter from the commission saying there was no wrong doing.

"They said there was no problem, there was no evidence of any wrongdoing. So basically we're pretty well vindicated," the mayor said.

Last October published reports said that McCauley and key members of his administration formed seven real estate trusts and acquired $3 million of property in the city in a total of 14 transactions.

2 Suspicious Fires In Quincy Point

Two simultaneous fires of suspicious origin late Sunday night in Quincy Point caused an estimated $500 damage each and are under investigation.

The fires broke out in a 1960 Volkswagen van parked at the rear of 647 Washington St., and in a fence at 59 Whiton Ave. which blistered the paint on two garages, according to Deputy Chief Thomas Gorman.

Neighbors ran a garden hose to the fence fire and held it in check until the Quincy Fire Department arrived, according to Gorman.

There were no reported injuries at the fires which were extinguished quickly, Gorman said.

The fires are being investigated by the QFD Fire Prevention Bureau, Quincy Police and State Fire Marshal's Office.

Theft At Shaw's

Two car loads of young people ages 18 to 20 went into Shaw's on Quincy Ave. June 26 and stole a carton of cigarettes worth $12; six-pack of Mountain Dew, $1.79, and a few bags of Doritos, $2, the manager told police.

Praises Furnace Brook 'Rainbow Report'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
I would like to commend your newspaper for its special pullout section "Rainbow Report" published in the June 19, 1986 edition of your newspaper. What is particularly noteworthy both about the report contents as well as the fact that you published the report is that it was done simply as a very positive constructive effort. Too often such issues are handled in a reactive negative fashion which can only serve to exacerbate the underlying problem.

The two teachers, Ms.
Farrell and Ms. Hebert deserve particular credit for the time and planning they put into this program.
Teaching the concept of equity, while developing an appreciation for the understanding of other people and of other cultures should have lasting direct and indirect results. The students' responses seem to indicate that they already have a much greater sensitivity to the concepts discussed: sharing, friendship, equality, etc.

While no mention was made in the report of the efforts of Aliria Colletti, the Affirmative Action Officer for the Quincy School System, we would assume that this was one program in the multitude of activities around the equity issue which she has been encouraging and coordinating within the schools.

All parties, including your newspaper are contributing to a consciousness which our community can be very proud of.

Suggests Shamie As GOP State Chairman

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
The Massachusetts Republican Party is floundering under its present anemic leadership and time is long overdue for a change at the party's helm.

Whatever limited successes were reached during the 1984 legislative elections have been lost this year, especially with the Republican nomination for governor.

Now is the time to put some new faces, ideas and leaders in charge and make the Republican Party a viable opposition party again. The political paralysis must end soon if the Mass. GOP is to justify its existence.

I believe it is time for conservative businessman and two time US Senate candidate Ray Shamie to be given the job of state party chairman. Perhaps, he is just the man for the job.

Family Thanks Quincy Hospital For Sisters Care

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
Our sister was recently a patient on the M2 floor of Quincy City Hospital. Her illness was terminal and she died on June 2, 1986.

The caring and devotion shown to our sister, as well as all patients on M2, was far beyond the nursing care normally expected. Her pain was extreme, and the staff on the floor called upon every means possible to make her as comfortable as possible.

We would like to take this opportunity to express our heartfelt thanks to the supervisor of the M2 floor, Linda Anderson, and her excellent and professional staff. We shall be forever grateful for the love and attention they gave our sister.

We would also like to thank Mrs. Kagan and Musto for their caring and professional dedication during their treatment of our sister, both in Quincy City Hospital and at home.

Her Torch Was Lighted Here

America pays special tribute to a real sweetheart -- the Statue of Liberty -- on her 100th birthday with a big party this weekend in the Big Apple.

But if it were not for a couple of local boys and their friends and their beliefs, the Lady wouldn't be standing in New York Harbor. Or have a torch to hold.

Quincy native sons John Adams and John Hancock, and Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, Samuel Adams and others set the stage for Lady Liberty 210 years ago Friday.

That was July 4, 1776 when the Declaration of Independence was first signed and America's freedom born.

Friday also marks the 210th anniversary of a famous autograph: John Hancock's as the first signer of the document.

And it is also the 160th anniversary of the deaths of John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, the architects of the document.

That July 4th would be remembered as the big day came somewhat of a surprise to Adams.

Although he played a major role in establishing America's freedom birthdate, he thought it would be July 2nd -- not the 4th.

He celebrated July 2nd would be celebrated down through the years as the big day.

Adams made that somewhat erroneous prediction in a letter to Abigail Adams July 3, 1776. In the letter sent from Philadelphia to Abigail here in Quincy, he declared:

"The second day of July, 1776 will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America."

Adams thought this because the declaration of Independence was adopted by 12 states on July 2. But it wasn't signed by anyone until July 4th.

For that matter, only two of the 55 signers affixed their signatures on the 4th. They were Hancock, who as President of the Second Continental Congress, was the first to sign, and Charles Thomson.

Most of the others signed the precious document on Aug. 2. But six signed after that.
And one, Thomas McKean of Delaware, didn't get around to it until five years later.

Jefferson and Hancock usually get top billing in the history books when it comes to the Declaration of Independence -- Jefferson as the author and Hancock as the first signer.

Hancock's signature -- with a bold, fancy flourish "No King George III can see it without his spectacles" -- has become probably the most famous autograph in history.

But Adams played a key, if not as glamorous a role in putting the Declaration together.

Jefferson himself praised Adams as "... the most efficient agent in procuring a public Declaration of Independence."

Ironically, both Adams and Jefferson died on July 4, 1826 -- the 50th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

Adams collapsed here in Quincy in a wing chair in his second floor study in the "Adams Mansion", the home of four generations of this illustrious family and the summer White House for two Presidents -- Adams and his son, John Quincy.

Adams and Jefferson had a falling out but reconciled in later years with the help of Abigail.

Among Adams final words as he lay dying were,
"Jefferson survives."

He thought Jefferson had outlived him. But actually Jefferson had died earlier that day at his home.

Of course, in those days, before radio and television, there were no such things as instant news bulletins. Can you imagine all the furor on that day if there was radio and television back then!

Adams was just three months and 15 days from his 91st birthday. He survived Abigail, his wife of 54 years -- by eight years.

He had lived to see his son, John Quincy, become the nation's sixth president in 1825. But Abigail, the only woman to be the wife of one president and the mother of another, never knew that second honor.

Four days before he died, John Adams was asked to give a holiday toast to his fellow Quincy residents. The old man replied:

"I will give you independence forever."
Asked if he would add to that, he declared: "Not a syllable."

"Independence forever" -- words to remember and cherish and to be ready to fight for.

The Adams Mansion on Adams St. is again open for the tourist season. If you've never been there, you're missing an historic treat.

The Mansion is under the National Parks Service and the loving care of Superintendent Wilhelmina Harris.
She has kept it in a "lived in appearance."

As you walk through the beautiful rooms you get the feeling that John and Abigail are out for a walk and will be right back.

You find yourself kind of waiting for them.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Record Number Of Elementary School Students

Dr. Paul Gossard, superintendent of schools, announced that Quincy's 21 elementary schools would have an all time record number of students in elementary schools next September - 8,221.

This increase of 744 from last year was the result of the rapid birth rate following the war. The increase was expected to continue for the next five years.

Atherton Hough School in Houghs Neck had top enrollment - 711, with the Washington School in Quincy Point with the lowest - 178.

Student teacher ratio would be one to 29 in the Quincy schools next fall.

KENNEDY TO ORGANIZE WOMEN'S COMMITTEE

Mrs. Rose Fiske of Granite St. received a letter this week from Congressman John F. Kennedy, candidate for the U.S. Senate.

In the letter, Kennedy announced his plans to set up a women's committee in Quincy to assist him in his campaign. The committee would be in charge of voter registration.

Co-ordinating the women's committees in the state was the Congressman's sister, Pat Kennedy.

Former Addict Works To Keep Youth From Trying Drugs

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

"The drug world is like Disneyland," said Jack Donahue of Quincy.

"When youths are on drugs, they're like kids at an amusement park.

"The little rides get boring so they go on bigger rides. ... But when they want to get off, there isn't a friendly attendant to stop the ride."

Donahue hopes programs like his Heavenly High Youth Ministries can prevent youths from trying drugs in the first place.

He knows first hand what drugs can do to a person.

"I lived 'Miami Vice'," said Donahue who explained that he was a drug addict and cocaine pusher from the ages of 14 to 29.

"I was a major narcotics mover with ties to all phases of organized crime," said the 31-year-old Quincy resident who now considers himself a Catholic evangelist.

"I'm not proud of what I did. I'm ashamed of what happened, and I want to turn all the negative into positive," said Donahue who stated that he had a religious reawakening which helped him kick the habit.

"For the first time in 31 years, I know who I am.

"I want young people to feel good about themselves, too."

Heavenly High Youth Ministries, a non-profit organization sponsored by the Boston Archdiocese, brings drug and alcohol abuse prevention programs to religious and other groups throughout the state.

There is no fee for the lecture, according to Donahue, but a donation is accepted.

Donahue and other speakers, including his brother, Brian, newest member of the New York Jets football team, were recently part of a panel discussion at St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

As a fund raiser for the organization, currently operating out of Donahue's home at 98 California Ave., West Quincy, chocolate chip cookies are being sold. Donahue said that U.S. Trust intends to distribute 2,500 bags of the cookies.

He also said he hopes to meet this month with Lee Iacocca of the Chrysler Corporation to solicit support for such events as a 400-mile bike-a-thon from Quebec, Canada, to Boston. "Peddling the Heavenly Highway."

Donahue, who grew up in Quincy, said that he began taking drugs because he felt he wasn't athletic or good looking and he wanted to "belong."

In his approach to young people, he tries to get them to feel that they are all right just the way they are.

"They don't have to succumb to peer pressure," said Donahue.

"It's better to be rejected for who you are, than accepted for who you are not," he said, quoting Project Feelings, a secular group of which Donahue is also the founder and executive director.

He said he tries to get across to youths that "drugs can take their youth, dreams, hopes, aspirations and life."

"Drugs are poison, and they are killing our kids," he said.

There's One Sure Way To Stop A Teenager From Drinking And Driving...FOREVER

Fortunately, there are other ways to get this message across. And, considering the importance of this issue to everyone in the community, we hope that you'll want to join us in our effort. We have a film on Teenage Drinking and Driving that offers good suggestions for effectively communicating with teenagers.

It not only offers guidance to adults, but it shows how teenagers can join forces to influence their peers and how to persuade a drunk person not to drive. If you're involved in a service club, church organization, or youth group, ask us to bring this program to your next meeting.

We all know that young people are the future of our society. And if by sharing this information with your group, we can change the course of even one young person's life, it will be worth much more than the time we spend. Please call us if you feel the same way.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Whether we call it the 4th of July or Independence Day is unimportant. How we feel about it and what we do about it is important.

Every generation of Americans owes a debt to the past. This is a country of freedom only because the men and women who lived in the years past had the courage to fight and the will to sacrifice. They won and held the freedom we enjoy. Without their vision, their hard work and their faith we would not be the nation we are today.

Because of this debt to the past, every generation in America has an obligation to the future. It is to pass on to those who follow us the freedom and opportunities we inherited. This means that no generation has right to live for itself alone. No generation has the right to squander the nation's resources . . . to live beyond its own earnings and to eat up the earnings of generations yet unborn . . . It is not good for the present to rob and enslave the future. Rather, if there is such a thing as a natural moral law, every generation must pay to the future the debt that it owes to the past . . .

There are many misconceptions about funeral costs. That's not surprising, really, as there are other charges involved in a funeral, then those of the funeral director . . . cemetery or cremation charge . . . monuments or markers . . . newspaper death notices and flowers. Many also believe that funeral directors will not discuss funeral or burial costs frankly and specifically. Nothing could be further from the truth. Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., adjacent to the Quincy Historical Society Home, stands ready to give you whatever cost information you desire at any time. Roger Hamel, Donald McCarthy and Joseph Thompson are thoroughly trained in the profession they have chosen and ready to discuss frankly, funeral cost information. Sunday, Quincy Point Congregational Church will welcome and hear the Rev. William R. Cunitz, vice president of Andover Newton Theological School.

Rev. Cunitz is responsible for the general advancement of the Newton Centre school, including alumnus, and church, public and published communications of the school.

Rev. Cunitz will deliver a sermon on "God's Own Network", based on scriptural readings from Psalm 5:1-8, Galatians 6:7-10 and the Gospel of Luke 10:1-12 and 17-20.

He received his master of divinity degree from Andover Newton Theological School in 1974 and has served parishes in Swampscott, and in Rindge and Peterborough, N.H. before joining the staff at the theological school.

The service of worship will be conducted at 9 a.m. in the sanctuary with Deacon Christine Mendez serving as liturgist and Herman Weiss as organist. The service of worship will be followed by refreshments served by Christian Education Board members.

Child Care is always provided for infants and young children.

The church is located at the corner of Southern Artery and Washington Street in Quincy. All members and friends of the church as well as new residents of the South Shore are cordially invited. For more information, please call the church secretary at 773-6424 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 12 noon, Monday through Thursday.

'Christian' Liberty Bethany Sermon Topic

This coming Sunday there will be one service of worship at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, located at Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon and lead the service as the congregation shares in worship and Holy Communion. The sermon is entitled "Christian Liberty" and is based on John 8:31-36. Rev. Arnold will draw together the themes of Independence Day and the Christian faith as he speaks of true freedom rooted in Christ. The lay Scripture reader will be Kinya Mikami. The communion commentary--for the radio only--will be given by Corinne Mikami.

Peter E. Krasinski will be at the organ console and will direct the duet of Paul David Johnson and Marilyn Bulli in singing as the offertory anthem, "Give Me Your Tired and Your Poor" by Irving Berlin. In addition Paul David Johnson will sing as the solo "The Little Willow" by Aaron Copeland. Nursery care will be provided by church members for babies and toddlers.

The service of worship is broadcast live at 10 a.m. over WJDA 1300K. A cassette tape of the service is available for $2 by contacting the church office at 479-7300.

There will be a fellowship hour following the worship service. Members of the community are welcome to share in both the worship and in the fellowship.

'Make Our Opinion Known' Squantum Pastor Urges

On this past Sunday, an hour or so before the service, members and friends of the First Church of Squantum gathered outside on the grounds of the church for a colorful Independence Day breakfast.

Patriotic marches were playing from the loud speaker and dozens of American flags of all sizes were used in the decorations, all of which were red, white and blue. Those who attended the breakfast wore the same colors and a good many were, as requested, a "Fourth of July" straw hat.

The menu included orange juice, French toast and syrup baked beans, melon and a beverage. It was sponsored by young people of the church to raise money for camperships at Christian camps. Hazel Mayne and Ruth Swenson were in charge.

"As Christians, we honor the flag for the ideals that it represents," said the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor. "Of course, we don't always agree with everything our government or our people do but we can honor the ideals that the flag stands for."

The title of the pastor's sermon during the service was "What We Have to Be Thankful For." In his talk, Dr. Langevin celebrated the American system of government--democratic, free and secular--and related it to its roots in Protestant church history.

The American ideal of democracy was traced to its roots in 17th century English churches with a congregational policy in which the members of such churches were able to manage their own church affairs by a majority vote of their members and in which the opinion of each individual was counted as important.

The ideal of constitutionalism was traced to its roots in the same kinds of churches in which every member became a member by agreeing to a common covenant. Any action contemplated by the members as a church had to agree with the covenant or basic rule upon which they had already agreed. In political terms, the covenant or fundamental rule became a compact, as in the case of the Mayflower Compact, or a constitution, as is the case with the American government today. In a constitutional government, political leaders are sworn to do nothing that does not agree with the fundamental law.

The ideal of a secular government was traced to the political struggles of those same seventeenth century Separatist churches, from which Baptists and Congregationalists are descended today. Their idea of the separation of church and state is the cornerstone of American democracy.

Dr. Langevin said that, although the origins of American democracy were based in the Christian heritage, Christians today were still under the obligation to do all they could to keep their democracy alive.

"This includes speaking out on our government needs to be encouraged to take action

"This includes speaking out when our government needs to be encouraged to take action that it is not taking now, such as imposing economic sanctions on the outlaw South African regime, or when our government embarks on a course that seems wrong-headed and immoral, such as the 100 million dollars of aid that our Congress has just voted to give the Nicaraguan contras."

"Those points of view may not make us popular with people who would rather not have to deal with the consequences of our present foreign policy but, in a democracy such as ours, all of us have to make our opinions known. That is one of the best ways we have to show our love for our country."

Baritone Tom Williamson sang "Thanks Be to Thee" by George F. Handel as the offertory anthem. Hymns sung by the congregation included "Not Alone for Mighty Empire," "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory," "O Beautiful for Spacious Skies" and "Now, O Lord, Go with Us."

Barbara Edgar, Steve Williams, Minda Hurd and Robert Dixey assisted Dr. Langevin in the pastoral prayer. Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were the ushers. Sarah Mildram and Susan Scott hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

Young people of the church will hold another car wash at the church again this Saturday, July 5, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. This will be the second fund-raiser in a series planned to raise money for a youth group trip in 1987 to a national Christian youth gathering in California.

There will be two services at the church this Sunday: the guitar service at 8:15 a.m. and the traditional service at 9:15 a.m. Persons planning to attend should note that both services will be held at these earlier times for the rest of the summer.

'A Singing Faith' Sermon Topic At Covenant Congregational

At the 10 a.m. worship service on June 29, Rev. Fred Lawson, pastor, preached about the vital role of music in worship.

The service was dedicated to Richard Smith, the minister of music, and the choir. Rev. Lawson also dedicated his singing of "The Lost Chord" by Sir Arthur Sullivan to Mr. Smith, who accompanied him.

The hymns, "I Will Sing of My Redeemer," "My Soul Now Magnifies the Lord," and "He Keeps Me Singing" all reflected the theme of the service, as did the choir's introit: "I Sing With Joy and Gladness." In tribute to Independence Day, the choir, directed and accompanied by Mr. Smith, sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" arranged by Steffe. Mr. Smith played "Trumpet Tune and Air" by Purcell as a prelude, "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken" by Haydn as offertory, and "Gigue" by Bach as postlude.

Greeters were Mrs. Elinor MacDonald and Robert Day. Ushers were: Florence Anderson, David Day, Bendix Lundgren, and Elinor MacDonald.

During the service, final plans were announced for the Covenant Seniors trip to East Hailand, Ct. Following the service, a special congregational meeting was held to discuss an offer to buy some of the church property for a development project. Afterwards, coffee was served by Peg Bennett and Trudy Ackers downstairs in the fellowship hall.

Starting this Sunday, July 6, the 10 a.m. worship service will be held outside (weather permitting) in the Outdoor Chapel adjacent to the church building. Chairs are provided, but those who prefer may bring their own lawn chairs. Music will be by a mixed quartet. A coffee hour will follow in the church fellowship hall.

Flag Ceremony, Parade, Highlight Squantum July 4th Celebration

Squantum will hold its 78th Independence Day celebration Friday.

Thomas J. Nutley, Ward 6 Councillor, announced that a formal ceremony to salute the nation's veterans will be held at 9 a.m. during flag raising and dedication of the newly erected flag pole at Huckins Ave. and East Squantum St.

The parade will step off at 10 a.m. at the corner of Huckins Ave. and Bellevue Rd. Afterwards awards will be presented for floats and costumed marchers which will be presented behind the Squantum School.

A band concert, presented by the championship Lancers Drum and Bugle Corp of Revere, will conclude the civic festivities.

Participating in the flag ceremony will be Mayor

Francis X. McCauley, Nutley, Executive Director of Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments Richard Koch, Sr., members of the Robert I. Nickerson American Legion Post No. 382, John Walsh and Richard Hendry of Squantum, who provided the flag pole and whose idea it was to redesign and upgrade the triangular memorial area at the entrance to Squantum.

Governor Dukakis In Merrymount Parade Friday

The Merrymount Neighborhood Association is extending an open invitation to all to join with them in celebrating a star-spangled 4th of July parade which begins at 1 p.m. at Merrymount School.

This year's parade will feature the Mass. 27th Lancers and two exceptional bands, who are traveling to Quincy from Canada.

Also scheduled to march is Gov. Michael Dukakis,

Quincy Mayor Francis X. McCauley, member of the City Council, State Sen. Paul Harold and State Rep. Thomas Brownell, according to the Merrymount Association.

Ward 2 Field Day Friday

Ward 2 Civic Association will hold its annual Fourth of July field day for the young people of Ward 2 at 10 a.m. at Fore River Field, 16 Nevada Rd., Quincy Point.

Included in the events will be various races for boys and girls ages five to 16, a decorated doll carriage and bicycle parade, and a 'horribles costume' contest.

Sparkles The Clown will be there to assist in making up the childrens faces who plan to participate in the contests. They will be served a hotdog, ice cream and cold drink free of charge.

The association will award trophies and ribbons to winners in each category. Rain date is July 5.

• Legion Baseball Quincy, Wollaston, Morrisette In Wins

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy and Wollaston Legion baseball teams, which got off to 0-4 starts in Zone 6, have come along fast and last week provided two of the biggest upsets of the season.

Quincy, which had played fine ball despite four losses, shocked Braintree, 5-0, behind the one-hit pitching of Rob Higgins, and Wollaston surprised previously undefeated Randolph, 11-2, Monday night behind the one-hit pitching of T. J. Steen, who in his previous start had pitched a no-hitter against Quincy.

Wollaston improved its record to 2-6 while Quincy, which tied Canton, 7-7, Monday night, has a 1-5-1 mark.

Meanwhile Morrisette handed Mass. Truck of Weymouth its only loss of the season, 4-3, and tied Randolph, 3-3. Morrisette is 3-2-1.

Monday night Quincy will host Braintree at 8 o'clock at Adams Field, and Wollaston will play at Holbrook at 8:30. Tuesday Morrisette will be home to Milton at 8 at Adams and next Wednesday Morrisette will host Braintree at 8 at Adams and Wollaston will be at Milton and Quincy at Mass. Truck at 6.

Higgins gave up only a bunt single to Paul Salvaggio in handcuffing Braintree and allowed only three base runners and struck out seven.

Quincy had 11 hits off two Braintree pitchers with Pat O'Sullivan, Bill Mulkern, Kyle Robertson, Peter Tufts and Higgins having two each and P.J. Hussey one. Higgins had two RBI.

Earlier Wollaston topped Quincy, 8-0, behind Steen's no-hitter. Steve Austin had two hits for Wollaston. Tom Logan had a long home over the 385-foot mark at Adams Field and Dave Toch had a hit.

Quincy pitchers Andy Palmariello, Bob Laracy and Wayne Chambers hurt their cause with seven walks and Quincy committed several costly errors.

Randolph went into Monday's game with a 4-0 mark and was the only unbeaten team in Zone 6. However, Steen was again awesome, giving up just one hit, striking out six and walking only one.

Chris Rossi had three singles, Steve Constatas a single and triple and Austin a double. Rick Nabstedt, Mike Malone, Neil Hatfield, Mark DiMatteo and Rob Keddy all played well. Rob Kane suffered a serious knee injury and may be lost for the season.

Wollaston played well against Braintree and led, 1-0, in the fifth inning but lost, 6-2.

Dan Santry, who was backed up by excellent defensive plays from Tocchio and Jay Lespassio, pitched well into the fifth before tiring. Two walks and an error led to a five-run inning for Braintree.

The low point of Wollaston's season came in a 17-5 loss to Mass. Truck, which got off to an 8-0 lead after two innings. Logan's three-run homer, his second, was the lone bright spot.

Quincy had a 6-2 lead at Canton Monday night but the home team rallied to gain a 7-7 tie.

Quincy had 10 hits with Robertson and Sean Gately having a double and single apiece. O'Sullivan and Hussey two singles each and Palmariello and Happsas a hit each. Higgins pitched all the way, striking out eight, one with the bases loaded full to end the sixth inning. He walked only two.

Quincy lost to a vastly-improved Carter Post, 11-4, with Carter collecting 12 hits, all singles, off three 16-year-old Quincy pitchers.

It was a 4-3 game going into the sixth when Carter exploded for seven runs on five straight hits. Quincy received 11 walks but could not get the big hits.

Morrisette overcame a 3-0 deficit to hand Mass. Truck its first loss.

John Cristiani pitched all the way and did well after a shaky first two innings when he allowed all three runs on six hits and two walks. He pitched hitless ball the rest of the way.

Morrisette pulled off two clutch double plays, nailing the tying run at the plate in the seventh inning to complete one of them.

Tim Scannell led off the seventh for Mass. Truck, reaching second on a two-base error. With one out, hard-hitting Paul Carey hit what looked like a home run but a stiff breeze held it up and Chris Ricciuti caught it with his back to the fence. Scannell felt he could score all the way from second, Ricciuti fired to Ron Fletcher who relayed the ball to catcher Rob McDonald, who made a diving tag to get Scannell and end the game.

Chris Marshall and Cristiani combined on a fine play to stop a rally. Fletcher came up with a great unassisted double play and Mike Joyce made an excellent running catch in center field.

Morrisette scored twice in the third to cut Mass Truck's lead to one run. Joyce singled, Steve Minichiello walked, Marshall reached on a fielders choice, Dan Biagini singled to score Joyce and when the ball eluded the left fielder, Marshall also scored.

The score remained 3-2 until the sixth when Morrisette put together four hits, a walk and a fielders choice, climaxed by a perfect squeeze bunt to pick up the tying and winning runs.

Cristiani led off with a

Marshall, Dinardo, Christiani Standouts

Mike Marshall, Gary Dinardo and John Christiani, all of Quincy, were members of the Suffolk University baseball team this year.

All three pitched for SU and each contributed to the Rams third straight appearance in the Eastern College Athletic Conference tournament.

Marshall was the ace of the staff, compiling a 6-0 record with a 2.00 earned run average. He struck out 48 batters and walked only 16 in 63 innings of work. Dinardo had a 4-2 record. He hit .421 in 19 plate appearances.

Christiani had a 3-1 record and 3.86 earned run average in his first season at Suffolk. He also had a save.

single, Bob Hunter singled sending Cristiani to third and Ed Flavin was sent in to run for Hunter. McDonald scored Cristiani with his second hit and put Flavin on third. Fletcher laid down a perfect squeeze bunt scoring Flavin. Morrisette, trailing, 2-0, after two innings on two towering Randolph home runs tonight field, came back to take a 3-2 lead but Randolph tied it up in the sixth.

Larry Taglieri pitched all the way for Morrisette, giving up six hits, striking out four and walking two.

Morrisette apparently scored in the top of the first when Minichello walked and stole second. When the throw went to the outfield, he came home but, on an appeal play, he was declared out for failing to touch the plate.

With Randolph leading, 2-0, Biagini opened the sixth by beating out a drag bunt. Cristiani reached on an error and Hunter scored both with a booming triple to deep right. McDonald drove in Hunter with the tie-breaking run with a single.

Randolph tied it in the bottom half when, with the bases loaded, Randolph scored on a squeeze bunt. Eric Klein then tried to steal home but was caught at the plate.

Morrisette was apparently on its way to a win over Carter Post in Dorchester, leading, 7-2, after a seven-run second inning. However, the lights went out and never came back on, forcing the game to be called.

Morrisette played in the Fall River Invitational Tournament last Saturday and Sunday, defeating Manchester, N.H., 7-5, but losing a wild 15-14 decision to host Fall River, which won the tournament by defeating Barnstable, 10-6. Other teams in the tournament were Brockton, Milford, East Bridgewater and New Bedford.

Morrisette coach Ray Cattaneo did not start any of his front line pitchers, but the team remained very competitive.

Fletcher pitched 6 2/3 innings in the opening game, giving up 10 hits, striking out three and not walking a batter. Cristiani relieved with the bases loaded and two outs in the seventh and struck out the final batter.

In the second game Morrisette ran away to an 8-0 lead. McDonald had a grand slam homer. Minichello doubled, Joyce singled, Biagini reached on an error, Cristiani drove in a run with a single, Hunter singled and then came McDonald's grand slam.

Fall River sent 17 batters to the plate in the fifth and scored 13 runs on nine hits, six walks and an error.

Morrisette did not give up and took a 14-13 lead in the top of the seventh. However, the host club scored twice in the bottom half to win it.

Boston Gear Rebounds After Kiwanis Bombing

Boston Gear, after being edged by Quincy Cable, 1-0, bounced back to wallop Kiwanis, 11-0, for its 12th win in 14 games.

Earlier Gear had been embarrassed by Kiwanis, 17-5. Gear is still tied for first place in the National League.

Derek Haggas and Mike Patch shared the pitching duties against Kiwanis, combining for a two-hitter. Gear's offense was led by Danny Duncan and Danny Savage. Savage had a long home run, a double and a single, while Duncan opened the game with a double and also had two singles. Haggas and Billy Skutul each had a double and single, Timmy Byrne two singles and Patch and Matt Riley with a single each.

The defense was flawless with Haggas starting a fine double play late in the game to stifle a potential rally and George Wirtz and Eric Kruec had good defensive plays.

Mike McManus played well defensively for Kiwanis and hit the ball hard three times but came up empty.

Gear also defeated Houghs Neck, 6-2, with Haggas striking out six and walking three and not giving up an earned run.

Haggas also led the attack with a double and single. Billy Skutul had two singles, Savage and Byrne had doubles and Duncan, Patch and Wirtz had key hits.

Duncan was outstanding at second base, making several fine plays, and David Skutul, Kruec and Riley also stood out on defense.

Rotary scored seven runs in the first inning and just held off Burgin Platter for a 14-11 victory.

Burgin was led by Tommy Balzano with four hits and Mike Malvesti with three. Brian Doherty, Joe Foley and Duane Holmes had two hits each. Holmes relieved starter Malvesti in the opening inning and pitched well the rest of the way, fiving up four hits and striking out six. Holmes also had a towering home run to right field.

Burgin came back to defeat Colonial Federal, 3-1, behind Balzano's one-hitter. He struck out 12. Colonial Federal pitcher Steve Loud gave up only two hits and struck out eight.

Brian Connolly displayed great hustle and Chris Dupills played strong defense for Burgin.

Marina Bay Offshore Power Boat Race July 19

The third annual Marina Bay 100 Offshore Powerboat Race will be held Saturday, July 19.

The directing club for this year's premier powerboat event of the summer is Race New England.

Again this year, co-sponsor Marina Bay is also the site for the largest, most spectacular powerboat water event in Boston this summer. The winner of this event is awarded the Marina Bay Cup an annual presentation awarded to the top boat and driver in the offshore waters of New England.

At 11 a.m., an expected fleet of 35 of the fastest offshore powerboats on the East Coast will parade out of Marina Bay through Boston Harbor for the start of the race. The Marina Bay 100 will begin at noon with a major part of the race course stretching off Nantasket Beach.

Nantasket offers spectators the largest, best known ocean front in the Greater Boston area. The Marina Bay 100 is run under the direction of the National Powerboat Racing Association. It is the second in a series of six races held in the Northeast.

The public is invited to watch the race-no admission. Among the best viewing areas are Marina Bay. (this is the "staging" area and is always an exciting place to be before and after the race); Nantasket Beach, the race will pass before the beach area six times from start to finish! The United States Coast Guard has designated a large spectator boat area off Nantasket Beach.

The public is invited to come to Marina Bay Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday morning to view these spectacular boats and talk with the drivers--it's free and open to the public!

Braves Defeat Tigers For Junior Farm Title

The Braves, unbeaten National League champions, scored three times in the third inning to defeat the American League champion Tigers, 4-2, and capture the Junior Farm League championship.

Winning pitcher Dan Farrell pitched five shutout innings. Steve MacDougall had a towering homer, Jeff Russell a two-run double and Jacob Hart a key hit for the Braves. MacDougall, Kevin Coleman, Todd Sullivan, Farrell and Jeff Burrell turned in sparkling defensive plays.

For the Tigers Paul King pitched well. King and Scott Hanafin had key hits and Tim Sheehan, Chris Macado, Paul Kane and Sean White played strong defense.

The Braves finished at 14-1, losing only the second game of the National League playoffs to the Cubs. Playing for the team were Burrell, Farrell, Coleman, Doug Gallagher, Jim Goldrick, Dave Gunther, Hart, Scott Holmes, Steve Koch, MacDougall, Mastroianni, Sean Perry, Russell, Greg Santoro and Sullivan.

Coach Bob Sullivan thanked his assistant coaches Steve Dunley and Mike

Meigs and the Quincy Sun for its coverage of the league.

Earlier the Braves had topped the Cubs, 4-2, with two runs in the bottom of the fifth inning in the third and deciding game of the National League playoffs.

The game featured outstanding pitching as the Braves' Jeff Russell and winning pitcher Dan Farrell outlasted A.J. Carthas and Dan Donahue. Russell and Farrell allowed only three hits while Carthas and Donahue yielded only four.

Russell, Steve MacDougall Sean Perry and Jacob Hart

had the Braves' hits. Jim Goldrick, Kevin Coleman, Jeff Burrell and Steven Koch played strong defense. For the Cubs Brendon Ridge had a triple and Donahue and Bill Coughlin singles.

The Braves had won the opening game, 9-5, to improve their record to 12-0. Farrell was the winning pitcher.

Hart started a five-run rally for the Braves in the third inning and Farrell finished it with a grand slam home run. MacDougall had a home run and a double, Hart an RBI triple, Coleman a three-run double, Koch a triple and Perry a single. Russell, who shared the pitching with Farrell, had nine strikeouts and Farrell, Jeff Clemens and Coleman stood out on defense.

For the Cubs Carthas had two hits, Ridge a triple and a fine job on defense, Billy Dunn a double and Coughlin a single.

The Cubs had upset the Braves, 13-10, sparked by Ridge's grand slam homer, to tie the playoff series at one win apiece.

Registration Underway For City Boating Program

Registration is now underway weekdays for the Quincy Recreation Department's annual program of rowing, sailing, windsurfing and canoeing instruction at the William F. Ryan Boating and Sailing Facility located adjacent to Black's Creek in Merrymount Park.

The program is open to Quincy residents on a fee basis. The instructional program is divided into age and skill classes.

Youth ages 8-16 who have passed a swim test are offered classes in rowing, sailing, canoeing and windsurfing from beginner to advanced levels.

This program is offered daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Interested applicants may take the swim test at any of the 11 swim stations or at the Lincoln Hancock Pool.

Adults may participate in all programs daily from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Adult and family sailing is conducted on weekends. Saturday hours run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. while Sunday hours are noon to 6 p.m.

Special adult instruction may be arranged on a limited basis during the day for adults who work evenings.

The entrance to the boat-house is the road adjacent to Adams Field that runs through Pageant Park to the boat-house parking lot.

Elm St. Playground Basketball Court To Be Refurbished

The Elm St. Playground will soon get a new look.

The City Council appropriated $4,260 Monday night for refurbishing of the outdoor basketball court at the request of Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro.

The court was recently dismantled by Park Department personnel following extensive damage to the basketball backboard units.

The specifications include the repair of cracks, installation of a new set of galvanized basketball standards, backboards, hoops and nets, sealcoating of the playing surface, stripe and paint regulation lines.

"This is one of the most heavily used basketball courts in the city," said DeCristofaro, in whose ward the court is located.

"This relatively small expenditure will provide many years of recreational enjoyment for thousands of neighborhood youth at this popular basketball location."

Basketball Camp At North Gym

Recreation Director, Barry J. Welch, announces that the Basketball camp, sponsored as one of the 10 self-supporting sport camps and instructional workshops by the Quincy Recreation Department, will be held at the North Quincy High School gym.

The camp, directed by Brian Buckley, head coach of Basketball at Curry College, and Paul Bregoli, head coach of Girls Basketball at North Quincy High School, is an instructional program geared to young people with a genuine interest in the sport. The basketball clinic is open to boys and girls ages 10 to 14. A complete series of drills will emphasize fundamentals of passing, shooting, rebounding, and individual defense as well as some team concepts such as the fast break.

Scrimmage games will be conducted with instructors pointing out proper techniques.

The camp will be held at the North Quincy High School gym from 8:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m., and the cost of the five day camp is $18.

Registration for this can be made at the Quincy Recreation Department Office, 100 Southern Artery, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.

For additional information, call 773-1380, ext. 204.

Our Local Business', Alumni, All Citizens

Who are concerned in assisting the athletic programs of our youth that have been greatly effected by recent budget restraints.

Our goal, to install permanent lighting facilities in our Veterans Memorial Stadium.

We need, $100,000 to achieve this goal. We need $25,000 of this sum by June 22nd.

We know that there are many citizens and alumni of our athletic programs that have many fond memories of our stadium. We want our facility to be second to none. Night athletic events will allow many more people to attend various competitions involving all of our athletes. The city of Quincy has always shown great pride in our Athletic Programs and throughout the years they have proudly represented our city of Presidents.

Now in these restricting times our Athletes need our support. We cannot let them down.

We the Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee are asking your help in achieving our goal to rededicate Veterans Memorial Stadium and help us "Brighten Up" the future of our athletic programs for all of the youth of our city.

Your support and tax deductible contributions would be greatly appreciated by the youth of our city.

HOW MUCH PROFIT?

QUESTION: Any suggestions on how to keep the taxable profit on the sale of a home as low as possible?

ANSWER: You add legitimate expenses to the original cost, such as title search, title insurance, lawyer's fee, and "points". Also add the cost of any capital improvements — finished attic or basement, new kitchen, added porch, patio or swimming pool.

You can deduct expenses from the sales price, such as Realtor's commission, lawyer's fees, advertising costs and fix-up expenses if they were made within 90 days prior to the sale. Now, deduct the lower selling price from the higher original cost figure and you arrive at the taxable profit.

DON'T OVERLOOK items which allow you to reduce your profit tax basis when you sell.

Unemployment Topic On 'Psychology Tonight'

'Psychology Tonight' will address the unemployment problem in this country Wednesday July 9 at 9 p.m. and again Monday July 14 at 8:30 p.m.

The program will take a look at the history of unemployment in Massachusetts and relating that to the problems of today.

Joining Tim Lynch series

host, will be Alexander Keyssar, author of Out of Work. They will discuss how unemployment developed, why it became a problem, what was done about it in early Massachusetts and why it remains a problem to this day. The show will air on Quincy, Milton and Randolph cable.

WEEK OF: JULY 3,

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Trust more to men than to your memory. The week sees you putting in overtime and earning a small bonus of promotion. Health program requires comprehensive review.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Weekend focuses on cultural activities. Friend becomes surprisingly congenial but may dominate more of your time than you wish. Monday Tuesday favor the planning of financial goals.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Your encouragement goes a long way in helping a younger friend become more self-confident. A difficult assignment professionally handled may prove the ticket to a lucrative job.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Thursday and Friday accent romance and new friendships. The weekend is favorable for property matters. Domestic hassles may be unavoidable on Monday. Tuesday's travel offers pleasant surprises.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Last minute changes to your schedule keep you on your toes all week. Rumors are highlighted during the weekend. New relationships are on a steadier course after Monday.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Decisions over a family matter should be finalized by Wednesday. Financial news proves surprisingly bright. Your ingenuity pays off in a career or community related project.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Good period for shaping travel plans, for embarking on new career activities and for clearing up romantic misunderstandings. Legal matters may dominate your time this week.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Short trips are accentuated and include the possibility of making a key contact. Hobbies can lead to new friendships. In company, partner is more decisive and more understanding.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
A social week in which you meet individuals from unusual walks of life. Be sure not to ignore such practical matters as physical checkups and financial planning.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Week may see you tightening your friendship circle. A highbrow repays a favor in an unexpected way. Romance is favorable but sure to opt for a light touch.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
You master the art of compromise, in friendship or romance; this could be the start of a new chapter. Watch extremes in areas of diet, health and exercise.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Week is favorable for taking on new responsibilities at home or at work. Friend may be overly dependent, even possessive. Self-improvement program starts to show results.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Creative and enthusiastic, you inspire others to realize their potential. You're flighty too, and are known to abandon a task midstream in favor of a more exciting one. An on-again, off-again project can reach a happy finale within the next 12 months; the key is a combination of hard work and leadership.

BORN THIS WEEK
July 3rd, director Ken Russell, 4th, actress Gina Lollobrigida, 5th, showman P.T. Barnum, 6th, singer Della Reese, 7th, singer Ringo Starr, 8th, singer Steve Lawrence, 9th, actor Richard Roundtree.

Reagan Nominates Simon Fireman Director Of Export-Import Bank

President Ronald Reagan has nominated Simon C. Fireman of Quincy to be a director of the Export-Import Bank.

The appointment, which requires full Senate approval, will bring the five member governing board of the bank to full strength.

Fireman, Chairman of Aqua-Leisure Industries of Avon, will represent the views of the small business community as a director of the agency. Under mandate of the Congress, the Ex-Im Bank will allocate 13 per cent of its $14 billion budget for working capital, loans, guarantees and insurance in 1987.

The Export-Import Bank has been the chief instrument for promotion of U.S. exports since 1934, when it was created by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Since its founding, the bank has provided financial support to 154 countries and has authorized more than $180 billion to support export programs for American business.

The importance of the Export-Import Bank was highlighted recently when President Reagan noted in a special message to the directors of the bank on the occasion of its 50th anniversary, "Exports create and sustain jobs for millions of American workers, and contribute to the growth of the U.S. economy."

Fireman said:

"The bank has the power to

negotiate the ultimate elimination of all constraints to free trade, thereby expanding the exports of American businesses and helping to reduce the $150 billion trade deficit. I want the challenge of being able to have a positive effect upon the lives of our own citizens and those of other countries who will benefit from American goods and services.

"I believe that the outreach philosophy of the U.S. is to stimulate the economic growth of developing countries. In the decades to come they will have the potential to become our customers. We must therefore acquaint those countries with American made products of excellence -- created and shipped by the thousands of small manufacturers and independent farmers who comprise the business community of our nation."

Fireman, a Democrat, will be the only native New Englander on the board of directors of the Export-Import Bank. He founded Aqua-Leisure Industries, a manufacturer of recreational swim products and sporting goods, in 1970 and has directed the company's growth to world-wide leadership.

In 1983, Fireman was appointed by President Reagan to a two year term as a member of the Advisory Council on Trade Negotiations, a voluntary, private sector group which counsels the President and the U.S. Trade Representative on foreign trade. Fireman was recently reappointed to an additional term, but will relinquish that post upon confirmation by the Senate to the Export-Import Bank Directorship.

The Export-Import Bank is an independent agency of the Federal Government and is funded by the Treasury Department. The bank was the agency designated by President Harry S. Truman to administer $19.3 billion in Marshall Plan funds for the reconstruction of European industry following World War II.

The bank is currently concentrating its efforts on reduction of the U.S. trade deficit through encouragement of exports by small business.

requirement in PUD areas would have gone back to 250 square feet per dwelling unit.

"The council seems to be set at 1,000," he said.

McCauley and Councillor Michael Cheney had introduced the change from 250 to 1,000 square feet in PUD areas.

However, McCauley later decided to veto the order as inadequate after listening to neighborhood groups.

"I haven't changed my mind," said Cheney, who seconded Councillor John Lydon's motion to override the veto.

"To go back to 250 would not be in the best interest of the city," he said.

Councillor Patricia Toland noted that it was a "very confusing, very complex, issue."

She felt that the zoning requirement should stay at 1,000 square feet until the council's Task Force on Zoning concludes its discussions.

Councillor Thomas Nutley, task force chairman, said that he is receiving input on zoning from citizens and builders.

"Our recommendations will reflect the input of people," he said. "They will reflect what the city needs in 1986, not 1971 (the last time the city was rezoned.)"

Councillor James Sheets voted to sustain the veto because "to set the requirement at 1,000 square feet is insignificant if you look at the projects which are coming in. The requirement should be 1750."

Sheets noted that he did not lack confidence in the Zoning Task Force.

"It takes a long time for creative changes," he said. "But in the meantime, I have to live with primitive zoning bylaws."

Councillor Joseph LaRaia noted that PUD projects must come before the City Council for permits anyway.

"I'm content to accept the present situation and take each proposal as it comes before the council," LaRaia said.

Council president Stephen

McGrath noted that "a unique power of the City Council with regard to zoning is the authority to grant permits."

"I don't think we've made a mistake yet," said McGrath. "To raise the requirement from 250 to 1000 is the fair and proper thing to do."

McGrath also said he would support Sheets if he wanted to have higher requirements in his ward.

"I want to cut through the fog," said Koch, who noted that the council had earlier approved an increase from 250 to 2,000 square feet.

"There has been a lot of lobbying by groups I'll call political," he said.

"As a result, a number of councillors changed their vote from the original 2,000 square feet to 1,000," said Koch.

However, the veto was still overridden.

It was the second veto of McCauley's administration.

The other one regarded rezoning Quincy City Hospital to PUD and was also overridden.

McCauley Seeks Shipyard Extension

with the shipyard."

She added that the yard has no price tag at this time. "There are a lot of questions in the proposal that need answering and the price is contingent on what they would do with the yard.

In reference to the worker buyout plan, Murphy said General Dynamics is cooperating with the state in all their requests made to us. And, like anybody else, they (the workers) will be able to put in an RFP as to what they would do with the shipyard were they to purchase it.

Murphy said there are about 200 people now left at the yard. These are maintenance, security and administrative and they will be kept there until the end of the year.

Toland Suggests City Beautification Program

Councillor Patricia Toland thinks that the city should put more emphasis on improving its appearance.

And she submitted a resolve passed by the City Council Monday night that the mayor consider enacting a program of beautification.

"It's ironic that this item is last on the agenda," said Councillor Toland, "because it seems to be last in the city."

She complained of weeds throughout the city, unmowed grass on city property, and untidy conditions at the Ross parking garage in Quincy Sq. and the nearby John Adams statue.

Councillor Toland suggested that there be a regular schedule of grass cutting for city property.

"It should be contracted out if it is too much for the Department of Public Works or Park Department so that the city will look respectable," she said.

Councillor Toland suggested that the money for such a program could come from the more than $2 million the city was repaid when 200

Newport Ave. was sold.

Councillors James Sheets and Joseph LaRaia spoke in favor.

Mayor Signs Bond For Hospital Project

Mayor Francis McCauley has signed a bond purchase agreement with a total issue of $60,200,000 for the reconstruction of a major portion of Quincy City Hospital. The bond purchase agreement was with underwriters including Kidder, Peabody and Co., Inc.;

Goldman, Sachs and Co.; Merrill Lynch Capital Markets Group and Solomon Brothers, Inc. The closing of the sale of the bonds is scheduled for July 16. The issue of the bonds had previously been authorized by the City Council, the mayor, the city auditor and the chairman of the hospital's board of managers as authorized officers. This was made possible under a statute passed by the Massachusetts Legislature in 1985.

The Federal Housing Administration (FHA) has provided insurance on the hospital's revenue bonds. Quincy City Hospital is the first public hospital ever granted FHA insurance. With an AAA rating, Quincy City Hospital will receive the lowest interest rate ever covered by FHA since this program started.

These bonds have been issued by the City of Quincy and the hospital to finance capital improvements to the hospital where they will be replacing two-thirds of their buildings and patient beds.

Fire Destroys Monument Firm

Quincy and state authorities are probing what started a 3-alarm fire early Tuesday that destroyed the W.C. Canniff and Sons Monument Co. at 84 Penn St., West Quincy.

Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti said the fire, of suspicious origin, sent clouds of billowing smoke across Burgin Parkway Extension and heavy stray embers ignited the outside of four dwellings on Federal St.

Deputy Fire Chief Joseph Jackson said his department was notified at 1:55 a.m. by a neighbor. "By the time we got there the building was fully involved."

Valenti said the fire started on the outside of the north side of the building and worked its way up and in.

The structure was a combination of wood, cinder block and corrugated metal.

He added that it caused an estimated damage of around $300,000 to the monument company. Four nearby houses received about $20,000 in combined heat damage to their aluminum and vinyl siding.

Company owner Jerome Canniff of Quincy said the firm, founded in 1893, came to the West Quincy site in 1945 and employs 15 people. Its main office is in Rosindale.

The fire is under investigation by the state fire marshal, the city's Fire Prevention Bureau and Quincy police.

The company manufactures headstones and other memorial markers.

Voting Places Changed

The physically handicapped will not be isolated during election time thanks to a shift in voter polling places.

According to Ward Two Councillor Ted DeCristofaro, St. John's Church on School St. has been designated as the polling place for voters in precincts 4, 5 and 6.

Those in precinct 3 will cast their ballots from now on in the gymnasium of the Point-Webster School on Edwards St.

DeCristofaro said these changes were made to accommodate physically handicapped voters, and that if any residents of Ward Two have questions or concerns about any of the polling places, they may call the City Election Department at 773-1380, ext. 335.

Historic Quincy

A Tourist Guide

City of Quincy, Massachusetts

Office of the Mayor

Welcome to Historic Quincy

As the Mayor of the City of Quincy, it is with great pride and pleasure that I welcome you to the City of Presidents.

Quincy's Historic Trail is not a road by which one follows history, but rather a way by which one may experience contact with a rich and diverse history.

Quincy, Massachusetts conjures up a wealth of images in many people. The rich history, the abundance of important historical sites, the source of granite for famous structures, the building place of many ships, the home town of famous people; all of these are distinctions that belong to Quincy alone.

We continue to acknowledge our history and our heritage. Quincy recently celebrated the 250th anniversary of President John Adams' birth. In the words of President Adams, "I made a Constitution for Massachusetts which finally made the Constitution of the United States." Thus, as the nation approaches the 200th anniversary of the United States Constitution, it will be with special pride that Quincy will watch the celebration of the Constitution, whose origins are traced to Adams' law office right here in Quincy.

It has been over 350 years since the first Europeans settled in what is now Quincy and we have been a city for very nearly 100 of those years. From being a small trading post to a city of over 88,000, Quincy has kept pace with the changing world around it, but has retained a distinctive identity that is based in its proud past.

In the pages ahead, you will read about places and men and women that have played significant roles in the history of our city and our nation. I think you will agree with me that Quincy is indeed rich in historic heritage. I urge you to visit the "Church of the Presidents" (First Parish Church) and our City Hall, and while you are in Quincy Center, take time to visit the Adams Academy (site of the birthplace of John Hancock) and a U.S. Landmark, the Hancock Cemetery. All of these historic sites are within a short walking distance of one another and are excellent examples of Quincy's heritage preserved for her visitors and citizens of today.

I hope your visit to Quincy will be a rewarding and memorable learning experience and that you will return again.

Sincerely yours,

Francis X. McCauley

Six-Year Renewal Project

John Adams Birthplace Now Restored

After six years of reconstruction, the birthplace of John Adams, the second president of the United States, looked like it did when he and his parents, Deacon John and Susanna, lived there.

Visitors to the John Adams Birthplace, which peers over the shoulder of the John Quincy Adams Birthplace on Franklin St., South Quincy, can now see more completely how the house looked.

It is open to the public this year for the third time since restoration began.

The only furnishings in the house when it opened to the public two years ago were a table, bench and two chairs in the kitchen and a chest of drawers on another room.

"The house is nicely furnished now and looks like it did when they lived in it. We have had made every piece of furniture that was in the house. It was a giant task," said Wilhelmina Harris, superintendent of the Adams National Historic Site.

Last year, there was only minor work left to be done, some of it in the room where Deacon John Adams made shoes, Mrs. Harris said. It has since been completed.

The rooms are furnished from the period of Deacon John and his wife and probably reflect her taste, said Mrs. Harris. "They are furnished not elaborately, but sufficiently to have a lived-in look," she said.

The birthplace was probably built in the late 17th or early 18th Century for less than $1,000 in the pounds of the day and the clapboards were hand-hewn from trees that grew in its fields.

The pine clapboards of the John Adams Birthplace are unpainted and the U.S. National Park Service, which restored the house, insists that based on research the house will remain that way, despite the fact that John Adams was known to have preferred it white.

The pine clapboards of the John Adams Birthplace are as yet unpainted and the USNPS insists, based on new research, that the house will remain that way, despite the fact that John Adams was known to have preferred it white.

For more than 80 years they were the little red farmhouses at the foot of Penn's Hill. But research turned up the fact that Abigail Adams, the wife of the second president, wanted them "stone" and white in color.

Since what Abigail wanted, Abigail usually got, in the summer of 1980, the John Quincy Adams Birthplace was repainted to Abigail's taste, the "stone" color determined to be a sort of off-white mixed especially for the occasion from a late 18th Century formula.

The John Adams Birthplace was painted white so that both houses would look as they did in 1807, the year the last Adams lived in them, but later research indicated it was unpainted. Mrs. Harris, an authority on the Adams family, hopes the USNPS will change its mind again.

The birthplaces, parts of which date back to the 17th Century, were taken over by the National Park

JOHN ADAMS BIRTHPLACE

Service on May 1, 1979, after years of semi-neglect due to lack of restoration and maintenance funds.

The John Quincy Adams Birthplace re-opened in 1982 for the first time in three years after undergoing a $175,000 rehabilitation faithful to the lives of the prominent family that lived there.

If you close your eyes and give your imagination full rein you can see them now as they were more than 200 years ago.

There is Abigail Adams in the new pink gingham dress. There is the curly-haired infant, Thomas Boylston Adams, bouncing on his father's knee. And there is John Adams, home from the Continental Congress in Philadelphia for the first time in a year, sitting at the table drinking a cup of tea.

The setting, right down to the pewter plates and candlesticks, is reproduced faithfully in the corner room of the John Quincy Adams Birthplace.

The furnishings of the John Quincy Adams Birthplace are precise reproductions of those that were in the house when the second president lived there. The originals are at the Old House, the Adams National Historic Site, from which they cannot be removed under the ownership agreement with the Adams family.

The most interesting room in the John Quincy Adams Birthplace is John Adams' old law office, in which the elder Adams, James Bowdoin and Samuel Adams drafted the Massachusetts State Constitution, the model on which the U.S. Constitution was based.

"The law office is furnished pretty much as John Adams had it," says Mrs. Harris, once secretary to Brooks Adams, the last member of the family to live in the Old House. Adams, the last member of the family to live in the Old House.

There is the hutch table on which he wrote the State Constitution; the bookcase filled with books that probably were there in John Adams' day, judging by an inventory of his law library; his old writing desk and two chairs that were copies from those in his second law office in Boston.

Pastels of Abigail and John, originally done in Salem, were photographically reproduced by photographer George Dow and now hang in Abigail's sitting room. The originals are in the possession of the Massachusetts Historical Society.

Abigail's old kitchen cabinet was discovered serving as a bookcase in the Old House.

"Brooks Adams always thought that books could go anywhere," explains Mrs. Harris.

The cabinet was reproduced and installed in the kitchen of the John Quincy Adams Birthplace along with copies of the blue china that John purchased when he was emissary to Holland.

Our Only Father - Son Presidents Born Here

It was the North Precinct of Braintree then, a sprawling tract of woods and farmlands on the gently rolling hills some 10 miles south of the Boston Stone along the winding Coast Road to Plymouth.

Something less than 1,500 people lived in the North, Middle and South Precincts of Braintree in the year 1735 and two of them were Deacon John Adams, 44, farmer and cordwainer, and his wife, Susanna, 26.

Their home was a weathered gray farmhouse with a high peaked roof and attached lean-to kitchen set on seven acres of farmland at roughly Milepost 11 of the Coast Road, just where it turned up the wooded slopes of Penn's Hill toward the Monaquot River ford.

He was a pillar of his rural community. Mr. Adams was, a deacon in the First Parish Church, a lieutenant in the Braintree militia and a town constable with a forceful personality and tact that enabled him to collect taxes from his neighbors.

He was a hard-working farmer whose cider was acknowledged best in town, he worked in leather during the winter months, and he had an eye on an adjoining piece of farmland, 9½ acres owned by the Billings brothers, complete with a farmhouse similar to his own.

Susanna Adams was a Boylston of

Brookline, socially a cut above her husband, and perhaps there were moments in the simple house at the foot of Penn's Hill when she thought of the home of her uncle, the noted Dr. Zabdiel Boylston of Brookline, whose furniture came all the way from London.

Their first child, a son who was named John for his father, was born in the southeast bedroom of the farmhouse on Oct. 19, 1735 (Old Style). He would become the second president of the United States.

Deacon John purchased the house next door for 500 pounds in 1744 and it was ready 20 years later when young John moved in with his brand new bride, the former Abigail Smith, the preacher's sparkling daughter from the next town of Weymouth.

Their second child, a son who was named John Quincy Adams after his great grandfather, Col. John Quincy, was born there on July 11, 1767. He would become the sixth president of the United States.

The junction of Franklin St., Independence Ave., and President Ave. in South Quincy is the only place in the country where the birthplaces of two presidents who are father and son stand side by side in the same city.

The precise age of the two cottages at the foot of Penn's Hill is not known.

When the John Adams Birthplace was retored by the Daughters of Revolution in 1897, a brick bearing the date 1681 was discovered under the southeast corner, and the house was known to have been occupied by one Joseph Penniman in that year.

And a man named Samuel Belcher was living in the John Quincy Adams Birthplace as early as 1663, when it was little more than a one-room shack with fireplace. It was built to its present size in 1716, as evidenced by a date brick found in the new fireplace.

According to Henry Adams, a grandson of President John Quincy Adams, no member of the family lived in the cottages after 1818, although ownership remained in the Adams family until 1940.

Both houses were restored by the Adams Realty Trust, the John Quincy Adams Birthplace in 1896 at a cost of $1,650 and the John Adams Birthplace a year later at an expense of $515.49.

They were presented to the city of Quincy in 1940 and supervised by the Quincy Historical Society until they were turned over to the U.S. National Park Service in 1979.

The Adams Birthplaces are at 133 and 141 Franklin St. They are open daily, including Sundays and holidays, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Oct. 15 with guided tours at no charge.

The Quincy Presidential Trail

The Adams Birthplaces are an important stop on the newly designated Quincy Presidential Trail, a 10.5 mile route that takes the visitor through the 17th and 18th Century locales associated with the lives of the Adams family.

Historic sites along the trail include the Adams Mansion, Dorothy Quincy Homestead, Adams Academy, First Parish Church, Adams Crypt, City Hall, Hancock Cemetery, the Birthplaces, Abigail Adams Cairn, First Commercial Railroad, First Ironworks, Col. Josiah Quincy House and Moswetuset Hummock, most of which are described in this magazine.

The Quincy Presidential Trail is a National Recreation Trail, the seventh in the state of Massachusetts and the 625th in the nation.

ADAMS MANSION NATIONAL HISTORIC SITE

The Adams Mansion

Summer White House And Home Of 2 Presidents

Josiah Quincy, the one who built railroads around New England and founded the cooperative bank movement in Massachusetts, was in his boyhood a frequent visitor to the mansion where John Adams, the second president of the United States, lived in retirement.

Later, he wrote with wry amusement about Sunday dinner with the aging patriarch of the Adams clan and his wife, Abigail, a dinner that inevitably began with a thick pudding made from boiled corn meal.

"...it being thought desirable to take the edge off one's hunger before reaching the joint," wrote Quincy.

"Indeed, it was considered wise to stimulate the young to fill themselves with pudding, by the assurance that the boy who managed to eat the most of it should be helped most abundantly to the meat, which was to follow."

"It need not be said that neither the winner nor his competitors found much room for meat at the close of their contest; and so the domestic economy of the arrangement was very apparent."

Quincy, as a young Harvard law student, stopped by several times a week in summer to talk and read to the former President. He found the visits delightful. Indeed, the Adams of the cold and austere public mien was never more relaxed and warm than he was at his country home in Quincy.

The original house, a small part of the present building, was built probably in 1731 by Major Leonard Vassall, a wealthy West Indian sugar planter who lived in Cambridge and apparently used it for a summer place.

His daughter, Mrs. Anna Borland, who was a Loyalist during the Revolution, abandoned the house to leave with the British forces when they evacuated Boston in 1776. For a while it was used as a haven for rebel refugees fleeing the war zones.

Mrs. Borland returned to reclaim the house after the Revolution and John Adams, then in Europe as the first American ambassador to London, purchased it for 600 pounds through the good offices of the Cotton Tufts of Weymouth, his wife Abigail's cousin.

The Adamses were about to return to the United States after seven years abroad and Abigail was concerned that John's books and papers and the furnishings they had acquired in Europe would not fit into their old farmhouse at the foot of Penn's Hill where they lived before.

The deal was closed on Sept. 26, 1787, and the deed is still on file in the Suffolk County Registry of Deeds in which the Adams purchase is specified as a house, barn and other buildings on seven acres of land with some 76 acres more scattered around the North Precinct of Braintree.

There are indications that Abigail was at first disappointed with her purchase. It was a lot smaller than she remembered it.

"In height and breadth it feels like a wren's house," she wrote to her daughter, Abigail, the wife of Col. William S. Smith, "Let Col. Smith come without heels to his shoes or he will not be able to walk upright."

Abigail and John Adams moved into the house, which they named "Peacefield," after his retirement from the presidency in 1801 and lived there until they died.

It was from the "Old House," as the family called it, that John Adams carried on his long and increasingly warm correspondence with his old rival, Thomas Jefferson of Virginia, who had succeeded him in the presidency. In retirement, they became firm friends as they outlasted their contemporaries.

"Thomas Jefferson lives," whispered John Adams as he lay dying in the Old House. He was wrong. Jefferson, in far away Monticello, Va., had preceded him in death by a few hours on the same day.

It was July 4, 1826, the 50th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

The Old House which served as summer White House for two presidents, was home to four generations of the Adams family, the last, Brooks Adams, dying in February, 1927. It was taken over by the U.S. National Park Service in 1946 to become the Adams Mansion National Historic Site.

The site, located at 135 Adams St., is open to the public from April 19 to Nov. 10 daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is 50 cents. Children under 16 are admitted free.

The Adams Family

1. HENRY ADAMS (1583-1646) emigrated from England in 1638 and was granted 40 acres in Mount Wollaston (later Quincy).

2. JOSEPH ADAMS (1626-1694), son of Henry, farmer and maltster of Old Braintree.

3. JOSEPH ADAMS (1654-1737), son of Joseph, who married Hannah Bass, a granddaughter of John Alden and Priscilla Mullins.

4. JOHN ADAMS (1691-1761), son of Joseph, farmer and selectman of Old Braintree, known as Deacon John.

5. JOHN ADAMS (1735-1826), son of Deacon John and second President of the United States.

5a. SAMUEL ADAMS (1722-1803), revolutionary firebrand; great, great grandson of Henry and cousin of President John.

6. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS (1767-1848), son of John, sixth President of the United States.

7. CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS (1807-1886), son of John

8. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS II (1833-1894), son of Charles Francis, state legislator and thrice candidate for governor of Massachusetts.

8a. CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS II (1835-1915), son of Charles Francis, historian and founder of the Quincy school system.

8b. HENRY ADAMS (1838-1918), son of Charles Francis, author of "The Education of Henry Adams."

8c. BROOKS ADAMS (1848-1927), son of Charles Francis, the last Adams to live in the Old House in Quincy.

9. CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS III (1866-1954), son of John Quincy II, mayor of Quincy and Secretary of the Navy under President Hoover.

10. CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS IV (1910-), chairman of the board of Raytheon Co.

Hancock Cemetery

Patriots, Early Settlers, Intrigue Buried Here

Henry, the first Adams in Quincy, is buried there. So is the Rev. John Hancock, father of the first signer of the Declaration of Independence. And Col. John Quincy, for whom the city is named.

But of all the 800 graves in the Hancock Cemetery, the Old Burying Ground of Colonial Quincy, most intriguing is one marked by a tombstone bearing this cryptic epitaph:

"Erected to the memory of John R. Grieve: Died Nov. 12, 1850, age 22 years, and Hannah Banks, his wife, died Nov. 12, 1850, age 15 years. Both of Zanesville, Ohio. Deluded by the writings of A.J. Davis."

The mystery of John and Hannah has never been fully solved.

They came to Quincy in 1850, not as man and wife, but as male cousins, John Green and George Sands. They obtained work in a shoe factory but rarely left their lodgings on Elm St., spending long hours reading books on spiritualism.

Co-workers thought that George Sands looked frail, almost effeminate. It was widely suspected that "he" was a girl. A scheme was devised to test the theory.

One day at lunch one of the shoe workers tossed George an apple. A man would catch it by closing his legs; a woman by spreading her skirt. Guess what "George" did!

Humiliated, John and Hannah never went back to the factory. Nor did they ever return to the house on Elm St. Their frozen bodies were found next spring by rabbit hunters on Penn's Hill, locked in a loving embrace.

Several months later, the father of John Grieve arrived from Ohio to bury the young couple. It was he who directed the words to be chiselled on the headstone. He explained no further.

A.J. Davis was never identified for sure. But Andrew Jackson Davis, a spiritualist, hypnotist and faith healer, was then practicing in Boston.

Among the belongings found in the Elm St. lodging house were these words, written by 15-year-old Hannah Banks:

"To the oppressed and down-trodden, to the suffering and afflicted, I would cry out...Death is only an event, only a circumstance in the eternal life experience of the human soul. Death is simply a birth into a new and perfect state of existence."

Not far from the grave of John and Hannah is a tomb bearing words that cry out of an earlier injustice:

"Three precious friends under this tombstone lie

"Patterns to aged, youth and infancy.

HANCOCK CEMETERY

"A great mother, her learned son, with child.

"The first and least went free. He was exiled.

"In love to Christ, this country, and dear friends

"He left his own, cross'd seas and for amends

"Was here extoll'd, and envy'd all in a breath,

"His noble consort leaves, is drawn to death,

"Stranger changes may befall us ere we die,

"Blest they who will arrive eternally.

"God grant some names, O thou New England's friend.

"Don't sooner fade than thine, if times don't mend."

The tomb with its hidden message contains the family of the Rev. Leonard Hoar, third president of Harvard College, a man too liberal for his times.

He was forced by the General Court of the Massachusetts Bay Colony to resign at the instigation of religious opponents and jealous colleagues for permitting Harvard to "languish and decay." Eight months later in November 1675, he was dead at 45.

In 1975, the same General Court, now of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, righted the 300-year-old wrong done to the Rev. Mr. Hoar by "proclaiming and confirming his innocence of any misdeeds while president of Harvard College."

The cemetery, on Hancock St., Quincy Sq., next to City Hall, is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

Stormy Debate

Quincy Was Almost Hancock

If some of the early settlers had their way, you would be living in the city of Hancock today instead of the city of Quincy.

Quincy, like George Washington, was born on Feb. 22.

On Feb. 22, 1792, the General Court of Massachusetts passed an act incorporating the North Precinct of Old Braintree as the separate town of Quincy.

But, just before that, quite a few of the residents wanted the new town named after native son John Hancock instead of Boston-born Col. John Quincy.

Colonel Quincy, who had represented Old Braintree in the General Court, was the great grandfather of President John Quincy Adams.

Many people today think Quincy was named after the sixth President but the honor actually goes to his great grandfather.

John Hancock who was born in the North Precinct, was governor of Massachusetts when the General Court passed the act incorporating the new town as Quincy. He signed the act the following day.

But at the first town meeting of the new town in May, a petition was presented to change the name from Quincy to Hancock in honor of the patriot and first signer of the Declaration of Independence. The move was finally defeated after a stormy verbal battle.

Opponents argued that Hancock was still alive and that the honor should go to a distinguished but deceased person.

JOHN HANCOCK

Colonel Quincy met those requirements. He was both distinguished and deceased.

He had represented Old Braintree in the General Court from 1717 to 1741 - 12 of those years as Speaker of the House. He died in 1767 at age 77 - two days after John Quincy Adams was born.

Quincy became a city June 11, 1888.

Thus, on Feb. 22, 1986 Quincy will mark its 194th birthday as the community of Quincy.

But a lot of people - residents and tourists alike - will go right on thinking that Quincy was named after John Quincy Adams.

Quincy Quiz

What was the role in Quincy's history of "Thomas Morton of Clifford's Inn, Gent.?"

Answer:

Thomas Morton, dubbing himself the "Lord of Misrule," took control of the Mr. Wollaston settlement in 1627, changed the name to Merry Mount, erected a maypole and cavorted with the Indians until the Pilgrims of Plymouth and the Puritans of Boston put an end to such carryings on.

What was the role in Quincy's history of Claude Grahame-

White?

Answer:

Claude Grahame-White was the pioneer aviator who won a $10,000 prize by flying from Squantum to Boston Light and back on Sept. 7, 1910, during the Harvard-Boston Aero Meet, the first organized flying tournament in the United States.

What was the role in Quincy's history of Francis L. Souther?

Answer:

Francis L. Souther was a member of the Hancock Light Guards, Fourth Massachusetts Regiment, who was killed at the Battle of Big Bethel on June 10, 1861, the first Union soldier to die in combat in the Civil War.

It Was Richard

For years, the first name of Capt. Wollaston, the leader of the original settlers of Quincy in 1625, was lost to history.

Only recently did the researches of H. Hobart Holly, historian of the Quincy Historical Society, turn up the information that it probably was Richard.

Abigail Adams: A Woman Of Special Honors

Abigail (Smith) Adams was the only woman to be the wife of one President and mother of another.

She was the wife of John Adams, our second President.

She died in 1818, however, and did not see her son John Quincy Adams elected our sixth President.

John Adams did live to see his son become President in 1825.

THE FIRST PARISH CHURCH

First Parish Church

Where 2 Presidents, Their Wives Are Entombed

In 1949, when the present First Parish Church building, the Old Stone Temple, was 121 years old, it was ruled officially that the church is older than the city itself and the town before it.

It was then that the late historian William Churchill Edwards was called upon to resolve a minor dispute that involved the rounding of the corners of the church lot in downtown Quincy.

"Almost the first subject to which the minds of the early settlers of our country were turned after they landed here was the formation of a church," said Edwards.

The first church in these parts was established as a branch of the Church of Boston in 1636. It became a church in its own right in 1639. The Mount Wollaston section of Boston was incorporated as the town of Braintree on May 23, 1640. Ergo, the church came first!

Quincy's first house of worship, the branch of the Church of Boston, was called the "Chappel of Ease," pastor, the Rev. John Wheelright, his sister-in-law, Anne Hutchinson, and others were banished from the Massachusetts Bay Colony for heresy.

The new church, the one that lasted, was gathered by covenant on Sept. 26, 1639, and it was holding services in its third meeting house in 1732 when its pastor was the Rev. John Hancock, father of the bold first signer of the Declaration of Independence. Son John also was a member.

The affairs of the church and the town of Quincy were one and the same until 1824 when church and state were separated in Massachusetts and the Congregational Society was established to handle parochial matters.

The old Hancock meeting house was still standing, although a little run down, on the south lawn of the present church lot in 1822 when former President John Adams deeded the interest from certain of his lands and granite from his pastures to build a stone temple.

It was completed in Greek revival style at a cost of $30,488.56 which was some $3,000 less than architect Alexander Parrish's estimate-and dedicated Nov. 12, 1828, with John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States holding Pew No. 1.

Even before the church was dedicated, the mortal remains of its benefactors, John and Abigail Adams, were transferred to tombs in the crypt of the church and, in 1852, the bodies of John Quincy Adams and his wife, Louisa, joined them.

It is the only church in the United States in which two Presidents are buried. The only other church in which a President is buried is the Episcopal Cathedral in Washington D.C., where President Woodrow Wilson is entombed.

Still an active Unitarian church, it is open to the public for tours from May 15 through Labor Day, Monday through Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Donations are accepted. There is a charge of 50 cents per adult for organized tour groups, which should make an appointment at least one week in advance. Tours of the church at other times during the year may also be made by appointment.

Why We Pronounce It 'Quin-zee'

Why do we pronounce Quincy "Quin-zee" when just about everyone else in the country refers to it as "Quin-see?"

There are 19 other Quincys in the U.S., but they pronounce it "Quin-see."

Can they be right and we be wrong?

Not according to Quincy's late city historian, William C. Edwards who never budged an inch whenever the argument ever came up. And it still comes up.

The reason we pronounce it "Quin-zee" is very simple.

"That's the way the Quincy family pronounced it," he used to explain.

"The original Quincy family which settled here at Mount Wollaston pronounced it 'Quin-zee,' including Col. John Quincy after whom Quincy, Mass.—the first Quincy—was named in 1792."

Apparently all 19 other Quincys in the U.S. were named after John Quincy Adams.

And, apparently the early settlers of those communities thought John Quincy pronounced it John "Quin-zee."

Anyway, that is how Edwards explained it. Seems like a sound argument.

Dorothy Quincy Homestead

John Hancock's Declaration Of Love

An aura of romance surrounds the stately old house that is set back in the trees from the corner of Hancock St. and Butler Rd., on the banks of Furnace Brook.

There is the wallpaper with its blue cupids and pink flowers that was imported from France for the wedding of Dorothy Quincy, the vivacious daughter of the house, to Quincy-born John Hancock, a patriot on the run with a price on his head.

There are the words "You I Love and You alone," addressed by Hancock to his beloved Dorothy and scratched on a window pane with his diamond ring just before he fled to Lexington on the eve of the Revolution.

And there are the secret chambers and passageways, used, it was said, to hide fugitive patriots during the Revolution and, at an earlier date, even certain Englishmen fleeing a charge of regicide in the death of King Charles I.

Parts of the house were built in 1685 by Col. Edmund Quincy, the second of the name, on land that was granted to an earlier Edmund in 1638. The major part was built in 1706 by Edmund the third. (There were six Edmunds in all, four in a direct line; two nephews.)

the fourth Edmund, largely because he sired five beautiful daughters around whom swirled a whole future generation of judges, generals and merchant kings.

The undisputed belle of the household was Dorothy, the coquettish youngest of the eight Quincy children, whose troth was soon plighted to John Hancock, the wealthy young businessman from Boston who was already becoming known as a leader of the rebels.

Tradition has it that they were to have been married in the north parlor of the Quincy homestead with its French cupid wallpaper when Revolution intervened and John had to flee with the British on his heels.

Eventually, they were wed Aug. 28, 1775, at the home of Thaddeus Burr, uncle of Aaron Burr (later vice president of the United States) in Fairfield, Conn.

After the Revolution and the death of Edmund the fourth in 1788 the old house passed from the Quincy family. The Hancocks wanted nothing to do with it. Their only son, John George Washington Hancock, was killed in a skating accident at age 9 while on a visit in 1787.

The house was acquired in 1904 by the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames, who restored it with vintage furniture, utensils and clothing, and gave it to the state with the proviso that the Dames continue to run it.

The Dorothy Quincy Homestead is open to the public May through October, Wednesday through Sunday, from 12 noon to 5 p.m. (last tour at 4 p.m.). It is also open by appointment only Wednesday through Sunday from 10 a.m. to noon for groups. There is a $1.50 admission charge for adults, 50 cents for children.

A fitting memorial . . .

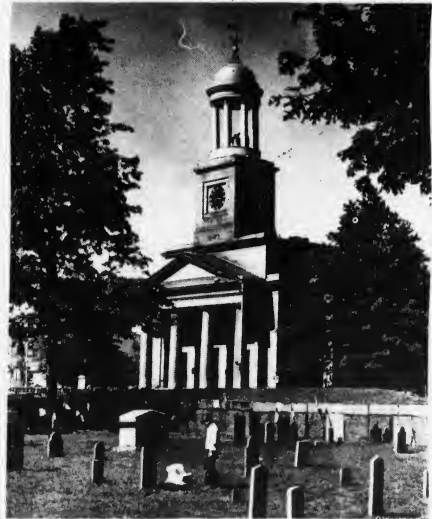

John Quincy Adams occupied the White House in 1828 when United First Parish Church, the Stone Temple, was built of Quincy granite, a fitting memorial to the enduring work of the men who founded the state and the nation.

Two presidents of the United States, John Adams and John Quincy Adams, and their wives, are buried side by side in vaults in the grotto of the Church.

The cornerstone of the Stone Temple was laid on June 11, 1827, and in it was placed a silver plate with the inscription: 'A temple for the worship of God, and for public instruction in the doctrines and duties of the Christian religion.'

Historic Hancock Cemetery in the foreground is the final resting place of early Quincy settlers and patriots among them Col. John Quincy for whom Quincy was named and Rev. John Hancock, a minister of First Parish Church and father of the first signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Abigail Adams Wife, Mother Of Presidents

Mrs. John Adams, the former Abigail Smith of Weymouth, is the only woman to be wife of one president and mother of another -- and she could have been grandmother of a vice president.

Husband John was chief executive from 1797 to 1801; son of John Quincy occupied the White House from 1825 to 1829, and grandson Charles Francis Adams ran for vice president on the Free Soil ticket in 1848.

An early advocate of women's rights, Abigail Adams once wrote to her husband, John:

"In the new code of laws which I suppose it will be necessary for you to make, I desire you would remember the ladies and be more generous and favorable to them than your ancestors.

"Do not put such unlimited power into the hands of the husbands. Remember, all men would be tyrants if they could."

Marina Point Condominiums

Yesterday...

The land has been known as the Victory Plant of Fore River Ship Yard, Squantum Naval Airbase, Boston Harbor Marina and Marina Bay.

It is where historic airmeets were sponsored by Harvard University, Amelia Earhart took flying lessons and naval pilots trained.

Today...

We are proud to redevelop this majestic land.

The 660 slip marina provides quality dock space for vessels up to 207 feet. Marina Bay Village Shops are the mainland's answer to Nantucket. Food and drink add pleasure to the stroll along the boardwalk with a breathtaking view of Boston.

Throughout the summer, many special events take place to add to the excitement.

Commuter boats leave for Boston and Logan Airport providing transportation alternatives for South Shore commuters.

Visit us at Marina Bay for a great day of family fun or a romantic stroll along the boardwalk.

Tomorrow...

We are becoming another neighborhood for Quincy to enjoy and we are proud to be a part of the quality development that makes the city's future even brighter.

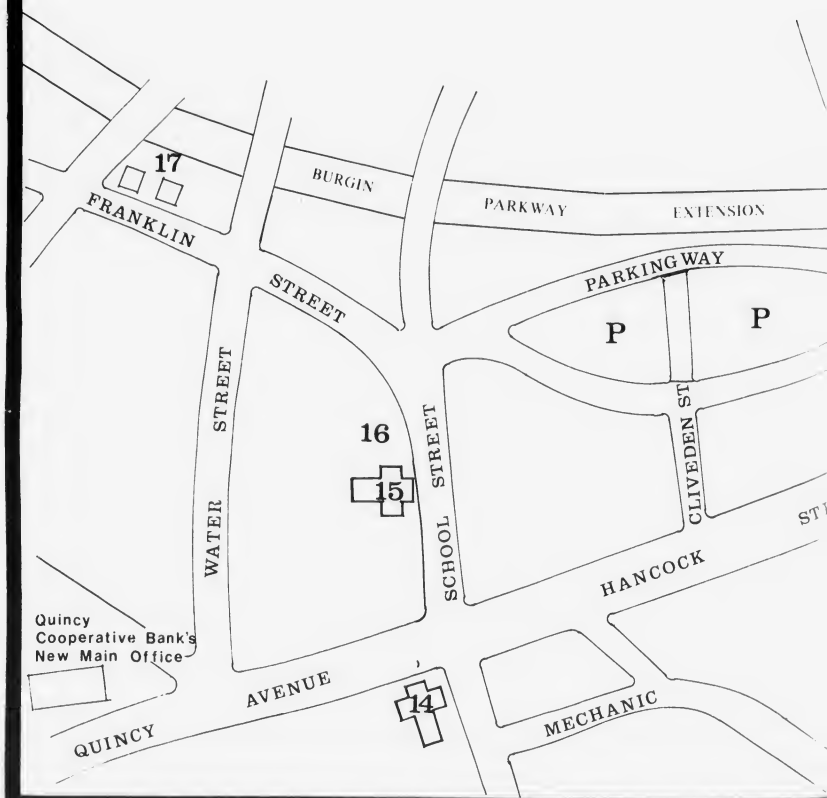

Let Us Show You The

HIGHLIGHTS

1. Town Hall: City Hall of Quincy - Architect and builder, Solomon Willard. Completed November 1, 1844. Built of Quincy granite.
2. Adams Academy - Site of the birthplace of John Hancock, the Patriot. Erected in 1871. Now the home of The Quincy Historical Society. World War I statue and memorial. Bust of Hancock. Historical exhibit.
3. Adams National Historic Site - Built in 1731 by Major Leonard Vassal. Purchased by President John Adams in 1787, and occupied by four generations of the Adams Family.
4. Dorothy Quincy Homestead - Dating from 1685, it was the home of four generations of the Edmund Quincy family. Home of Dorothy Quincy who married John Hancock.
5. Woodward School - Founded by Dr. Ebenezer Woodward in 1869 to educate Quincy born girls.
6. Milestone Marker - The Neponset Turnpike (now Hancock Street) gave people a shorter route to Boston. This milestone (almost illegal) marks 7 1/2 miles from Boston. An older milestone across the way, on Adams Academy grounds, marks the miles on the old route via Milton.
7. Old Court House - District Court of East Norfolk was established in 1872. This courthouse, built in 1912, has been replaced by a modern building on Chestnut Street.
8. Quincy Junior College - Formerly the Coddington School built in 1909, then a "modern" elementary school.
9. Bethany Church - Built in 1928 in Gothic style, its gargoyles, four feet long, are the longest in New England.
10. Thomas Crane Public Library - Designed by Henry Jobson Richardson, foremost architect of his era. Commissioned in 1880 by Albert Crane in memory of his father.
11. United First Parish Church - A fine example of the Greek Revival period designed by Alexander Parrish and constructed in 1828. John Adams and his wife, Abigail, and John Quincy Adams and his wife Louisa Catherine are buried in the church.
12. Hancock Cemetery - Dated around 1640 and named for the Reverend John Hancock, father of the Patriot. The oldest headstone is dated 1666.
13. Post Office.
14. Christ Church - Oldest Episcopal parish in the state.
15. St. John the Baptist Church - Roman Catholic.
16. Christ Church Cemetery.
17. Birthplaces of John Adams and John Quincy Adams - The nation's only father and son presidents. The two saltbox farmhouses, undergoing restoration by the National Park Service are a brief walk down Franklin Street.

John Winthrop, Jr. Blast Furnace

First Productive Iron Works In U.S.

It failed after nine years of effort and, since failure was anathema in a growing America, perhaps that is why the site and even the memory of the first commercial iron blast furnace in the United States was lost for so long.

It flourished, if that is the word, from 1644 to 1653 on the banks of the Mount Wollaston River (now Furnace Brook) in a section of Old Braintree called "the Woods."

Iron was an important commodity in Colonial Massachusetts, particularly for nails and pots and pans. Iron utensils had to be imported from England, a costly process for the penny-wise colonists.

With this in mind, John Winthrop Jr., son of the governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, went to London and formed the "Company of Undertakers for the Ironworks in New England."

The first iron was turned out in 1644 but young Winthrop was fired from his 100 pounds a year job the next year, to be succeeded by Richard Leader. The Ironworks itself didn't last much longer.

The ore from which the iron was blasted on the banks of Furnace Brook was not a high quality product. It was bog-iron from the nearby swamps. Making it proved to be more expensive than the imported kind.

The Company of Undertakers appealed for fresh money in 1646 and apparently there were enough investors ready to send good money after bad because the furnace was still in operation in 1650 when the Scotch Prisoners arrived.

The Scots were rugged Highlanders, soldiers in the army of the future King Charles II who were captured by Oliver Cromwell at the Battle of Dunbar. Cromwell shipped 272 of them to New England as cheap labor in an effort to make the Quincy ironworks a paying proposition. It didn't work.

The Company of Undertakers went bankrupt in 1653 and "the Woods" went back to the bear and the deer.

Meanwhile, with the same Richard Leader as agent, construction began on a second iron works north of Boston in Saugus in 1646. When it was completed in 1650, it was recognized as the first integrated iron industry in America.

THE GRANITE RAILWAY

The Granite Railway

First Commercial Railroad In U.S.

It was the darndest looking contraption that many among the distinguished gathering had ever seen.

Each of the three wagons had four wheels, 6 and one half feet in diameter, surmounted by a smaller gear wheel which was used to raise and lower the cargo platform that was slung low between the wheels.

It rode on foot-high wooden rails, topped by iron plate, which rested on stone sleepers or cross ties, placed eight feet apart and firmly supported on crushed granite to a depth beyond the frost line.

On Saturday, Oct. 7, 1826, the wagons were laden with 16 tons of the finest Quincy granite and the opening day guests were properly amazed when a single horse moved the whole thing with ease more than three miles to a special wharf on the Neponset River.

The granite blocks, a particularly hard and weather-resistant stone capable of taking a brilliant polish, were en route to Charlestown, where they were building a monument to the Battle of Bunker Hill.

The Granite Railway, the first such commercial venture in the United States, was built specifically to transport stone for the Bunker Hill Monument.

That it became successful, and a model for others around the country, is a tribute to three vastly dissimilar men, the engineer Gridley Bryant, the architect Solomon Willard and the financier, Col. Thomas Handasyd Perkins.

Bryant was 27 at the time but already an engineer of note. He invented the eight wheeled railroad car and, when a fellow named Ross Winans of Baltimore sued to establish a patent on it, Bryant was able to prove his claim to the satisfaction of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Willard, then 43, was a great bear of a man, gentle, obliging, industrious. Frivolity, it was said, was alien to him and he was never known to run. He could be crotchety, too. He was a carpenter turned wood-carver, turned stone-carver and, finally architect.

Perkins was the autocratic, 52-year-old merchant king of Boston who was said to have been offered the post of Secretary of the Navy by President Washington and turned it down with the observation that he owned more ships than the Navy.

It was Perkins who lobbied the Railway's charter through a puzzled and obstinate State Legislature, which had never been called upon to incorporate a commercial railroad before. It was Perkins who financed it, too, largely with his own money.

Even in its early days, the Granite Railway was a tourist attraction of some magnitude.

Daniel Webster, who used to stop off for a pick-me-up in Quincy en route from Boston and Washington to his home in Marshfield, viewed it and decided that it would never succeed because of the frost that would form on the rails in the winter.

The President of the United States, a local boy named John Quincy Adams, visited in August, 1827, got caught in a thunderstorm and took shelter in a shed where Willard's stone-cutters were hacking away at monument granite.

A group of visitors were riding up the Railway's incline in an empty car on July 25, 1832, when the chain broke and catapulted them over a 40-foot cliff. One was killed in what may have been the first railroad fatality in the United States.

The Granite Railway Co. survived until 1870, some 27 years after the Bunker Hill Monument was finished, when most of its track was taken over by the Old Colony Railroad, which in turn became a division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford.

Today much of the roadbed, over which freight moved commercially on rails for the first time in America, is buried under the macadam of the Southeast Expressway.

The incline of the old Railway has been restored and is located at the dead end of Mullin Ave. in West Quincy. It is open to the public year round, 24 hours a day. There is no admission charge.

Seat Of Government For 142 Years

Daniel and Hannah French deeded the land to the town of Quincy for $1,000 with the stipulation that it "shall not be used for any other purpose than as a place for a Town House for the said Inhabitants."

And, with a few minor transgressions of that vow, the solid structure of Quincy granite in Quincy Square has been just that for the past 142 years, the nerve center of government for first the town and then the city.

It was the great hall on the second floor that the popular John Quincy Adams II, grandson of a president of the United States, held forth as town moderator for many years and, with his brother, Charles Francis Adams Jr., gave informal direction to town affairs.

One of the earliest ordinances passed by the first City Council on March 8, 1889 was the adoption of the City Seal emblazoned with the four most significant dates in Quincy's history:

1625, for the first settlement on Mount Wollaston; 1640, for its separation from Boston as the town of Braintree; 1792, for its separation from Braintree as the town of Quincy; and 1888, for its incorporation as a city.

CITY HALL

Designed by the architect Solomon Willard - who received $280 for drawing up the plans and superintending construction for five months - the City Hall was completed and occupied for the first time on Nov. 1, 1844.

It cost exactly $19,115.93 to build, including 88 cents to John Briesler for lead to seal the chimney.

In 1979, when a 3 and one half story reflective glass addition was built behind the old City Hall, the cost was $1.9 million.

Abigail Adams Cairn

The Smoke Could Be Seen Over Bunker Hill

Abigail Adams was awakened at dawn in the farmhouse at the foot of Penn's Hill by the sound of far off guns. All through the sweltering morning of June 17, 1775, as she hustled about with the chores, the dull boom of cannon intruded on her consciousness.

Riders on the Coast Road to Plymouth, stopping at the farmhouse for a drink of water, told her of a great battle underway on Breed's Hill in Charlestown.

One of them brought word that Dr. Joseph Warren had been killed in the fighting and little Abby, age 10, burst into tears, and John Quincy, nearly 8, felt bewildered and sad, for Dr. Warren was the Adams family doctor in Boston.

In the afternoon, Abigail could stand it no longer. Taking Abby and John Quincy by the hand, she walked up the Coast Road to the top of Penn's Hill and climbed up on the rocks for a better view.

The panorama of the Bay, a shimmering blue in the sunshine, spread out before them, the tiny houses on the three hills of Boston and, beyond, the black smoke rising in billows.

"Good God," exclaimed Abigail, "they are burning Charlestown!"

The scene etched itself forever in John Quincy's memory.

The early days of the Revolution were times of turmoil in Old Braintree and its North Precinct, which was later called Quincy.

Abigail's husband, John, was away most of the time at the Continental Congress in Philadelphia, leaving 31-year old Abigail to manage the farm and look to the needs of four small children, Abigail, John Quincy, Charles, 5, and Thomas Boylston, 3.

There were days of alarm as the British, penned up in Boston by the brand new Continental Army, foraged up and down the coast for supplies. Refugees from occupied Boston and the inner towns of Dorchester and Roxbury sometimes slept in the kitchen and in the fields.

As the wife of a member of Congress, Abigail was a center of attention. The house on the Coast Road was a favorite stopping place for travelers to Plymouth. Politicians up from Philadelphia made it a point to stop by for a visit with John Adams' wife.

Abigail was invited to visit Gen. George Washington's headquarters at Winter Hill. The aristocratic Washington was suspect among New Englanders. He was a Virginian; he was an Anglican; and, it was said, he held slaves. But John Adams liked him and Abigail was soon charmed.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN

One day, young John Quincy came home to find his Uncle Elihu melting down Abigail's pewter spoons in the kitchen to make bullet molds. He looked at his mother and she looked back at him and something indefinable passed between them.

"Do you wonder," wrote the sixth president of the United States some 68 years later, "that a boy of 7 who witnessed this scene should be a patriot."

In 1896, where the old Coast Road (now Franklin St.) meets Viden Rd. atop Penn's Hill a stone cairn was built to mark the spot where Abigail and young John Quincy watched the Battle of Bunker Hill. It is open to the public free of charge.

The Thomas Crane Library

A Romanesque Architectural Beauty

He came to Quincy as a boy of 7, grew to young manhood on a farm in Quincy Point, learned the granite-cutters' trade, and left at the age of 26 to win fame and fortune in stone in New York City.

That was the last Quincy saw of Thomas Crane for half a century until one February day in 1880, five years after his death, when his son, Albert, appeared with $20,000 with which to build a memorial -- preferably a library -- to his father.

"My father always retained a strong feeling for the town of Quincy," was his only explanation.

Albert Crane himself chose the man to design the building, Henry Hobson Richardson, grandson of the English scientist Dr. Joseph Priestly and the foremost architect of the day.

His reputation was so formidable that he was able to tell Crane, "I can not guarantee that the building, when completed, shall conform to (your) ideas of beauty and taste," and still get the job.

Richardson's Romanesque building, which now houses the reference section of the library, was dedicated on May 30, 1882, with the principal oration delivered by Charles Francis Adams, Jr., chairman of the Board of Trustees. It was Adams who gave the library its name. Albert Crane wanted it to be "The Quincy Free Public Library." Adams insisted on "The Thomas Crane Public Library."

"Who's giving the building?" asked Albert Crane.

"You are, but you wouldn't have if it hadn't been for me," said Adams, who was used to having his way around Quincy, and that was that.

President John Adams' modest collection of books was housed in the library until 1893, when it was discovered that in 11 years only two persons, one of them Charles Francis Adams, Jr., had asked to see them. They were then transferred to the Boston Public Library.

At the start, Richardson's magnificent building was all but hidden behind a grain store, a hotel, an office building and four homes that lined Washington St.

Albert Crane, however, was a persistent man and, by the time he died in 1917, he had purchased and torn down all the buildings, leaving a broad expanse of open space to enhance the library.

But before the lawn could be seeded, World War I intervened and, in a burst of patriotism -- "Food will win the war," they said -- the area was planted with potatoes, tended by an expert brought in from Maine. The experiment failed.

THOMAS CRANE PUBLIC LIBRARY

"There wasn't a potato in the lot that was anywhere near as large as a golf ball," said Mayor Joseph L. Whiton. The harvest was donated to the poor farm.

Albert Crane also put up $64,000 to build the Spear St. wing of the library in 1907-08 and the Crane family gave yet another $164,000 for the free standing addition, built in 1936, that now houses the stacks and the children's section.

The Thomas Crane Public Library, 40 Washington St., is open to the public, free of charge, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Friday, year around, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, September through June.

Moswetuset Hummock

'Birthplace Of Massachusetts'

The Indians saw it as a hill (wetuset) shaped like an arrowhead (mos) so they called it "Moswetuset" and when English tongues got through mangling the word it came out "Massachusetts," which became the name of the bay and then the state.

The little wooded hillock near the junction of East Squantum St. and Quincy Shore Drive was once the seat of the sachem Chickatabot, who comes down through the pages of Quincy history as a rather pathetic figure.

He was the chief of the Moswetuset Indians, a once great tribe that occupied the coast north of Plymouth.

A few years before, under the great sachem Nanepashemet, the Moswetuset had been able to field some 3,000 warriors for a war with the Nanepashemet was killed.

Then came the plague.

In two years the mighty Moswetuset were all but wiped out. No more than 60 of them were left to till their fields on the banks of the Neponset River. Sachem Chickatabot fled his home on the hill in Wollaston and took refuge on Moswetuset Hummock.

That was the situation in 1621 when Capt. Myles Standish landed from a shallop with an exploring party of Plymouth Pilgrims that included the Indian guide Squanto (or Tsquantum), whose name was given to the peninsula that stuck out in the bay.

The tragic Chickatabot died not long after the Pilgrims' visit and he was succeeded as sachem by his son, Josiah Wampatuck, a boy who knew a good deal when he saw one.

Wampatuck sold what was left of his virtually deserted tribal lands to a group of whites for 12 pounds, 10 shillings. The lands included most of what is today the city of Quincy and the towns of Braintree, Randolph and Holbrook.

Moswetuset Hummock, identified by a marker stone and maintained in its natural state, is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

Adams Academy

On Site Of John Hancock's Birthplace

By modern standards, the boarding house at the corner of Hancock and Depot Sts. had all the aspects of a genteel prison.

Residents were forbidden to leave between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. They could not enter or leave at any time except by the hall door. They were banned from pool halls and bars. Smoking materials also were forbidden to them.

In exchange for good behavior, plus tuition ranging from $75 to $150 a year, they were given the best prep school education of the day for they were students at Adams Academy, which flourished from 1872 to 1907 in Quincy.

The academy was a gift of John Adams, the second President of the United States, who always had his checkbook ready to fill the spiritual and educational needs of the citizens of his beloved Quincy.

The trust fund, nourished by "rents, profits and emoluments" from certain Adams-owned properties, was set up in the Adams will of 1822, but it was not until 1869 that the fund was deemed large enough to start construction.

The location was specified by Adams himself as the corner of Adams and Hancock Sts., site of the birthplace of his childhood friend, John Hancock, the first signer of the Declaration of Independence.

The doors opened to the first students, 24 of them, on Sept. 4, 1872. Five years later, the academy reached a peak enrollment of 154 with an international student body -- 25 from Quincy, four from Washington, D.C., 125 and 14 states, two from England and one from Chile.

It had one of the earliest prep school football teams, too, recording a tie with the Resolutes of Boston on Oct. 21, 1876, a scant seven years after Princeton and Rutgers played the first college game. It whipped Andover three times from 1877-79.

The admissions catalogue specified that applicants be "well prepared in the usual studies of good grammar schools" and warned that "no pupils are desired to give them a collegiate education."

The best known headmaster was Dr. William Everett, once acclaimed as one of the seven smartest men in the world. He ran the academy with a firm hand from 1878 to 1893 and again from 1897 to 1907. From 1893 to 1897, he was a U.S. congressman from Lynn.

Dr. Leverett, an amiable if sometimes waspish eccentric, was widely known as the man who hated Abraham Lincoln. He had reason. His father was Edward Everett, whose masterful oration at Gettysburg was over-shadowed by Lincoln's notes scribbled on the back of an envelope.

It was Dr. Everett who signaled the passing of Adams Academy -- and many other 19th Century classical prep schools -- at graduation exercises in 1907 when he said that "unless someone comes forward and planks down $50,000, the academy will be closed."

Nobody did and on June 22, 1907, the Adams Academy officially closed its doors.

The building today is occupied by the Quincy Historical Society, which maintains a museum and research library in the old classrooms. The museum is open all year, Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., and Saturday from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., or by appointment. The library is open Monday & Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., and Saturday from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., or by appointment. There is no admission charge. It is closed Sundays and holidays.

John Adams Author

A Constitution Is Born In Quincy

"Voted, to send only one Delegate to represent them in the Convention appointed to be convened at Cambridge on the First day of September next for the purpose of Framing a New Constitution. Then the Honorable John Adams Esquire was chosen for that purpose."

Braintree Records,
Aug. 9, 1779

There is every reason to believe that the Honorable John Adams Esquire didn't really want to go.

He had arrived home only seven days before on the French frigate La Sensible after nearly 18 months in Paris helping to negotiate a commercial and military alliance with France. He was in such a rush to get home that he apparently landed the day before La Sensible reached Boston by rowing ashore from Nantasket Roads.

He missed his wife, Abigail, terribly, and she him.

"One was angry, another was full of Greif, and the third with Melancholy, so that I burnt them all," he wrote to her from Passy on Dec. 18, 1778, listing his complaints with her most recent letters. "If you write me in this style I shall leave of writing intirely, it kills me."

"Am I not wretched Enough, in this Banishment, without this? What Course shall I take to convince you that my Heart is warm? I beg you would never more write to me in such a strain for it really makes me unhappy."

"How lonely are my days?" she wrote on a Sunday evening, Dec. 27. "How solitary are my Nights? How insupportable the Idea that 3000 leagues, and the vast ocean now divide us -- but divide only our persons for the Heart of my Friend is in the Bosom of his partner."

Somewhere on the vast ocean the two letters passed each other.

Paris and the dissolute court of Louis XVI held small appeal to the Puritan in John Adams, even when his closest everyday companions were Dr. Benjamin Franklin, still with an eye for the ladies at age 73, and the swashbuckling Capt. John Paul Jones, half patriot, half pirate, who had just taken command of the leaky old East Indiaman he had renamed Bon Homme Richard.

The American colonies, newly reborn as the United States of America, were going through the most dismal period of the War for Independence. Inflation was rampant: butcher's meat, a dollar to eight shillings a pound; flour, fifty dollars a hundredweight. The news from the fighting front was of defeat, privation and horror.

Like many Braintree wives whose husbands were away at war, Abigail Adams was forced into the unaccustomed role of head of the household, a function she filled with determination.

"I cannot avoid sometimes repining that the gifts of fortune were not bestowed upon us, that I might have enjoyed the happiness of spending my days with my partner," she wrote, "but as it is, I think it my duty to attend with frugality and economy to our own private affairs, and if I cannot add to our little substance, yet see to it that it is not diminished."

She abstained from drinking black market tea, allowing herself one tiny complaint: "I should like a little green (tea), but they say there is none to be had here. I only wish it for a medicine, as a relief to a nervous pain in my head to which I am sometimes subject."

John Adams attended the opening session of the Constitutional Convention in Cambridge on Wednesday, Sept. 1, 1779. On Saturday, he was named to a committee of 30 to prepare the declaration of rights and the constitution. On Monday, the committee delegated the task to a subcommittee of three, John and Samuel Adams; and James Bowdoin.

Thus it was that John Adams wound up in the law office of his home at the foot of Penn's Hill, paired with his firebrand cousin, Sam, and his ailing friend, James Bowdoin, to write a Constitution for the state of Massachusetts, which in turn became the model for the Constitution of the United States.

The patient, hard-working John Adams, of course, did most of the work.

"I was by the Convention put upon the Committee -- by the Committee upon the subcommittee -- and by the subcommittee appointed a sub subcommittee -- so that I had the honor to be principal Engineer," he wrote to his friend, Edmund Jennings. Payroll records indicate that he was paid 90 pounds for his work.

The so-called "Adams draft" of the Massachusetts Constitution was accepted by the Convention with a few alterations but by that time John Adams was long gone back to Europe, this time to help negotiate a treaty of peace with Britain and serve as America's first minister to London. He did not see the farm at the foot of Penn's Hill again for another eight years.

But he was immensely heartened by these words from the pen of his ever-loving Abigail, written on Oct. 15, 1780:

"Our Massachusetts Constitution is read with admiration in New York and pronounced by the Royal Governor as the best republican form he ever saw."

Josiah Quincy Homestead

Lookout For Spying On British Ships

Abigail Adams stood with her great uncle, Col. Josiah Quincy, in a window of his mansion overlooking Wollaston Beach and watched the tall masts of 170 ships stand slowly out to sea. It was March 17, 1776. The British were evacuating Boston.

But even in triumph there was tragedy.

Aboard the departing ships were more than 1,000 Loyalists, Americans who had chosen King above country, and one of them was Abigail's cousin, Samuel Quincy, the Colonel's only remaining son, an avowed Tory.

"I take a long farewell," his sister, Hannah, wrote to him for one last time. "Let it not be published that a brother of such brothers fled from his country. Can you expect to walk uprightly now? Can you take fire in your bosom and not be burned?"

Two of Col. Josiah Quincy's sons had died young. Now he had no more.

But there was no time for regrets. The work of revolution had begun. The second floor of the house at what is now 20 Muirhead St., Wollaston, was a lookout from which the 66-year-old Colonel spied on British ship movements for his friend, Gen. George Washington.

A few months before, Col. Quincy watched the Royal Governor, Gen. Thomas Gage depart and he scratched on a pane of window glass the reminder: "Oct. 10, 1775, General Gage sailed for England with a fair wind."

This time he remained in the window for three days as the British tall ships moved restlessly about the Harbor as if reluctant to leave. Finally, on March 20, the last of them passed through the roadstead and out to sea.

The mansion in Wollaston reached full social flower under the aegis of the Colonel's grandson, the third Josiah, the "Great Mayor" of Boston, president of Harvard and Congressman, who called it "Tranquilla" and used it as his summer home.

It was there that the Marquis de Lafayette visited one Sunday afternoon after dinner with his friend, ex-President John Adams at the Adams Mansion. He carried flowers from the Adams garden for Mrs. Eliza Susan Quincy and her five attractive daughters.

The house was built in 1770 by the old Colonel himself, the first in a line of six Josiahs. It was said that, while most families passed their line from sire to son, the Quincys went from 'Siah to 'Siah.

But, while there were six Josiahs and innumerable Edmunds, the city was named for yet another member of the prolific family -- Col. John Quincy, the great grandfather of John Quincy Adams sixth president of the United States.

The Josiah Quincy Homestead is open to the public from June 1 to Oct. 15, Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday from 12 noon to 5 p.m. Visits may be made at other times by appointment. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children. Residents of Quincy are admitted free.

How Many Miles From Boston?

Stone mile markers across Hancock Street from each other indicate that the traveler is both 7½ and 10 miles from Boston. And both are correct.

The 10-miles marker was placed on the Old Coast Road, one of the oldest highways in the United States still in existence, which went from Boston to Plymouth in 1639 by way of inland Milton.

The 7½-mile marker was raised after the first bridge over the Neponset River was built in 1803, creating the Neponset Turnpike, which is today Hancock St. in North Quincy and Wollaston.

Urban Renewal Plan To City Council In Mid-September

The city's urban renewal plan in connection with the $54 million President's Place project in downtown Quincy probably won't be submitted to the City Council until September, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

McCauley said that he has been told by planning Director James Lydon that the plan is almost completed. It would enable the city to take by eminent domain any of some 14 properties that are not sold voluntarily by their owners.

The mayor said that he plans to take time over the summer to review the plan with the developers and the planning board.

The developers, Ricciardi

Co. of Quincy and Campanelli Industries of Braintree, are planning a project with 227,000 square feet of commercial space, 200 residential condominiums and 580 parking spaces.

The Boston Five Cent Savings Bank, which expects to occupy 40 percent of the space, is financing the project, according to Lydon.

The Bargain Center, which closed recently, and nearby property is to be included in the President's Place project.

The developers purchased the Bargain Center and it is expected to be demolished in the next few months, according to McCauley.

Another piece of property scheduled to be included in the project is the home of Mrs. Nell Slawson on the end of Saville Ave. She is fighting any move to acquire her property.

Mrs. Slawson held a mini-protest.

Asians Largest Non-White Group In City

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Asians or Pacific Islanders represent the largest group of non-white people living in Quincy, according to a race and language report submitted by the city Tuesday to the state.

residents of Quincy.

A total of 3,864 are Asian or Pacific Islander, such as Chinese, Cambodian, Vietnamese or Japanese.

See Charts On Page 2

Black residents number 383 and there are 249 residents from other countries such as Spain, Poland, Greece and Italy.

The largest concentration of Asians or Pacific Islanders is in Ward 6, where there are 1,123 contrasted with 13,628 white residents in that area which includes North Quincy and Squantum.

The breakdown according to ward is:

Ward 1, 13,880, white; 70 black; 480 Asian; and 10 other.

Ward 2, 2,817, white; 4 black; 88 Asian; 21 other.

Increased Patrols At Wollaston Beach, Quarries

Michael W. Morrissey, announces that the Fiscal 1987 budget has been approved and includes increased patrols for both Wollaston Beach and the west Quincy quarries.

The additional funding for Wollaston Beach allows the MDC to continue foot patrols along the beach area.

Noting that activity at the beach has increased substantially, Morrissey said, "Area residents feel strongly about the police presence and they should be guaranteed that the patrols will continue."

Morrissey also amended this year's budget to include $60,000.00 to improve safety at the Quincy quarries.

"Our community has suffered many tragedies over the years due to unguarded swimming at the Quarries. I hope that this appropriation will assist MDC police in protecting those who frequent the area," Morrissey said.

Morrissey said he would like to see the operations at the quarries expanded even further.

"There are many organizations anxious to assist the MDC in transforming the quarries into a recreational area to be enjoyed by the public," he said. "I support these efforts and plan to assist in any way I can."

Youths Still Swim There

City May Sue Over Swingle's Quarry Filling

Quincy's Public Works Commr. Paul Anderson says he is not pleased with the performance of the J.F. White Contracting Co. of Newton which was hired several years ago to fill in Swingle's Quarry.

And if the contract is not resolved by July 16, he said he will take "appropriate action" in the courts.

In the meantime, Anderson plans to meet Friday morning with representatives of the company who are to submit a site preparation plan.

"Technically, they are in default of the contract, and we could already take the contract away," said

Anderson. "But the objective is to get the quarry filled, not end up in court."

"I'm hoping that reason will prevail," he said.

J.F. White began draining the quarry in May, 1984, in search of the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, who died in June, 1983, after jumping into the water from a 50-foot ledge.

His body was never found. The contracting company did drain the quarry, but it has since filled again with 60 to 80 feet of water from rain and springs.

The company had contracted to fill in the quarry with clean fill over a period of 15 years and to pay the city on the basis of tonnage, but that has not happened.

J.F. White said that the big reason it did not begin to fill in the quarry last year was that the reconstruction of the expressway would make it impractical to truck any substantial amount of fill to Quincy, Anderson said.

"I think that if they really wanted to, they could have worked around that," said Anderson.

He also said that the company was supposed to be responsible for security at the area, according to the contract. Yet youths continue to vandalize signs and to swim in the quarry.

Anderson said J.F. White will have to obtain three permits to drain the quarry again.

The site preparation work will include preparing a roadway, turn-around area, and putting in a scale to measure how much fill is put into the quarry and what amount the city should be paid.

"I don't think they've been committed to moving forward quickly," said Anderson. "But they will be by July 16."

Frank Anselmo Honored By Junior College

Quincy Junior College showed its appreciation to School Committee member Frank Anselmo during a reception in his honor at the mayor's office in City Hall.

Anselmo, a 25-year veteran as a school committee member was joined by members of his family at the reception where city and school department officials praised his achievements in furthering quality education in Quincy.

Mayor Francis McCauley said of Anselmo: "When many people of his age were looking to retirement, Frank was starting his political career. He was successful on his first try in 1961 for public office and has been reelected every four years since to the school committee. When he ends his current term in January of 1988, he will have completed 26 years of service to the city's school committee."

Dr. O. Clayton Johnson,

president of Quincy Junior College, lauded Anselmo's academic and scholarship support to the school and named him an honorary trustee.

Others who attended the reception included Chris Kennedy, school committee member and Dr. Carol Griffin, acting superintendent of the city's school system.

A MORE SALABLE PACKAGE

QUESTION: Any suggestions on how I can make my house more attractive to a prospective buyer without making major improvements?

ANSWER: First impressions count! Replace loose tiles, bricks or shingles. If the paint is peeling, get out the brush. Peeling paint is a primary offender.

Inside, if the walls and woodwork are dirty, wash them. If marred, repaint where needed. Fix any leaking faucets, loose door knobs, creaking floors. Clear clutter out of closets and basement. Pay special attention to the bathrooms and kitchen. Make them spotless. No dirty dishes in the sink. Nothing makes a better impression than a home with a well-cared-for look.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS count. Do everything you can to make your home more salable.

Feasibility Report By Mid-September

Union Remains Optimistic About Shipyard Buyout

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The management of General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard wrote to the mayor this week stating that it has not officially been informed by the employee buyout committee that it is requesting an extension of the deadline for proposals.

So the union complied and put in writing its request for an extension of the proposals deadline from Aug. 15 to Sept. 30, to allow time for the completion of a feasibility study and to decide whether to submit a proposal.

Mayor Francis McCauley had written last week to shipyard general manager and vice president Gary S. Grimes on behalf of the union to request the extension.

But Grimes indicated that the request should come from the employee buyout committee, according to McCauley.

Grimes also said that if he received such a letter from the committee, he would be glad to sit down with its representatives and discuss the possibility of extending the deadline.

George O'Kane, president of the Shipbuilding Workers Union, Local 5, said that consultants hired by the state expect to report on the feasibility of a worker buyout by mid-September.

O'Kane said the union is still optimistic about the outcome of the study.

He also said that the union doesn't have much contact with General Dynamics.

"They're trying desperately to ignore the fact that we exist," said O'Kane.

The union president said his organization recently formed a new company, Mass. Shipbuilders Inc., a non-profit organization.

A moonlight cruise is being planned for August as a fundraiser to help defray office expenses, he said.

The event will be open to the public and an announcement will be made when tickets go on sale, O'Kane said.

Meredith & Grew, a Boston-based real estate firm has been hired to help General Dynamics sell the yard, according to spokesperson Evelyn Murphy.

She said that 130 different groups have responded to Requests for Proposals (RFPs) which ask what they would do with the shipyard were they to purchase it.

Among those are 20 industrial users, 62 brokers, 33 developers and seven consulting firms who have interested parties, she said.

Evaluating the proposals is expected to take until the end of the summer, according to Murphy.

Last week, the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority said that it is considering using up to 50 acres of the shipyard for an operations center that might include a facility to assemble parts for the $1.5 billion Deer Island sewage treatment facility.

Local developer Thomas Flatley has also expressed an interest in the yard, but said recently that General Dynamics has been uncooperative.

Flatley said he does not think General Dynamics is interested in continuing shipbuilding at the yard, and wants to sell the property to the highest bidder, regardless of the impact on the South Shore.

The Quincy Planning Board is scheduled to hold three public hearings Wednesday, July 16, beginning at 7 p.m.

The first hearing will regard an application of F.I.D. Realty Trust for a Planned Unit Development Special Permit.

The applicant is requesting permission to construct 180 dwelling units on 5.39 acres of land off Willard St. near the Quincy/Braintree town line.

The second hearing at 7:15 p.m. will be to consider a proposed change in zoning from Industrial A and B to Planned Unit Development of land on the northerly and southerly sides of Ricciuti Drive, West Quincy.

The final hearing at 7:30 p.m., will be to consider a definitive subdivision plan submitted by Adams Realty Trust.

The premises affected by the subdivision are located off Willard St. at the Braintree town line.

Guitar, Tape Deck Stolen

A Conrad four-string guitar and Technique tape deck were reported stolen July 6, from the driveway of Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

A band comprised of students from Steubenville University, Ohio, had been transporting instruments inside the church for a performance.

Environmental Control Commission To Meet

The Environmental Control Commission will meet today (Thursday) at 7 p.m. in the City Hall Council Chambers.

Chairman Leo Kelly urged members to attend "as this will be a working session to digest and compile the information we have received from the various resource recovery companies."

The committee will also put together a report to be presented at a future date to the Disposal and Sanitary Problems Committee of the Quincy City Council relative to solid waste disposal, according to Kelly.

Zoning Task Force Reschedules Meeting

The July 16 meeting of the City Council's Special Task Force on Zoning has been rescheduled to Tuesday, July 22, at 8 p.m. in the Second Floor Conference Room, New City Hall.

According to chairman Thomas J. Nutley, the meeting has been postponed to allow additional time to study and evaluate information received at the June 12 and 19 meetings.

The task force was established earlier this year by council president, Stephen

Readers Forum 'Reopen A School Or Close One?'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The people of Quincy, from educators and politicians to parents and students, have been asking the mayor of Quincy to reopen Wollaston School.

The people have been presenting their case since February, the school committee has voted to reopen Wollaston School and not close Sterling Middle School. This vote would alleviate the overcrowding problems at the elementary level and provide the city with the only permanent, educational solution.

At that time, Mayor McCauley told us, no matter what the committee votes, the bottom line will most likely be the cost of re-opening the school. The city councilors joined us in helping to reopen Wollaston. We appreciate their efforts particularly now since they have found the funds. We have a tax surplus of at least $340,000. Since the main issue was the money, and the money has been found the problem should be solved.

But it is not. It is not for lack of support. We proved that when we gathered almost 3200 signatures from people who want Wollaston School opened. Fifty-seven percent did not even have children in the system yet they supported the education of our children. So why is Wollaston still not opening? Our mayor feels moving the boundary lines and re-districting the entire elementary population is the best solution. Is it?

Let's take a closer look at the costs and the available funds. The superintendent of schools, Mr. Osterman's, best estimate of costs is $390,000. The very top figure being $500,000. But that does not mean that is what the city must pay. Out of the $390,000 the state will reimburse $150,000. We also have a projected savings of $100,000 each year in added bus cost. This leaves only $140,000 of costs for one year.

But in three years time we have a savings to the city plus alleviating an overcrowding problem. The state reimbursement would, of course, be higher if the costs become higher. Now let's compare what we save from the closing of a school. I will use the predicted savings of Sterling Middle School.

The city would realize $31,000 in the first year, $66,000 in each subsequent year. With these statistics we should have saved $229,000 minus the added busing costs the city incurred since Wollaston closed in 1982. If we compare the savings to the costs, we discover the city hasn't saved any money. This example is using only $390,000 not the $500,000 figure. Do you see the logic in this? I for one do not.

The reopening of Wollaston School is the only permanent, educational solution. Moving the boundaries to redistrict the entire elementary population is not necessary. Why should we disrupt the lives of all elementary children, their parents and their teachers time and time again, when we have a more logical solution. The implementing of a 10th district has been approved by the school committee, the city's councilors, and the people of Quincy. This reopening of Wollaston will alleviate the overcrowding now and in the future. It will allow the schools to keep pace with the special needs programs and other new alternative programs available. In essence we want to educate our young not just house them.

The sale of a middle school will not help because the school system will not see much of that money. We know that from the sale of our nine elementary schools. The reopening of Wollaston School will solve some of the problems our school system is facing. Please write to Mayor McCauley.

Let him know the voters of Quincy want, "The Wollaston School opened" and we would like the tax surplus to do it. We the people need to stand united in our fight, the children of Quincy deserve a proper education no matter what grade level they are at. Their future will depend on it. Please give them that.

Tom And Max: They Didn't Come Any Better

Tom Currier, the last half of the famed harmony team of Hum 'n Strum died last week in Fairfax Hospital, just outside of Reston, Va. where he lived the past 15 years. His death came 11½ years after that of his long-time partner and friend, Max Zides.

As entertainers, they were among the tops during a 35-year partnership that spanned vaudeville, radio, records and television.

As human beings, they rated even higher. They didn't come any better.

Tom's death will sadden the many fans and friends who will fondly remember him and Max whenever they hear "Heart Of My Heart."

Tom, who later lived in Quincy and Braintree, and Max, a Brookline boy, went to Boston Commerce High School but didn't know one another then.

But fate, with an apparent appreciation for good music, brought them together.

It was 1924 and Tom happened to accompany a friend to a Boston music publishing firm and Max happened to be there. They got to talking.

Max had a ukulele with him and had gone to the studio to rehearse. He was appearing on that new thing called radio as Ukulele Ike or Ukulele Luke or something like that.

Tom mentioned he played the ukulele, too, but "backhanded." And, he gave Max a sample.

"Too bad you can't sing," said Max.

"I can, a little," Tom replied.

"Can you harmonize?" Max asked. "Sure," replied Tom.

And, they gave it a try.

"Sounds pretty good" someone in the studio said. The pair shook hands and the harmony team of Hum 'n Strum was born. They never had a written contract between them in the 35 years they were together. That first handshake was binding.

The pair (Max was "Hum" and Tom, "Strum") started singing together over an early Medford radio station. Radio was still in its infancy and if you didn't have a radio you might have been lucky to own a crystal set made in a cigar box.

"We never realized the impact radio was having even in those early days," Tom recalled at the time of Max's death.

One day an agent came to them and asked them if they would like to play Loew's State. "Give you $100 a week," he said.

It was like hearing from your guardian angel.

Tom and Max were flabbergasted. That was a lot of money and it probably arrived just in time to save the act. The boys' mothers had been telling them to stop the music nonsense and get a decent job.

"When we arrived at Loew's State," recalled Tom, "there was a long line of people waiting to get tickets. I said to Max, there must be a good picture playing."

They could hardly believe it when they discovered the crowd had come to see them. Radio had made them local celebrities.

The rest is history.

They went on to the Palace in New York, along the top vaudeville circuits, NBC radio, records and television, entertaining millions over a 35-year team partnership.

With NBC radio, they toured the country, broadcasting from a different city each week. They had the "Sound of the times," an easy listening style that lasted.

How good were they?

Well, in a 1929 poll they were ranked as the third most popular radio entertainers -- just behind Amos 'n Andy and Rudy Vallee. And, ahead of Will Rogers and Guy Lombardo.

They even invented the singing commercial.

And, of course, they became a Quincy institution at the old Fox & Hounds restaurant.

They were the first vaudeville act to use a P.A. system, an offshoot of their early radio days. They taught George Burns and Gracie Allen how to talk into a microphone. And sent them and a young Phil Silvers on their way to radio and show business stardom.

The ukulele somewhere along the line gave way to a piano as the boys built a repertoire of more than 2,000 numbers and a total library of more than 40,000.

Tom and Max retired as a team in 1958, but were reunited for a while after that in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. and then got together every now and then.

Tom wound up doing a solo for awhile before moving to Reston, Va. about 15 years ago. He still entertained there locally until recently.

The team's final public appearance was in January, 1975 when they were honored by the Montclair Men's Club.

They were cited for their outstanding contributions to the field of entertainment and for the countless hours they gave to charitable causes. They could never say "no" when it came to a worthy cause.

It was a fun night and one old friends like Joe Gildea, Harry Carlson, Sherm Feller and this writer and everyone else there that night will long remember.

Tom and Max sang a number of their oldies but always goodies like "Steve O'Donnell's Wake," "If I Knock The L Out Of Kelly," Whatever Happened To McCarthy? and, of course, "Heart Of My Heart."

The latter was like a theme song for them. Quite appropriate, too. They sure had plenty of heart and gave a lot of it to others.

None of us realized that night that we were watching the final performance of the Hum 'n Strum harmony team.

Just 12 days later, Max collapsed and died outside his Brookline home.

"Wasn't it wonderful that we had that time?" Tom said at Max's funeral. "Max was so happy that night. He really enjoyed himself. You know, it was almost like fate..."

And his thoughts trailed off.

It was a happy night for Tom, too.

And, for all of us.

Death has now taken two of the nicest guys ever to come this way but it will never quite silence the harmony team.

Not while there is an old Stellar label record or an old radio tape in a cabinet or on a shelf somewhere.

Urban Renewal Plan To Council In Mid-September

protest last week in front of City Hall with her 94-year-old mother, Rena Damm; her son, Robert Slawson, 30; and a family friend, Scott Theriault, 21.

She said they collected about 250 signatures on a petition which she plans to present to the City Council. "They're the ones who take the action to approve or disapprove the plan," she explained.

"I haven't decided if I'll speak before them," she said. "I hope people who are concerned about the whole matter of high rises will go to the meeting to express their feeling."

"I've heard a lot of anger from people about the prospects of condominiums in general," she said.

"A lot of people have stopped me on the street to talk about my house."

"They don't think it's rational to take a person's house for this kind of project," said Mrs. Slawson who noted that she has lived in the same house for 31 years.

Her mother has been with her for four years, she said.

Mrs. Slawson said the developers offered to move her house to a lot up the street which belonged to the Bargain Center.

"It's not an attractive spot," said Mrs. Slawson, whose colonial house is over 100 years old and is located on 5,000 feet of land.

"I have a great feeling for staying put. It's an enormous venture to contemplate moving."

"The reason for my resistance is that people should have the right to keep and enjoy their homes."

"That's what the petition to the council is about," she said.

"It's not just a house, it's a home, our roots are there. "Developers think only of dollars and cents, I'm afraid," said Mrs. Slawson.

McCauley said, "I hope the developers can come up with a satisfactory agreement with Mrs. Slawson."

"I went through the same process with my bank, Presidential Cooperative, which was taken by urban renewal to make way for Quincy Center Plaza."

The bank, of which McCauley was president, eventually merged with Granite Cooperative, he said.

"It wasn't my home, but the action did adversely affect me," he said.

"I didn't oppose it even though it affected me because it was good for the city," McCauley said.

"President's Place is a very good and positive plan. "Urban renewal will enable those involved to put the package together."

McCauley said the city had to take some homes by urban renewal for the construction of North Quincy High School.

"We try to compensate people for their property and relocation fees," said McCauley.

"People shouldn't be penalized because there are different economic conditions now than when they bought their houses."

Quincy's Yesterdays

Buyers' Strike Planned Over Meat Prices

Shoppers in Quincy Square gathered outside local food stores to discuss plans for a "buyers' strike."

As the first few shipments of meat came into the city, shoppers began lining at meat counters, but boycotted the meat when prices were posted.

With steaks selling at $1.20 per pound and roast at 89 cents per pound, the average family was expected to be back eating fish again this week.

NURSES TO REQUEST PAY INCREASE

Request for a pay increase for hospital nurses was scheduled to be presented before a special meeting of the City Council this week.

According to Helen Potter, director of the Nursing School, wages at Quincy City Hospital were about $10 a month lower than the schedule recommended by the state nurses' association.

The present scale began at $100 a month and increased to $110 at the end of the year.

QUINCY'S NUMBER ONE POLICEMAN RETIRES

Patrolman Henry Thorne, Quincy's oldest police officer in both years and point of service retired this week, on his 70th birthday. He had served the city for 44 years.

Thorne had been stationed in City Hall for the past 11 years and was one of the best known police officers on the South Shore.

He joined the force in 1904 as a special officer. He was made a reserve officer and finally in 1906 was made permanent.

His biggest night came when he arrested 14 "drunks" in Quincy Point.

Mayor Charles Ross passed up a box seat at the All-Star game at Fenway Park so he could pay tribute to Thomas at City Hall ceremonies.

SUMMER WEDDINGS: Vice is nice! New from After Six Inc. is a collection of formalwear inspired by the hit TV series, Miami Vice. Available in hot pastel colors for coordination with today's colorful bridesmaid's dresses.

Summertime weddings: A most romantic tradition

The days are warmer, and there is a softness in the air that soothes the soul and calms the spirit. It's summertime, and there is no better reason for a wedding.

There are many good reasons for planning a warm weather wedding: The flowers are in bloom, the trees are full and the grass is soft and green.

People feel better too. There is a certain freedom associated with the summer months — the pace slows down, people feel more relaxed, and there is a feeling of hope and rejuvenation that only the sun can produce.

There are many different types of weddings to choose from during the summer months. A garden, patio or tent wedding are among the options to consider.

Weddings such as these combine the "naturalness" of a sixties wedding with a more traditional, genteel atmosphere.

In many respects these types of weddings resemble intimate house parties, complete with the individual attention and personal touches that make a small party a success.

Weddings such as these produce a convivial atmosphere where people are more likely to move about freely, socializing with others.

Choosing wedding attire is much easier during the warmer months. Unconcerned with the many layers of clothing necessary during the winter months, you are free to choose from a variety of styles.

Off-the-shoulder or sleeveless bridal dresses and those made of cotton, eyelet, pique or organza are pretty choices for a summer wedding.

While the traditional morning suit and black tuxedo are always good choices for the groom, tuxedos in pastel colors are being seen with more regularity.

Especially nice for an outdoor wedding is a navy blue blazer paired up with white pants. A blue, pink or white skirt can be worn with it, depending on the colors worn by the bridesmaids.

Whether you choose traditional attire or create your own style is a matter of personal choice. With more and more people doing it both ways, there seems to be no set of rules when it comes to planning a wedding today.

However, there are some things that do remain the same, and the tradition of exchanging rings, whether they're engagement rings or wedding bands, is still very much alive.

Although the custom lost some of its popularity in the sixties, generally it has enjoyed a steady acceptance.

The only thing that hasn't remained the same is the type of rings that people are choosing. Plain gold bands have, in many instances, been replaced by tri-color rings, rings with florentine and diamond-cut patterns, and diamond baguettes.

Engagement rings have also changed over the years. Many women now prefer colored stones over the traditional solitaire diamond.

Some say that this trend can be traced to the engagement of Prince Charles to Lady Diana Spencer. When Prince Charles gave Lady Diana an engagement ring of sapphires with diamonds, women the world over requested sapphires.

Whether you choose to have an outdoor wedding, one that is casual or traditional, or choose the latest engagement ring (rubies and diamonds like the ring Prince Andrew gave Sarah Ferguson), follow your instincts.

Only you know what makes you feel most comfortable and will bring you the most happiness, and there are no trends or fashions where your happiness is concerned.

Quincy Sun Continues As South Shore Pledge Center Marina Bay To Be MDA Telethon Live Remote Center

The Muscular Dystrophy Association announces that Marina Bay in North Quincy will be the location of the 1986 MDA live remote telethon activities.

"The telethon, to be broadcast from Marina Bay, starting Aug. 31 at 9 p.m. with a fireworks display and again on Monday, Sept. 1, all day until 6:30 p.m.," according to The Quincy Sun will continue as the Quincy-South Shore Labor Day telethon pledge center.

The Sun pledge center and the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee have raised approximately $900,000 to fight muscular dystrophy the past nine years.

Goal this year is to pass the $1 million mark.

"The fantastic people of the Quincy/South Shore communities have always put their muscle behind MDA," said Villandry, program coordinator, and I hope we can count on them again this year by coming down to Marina Bay on Monday and enjoy a family fun-filled day of kiddie rides, the traditional fish-bowl contribution container, telethon T-shirts, entertainment, food and refreshments as well as celebrities and

Discover A Village

Visit The Seaside Village That Isn't Oceans Away

Marina Bay Village offers everything that your favorite offshore island does, plus one more—convenience. Just minutes from Boston by car or boat, Marina Bay Village features the relaxing atmosphere we appreciate so much on summer days. Come stroll the oceanside boardwalk, take in the delicious salt air and enjoy the variety of shops and restaurants that make Marina Bay Village so unique.

Marina Bay Village Shops

Whatever you're looking for, you're likely to find it at Marina Bay Village Shops. Casual resort fashion for men and women at Fran's Landing. Swimwear and accessories at East Coast Girls. Beautiful fresh flowers and plants at The Flower Loft.

Distinctive gifts, at Anchor. Unique jewelry and gifts at the Treasure Chest. And a complete line of nautical supplies at The Boat House.

If by now you've worked up an appetite with all this shopping, stop in at Amelia's or The Eddy Fitz Raw Bar for a light bite and a cool drink. Or make the day into a real occasion with a water's edge picnic. Choose gourmet foods from Chutneys, fresh salads from Seaside Salads or take-out Chinese from Cathay Marina. Top it all off with an old-fashioned ice cream from McGillicuddy's or a tempting sweet from Montilio's Confectionary.

For a truly special dining experience, you might try The Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant, once an actual working tugboat.

And before you do anything else, visit Clippers at Marina Bay for a smart new haircut and indulgent manicure. Also this summer, look for the new pushcarts, providing more variety and fun for browsing and buying and take a unique sight-seeing tour with Boston Skyview Helicopter Tours.

A Day To Remember

Marina Bay Village is the perfect spot to spend an easy summer day. Bring the family or make it just the two of you. There's no rush, no schedules—just the gentle sound of the water, the scenic view of Boston and the joy of discovering a new place to be. It's all here, and all so close. At Marina Bay Village.

Church News

'Gracious Living' Sermon Topic At Bethany

There will be one worship service Sunday, July 13, at 10 a.m. in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon "Gracious Living," based on texts from Exodus 3:1-6 and the Gospel of Matthew 4:18-22 and 16:24-28. The lay scripture reader will be Clifford W. Evers.

Lewann C. Semchenco, guest soprano soloist, will sing, "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains" by Harker as the offertory, and "Seek Ye The Lord" by Roberts. Robert E. Brown will be guest organist.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers

The worship service will be broadcast live over WJDA, 1300kc, at 10 a.m. on Sunday.

There will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor beginning at 11 a.m. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship.

For additional information about Bethany's programs and ministry, please contact the church office at 479-7300.

Pastoral Counselor Guest At Point Congregational

Rev. Dr. Kenneth H. Orth, pastoral counselor at the Horizons Pastoral Psychotherapy and Resource Center, Arlington, will be the guest preacher at Quincy Point Congregational Church this Sunday.

Dr. Orth received his Bachelor of Arts degree in philosophy and German from St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minnesota in 1972, graduating Magna Cum Laude. In 1976 he received his Master of Divinity degree from Harvard Divinity School, Cambridge. He earned his Doctor of Ministry degree from Andover Newton Theological School in 1980 and has studied at the Jungian Institute in Zurich, Switzerland.

An ordained minister of the United Church of Christ, Dr. Orth is a member of the American Association of Pastoral Counselors and the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education. Serving on a multi-disciplinary staff, he is a clinical psychologist working with individuals, couples and groups.

During the 9 a.m. service, Dr. Orth will preach on the theme of "Fences and Neighbors," and will draw from the scripture lessons of Micah 6:3-8 and the Gospel of Luke 10:25-37. He will be assisted by Deacon and liturgist, Mr. Warren Sweeney, and by Church Organist, Mr. Herman Weiss.

The service of worship will be followed by refreshments served by members of the mission committee. Child care is always provided for infants and young children. All members and friends of the church as well as new residents of the South Shore are invited. For more information, call the church 773-6424, Monday through Thursday, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 12 noon.

Vacation Bible School At First Presbyterian

"Jesus Teaches Us" is the theme of this year's Vacation Bible School to be held July 28 through Aug. 1 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon at the First Presbyterian Church, 270 Franklin St., Quincy.

Bible learning brought to life through creative storytelling, crafts, music and recreation is planned for all children of any faith, ages 4 to 12 (sixth grade).

A child must have reached his or her 4th birthday to register.

Children may be pre-registered by calling the church office at 773-5575 Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. or may register at 8:30 a.m. the first day of school.

All are welcome. There is no fee for the program.

Kipling Poem Basis For Sermon At Covenant Congregational

The first scheduled outdoor service last Sunday, was held in the sanctuary of Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., because of questionable weather.

Rev. Fred Lawson used the line from Rudyard Kipling's 1897 poem, "The Recessional": "Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget - lest we forget!" as the basis for his sermon. The scripture reading that corresponded to his message was Psalm 59: 1-11.

Music was by the men's quartet, comprised of Robert Dano, tenor; Kenneth Nelson bass; Stanley Nelson, bass and Charles Sylvester, tenor. They sang "America the Beautiful," accompanied on the organ by Virginia Anderson. The hymns were "My Country 'Tis of Thee," "My Crucified Savior," and "O Joy so Great."

Following the service of communion, the Diaconate took their usual offering. All monies collected will be sent to the family of Sally Butcher daughter of Mildred Stark, who is suffering from Lou Gehrig's disease.

Thanks were expressed to Lynn White for donating and planting the flowers around the cross on the altar of the outdoor chapel, and also to Florence Anderson for the plants at the back of the church.

Plans for a Vacation Day Camp to be held every Wednesday morning for five weeks, were announced. Programs will start at 10 a.m. on July 16 and will feature the mission fields of Japan, South America and Alaska. More information is available by calling the church office at 479-5728.

The coffee following the service was served by Florence Anderson and Florence Abbott in the fellowship hall downstairs. Next week the service will be held at 10 a.m. outside in the chapel adjacent to the church weather permitting. Chairs are available, there is ample parking, nursery care is available and there will be a coffee hour following the service. The sermon topic will be: The Bible speaks to anxiety.

Two Sermons At Squantum First Church

"The Workmanship of a Christian" was the title of the sermon preached by Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, at the early service of the First Church of Squantum Sunday.

Robert Dixey and David Ahearn served as the ushers. Mindi Hurd was in charge of refreshments.

The sermon at the later service was entitled, "How a Christian Wins."

Genevieve Todd, Doris Sinner, Fred MacMillan and James Sumner formed a quartet to sing the traditional anthem, "There Is a Balm in Gilead." They were accompanied by Mary Ruth Scott. Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were the ushers. Grace Holmes and Hazel Mayne hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

The young people of the church will hold a car wash at the church again this Saturday, July 12, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. This will be another in a series of fund-raisers to raise money for a youth group trip to California in 1987. Squantum T-shirts will also be for sale.

There will be two services at the church Sunday: the guitar service at 8:15 a.m. and the traditional service at 9:30 a.m.

Aglow Fellowship To Meet July 22

The Quincy Women's Aglow Fellowship will meet July 22, 7:30 p.m. at Torre Del Passeri Social Hall, 252 Washington St.

Principal speaker will be Iris Pelly who has taught at many Aglow retreats, the Zion Bible Institute and currently is an instructor at Logo's Bible College in Hopkinton.

Firemen's Muster Raises $2,000 For Dystrophy

The muscular dystrophy fund is richer by $2000 thanks to monies raised on its behalf at the recent Quincy Firemen's Muster in Squantum.

Firefighters from Halifax, Hanson and Rockland were called to the grounds of the Elks Home, to battle imaginary fires and test their speed and agility in this third annual event, sponsored by the Quincy Department.

Firefighter James Kelley said this year's total was higher than previous musters and extended congratulations to all those local firemen who participated, and to the 250 or more people who attended the three hour-plus exciting event.

The teams won trophies in five events for men and two events for women. The overall winner was the Halifax Fire Department; second went to the Rockland team; and third went to the Hanson squad. Quincy's team won three trophies, according to Lt. Mike Butts.

People's Choice award went to the Houston, Tex., fire department's 108-foot aerial ladder truck. The vehicle was being outfitted in the Boston area and upon hearing about the muster they called, and were invited to show off their ladder truck.

Butts said the muster usually raises about $1000 for MD, but this year's total was a wonderful surprise.

Quincy Junior College's Office Education Is Popular Major

At Quincy Junior College, Office Education ranks among the most popular major courses of study.

The new title, Office Education, reflects the expanded importance of the office worker in the present business world. The office of the 80's requires, in addition to the basics of shorthand and typing, much more sophisticated training in office management skills, which students can acquire in the two-year Associate Degree program at Quincy Junior College.

Frequently, the Office Education major finds that the entry-level position utilizing her secretarial skills is the first step to many management-level positions.

At Quincy Junior College's Office Education Career Day held this spring, many alumnae from the program returned to share their experiences with current and prospective students. These graduates, many of whom now hold management positions in various businesses and government offices, told the gathering that their Quincy Junior courses in Business Communications, Records Management, and Secretarial Procedures provided them with the requisite skills to move up the professional ladder in their companies.

A recent Time magazine article stated that by 1988 there will be a shortage of over 250,000 office personnel even with starting salaries that average $16,000 for the person with college training. Some of the returning graduates stated that their salaries are well over $30,000 in management positions.

At Quincy Junior College students receive hands-on training with the complex machines that they will work on in the modern office. For example, filing is now much more technical Records Management, in which students master various methods of filing and retrieving record information on various machines at the complex modern Office installation.

Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, West Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were made by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Memorial donations can be made to the Elks National Foundation, c/o the Quincy Elks Lodge.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

FEAR. It is an emotion with which we are endowed for our own protection. Fear can be good or bad depending upon what we fear. Some fears are normal and reasonable. We refuse to walk carelessly into a street for fear a car will hit us. We draw back from exposure to communicable diseases for fear of sickness. Fear has its place in life. There are some things we ought to fear...

...situations, persons, courses of action that will get us into trouble if we have anything to do with them. Fear becomes our enemy when it becomes morbid fear. There are many people who keep themselves in a constant dither and are in a state of fear most of the time. They keep themselves and everybody around them in a state of irritation and unhappiness.

Fear is a protective device given us by our Creator in order that we may avoid what needs to be avoided or meet it with courage and force.

Normal fear is to be pondered and analyzed. Morbid fear sets us to worrying about things that could settle themselves if we only allowed them to do so. Fear can be a blessing or a curse depending on what we make it...

Memorial Service Saturday For Margaret Tuthill

A memorial service for Margaret Tuthill, a retired music teacher in the Quincy public schools will be held Saturday, July 12 at 11 a.m. in the Bethany Congregational Church Chapel, Quincy Center.

Miss Tuthill, a Quincy resident, died June 21 at a local nursing home after a long illness. She was 93.

A 1913 graduate of the Bridgewater Normal School, she began her teaching career at the Wollaston School in September of that year.

She later became assistant music supervisor for Quincy public schools working closely with Maude Howes. Together they built an outstanding music program which included high school choruses, operettas, and prize-winning orchestras and hands. Miss Tuthill retired from teaching in 1958.

She had lived in Atkinson, N.H., and Mattapoiset before moving to Quincy in 1913.

She was a member of the Quincy and Massachusetts retired teachers associations and was a longtime member of Bethany Congregational Church.

She is survived by a nephew, Bruce S. Worth of Connecticut, and his daughters. She was the daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. Julian Tuthill.

Funeral arrangements were made by the Sweeney Brothers Home For Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations can be made to the Bethany Scholarship Fund.

Thomas C. Currier, 79, Of 'Hum 'n Strum' Harmony Team

A memorial Mass for Thomas C. Currier of the famed harmony team of Hum'n Strum will be celebrated Monday, July 14 at 9 a.m. in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merrymount.

Mr. Currier died July 2 in Fairfax Hospital, Fairfax, Va. after an illness. He would have been 80 July 25.

A former Quincy resident, Mr. Currier teamed with his partner, the late Max Zides of Brookline for 35 years as Hum'n Strum. Their partnership spanned vaudeville, radio, records and television.

They retired as a team in 1958 but were reunited for about a year in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. and after that appeared together every now and then.

Mr. Zides died in January, 1975. He was "Hum" to Mr. Currier's "Strum." The team's name came from the fact that they harmonized and both played the ukulele which later gave way to the piano.

The pair, who started in early radio, were the first vaudeville team to use a P.A. system, and are credited with teaching George Burns and Gracie Allen how to speak into a microphone.

They helped steer Burns and Allen and a young Phil Silvers, another vaudeville, to radio and stardom.

Both Mr. Currier and Mr. Zides attended Boston Commerce High School but did not know one another until a chance meeting in a Boston music publishing firm in 1924.

The pair started talking, discovered they could harmonize, shook hands and became Hum'n Strum. The handshake was the only contract between them.

They started singing together over WGL, an early Medford radio station and soon had a large following. They were offered $100 a week to appear at Loew's State.

From there they played the top vaudeville circuits including The Palace in New York.

Mr. Currier met his wife in 1927 when she was appearing in Boston as a dancer. She studied with Lilla Viles Wynna in Boston and in New York with Trossoff, a Russian ballet master.

Mr. Currier was born in Boston and lived in the Houghs Neck and Merry-mount sections of Quincy before moving to Braintree. He lived there several years before going to Ft. Lauderdale.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Terrence P. Currier of Arlington, Va., an actor and entertainer, and Thomas C. Currier, Jr. of Mitchell, Md.

Burial was private at Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

THOMAS C. CURRIER

York, appeared on NBC radio, made records and had their own early television show on WBZ-TV in Boston and WJAR-TV in Rhode Island.

In a 1929 poll, Hum'n Strum ranked as the third most popular radio entertainers in the country, just behind Amos'n Andy and Rudy Vallee and ahead of Will Rogers and Guy Lombardo.

This was while they were with NBC and touring the country, broadcasting from a different city each week.

They did their own commercials and originated the singing jingles.

They appeared frequently at the old Fox & Hounds Restaurant in Quincy.

Mr. Currier appeared as a solo in Ft. Lauderdale nightclubs after Mr. Zides returned home.

Mr. Currier and his wife, the former Helen Mary Egan moved to Reston, Va. about 15 years ago where he continued to entertain locally until recently.

Mr. Currier met his wife in 1927 when she was appearing in Boston as a dancer. She studied with Lilla Viles Wynna in Boston and in New York with Trossoff, a Russian ballet master.

Mr. Currier was born in Boston and lived in the Houghs Neck and Merry-mount sections of Quincy before moving to Braintree. He lived there several years before going to Ft. Lauderdale.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Terrence P. Currier of Arlington, Va., an actor and entertainer, and Thomas C. Currier, Jr. of Mitchell, Md.

Burial was private at Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Richard F. Lombard, 77

A funeral Mass for Richard F. Lombard, 77, of Wollaston, a retired office manager for the Nestle Co. in Cambridge, was celebrated July 5 in St. Ann's Church.

Mr. Lombard died July 1 at the Veterans Medical Center in West Roxbury after a long illness.

He was employed by Nestle for 43 years before retiring 13 years ago.

A World War II Navy veteran, he was a member of Morrisette Legion Post.

He is survived by his wife, M. Dorothy (Ney) Lombard; two sons, Richard Lombard Jr. of Milton and Robert Lombard of Quincy; a daughter, Ann Lombard of Quincy; a brother, John J. Lombard of Norton; a sister, Grace Thompson of Wareham; and four grandchildren. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by the Dolan Funeral Home, 460 Granite Ave., Milton.

Quincy Camp Fire Holds Grand Council Fire

Quincy Camp Fire held their Grand Council Fire recently with more than 100 in attendance.

The Cabbage Patch Blue Birds led the procession, with torches to light the fire, as all members sang "Kahinta Kanya," the traditional Camp Fire procession since the organization's founding 76-years ago.

Adventurer Kelly Meade led the flag ceremony and the singing of "It's a Grand Old Flag."

A representative from each club placed a decorated log on the fire and told about some of the club's favorite experiences during the past year.

Stephanie Mahn and Discovery Club member Jennifer Mahn led the audience in singing "The Camp Fire Law" and "It's a Camp Fire World for Us."

Sparks, the kindergarten level of Camp Fire, were presented with a certificate and emblem in recognition of their participation in that groups program.

Two Sparks already registered in a Blue Bird club for next year, and receiving their red Blue Bird vests, were Christine Lehmann and Julie Concannon.

Both girls, with leader Cathy Lehmann, lit Blue Bird candles from the Wollaston candles.

Blue Bird leaders came forward to present Blue Bird progression emblems earned this year. Barbara Breslin's club received their Who Bird emblems for completing the first year project, focused on self development. Paula Gordon's and Brenda Chin's clubs received their Star Bird emblems for the second year project, which focuses on helping others.

Fran Meade's club received their Solo Flight emblems for the third year project which develops self-reliance and independence.

The Pine Cone Blue Birds were graduated to Adventure level in the Fly Up ceremony during which each girl was presented with a Fly Up certificate and her blue Adventure vest. Blue Birds flying up this year were: Amy Detweiler, Heather Bergonzi Patti Trayers, Julie McDonald, Linda Hennessy, Jamie Meade, Karen Shea, Laura Walty, and Renee Baszkiewicz.

The presentation of awards included swimming emblems, Friendship Across the Ages, Wise Old Willie conservation awards, and Link Ups for participation in programs outside Camp Fire such as sports, music and dance lessons.

Special awards were given to Tom Meade and Joe Marks for their many hours of work for Camp Fire during the year.

Lillian McCrackin's Adventure club presented every leader with a rose, with thanks from Quincy Camp Fire.

The ceremony concluded with the singing of "Taps."

The program was written and directed by Quincy camp Fire's new Town Coordinator Paula Gordon, with the assistance of Program Director, Fran Meade.

Quincy Camp Fire's next citywide activity will be a week-end camp out in Plymouth.

At Sands The Motto Always Is 'Serve The Customer'

"Can we help you?" asks manager Lenny Lifovich to a customer hurrying into Sands: More Than A Five And Dime Store, at 49A Billings Rd., North Quincy.

This customer oriented approach at Sands has always stayed in vogue and is a priority, said Lifovich, a veteran retailer for 50 years.

"Customers come into our store wanting prompt service so our motto here is simply 'serve the customer,'" said

Lifovich, who agrees that despite the changes today in the retail business, customer service never goes out of style.

The sign outside, 'More Than A Five and Dime Store,' indicates that Sands, is much more than an improved copy of the five-and-dime stores of a bygone era, stores which were part of many people's lives at one time or another.

Today, a Sands store is considered by a growing number of the buying public in North Quincy, as a kind of 'shopping center.' It has something for everyone under one roof.

Lifovich, a resident of North Quincy, said Sands is inventoried with quality merchandise at competitive prices. Its many departments are stocked with such items as: ladies-men-children wear, housewares, domestics, toys, candy, health and beauty aids, greeting cards and gifts, a garden shop, yarn and notions, window shades and accessories, handbags shoes, slippers and appliances.

The shelves and walls also include those hard-to-get items that everyone thinks they have in the kitchen drawer at home but are among the missing when they go to look for them.

Signs along the shelves carry the message: 'If you do not see what you want please ask a salesperson,' another indication Sands is customer-oriented.

The stores formal introduction to the North Quincy business community occurred in 1981 when The

Purdy's A Homemade Gourmet Ice Cream Parlor

By DAN CONNELLY

"Compare Purdy's to the best of Boston and you'll see, we're perfect!"

That was the challenge when Joseph Buccini opened Purdy's, a quaint turn-of-the-century homemade ice cream parlour last summer at Billings Rd., North Quincy.

Now, Purdy's is the South Shore's own homemade-gourmet ice cream parlour with the same intriguing features as the Boston gourmet shops, as well as unique qualities of its own making it even more irresistible.

Buccini, a resident of South Quincy, decided that Quincy needed a homemade ice cream parlour of its own to boast about. When a store became vacant two doors down from his "Mister Sub" sandwich shop, he knew it was the perfect location.

Since day one it has been an entire family operation. "I promised my wife, Gail, that if she did an exceptional job on the interior decor, I would name it after her." One look at Purdy's and you can guess what Gail's maiden name is.

Son, Joseph Jr. acted as manager until this spring, when his sister, Lynne, 23, a recent graduate of Boston University's School of Management took charge. The rest of Joe and Gail's seven children act as official test tasters (That's what they call themselves, anyway!)

There's always something new at Purdy's. Whether it's a new flavor of ice cream, a new sundae creation, or a new mix-in (ice-cream jargon for candy pieces, nuts and other appetizing treats) which is folded into America's favorite dessert.

All of Purdy's ice cream is made on the premises which bears out the statement that the product is homemade.

"Working with ice cream is a lot of fun!" says Lynne. "The opportunity to be creative is endless."

As an example: this month's special flavors include pina colada, strawberry cheesecake and amaretto. Strawberry lime rickeys are the newest addition to the fountain line which includes the dream float (this brings back memories of that favorite ice cream bar, the creamsicle.)

"Why is your ice cream so creamy?" Lynne is often asked. Not one to give out all the family secrets, she would only say one of those secrets is in the butterfat content of the ice cream mix. We are also very careful to maintain the proper temperatures to insure the smoothest texture, she added.

Lynne said the shop hours are Monday through Friday, 12 noon to 10 p.m. and weekends, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Now that summer is here these hours, Lynne said, will accommodate anyone whose thoughts drift to outdoor entertainment, such as patio meals and lunches. To make it more pleasurable for all, Lynne says your best bet will be ice cream desserts that are refreshing, good-tasting, quick to prepare and easy to serve.

In one year, Purdy's has evolved from a cute little homemade ice cream parlour to a tantalizing gourmet confectionery shoppe. Their product line includes toll house cookie sandwiches, Italian frozen desserts, ice cream cakes for any occasion and an old fashioned candy counter that will bring back memories to the older generation and is the center of attention to the junior set.

Last weekend, Purdy's celebrated its first birthday with free balloons and slices of their popular ice cream cake to bearers of birthday cards. "We had a great time, it was a perfect party!" says Lynne.

HERE'S THE SCOOP -- Purdy's manager Lynne Buccini comes up with two ice cream flavor delights, a perfect taste-treat for a hot summer day.

At Sands The Motto Is 'Serve The Customer'

that Lifovich has the qualifications.

Now in his fourth year at Sands, his early experience in the world of retailing was with Enterprise and J.M. Field stores as a shoe coordinator. Later, he moved to the Kinn's department store chain and became a fashion coordinator. His position at Sands includes training personnel in merchandising, ordering, display and being proficient in all retail departments.

The interior of the store is High-ceilinged and spacious and well illuminated to better focus on its stock for customer browsing. Outside is an expanded sidewalk display (weather permitting), an eye-catcher for passersby, especially when the items are on sale.

Cheryl Landry Receives National Teacher Award

Cheryl A. Landry, a teacher in Quincy's Atherton Hough School has been selected to receive a 1986 Sallie Mae teacher award for outstanding first-year teaching performance.

Landry was among 100 elementary and secondary school teachers selected nationally by Sallie Mae to receive awards.

The awards program, now in its second year, is administered for the Student Loan Marketing Assn (Sallie Mae) by the American Association of School Administrators, which represents 17,500 public and private school administrators and professors of education administration.

"We are extremely pleased to honor Cheryl A. Landry as an outstanding teacher," said Edward A. McCabe, Chairman of the Board of Sallie Mae.

"Because of Sallie Mae's extensive involvement in education financing, we believe it is appropriate to recognize those teachers who excel early in their careers and we hope to foster their continued strong commitment to the teaching profession."

Landry was nominated to receive the award by the Quincy Public Schools. Recipients are selected on the basis of their collegiate academic performance, leadership capabilities demonstrated in campus volunteer and campus community activities, and performance as first-year teachers, based on their school districts' criteria.

5 Residents Graduate New England Law School

Five Quincy residents recently graduated from the New England School of Law with the degree of Juris Doctor.

They are: Donna M. Reardon, South Street, a 1981 graduate of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst; Martin J. Conley son of Harold and Phyllis Conley, Edgeworth Road, a 1978 graduate of the University of Massachusetts at Boston; David G. Sullivan, son of Dr. Arthur and Rosemarie Sullivan, Priscilla Lane, a 1975 graduate of Boston University; Rita A. Turcotte, Summer Street, a 1981 graduate of Holy Cross

College; and Janet Marie Twomey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lydon, Jr., Adams Circle, a 1983 graduate of Providence College.

2 QJC Students Receive NFPA Scholarships

Deborah MacDonald of Quincy and Lois Herzberg of Weymouth, both students at Quincy Junior College, have been named co-recipients of the second annual John J. Curry Scholarship.

The scholarship, presented by the National Fire Protection Association, is awarded to first year honor students in the business administration division.

Miss Herzberg earned a 3.81 grade point average in her first year. Her area of concentration is in the field of legal secretary.

Miss MacDonald achieved a 3.61 grade point average. She is an accounting major.

The scholarship recognizes their efforts and will help them continue their education.

Quincy Wins Pair Morrisette Clicks, Wollaston Rebounds

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy Legion baseball team continues to come along strong and Monday night defeated Baintree for the second time, 5-4, in nine innings, following a 2-0 victory over Randolph.

The wins improved Quincy's record to 3-5-1.

Morrisette clicked on all cylinders last week as it mauled Wollaston, 15-1, to improve to 4-2-1.

Wollaston bounced back from that wallowing to defeat Holbrook, 10-5, Monday night and improve to 3-7.

Friday night Quincy hosts Milton at 8 at Adams Field and Wollaston is home to Canton at 6 at Adams. Sunday Quincy meets Morrisette at 8 at Adams in a makeup game. Monday Morrisette again faces Quincy at 8 at Adams. Tuesday Quincy plays Holbrook in a double header at 6 and 8 p.m. at Adams and next Wednesday Morrisette hosts Carter Post at 8 at Adams and Wollaston plays at Baintree at 8:30.

Quincy overcame a 4-0 deficit Monday night to upset Baintree for the second time.

Three Quincy pitchers, starter Andy Palmariello, Bob Laracy, who pitched an inning, and Richie Bryan, who pitched the ninth and got the win, shut Baintree out after the second inning. Palmariello pitched 7 1/3 innings, striking out 10 and giving up eight hits. Eight bases on balls kept him in trouble.

Laracy came on in the eighth with runners on first and second and one out and made a fine grab of a bunt popped in the air and got the next batter on a grounder to first. Laracy was lifted for a pinch hitter and Bryan allowed two runners in the top of the ninth but shut the door without any scoring.

The Quincy Merchants Softball League all-star game will be played Saturday at noon at Houghton's Pond in Milton.

The game will be a fund raiser for the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition of which Fr. William R. McCarthy is president and

In the bottom of the ninth with two outs Pat O'Sullivan singled in Bill Mulken with the winning run after Mulken had singled and gone to second on an error.

Quincy had apparently won the game in the bottom of the seventh when Robbie Higgins singled Sean Gately home. However, a Quincy runner failed to complete the play and touch second base. Baintree coach Don Fredericks appealed and the runner was called out, nullifying the run.

Quincy had 12 hits off three Baintree pitchers and left 15 men on base. It left the bases loaded in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings.

O'Sullivan had three hits as did Mulken. P.J. Hussey had a triple, Kyle Robertson, who caught a fine game, Higgins, Palmariello, Gately and Peter Tufts a single each. Steve Haggas reached base five times, four on walks and once on an error.

Last week Quincy edged Randolph, 2-0, as Palmariello, who had earlier lost a two-hitter and a four-hitter, pitched three-hit ball, struck out five and walked three.

The high point for Quincy was 16-year-old Wayne Chambers, making his first start of the season, driving in both Quincy runs.

In the fourth inning he flied deep to right field, scoring Gately from third and in the sixth, with Hussey on second and two outs, he singled to drive in an insurance run.

Hussey had a double and single, O'Sullivan two singles and Haggas and Chambers a single each.

What started out as a close game turned into a rout when Morrisette scored 11 runs in the sixth inning on eight hits, three walks, a hit batter and two wild pitches to roll over Wollaston.

John Cristiani pitched a three-hitter, struck out 14 to bring his total to 39 in 26 innings and allowed one unearned run. It was his third complete game and improved his record to 3-1. He struck out the side in the first, fifth and sixth innings.

Larry Taglieri led the offense, going 4-for-5 with two singles, a double and triple. Normally a pitcher, he was a last-minute replacement in the outfield. He drove in four runs and scored two.

In the third inning Mike Joyce singled home Steve Minichiello (two hits), who had walked and stolen second. Morrisette added single runs in the fourth and fifth with Taglieri driving in Rob McDonald, who had doubled, in the fourth, and Dan Biagini (two hits) driving in Joyce, who had tripled, in the fifth.

The sixth was a nightmare for Wollaston, which used four pitchers. Dan Santry, who had pitched well over the first five innings, was the loser.

Taglieri, Cristiani and Biagini drove in two runs each in the inning and Joyce and McDonald one each. Morrisette's first 11 batters reached. Taglieri drove in another run in the seventh after Dan Ross had singled as a pinch hitter.

Wollaston's three hits all were doubles off the bats of Steve Conatas, Santry and Steve Austin.

Wollaston bounced back Monday and, trailing 5-2, scored twice in the fifth and six times in the sixth for the victory at Holbrook.

T.J. Steen pitched all the way, giving up only two earned runs, allowing seven hits and striking out six.

Wollaston had 13 hits with Jay Laspasio and Tom Logan having a triple and single each and Chris Rossi, Conatas, Austin, and Ricky Nabstedt two singles apiece and Dave Tocchio one.

The Coalition will be presented with a check and a pledge of continued support.

Volunteers are needed to staff the food booths (cook and sell) from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. on any part of the day. Anyone interested in volunteering is asked to call Nancy Powers at 770-3314.

DEREK HOLT (right) of North Quincy High, was named to the Boston Globe all-scholastic golf team and receives his award from Larry Ames, Globe Schoolboy sports editor. Holt won 25 matches this spring and qualified for the state tournament for the third year in a row.

Shionis Selected For Agganis Game

Ted Shionis, who set a North Quincy High record with a 98-yard touchdown run last fall and who, despite not starting as a running back until the third game, rushed for nearly 1000 yards, has been selected to play on the East team in the annual Harry Agganis all-star football game Aug. 1 at Lyon's Manning Bowl.

Shionis will join Don Parry, outstanding wide receiver for Quincy High, on the East squad.

Future Looks Bright For Raiderettes

The North Quincy girls' softball team recently closed out its season with a 9-9 record.

The Raiderettes wound up their schedule with an 8-7 victory over Newton North, with Ann Anderlionis pitching her second win over the second place team in the Suburban League.

In a season marked by inconsistent pitching, things look bright for the future as both Ann and Kristen Drake, who did most of the pitching this year, return next year. Only Noreen Connolly, who had a 1-1 record, will be lost through graduation.

The highlight of the season was the consistent hitting of the team. Anderlionis batted .484 to lead the squad and also led the league in hitting. During an early stretch, she had 12 extra base hits in her first 25 times at bat. They included five triples, six doubles and one home run. This pattern continued throughout the season and she topped it off with a game-tying home run in the league all-star game.

Infielders Nancy Leonard (.426) and Colleen Hannon (.409) will be returning as well as junior centerfielder Tricia Grant (.375).

Senior infielders Noreen Connolly (.409) and Carolyn O'Reilly (.368) will be missed but the void should be filled by Tara O'Brien and Eileen Campbell, promising junior varsity players.

One of the more pleasant surprises was the play of three freshmen, who started nearly every game for the varsity. Hard-hitting Karin Reister led the league in hitting for the first month and ended up in third place with a .410 average. The play of Kristen Drake and Sarah Harrington enabled them to maintain their starting roles during the entire season.

Also helping brighten next year's prospects will be the return of junior catcher Ann McGuigan. She had a .357 average and also possesses a strong arm which enabled her to cut down many runners trying to steal.

North was well-represented on the league all-star team as Connolly, Hannon, McGuigan and Anderlionis were chosen to play in the annual all-star game. Anderlionis was named co-MVP of the game.

"We were very competitive in all our games as evidenced by our games with Brockton, Waltham and Newton, the league leaders," said Coach Mary Pratt.

"We took the measure of Newton twice and lost early leads to Brockton and Waltham in games where bases on balls proved our ruin. On two occasions North pitchers issued 14 walks in the course of a game and you don't win games on any level of competition with that type of pitching."

Cable In Hot Streak

Quincy Cable is on a hot streak, winning five of its last six games in the Quincy Junior Baseball League, including four in a row.

Cable defeated the Elks, 11-8, behind the strong pitching of 11-year-old Brian Wood, who helped his own cause with a three-run homer.

Chris Peck went 4-for-4, scored three runs and had a fine game defensively at shortstop. Mike Wood, Mike Kavanaugh and Dave Cedrone two hits each. Terry Sheehan a double and single and Aiden O'Donoghue and Joe Check one hit each.

Cable edged Boston Gear, 1-0, with Pat Gallagher pitching three-hit ball, striking out nine and not walking a batter.

Cable scored the only run in the first inning on hits by Mike McDonald, Peck and Gallagher.

Kavanaugh and Cedrone had the only other Cable hits in the fourth inning.

Mike Patch and Derek Haggas pitched equally well for Gear and Patch also had a double and single. Danny Duncan made a good bid to tie the game in the sixth, just missing a home run and settling for a double. Two good plays by second baseman Justin Ackerman left him stranded.

Cable got by Houghs Neck, 6-5, in extra innings, with McDonald pitching well for six innings, allowing five hits. Brian Wood picked up the win when brother Mike drove in the winning run in the seventh.

Gallagher, O'Donoghue and Mike Wood each had three hits. Peck added a double and single and McDonald and Kavanaugh had a single each. Chris Sullivan, Check, Sheehan, Ackerman and Cedrone played fine games.

Cable won a 16-10 slugfest over Kiwanis.

Cable overcame an early 5-1 deficit as Kiwanis scored five runs in the second inning on five hits, including a long home run by Bob Fitzpatrick. Cable came back with nine runs in the fourth inning. Kavanaugh singled, Mike Wood doubled, Ackerman, McDonald and Peck singled and Gallagher tripled.

Four more hits by Cedrone, Brian Wood, Kavanaugh and Mike Wood produced four more runs.

Kavanaugh was the winning pitcher in relief, striking out four and walking one in four strong innings.

McDonald led the offense with four hits. Gallagher had a triple, double and single. Mike Woods a triple, double and two singles and three runs scored. O'Donoghue a double and single and Cedrone and Kavanaugh two hits each. Sheehan made several good plays in right field and Peck caught a fine game, tagging out two runners at the plate. Check and Sullivan also played fine games.

Mike McManus had two hits for Kiwanis. Fitzpatrick three and Mark Nutley and Tom Nutley a double each.

Our Local Business', Alumni, All Citizens

Who are concerned in assisting the athletic programs of our youth that have been greatly effected by recent budget restraints.

Our goal, to install permanent lighting facilities in our Veterans Memorial Stadium.

We need, $100,000 to achieve this goal.

We know that there are many citizens and alumni of our athletic programs that have many fond memories of our stadium. We want our facility to be second to none. Night athletic events will allow many more people to attend various competitions involving all of our athletes. The city of Quincy has always shown great pride in our Athletic Programs and throughout the years they have proudly represented our city of Presidents.

Now in these restricting times our Athletes need our support. We cannot let them down.

We the Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee are asking your help in achieving our goal to rededicate Veterans Memorial Stadium and help us "Brighten Up" the future of our athletic programs for all of the youth of our city.

Your support and tax deductible contributions would be greatly appreciated by the youth of our city.

Sheets, Perkins, Named Chairmen At QJC

James Sheets and Frank Perkins have been appointed by the School Committee to chairman posts at Quincy Junior College.

Sheets, long time Quincy resident, and who is also Ward 4 City Councillor, was reappointed to the school's Division of Social Public Services. He has been on the faculty at QJC for 27 years.

Perkins was appointed chairman of the Division of Humanities and Communication. He has been with the school since 1964, and served as the chairperson of the English department in the 1970's.

"The college is proud to have these two fine faculty members in leadership positions in their respective divisions," said Arthur

Keough, Dean of Faculty. I feel sure that they will help expand the academic services of the college to the community. Both men have served the college for a number of years and have excellent credentials.

Children Granted Immunity From Testifying Against Parents

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell announces that legislation sponsored by his office and authored by Atty. Stephen T. Keefe, Jr. of Weymouth granting immunity to children from testifying against their parents has become law

Massachusetts is now the only state in the nation that grants immunity to children in this manner. The immuty applies, however, only in cases where a crime is committed against non-family members and would not apply in the case where a parent committed a crime of violence against one of his children.

Brownell said the need for the legislation was brought to his attention by Keefe, who was appointed by the Court to represent the children of Professor William Douglas. The Douglas murder case was unique in that the prosecutor could not locate the victim and the prosecution tried to develop evidence against Professor Douglas by calling his children before the grand jury against their will. The children ultimately were forced to testify because state and federal courts held that there was no privilege for children not to testify against their parents.

Rep. Brownell said, "The children's immunity from testifying against a parent makes sense because it protects family unity and eliminates testimony, the voracity of which in many cases is questionable."

Two Quincy Women On Medical Mission

Two Quincy women are scheduled to leave Saturday for Ecuador, with other members of Por Cristo de Brockton, an organization which sends volunteer medical group to South America.

Physical therapist Diane Plante and director of development, Mary Lou Pistorino will participate in the evaluation of the treatment done by their hemifacial team in Ecuador last January, and also prepare for the team's return in November.

The group will study treatment done in January for follow-up and potential new patients are to be screened.

Por Cristo surgically aids children born with a deformity characterized by the lack of development of the jaw and ear on one side of the face. The team is also researching the high incidence of this deformity in Ecuador.

Cable TV Rates Up In September

Beginning Sept. 1, subscribers to five program services at Quincy Cable-systems will see a fee hike.

In a letter mailed to subscribers John J. King, regional manager for American Cable-systems said the services affected are:

- A $1.50 increase in basic cable TV service (Supercable), from $9.95 to $11.45.

- A $1.50 increase to $4.50 for an additional cable TV outlet.

- A $1.30 increase for Senior Basic Service (Supercable and remote control), which goes from $9.95 to $11.25.

- A $1 increase for Sports Channel, from $7.95 to $8.95.

- A $2 increase for Sports Plus Combo, $10.95 to $12.95.

According to King, rising costs in programming, equipment and personnel were responsible for the fee increase.

When the company announced its plans, Mayor Francis X. McAulley said he will ask officials to review their planned $1.30-a-month in the cost of the Senior Basic Service which has a subscription of 2500 customers.

McAulley said that, while a $1.30 increase might be easily absorbed by some subscribers, it can present a burden to many senior citizens who subscribe to this service.

Under the license agreement it made with Quincy when it started operations, here five years ago, the company froze its fees for two years.

The $1.50 increase in basic cable TV service (Supercable) follows an increase of $2 last year and $1 the year before.

In his letter to subscribers King said:

"During the last year we have expanded your Supercable Service with the addition of six new program services: VH-1, the Discovery Channel, WSTG-Ch. 64, WJTV-Ch. 66, the Home Shopping Network and C-Span II covering the U.S. Senate. In addition, we have expanded the program hours of WHLL-27. With a total of 44 different program services, our basic service is now one of the most comprehensive in the country. We have also added a new premium service, The Movie Channel, bringing our premium selection up to nine."

King cited another example of programming needs in the new Request Television service which enables subscribers the opportunity to purchase top quality movies and specials on a per-view basis. He also said on the "local front" we continue to bring top quality community productions of specific interest to Quincy residents.

He added that customer service remains the company's number one priority. Expanded office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday. During off hours they employ an answering service to respond to subscribers immediate service needs.

King said no other prices will be effected by this rate increase. "We will continue to offer our existing rates for all other services, including our discount packages for two or more premium services," he added.

Quincy To Receive $351,074 For Handicapped Education

Education for the handicapped in the Quincy school system will receive $351,074 this year thanks to an amendment proposed by Sen. John Kerry and passed by the Congress.

Kerry's amendment to the Education of the Handicapped Act changed a funding formula that previously penalized states which choose to serve more students than the federal government allowed. Two states, Massachusetts and New Jersey, have already exceeded the 12 percent cap as it stood in the present law and four other states were expected to go over the cap in the upcoming fund cycle.

In Quincy, 1433 students benefit from some type of this federal aid. But this year $351,074 of federal aid will go to the city schools for special needs education.

Kerry said the present formula has a 12 percent funding cap that is based on the number of handicapped children a state serves as compared to the number of general school-age children from ages five to 17. The Handicapped Act, however, passed 10 years ago, provides a free and appropriate education to all handicapped children from ages three to 21. Thus, said Kerry, an inconsistency in the law exists if states serve children outside of the general school-age category.

Under the Kerry amendment, in determining the 12 percent cap, handicapped children ages five to 17 will be compared to the general school-age population, even if a state serves children outside the five to 17 limit.

The President is expected to approve of the Kerry amendment when he signs into law the Arts and Humanities reauthorization bill which was used as a vehicle for the action.

"This action ensures that Massachusetts does not lose over $2 million in federal funds for handicapped children," State Education Commissioner, Ron Reynolds said.

Over the past two years, Massachusetts has lost $2.1 million because of the formula problem.

Students Participate In Poetry Seminar

A public schools' poetry program recently focused on a series of seminars conducted by Carl Winderl, Eastern Nazarene English professor and published poet.

Eight grade students developed their own poetry as part of the program.

The seminar series, arranged through the efforts of Winderl and Dr. Janet DiTullio, coordinator of language arts in the Quincy school system, provided a rare opportunity for middle school students to work directly with a published poet.

Merrymount Defeats Montclair To Win Literature Contest

The Merrymount Elementary School, represented by Merrymount assistant principal Catherine Gilmartin's fifth grade, defeated Montclair Elementary School in a close match to win the fifth annual Children's Literature Contest held recently at the Squantum School.

Merrymount won its third contest in the last four years on the tenth and final question of a tiebreaker series.

The two schools had seen several lead changes in the one hour contest.

Montclair, represented by Ellen Costello's fifth grade, had forced the tiebreaker by correctly answering the last two questions of regulation. The two schools battled through the playoff series until Merrymount answered the last question by correctly identifying "The Borrowers" as the group of little people who live under the kitchen floor and have a series of adventures that put their lives in danger.

Warren Lewis's fifth grade class from Squantum was third while the fourth grade class of Aliisa Ananis and Joan Youngman finished fourth.

These classes reached the finals by winning their school championship.

School media specialist Theodore Clarke, who originated the contest, served as moderator.

Indians In Blue Hills Before Pyramids Built

Before the pyramids were built in Egypt, Indians lived and hunted in the Blue Hills, says Chris Pahud of Rowley St., Quincy, and UMass/Boston.

Pahud works in Media Services on the Harbor Campus. He earned a degree in anthropology at UMass/Boston in 1980.

Pahud produced and directed a two-part videotape on the prehistoric Indian site excavated at the Blue Hills for the University's public affairs series, "Local Focus."

The videotape will air the week of March 17 on cable television and is aimed for an audience with little or no background in archaeology.

"We tend to think of New England's old roots as Yankee roots but for thousands of years people - Indian/Asian stock people - were living here. They had some contact with Europeans who were fishermen and traders for about a hundred years before the pilgrims landed at Plymouth," said Pahud, who wrote the original music for the film.

The archaeologists say the oldest carbon 14 test results date the site back to the middle archaic period 7900 years ago.

"Because of New England's acidic soil, mostly rocks and fragments remain," continued Pahud, who uncovered stone chips knocked off projectile points and knives.

Pahud originally planned to major in psychology but after a course on introductory anthropology, Dr. Charles Nelson urged him to switch his major.

"I wanted to be part of a dig on the Harbor Islands. When I asked professor Nelson how I could be part of the project, he said 'Switch to anthropology,'" recalled Pahud, laughing.

Since then, Pahud has become active in the Massachusetts Archaeological Society. He is chairman of the South Shore Chapter and is a member of the advisory committee for the preservation of the MDC historic sites.

Pahud's wife Joan is a graduate student in special needs education at UMass/Boston.

Museum Passes Available At Library

The Friends of the Quincy Thomas Crane Library have purchased two family memberships to museums to be used by the general public.

Membership to the Children's and Science Museums have also been acquired.

These entitle four persons per day to use the passes at any time when the museums are open. They must be reserved in advance and taken out for a three-day loan with one's library card. Passes must be borrowed by an adult.

Because museum admission prices are costly for a family, the library friends made the purchase so everyone can enjoy these cultural institutions.

Ceramics Camp To Open July 14

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch announces that the Ceramics Camp, sponsored as one of the 10 self-supporting sport camps and instructional workshops by the Quincy Recreation Department, will be held at the Dawes Memorial Estate beginning July 14.

The Ceramics Camp, directed by Nancy Joyce, Supervisor of Ceramics at the Quincy Recreation Department, is an instructional program geared to young people with a genuine interest in ceramics. The Ceramics Camp is open to both boys and girls ages eight to 13. Participants will be taught basic techniques in ceramics production. Instruction includes the cleaning of greenware, and both the staining and glazing of bisqued pieces.

The recreation department will supply all cleaning tools, paints, brushes, and firing of all projects. A limited supply of small greenware pieces will also be available.

The camp will be held at the Dawes Memorial Estate from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. July 14 through July 18. Cost of the five day camp is $14. Participants are expected to supply larger pieces of greenware and special paints when needed. No previous ceramic experience is required.

Registration for this can be made at the Quincy Recreation Department office, 100 Southern Artery, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Only limited spaces are available. For additional information, call 773-1380, ext. 204.

Beechwood Coffeehouse Musical Program

WEEK OF: JULY 10

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Forecast is a sunny one for romantic endeavors. Snags in communications may make it difficult for your message to be fully grasped. Creative interests are highlighted.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Spontaneity is essential in personal relationships. Watch tendency to volunteer for unknown assignments. Work offers new challenges. A willingness to try keeps you young.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
You dream up a wealth of novel ideas... some are offbeat, but there are more hits than misses. Take a more active interest in your financial affairs.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
You finally have access to a hard to reach person. Friend shows affection in unusual ways. Relative may require your support over a health matter.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Surroundings become more comfortable, even luxurious. Shopping trips can include some bargains... but check guarantees and other related documents. Real estate matter may be stalemated.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Career-related inconvincence may prove a blessing in disguise. Home environment becomes a beehive of activity... it's easy for expenses to soar. Financial news brightener may arrive by Wednesday.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Influential people can help your career... the key is to make your request at an opportune time. Small animals figure in the picture; you may be watching or even adopting a pet.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Originality is the current keyword and leads to the solution of a domestic dilemma. Partner may surprise you with rebellious streak. Important project is concluded ahead of schedule.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
If decorating or designing, simplicity is the key. Your motto this week is, "less is more." Weekend plans may go awry. At work, you gain respect and prestige.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Accent is on delegating work to trusted individuals. Far-out scheme may be implemented by Wednesday. Avoid taking sides in a domestic feud. Financial picture is less murky.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Renewed energy means that you're closer to achieving a major goal. Career bonus may be in the offing. Money news is encouraging. Making logical decisions is a current skill.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Emphasis is on upgrading skills and learning new technologies. On the romantic elevator, you exit at the up level. At work, you're nominated to keep the peace.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're ruled by the heart and are a born romantic. You're a natural entertainer too. You sometimes have difficulty sorting priorities... an exercise that is especially important in the coming year. With methodical planning, you may realize a major financial goal by early '87.

BORN THIS WEEK

July 10th, actor James Brolin; 11th, actor Tab Hunter; 12th, actor Bill Cosby; 13th, actor Harrison Ford; 14th, director Ingmar Bergman; 15th, singer Linda Ronstadt; 16th, actress Barbara Stanwyck.

Dear customer,

It is with great pleasure and pride that I announce the Grand Opening of the new Hanover branch of Suburban TV & Appliance Centers

It has taken 35 years of hard work from a lot of good people to make our store a success. And each of our sales, service, delivery and office people is well aware that the only way to keep growing is to keep satisfied customers in the Suburban family.

We are proud of our reputation as a store that stands behind its product. Good, old-fashioned customer service has been the cornerstone of our business.

And we're not about to change now.

In both our Weymouth and our Hanover stores, our people are ready and eager to help you. We pledge to remain the store you can trust for quality products backed by people who care.

Whether you're an old friend or a new one, please come by and join our celebration. I hope to see you there.

Sincerely,

Daniel T. Roberts

Groundbreaking Ceremonies

$57 Million Hospital Project Underway

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the $57 million replacement facility at Quincy City Hospital were scheduled to take place last night (Wednesday) at 5:30 p.m. at the hospital.

Scheduled to join Mayor Francis McCauley and the QCH Board of Managers were city, state and federal officials.

Expected to attend were members of the hospital's board of managers and management team including Mark J. Mundy, hospital director; the Rev. Maureen Young, director of pastoral care; Gerald P. Marquis, chairman of the Board of Managers; Sandra Taylor, R.N., member of the nursing staff; Dr. Peter Barrett, M.D., president of the medical staff; and Sen. Paul D. Harold.

The $57 million project will replace approximately two-thirds of the buildings and patient beds at the hospital. The new facility will contain 180 medical/surgical; 14 intensive care; 20 pediatric; and 20 mental health beds. The majority of the 234 beds in the new facility will be in single rooms with private toilet facilities.

In addition, 25 hospital departments will also be housed in the new buildings, including: emergency department, laboratory, EEG, EKG, respiratory therapy, rehabilitation medicine, pharmacy, social

Shipyard Proposals Deadline Extended

Efforts by the employee buyout committee to purchase the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard received a shot in the arm this week when the deadline for proposals was extended from Aug. 15 to Sept. 30.

The extra time will allow the committee to complete a feasibility study, due Sept. 15, and to decide whether to submit a proposal.

The committee had requested the extension in a letter last week to General Dynamics vice president and general manager Gary S.

Grimes.

Mayor Francis McCauley had also made the request on behalf of the buyout committee, as did Sen. Paul Harold and Rep. Thomas Brownell who sent a letter signed by 109 legislators.

In a letter to Peter Gwyn of Massachusetts Shipbuilding, Inc., a non-profit organization formed by the employee buyout committee, Grimes stated that the deadline was already extended from July 15 to Aug. 15.

"I am sure you can understand our concern that honoring your request will only again delay the identification of the best balanced solution for the disposal of the shipyard," stated Grimes.

"Nevertheless, because it is our sincere desire to find a use for the shipyard which provides significant employment, a reasonable tax base for the city of Quincy and a fair price to General Dynamics, we will establish, as you requested, Sept. 30, 1986 as the new and final date for submission of proposals

3 Days Of Good Fun, Good Buys Sidewalk Bazaar Opens Thursday

It's Sidewalk Bazaar time again in downtown Quincy and the three-day event which starts today (Thursday) will be chock full of bargains, entertainment and other special features.

There will be events for youngsters, as well as adults, and good buys in everything from clothes to appliances.

Ronald McDonald shows are scheduled, as are celebrity look-alikes who will lip-synch popular favorites.

There will be exhibitions of dance and gymnastics, as well as square dancing and round dancing.

The festivities will also include a performance by the South Shore Men of Harmony.

The Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant Friday at 9:05 p.m. at Quincy Center Plaza will be the highlight of the three-day event sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

Thirty-four contestants will compete for the crown and the honor of reigning over Quincy Bay Race Week Aug. 6 to 10.

More than $2,000 in prizes will be shared by the five finalists. The winner will receive the largest share.

The bazaar will be officially opened today at 10 a.m. when Mayor Francis McCauley cuts the ribbon at Granite and Hancock Sts.

The mayor, as well as Robert J. Quinn, QCBPA president, and Tricia Tanner, last year's Miss Quincy Bay, will be driven from Quincy City Hall in an antique Maxwell car by Bob Barker of Quincy Typewriter Service.

At the ribbon cutting site, McCauley will be joined by officers, directors and members of the QCBPA as well as a number of Miss Quincy Bay beauty contestants.

Hancock St. between School and Granite Sts. will be turned into a pedestrian mall as the street is closed to traffic. Merchants will display merchandise at brightly colored booths.

Radio station WJDA will cover Sidewalk Bazaar activities live.

The Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant and other activities will be telecast live by Quincy Cablesystems Ch. 3.

Quincy Sun Ch. 8 will show highlights of the Sidewalk Bazaar and a preview and highlights of the Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant.

Activities for the three days include:

Unhappy Ending For Empty Promises Story

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

More than 10 people who filed complaints with the Attorney General's office against a man who took money to find apartments and low interest mortgages and then failed to deliver apparently won't be getting their money back.

"I'm very disappointed with what has happened," said Jane Reikard, executive secretary of the Quincy Rent Grievance Board.

"The local consumer office does a fantastic job, and the whole thing could have been settled there."

Mrs. Reikard received complaints from about 13 people last spring who responded to newspaper ads and not only lost a total of $2,200 in entrance fees but also failed to find apartments or low interest mortgages.

Ten of the people agreed to forward to the attorney general's office their complaints against the man who operated out of an office at 37 Washington St., Quincy Center.

Mrs. Reikard said she had hoped the Attorney General's Office could take out a class action suit against the man who asked for an $85 entrance fee to find an apartment and $450 for a low interest mortgage.

In a letter to those who made the complaints, the Attorney General's Office stated:

"To our knowledge, Mr. --- closed his office in Quincy around May 13, and left Massachusetts.

"We have attempted to locate Mr. ---, but currently do not have information as to his whereabouts. We are not presently aware of any assets held by Mr. --- in Massachusetts.

"It does not appear, therefore, that we will be able to assist you in recovering the money you claim Mr. --- has failed to return to you or other damages."

"We suggest that if you wish to pursue your complaint further, you consult an attorney regarding the claims you have against Mr. --- or his companies."

Mrs. Reikard asked, "What good would getting an attorney do now that he is out of state?"

"The Attorney General's office had an opportunity to do something about the situation and pick the man up at an earlier date when he was in Quincy to visit a couple's home," she said.

"Had that been done, perhaps they could have gotten the money back for the people."

service, communication services, admissions, security, central sterile supply, housekeeping, the chapel, education center and materials handling.

Construction will start about August 18, and will take approximately 36 months to complete. Since QCH was founded in 1890, its centennial celebration will occur at the culmination of the new construction project when the new building is dedicated.

Following approval by the QCH Board of Managers and the Quincy City Council, Mayor McCauley signed a total bond issue of $60.2 million to pay for the new project, which also includes purchase of capital equipment to update present and new patient services and programs. QCH is the first public hospital in the United States to receive Federal Housing Administration (FHA 242) Mortgage Insurance which insures the bonds and has the lowest interest rate ever achieved through this program.

Health Commissioner Search Narrowed Down To Two

Quincy's search for a new health commissioner at a salary of about $35,000 a year has been narrowed down to two candidates, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

And a decision could be made within three weeks, he said.

McCauley said that his administrative assistant, Arthur Foley, and Personnel Director David Smith completed interviews with 14 candidates.

"They are now looking at two strong candidates for the position and will interview them again," said McCauley, who added that their backgrounds will now be checked.

"A new health commissioner could come on board the latter part of August, depending on how much notice he or she would want to give an employer," said McCauley.

That would mean that there would be a health commissioner to sit on the five-member License Board when it resumes its regular meetings in September.

The position has been vacant since the death of Dr. M. Grace Hussey in January, 1985.

Richard Stuart filled in as acting health coordinator until he suffered a heart attack, and the administrative part of the job was taken over by Smith.

McCauley introduced a home rule petition dropping the requirement of an MD degree after he had difficulty finding a medical doctor to take the job for the salary of slightly over $40,000 the city was offering.

The petition was recently signed by the governor.

Volunteers Needed For Quincy Point Study

Quincy Neighborhood Housing Service is seeking volunteers to conduct a study of conditions of buildings, parks, playground, streets and sidewalks in Quincy Point.

This study is in preparation for the move of that agency to Quincy Point, said Nancy Salman, spokesman for Neighborhood Reinvestment. Those wishing to participate will attend a training session July 19, 8:30 a.m. at Congregational Church, 444 Washington St. Breakfast and lunch will be served to all volunteers.

QNHS is a non-profit organization which offers residents a number of housing rehabilitation services, loans for those who are unable to obtain conventional financing, and a means to coordinate community activities and voice neighborhood concerns.

Rain date for the proposed program is Saturday, July 26.

WRA To Brief Nut Island Council On Pier Options

Nut Island Citizens Advisory Council will receive an update on pier options for Nut Island from the Mass. Water Resources Authority, at a meeting tonight (Thursday), 7:30 p.m. at Hough's Neck Community Center.

The meeting, called by the council, is to obtain more details relative to that state agency's study and selection of appropriate pier terminals which will be used to transport materials and equipment by water to construct a new waste water treatment facility at Deer Island.

The Deer Island project is part of a major cleanup of Boston Harbor.

Quincy Hospital Starts Child Safety Seat Loan Program

Quincy City Hospital has begun an infant car seat loan program now available for rental for a period of up to six months, and designed for infants up to 20 pounds.

The program was made possible through a grant to the hospital from the State Department of Public Health. Rental fee is $10, with a rebate of $5 if the seat is returned in good condition.

The hospital is making the program possible because of the state is law that mandates all children under the age of five be properly secured in a restraining car seat or seat belt while riding in a motor vehicle.

Similar programs have been instituted when it was found preparation for a baby are expensive and the added expense for a car safety seat can be financially difficult. In addition, there are families who would like to rent a car safety seat for infants visiting locally from out-of-state.

The hospital also announced their family-centered maternity department offers a variety of comprehensive family and patient educational programs and services.

For information about the infant car seat loan program, sibling preparation, breastfeeding, early pregnancy, childbirth preparation and infant saver/child saver programs, contact the hospital at 773-6100, Ext. 3017.

Readers Forum Quincy Hospital Thanks Capt., Mrs. Gerald Stephens

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
Quincy City Hospital is forever grateful to Captain and Mrs. Gerald Stephens of the Quincy Branch of the Salvation Army for their constant generosity to our patients over the past five years.

Every Easter and Christmas season they and their staff would visit each of our patients and present them with a gift package.

The hospital and our community is sad to see Captain and Mrs. Stephens complete their term with us, and we wish them well in their next assignment in Ohio. From one of your many beneficiaries, Thank You.

LaRaia Announcement January

By political ruler measurements, Joseph LaRaia is now less than an inch away from next year's mayoral ring.

In the past three months he came from "giving it serious thought" to "I'm leaning heavily toward running."

Now, he confides, he will sit down in September to begin mapping his campaign plans.

And:

"I'll make my announcement in January."

He sure sounds like a definite candidate.

At this point it would seem only something totally unexpected will change his mind.

LaRaia has always been a staunch believer that when you get the feeling that the time is right to go -- you go! If he thinks he hears opportunity knocking he's going to be at the door to let it in.

LaRaia, if he makes it official and steps into the ring, will be up against a tough incumbent in Francis McCauley.

McCAULEY

McCauley's popularity is still high although he has alienated some people in the Wollaston area in his opposition to re-opening the Wollaston School.

And he has others in South Quincy concerned that he will push for the Sterling School closing. LaRaia would make some political hay with that. McCauley's image as a no-nonsense mayor who is running the city in a business-like manner is still pretty much intact.

But there are some who see that as "being cold." Or, as former Councillor Joanne Condon tried but failed to put across in her run against McCauley: "no heart."

But McCauley, now in his third term, has a good track record to run on with Quincy in pretty good shape. And, he will run on it -- if he runs.

There is still speculation he might retire and take a post in the private sector.

The speculation is still there despite McCauley's efforts to shoot it down with the statement he has no job offering, and, for that matter, has no such irons in the fire.

LaRaia is among those wondering if McCauley might move on to something else. But he has said, and repeated, that if he decides to run for mayor he will whether there is an incumbent in the picture or not.

"When you feel the time is right, you go," he says. Apparently he is convinced the hands on the political clock are moving to the right position.

LaRAIA

CONDON

SUDDEN THOUGHT: A Friday-Saturday-Sunday three-day holiday weekend (like the Fourth) makes a lot more sense than Saturday-Sunday-Monday holiday weekends.

The politicians who came up with the Monday holidays idea couldn't have been thinking of the effects on business.

Starting the week off with a holiday puts business -- and employees -- at a disadvantage. It means everyone has to work harder and longer on Tuesdays to make up for it. And you run behind the rest of the week.

It would make more sense to have the maneuverable holidays on the final working day of the week -- Friday -- and not the first -- Monday.

But then, most politicians take all or part of Friday off anyway. So, they wouldn't be gaining much for themselves with Friday holidays. They already have them.

With Monday holidays, they get part or all of Friday and all of Saturday, Sunday and Monday off.

Not bad if you're a politician. Not so good if you're a businessman -- especially a small businessman -- who finds himself paying overtime on Tuesdays to make up for a Monday holiday.

NORTH QUINCY'S Joe Gildea isn't the type to do it, but he could be going around saying, "See, I told you so."

After looking the Red Sox over in spring training for a month which he has been doing for a number of seasons, Joe came home and predicted they would "finish in third place -- or maybe even higher."

That was when we and most of the so-called experts were picking them for fifth or worse.

"I don't know," Joe said at the time. "There just seemed to be something different about this Red Sox team when I saw them in Florida. Their pitching obviously was better. But there was something else. It was their attitude. They acted and played like a team."

Although they still have a pretty good first place lead, they could collapse like previous Red Sox teams. But, so far, so good.

Joe's keeping his fingers crossed.

STORK REPORT Steve and Linda Gillig are the parents of a son, Alex, born at South Shore Hospital. Alex, their fourth child, weighed in at six pounds, 11 ounces. The other three children are Dawn, 11, Jason, 9 and Justin, 6. Pop, of course, is owner of the McDonald's Restaurants in Quincy and is former president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

Don't Leave Burglar Invitations

Quincy Police Crime Prevention Officer Robert Hanna reminds/cautions residents to properly secure their homes when they leave for vacation this summer.

"Even the happiest vacation can be spoiled if you return to a burglarized and ransacked home."

Following a few common sense burglar prevention tips can save you money and heartaches," he said.

Police investigations prove that locking devices on many burglarized homes were inadequate. Good, tough locks will deter all but the most determined criminal.

Be sure your locking devices are adequate!

- High quality one-inch deadbolt locks cost very little more than inadequate locks. If you have any doubts about the type of lock or installation, consult the Crime Prevention Officer or your local locksmith.

- Inexpensive locks or stops are available which allow a window to remain open a few inches for ventilation, but prevent entry.

- Sliding glass doors may be your home's weakest point. Doors that slide on an exterior track can be secured by installing a slide bolt on the interior bottom track. (Drill a hole in the frame of the door to receive the bolt.) Others will be impossible to open if a stick or broom handle is cut to length and placed in the lower track.

Don't advertise your absence!

- An article in your local paper - "Mr. and Mrs. Jones are embarking for an extended tour of exotic..." complete with pictures of the going away party, is an engraved invitation for a burglar to invade your home. An announcement of your return will serve as well.

- Cancel all home deliveries, or have a neighbor pick up newspapers and mail every day. A good neighbor is your best form of security.

- Arrange to have your lawn and shrubs trimmed and watered during your absence. This will make your home look "lived in" and save you money and work upon your return.

- Closed blinds and drawn drapes present an unoccupied appearance. Leave them in different positions and arrange to have these positions changed from time to time, by a neighbor.

- Turn your telephone bell down to its lowest level. A ringing phone is an indication that you are not at home.

- Ask your neighbors not to inform strangers that you are not at home.

Notifications!

- Notify the Quincy Police Department of your vacation plans; dates of absence, where and how you may be reached, the conditions of lighting and locking arrangements you have made, and the name and address of a trusted neighbor or relative that you have left a key with. Special attention will be provided to your property by the Quincy Police Department.

- Notify trusted neighbors of your plans and ask them to IMMEDIATELY call the police if they observe any unusual or suspicious activity around your home. Neighbors should record the license numbers of questionable vehicles around your home and give these numbers to the police, as soon as possible.

Before you leave:

- Be sure all yard gateways are securely padlocked. This will deter opportunistic prowlers.
- Be sure all tools and ladders are out of sight and locked up. Don't provide a burglar with the tools to invade your home.
- Be sure all light and timing devices are operative and set.
- Be sure all doors and windows are securely locked.

TITLE INSURANCE

QUESTION: What is title insurance and how does it work?

ANSWER: Title insurance spares the buyer from parting with his purchase money and THEN discovering a flaw in the title. Public title records are not always completely accurate. There may be errors or omissions in recording deeds or mortgages, assessments and judgments. Title insurance protects the buyer against "clouds" in the title to the property -- but only against undisclosed defects, not those KNOWN at the time the policy is issued. There is only a one-time premium and coverage continues as long as you or your heirs hold title to the property.

TITLE INSURANCE protects you from hidden defects in the title that could affect your ownership.

Looking Back

From The Files Of Charles Flagg

FORMER QUINCY BUSINESSMAN Joseph B. Grossman of Quincy, who celebrated his 94th birthday Tuesday, also led a successful political career. He is shown in this 1962 photo when he carried the Grossman Lumber firm's famous motto in his bid for state treasurer on the Republican ticket. He received over 700,000 votes. Grossman also served in the state legislature from 1927-28 and again from 1931-32. He was also governor's councillor from 1933-38.

Survey Uncovers 50 More Possible Historic Places

An architectural historian firm has completed a 10-month survey and reports that 50 of the 620 properties they inventoried in Quincy should be considered for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places, according to mayor Francis X. McCauley.

The project, funded with $8,000 from the city's community development block grant funds and a matching grant from the Mass. Historical Commission, was researched by preservation consultants Minnie Fannin and Monique Lehner. The project was administered through James Lydon's Department of Planning and Community Development.

Lydon said the final product is the result of extremely thorough research and should prove to be an invaluable resource of those interested in developing a better understanding of Quincy's past and present.

Fannin and Lehner submitted 620 inventory forms detailing the period, style, and the historical and architectural significance of each property.

The location of the properties is indicated on a large scale base map of Quincy. Along with forms and maps, Fannin and Lehner submitted an extremely thorough narrative history of Quincy which relates the inventoried resources to significant themes in the city's history and development. The narrative also examines topography, economic forces, social factors and historic events.

The Quincy Historical Commission and the City Historian, H. Hobart Holly, are among those credited by Lydon for the in-kind services provided during several phases of the project.

The original forms are on file at the Mass. Historical Commission, 80 Boylston St. Boston. Copies are also available for the public to review in the Department of Planning and Community Development, 3rd Floor, City Hall Annex.

Lydon said his agency is very eager to share the information provided by this survey. All those interested in reviewing the inventory should call the Planning Department in advance, at 773-1380, extension 372.

According to Lydon, the city will prepare to make copies available at the Quincy Historical Society, 8 Adams St. and at the Thomas Crane Public Library, 40 Washington Street, Quincy in the near future.

8-Ward Plan Approved By Superior Court

Under a plan approved by the Superior Court, the city's six wards would be re-districted to eight. The new wards would be ready for the municipal elections in the fall.

Judge James Donnelly dismissed a taxpayers' petition that sought to have the eight-ward plan declared invalid. Mrs. Edna Austin was the attorney for the petitioners.

The petitioners cited four objections to the ward line changes:

- * The City Council had no authority to increase the number of wards.

- * The re-districting was an ordinance and should have been advertised before passage.

- * The New wards were unreasonably unequal.

- * No publication of the new ward and precinct lines had ever been made.

Leading local Democrats hailed the court decision with glee. They were the moving force behind the re-districting. And it was a Democrat, Councillor Daniel Dennehy who sponsored the act before the council.

Nearly all of the opposition came from Republicans. Democrats favored the measure because it was believed that the new ward lines would require a change in state representative districts as well.

USS PHELPS LAUNCHED

The USS Phelps was launched at Fore River Shipyard this week. The ship was christened by Phelps' granddaughter, Mrs. Richard Kearney of Washington. Phelps was a naval hero, who served with distinction in the Mexican and Civil Wars. The Phelps was another unit in the U.S. Navy's expansion program. It was one of eight sister ships, three of which were under construction at Fore River.

NEW CITY HALL PLANS SCRAPPED

Plans to erect a new city hall were delayed indefinitely, as a result of a legal difficulty.

A stipulation was discovered in the old city charter that no new city hall could be erected until voted by the people. In the new Plan A charter which became effective in 1916, there was no such stipulation. However, it had been held on many occasions, that provisions in the old charter were effective unless they were definitely changed by the new charter.

QUINCY-ISMS

A testimonial banquet was planned at the Morrisette Post for James O'Connor of West Quincy, newly named secretary to Governor James Curley. The School Committee failed to approve the teaching of Italian in the Quincy schools. The motion was made by committee member Joseph Kendrick, but was not seconded. Quincy Townsend Clubs planned a mass meeting at Merrymount Park. The City League's two leading clubs, the Copelands and the Cubs, were scheduled to play at LaBrecque Field. Thompson's Restaurant, Quincy Sq. featured a spaghetti dinner for 25 cents. A carnival was held on the vacant lots of Pelican Rd. by the Adams Shore Community Church, proceeds to purchase equipment for the church kitchen. Clark Gable and Constance Bennett in "After Office Hours" was featured at the Lincoln Theatre. Members of the Squantum Improvement Association went to the state Alcoholic Beverage Commission to protest the license granted to Ocean View Cafe in Squantum. Miss Mildred Constantine, superintendent of city hospital for the past two years, became another victim of the "clean sweep" of Mayor Burgin. The board of supervisors voted for her removal.

Roosevelt Tap in Quincy Point featured a plate of steamed clams with butter for 5 cents. Hia-Pearl Corporation advertised a five room house in Atlantic for $4,500. 150 sailboats were scheduled to compete in the interclub regatta, according to Quincy Yacht Club Commodore Frank Hendry. With the recent purchase of new buses by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company, buses now outnumbered trolleys in Quincy. H. P. Hood Ice Cream Co., 77

Federal Ave., in South Quincy was burglarized over the weekend. The office safe was blasted. Willner's on Cottage Ave. was selling silk dresses for $1. Closing exercises were held at the Vacation Bible School at the United Presbyterian Church in Fort Square. Brett's in Montclair featured a new home-made ice cream at low prices; and also a new type of ice cream cone. Mrs. Ernest Healey of Merrymount collected flowers for the Germantown Garden Club for distribution at the hospital. Howard Motors of Quincy Point, A.R. Marzelli manager, featured a 1932 Nash Coupe for $235.

Former Quincy Resident's Book Stresses:

Summit Meetings Important For Couples, Too

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

For the past five years, Cheryl Newman and her husband, Charley Wise, have attended New Year's Summit Conferences.

But the conferences do not involve heads of state or matters of world importance.

Instead, they are a chance for Cheryl, a former Quincy resident, and her husband to spend time alone together and to discuss what is important in their world.

"The Summit Solution" is discussed in her book, "The Working Relationship," Management Strategies of Contemporary Couples, published recently by Villard Books, a division of Random House.

Newman co-wrote the 262-page soft cover book with her friend, Lisa Stelek. It is available at local bookstores.

"The book doesn't promise to make life wonderful," said Newman, a management consultant who now lives in Japan. "But it will help you and your partner to understand each other better and work together to take control of your lives."

"People are so busy that things can get out of control. A summit can help couples get back in control."

"I don't think it can save a marriage, if it is in trouble," she said. "But it can help people in relationships identify potential problems and help get around them," she said.

Newman recommends that a summit be held about once a year in a neutral location. The two-day retreat is dedicated primarily to talking to resolve conflict, set goals, reach decisions and make plans.

Beforehand, each partner independently completes Summit Exercises that will provide the basis for much of their discussion. There are no right or wrong answers.

There are 18 exercises covering areas such as work, money, love, health, travel and leisure.

One exercise is to write about "One Enchanted Evening" which you would like to experience. Another is to share your pet peeves.

Still another is to write your own obituary.

"The hours a Summit can be among the most personal and intimate of the year," according to the book.

"Devoting two days exclusively to themselves and their relationship helps a couple regain perspective about the special nature of their partnership.

CHERYL NEWMAN, a former Quincy resident who was graduated from Quincy High School in 1972, and her newly published book, "The Working Relationship."

"The Summit can be a time of renewal, helping to reaffirm the bond between two people as friends, teammates and lovers," the book states.

The idea for the summit originated with Lisa Stelek and her husband, Boegy. Cheryl and her husband tried the exercise five years ago on a New Year's weekend, a month before they were married.

Though initially apprehensive, both Cheryl and her husband were happy with the results.

"The Summit did not eliminate the challenges in our life, but it helped us put them into perspective and gave us a way to start managing them," Cheryl wrote in the book.

"...Perhaps most importantly, the Summit gave us the chance to reaffirm the basis of our relationship; great friendship, mutual trust, and love."

Yearly Summits on subsequent New Year's weekends, and sometimes Mini-Summits in between, have helped them work out issues ranging from rinsing the dishes, to when to start their family, according to Cheryl.

"We confronted real issues about being parents," she said. "We're both avid outdoors people and we wanted to accomplish some things before we had children."

One of the things they did was climb Mt. Ranier in Washington State.

Two years ago, they had their daughter, Lisa Ames, and are expecting a second child in November.

Having built such a strong relationship has helped Cheryl and her husband in the transition to life in Tokyo, Japan, a move they planned together.

"It's tough living in a foreign country - harder than we expected," said Cheryl, who can carry on a simple conversation in Japanese but not read the language.

She doesn't know if her book will be distributed in that country.

"The culture is about 10 to 15 years behind as far as women are concerned," she said. "Women don't work after they are married."

But she will be able to keep track of the books sales in the United States and Canada.

"The book has been doing moderately well," Cheryl said. "The response has been satisfying, not overwhelming."

"Lisa and I recognize that we're not experts," said Cheryl, "but we've used our personal experiences."

"We don't know all the right answers, but we think we've found the questions."

Harbor Cruise Aug. 4 To Help Finance Shipyard Buyout Study

The Employees Committee to Save the Quincy Shipyard will sponsor a fundraising cruise of Quincy Bay and Boston Harbor Monday, Aug. 4 from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m.

The cruise, which will leave from Marina Bay in Squantum, is being held to raise funds for the feasibility study of the proposed employee buyout of the shipyard, and as a means of demonstrating community support for the buyout.

Chairman of the committee is Shipbuilders' Local 5 Union President George O'Kane. Vice chairmen are State Senator Paul D. Harold, D-Quincy, and Weymouth

Selectman Peg Goudy.

Serving on the committee are city councillors Ted DeCristofaro, Joseph laRaia, Joseph Hajjar, Arthur Durand, Anthony Svizzero, State Reps. Robert Cerasoli and Thomas Brownell, state AFL-CIO president Arthur Osborn, and Building and Construction Trades President Carmine D'Olimpio.

Tickets at $20 per person are available from committee members, as well as at The Quincy Sun office in Quincy Square, the Town Clerk's office at Brintree Town Hall, Joe's Pub next to the shipyard, the Local 5 Union office on Quincy Ave., Quincy, and Senator Harold's office.

Tickets must be purchased in advance. The cruise will include a band, buffet and a cash bar.

The cruise is the only fund raising event planned by the employees' committee, which is made up of both union and management personnel. The committee has recently organized under a new corporate name, Massachusetts Shipbuilders, Inc., now located at 1431 Hancock Street, Quincy. The office telephone number is 773-1485.

Downtown Urban Renewal Plan Expected In August

Mayor Francis McCauley expects to have by the first week in August an urban renewal plan in connection with the $54 million President's Place project in downtown Quincy.

"It's pretty well completed," said McCauley, who explained that the plan would enable the city to take by eminent domain any of some 14 properties that are not sold voluntarily by their owners.

One of the property owners, Mrs. Nell Slawson of Saville Ave., has said she will fight any move to acquire her property.

Appraisals are being done on the properties, according to McCauley who has said he will take the rest of the summer to review the plan with the developer and the planning board.

It probably won't be submitted to the City Council until September, McCauley said.

The Bargain Center, which closed recently, and nearby property is to be included in the President's Place project. The developers purchased the Bargain Center and it is scheduled to be demolished in the next month and a half to two months, according to Stephen Ricciardi of Ricciardi Co. of Quincy.

Ricciardi Co. and Campanelli Industries of Braintree are planning a project with 227,000 square feet of commercial space, 200 residential condominiums and 580 parking spaces.

The Boston Five Cent Savings Bank, which expects to occupy 40 percent of the space, is financing the project.

Reward Offered For Return Of Stolen Beechwood Center Sign

The Beechwood Community Life Center is offering a reward for the return of a larger than life sign wooden caricature of Mark Leighton, Director of the Beechwood Music School.

The life like statue, which was created by Cathy Thornley to publicize the Beechwood Coffee House, was stolen from the corner of Hancock and Fenno St. between 7 and 10 p.m. on Friday, July 11.

The Coffee House is offering a cash reward of $25 for information leading to the return of the sign, which represents a major creative effort. No questions will be asked.

Anyone with information should call 471-5712 or 965-8237.

Equipment Stolen

An electric drill, AEG hammer drill, and battery operated drill were reported stolen July 14, from a van

from all interested parties for the purchase of the shipyard.

"We look forward to receiving your proposal," stated Grimes.

According to General Dynamics spokesperson Evelyn Murphy, no date has been set for a decision on the sale of the shipyard.

To date, 76 brokers, 41 developers, 30 industrial users and eight consulting firms with interested investor clients have shown an interest in the yard, she said. Officials ranging from the head of a shipbuilding union to the mayor and a state senator praised the action of General Dynamics.

"The steering committee is very, very pleased," said George O'Kane, president of Shipbuilding Workers Union Local 5. "It would have been a very bad move if they sold the yard before we could have submitted a proposal."

"All of us, especially in the political area, have worked very hard to exhaust every possibility to continue shipbuilding at the yard," said Mayor McCauley.

"An employee buyout would do that," McCauley said.

Sen. Paul Harold said, "This is an important step in protecting the employee's option of purchasing the yard."

"We are looking forward to the cooperation of General Dynamics continuing in the next two months."

$177,628 In Wiring

Wire Inspector Thomas E. Purpura reports the Department of Wire Inspection issued 109 permits, for an estimated cost of $177,628 in wiring for the month of June.

The department collected $3,432.25 in fees.

Major projects for which permits were issued during June include a 12 unit apartment building at 435 Granite St. and a two-family dwelling at 146-148 Atlantic St.

The department reported there were 43 certificates of approval to Massachusetts Electric Company; 228 inspections; 31 defects noted; and 13 re-inspections made.

PREPAYING A FUNERAL PRESERVES YOUR ASSETS

The law permits a certain amount of money from your estate to be set aside for funeral expense should illness deplete your assets. We can help you place such funds in an irrevocable trust that will guard against inflation. Participation in THE NEW ENGLAND FUNERAL TRUST assures that your wishes will be known.

Please write or call for a free brochure No Greater Kindness For Those You Love that explains the details of funeral preplanning.

Quincy City Hospital Is Building For The Future On A Broad Past

Today, one of greater Quincy's oldest and most important institutions will hold a groundbreaking ceremony that ushers in a new era in health care services for our community. Quincy City Hospital is adding brand new facilities and refurbishing existing ones to better serve the future health care needs of South Shore families. We, the undersigned, salute this ambitious undertaking made possible by the combined efforts of the Elected Officials of The City of Quincy; The Hospital Corporation of America; the Medical, Nursing, and Support Staffs of Quincy City Hospital and the citizens of Quincy and the South Shore area. Our congratulations to one and all.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"Jack of all trades, master of none." Most men shy away from this dubious distinction.

It is truly significant that throughout history, only one Man has had recognition as Master of all trades. Tradesmen all over the world pay him tribute in their fields and bestow fitting titles to him for his handiwork. Here are just a few examples...

As an architect, He is the Corner Stone... As a Baker, He is the Bread of Life... As a biologist, He is Life... As a builder, He is a Sure Foundation... As a doctor, He is the Great Physician... As a farmer, He is the Sower... As a geologist, He is the Rock of Ages... As a philanthropist, He is the Great Giver... As a servant, He is the Master of Perfection... As an educator, He is the Great Teacher... Yes, and even as a Funeral Director, He is the Great Comforter...

In all this world-wide recognition, isn't it a shame there are still some people to whom he means nothing?...

A loss in a family often creates problems for survivors which can sometimes be alleviated by discussion and pre-planning. Funeral and burial arrangements are an important consideration and should be discussed openly and frankly. Pre-arranging and pre-financing a funeral is a method some people choose to assist their survivors. The entire subject of pre-arranging and pre-financing funerals may be discussed in confidence with the assurance of strict compliance with your wishes, with Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy, Ma. adjacent to the Quincy Historical Society Home, in Quincy. Funeral Directors Roger Hamel, Donald McCarthy and Joseph Thompson are thoroughly trained professionals, who have experience to pre-arrange and/or pre-financing a funeral. ## Infant Car Seat Program At QCH

Quincy City Hospital announces the development of an Infant Car Seat Loan Program, made possible through a grant awarded by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health.

Century Infant car seats are now available for rental for a period of up to six months. The seats are designed for infants from birth to 20 lbs.

Massachusetts law mandates that all children under the age of five be properly secured in a restraining car seat or seat belt while riding in a motor vehicle.

The rental fee is $10, with a rebate of $5 if the seat is returned in good condition.

The Family-Centered Maternity Department offers a variety of comprehensive family and patient educational programs and services.

Forum At 1000 S.A. On Elderly Services

Quincy's elderly are invited to attend a senior citizen forum today (Thursday), from 1 to 3 p.m. at 1000 Southern Artery.

Hosted by Sec. of State Michael Connolly's office, the forum will familiarize the city's elderly community with the services to them through his office.

Connolly has invited representatives from several local, state and federal agencies to speak to the group, distribute publications and answer questions concerning their particular services.

Seminarian To Preach At Quincy Point Congregational

Edward W. DeLong of East Weymouth will deliver a sermon Sunday at Quincy Point Congregational Church, titled: "To Be Or Not to Be! That Is The Question."

His sermon will be based upon scripture lessons from Genesis 18:1-11 and the Gospel of Luke, chapter 10, verses 38-42.

DeLong is presently a senior student in the Master of Divinity program at Andover Newton Theological School. Born and raised in Milton, he graduated from Eastern Nazarene College, Wollaston, in 1983 with a bachelor of arts degree in religion. He has served as student associate pastor at the Hingham United Methodist Church and as student associate at the East Congregational Church in Milton. Mr. DeLong is currently serving as a staff chaplain at the Boston University Medical Center at University Hospital. He is a member of Memorial Congregational Church of Atlantic in Quincy.

Assisting him during the 9 a.m. service of worship will be deacon and liturgist, Jack Bissett, and church organist, Herman Weiss.

The service of worship will be followed by refreshments served by members of the House Committee. Child care is always provided for infants and young children. The church is located at the corner of Southern Artery and Washington St.

All members and friends of the church as well as new residents of the South Shore are cordially invited. For more information, please call the church secretary at 773-6424, Monday through Thursday, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 12 noon.

'Color It Caring' Sermon At Bethany

There will be one worship service Sunday at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon "Color It Caring," based on texts from the Bible in 1 Corinthians 12:12-26 and the Gospel of John 13:12-17, 34-35. The lay scripture reader will be Louise B. Forsyth.

Richard Reynolds, from the Congregational Church in Melrose Highlands, will be the guest organist. Duets will be sung by Lewann C. Semchenko, soprano, and Philip Brown, baritone. Their first selection will be "Benedictus" by Saint-Saens, and the offertory will be "My Faith Looks Up To Thee," arranged by Nevin.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers.

There will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor beginning at 11 a.m.

Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship.

The worship service will be broadcast "live" on WJDA, 1300 kc.

For additional information about Bethany's programs and ministry, please contact the church office at 479-7300.

'Anxiety' Topic At Covenant Congregational

Because of rain on Sunday, July 13, 1986, the 10 a.m. outdoor service was held in the sanctuary of the Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

Rev. Fred Lawson's sermon pointed out that we live in an age of terror, when there seems to be no escape from anxiety. The scriptural text was 2 Timothy 1:3-14, with special emphasis on verse 7, in which Paul reminds Timothy that God gives us "a spirit of power and love and self-control."

All members of the congregation were requested to act as greeters during the summer months. Ushers were Trudy Acker, Anna Day, Ruth Johnson, and Virginia Sylvester.

A mixed quartet, comprised of Luisa Dano, soprano, Robert Dano, tenor, Karen Nelson, alto, and Kenneth Nelson, bass, sang "Speak to my Soul," adapted from the Swedish by L.L.

Pickett. They were accompanied on the organ by Virginia Anderson, substituting in July for Richard Smith, minister of music. The hymns were: "Great is Thy Faithfulness," "Break Thou the Bread of Life," and "Jesus Calls Us O'er the Tumult."

Coffee following the service was served by Gladys Lawson in the fellowship hall, Person Hall, downstairs. Next week the service will be held outside, weather permitting.

'Sowing The Weed' Sermon At Squantum First Church

"Sowing the Weed" was the title of the pastor's sermon last Sunday morning during the second service of the First Church of Squantum. In the first service, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin had preached on the subject, "Baptism as Resurrection." This was the first of a series of sermons leading up to an outdoor baptism on August 3.

In the early service, Scott Catton and Sarah Midram served as the ushers. In the later service, Joan and Katherine Hansen were the greeters; Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott, the ushers; and Hazel Mayne and Grace Holmes, hostesses for the Fellowship Hour. Janet and Lewis Townsend sang "Whispering Hope" as the offertory anthem during the second service. Organist Mary Ruth Scott accompanied them.

Hymns sung by the congregation included "Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life," "I Love to Tell the Story," "Christ for the World We Sing," and "Now, O Lord, Go with Us."

This Saturday, July 19, young people of the church will hold another car wash in front of the church from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Two of the youth groups are earning money for a trip to California in 1987. Squantum T-shirts will also be available.

There will be two services at the church this Sunday: the guitar service at 8:15 a.m. and the traditional service at 9:30 a.m.

Day Camp At Covenant Congregational

A vacation day camp is now in session through Aug. 13 at the Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

The sessions, which began yesterday (Wednesday) are sponsored by the Christian Education Board, and will be held in the church from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. They are open to children from ages five through sixth grade.

The program will feature Covenant mission fields as follows: July 23 - South America; and Aug. 6 - Alaska. On July 30 there will be a hobby fair and Aug. 13, a boat cruise.

More information is available by calling the church office at 479-5728.

Weight Loss, Stop Smoking Seminars At QCH July 28

Chris Peter Blood Drive Thursday

Sept. 14, 1985.

The Chris Peter Blood Drive will be held today (Thursday) from 2 to 8 p.m. at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall on Darrow St., Houghs Neck.

According to Ward I Councillor Michael Cheney, the drive was organized by Chris' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peter, as a memorial to their son who lost his life in a tragic accident on Sea St. on "Chris was an innocent victim in an automobile accident that involved a drunk driver on Sea St.," said Cheney. "The shock of his death was felt by everyone through the Houghs Neck area. This is a fitting memorial to an outstanding young man from our community," he added.

Cheney is urging all Quincy residents to call Charlie or Trudy Peter at 471-9586 to make an appointment to donate a pint of blood.

"Traditionally, at this time of year the supply of blood is low and this will give all of us an opportunity to donate," said Cheney.

Quarry Filling In Next Few Weeks

The J.F. White Contracting Co. of Newton hopes to begin filling Swingle's Quarry, West Quincy, within the next four to six weeks, according to Quincy's Public Works Commr. Paul Anderson.

Anderson met with officials of J.F. White last Friday after he expressed displeasure with the company which was hired several years ago to fill in the quarry.

The company began draining the quarry in May, 1984, in search of the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, who died in June, 1983, after jumping into the water from a 50-foot ledge.

His body was never found. J.F. White did drain the quarry, but it has since filled again with 60 to 80 feet of water from rain and springs.

The company had contracted to fill in the quarry with clean fill, such as stone, gravel and dirt, over a period of 15 years and to pay the city on the basis of tonnage, but that had not happened.

Part of the delay was due to logistical problems of filling the quarry, and some possible right of way issues, said

Anderson.

"It was a productive meeting," said Anderson. "They had good and reasonable reasons for doing what they did."

"I just wish we had known about them sooner."

Anderson said he did not know whether the company would be required to drain the water from the quarry before it is filled.

J.F. White hopes to complete the operation within five years, according to Anderson.

Meetings Planned For Moon Island Talks

Mayor Francis McCauley said Tuesday that he expects in the next few weeks meetings will be held by the Moon Island Task Force and between lawyers for the cities of Quincy and Boston.

The seven-member task force, which will be meeting for the first time, was suggested by Rep. Michael Morrissey.

He said he was concerned that Moon Island, which was under consideration for the Suffolk County House of Correction until a Boston site was chosen, may be a target for other "offensive uses" by Boston.

Quincy took Moon Island, which had been owned by the city of Boston, by eminent domain in an attempt to block the siting of a jail on the island.

The land taking will be discussed by Quincy City Solicitor Joseph (Jay) MacRitchie, chairman of the Moon Island Task Force, and Assistant City Solicitor Robert Quinn and Joseph Mulligan, Jr., of the Corporation Council of Boston, McCauley said.

"We claim the taking was proper," said McCauley. "Boston claims that it was not."

Wollaston Park Assn. Wants Wollaston School Reopened

Wollaston Park Association voted at its June 25 meeting to notify Mayor Francis X. McCauley they are in favor of the reopening of the Wollaston School.

In a letter to the mayor, Dorothy C. Kelly, secretary-treasurer, said parents prefer that their children get their education in their neighborhood rather than being bused elsewhere.

The letter to Mayor McCauley reads:

In accordance with vote of our members at our June 25th dinner meeting, we are writing to advise you that the Wollaston Park Association is in favor of the re-opening of the Wollaston School, inasmuch as the Furnace Brook and Parker Schools are already crowded, and Wollaston parents prefer that their children get their education in their neighborhood at the Wollaston School, rather than being bused elsewhere.

The Wollaston School is in jeopardy of serious vandalism by being left unattended, and in view of the tremendous costs of constructing a new school in the future, we believe it is the prudent thing to do to save money by refurbishing the Wollaston School and reactivating it for educational purposes without delay.

We would like to suggest that the Wollaston School auditorium and other facilities could be made available for community use after school hours, and there is a need for such a center in Wollaston.

The Quincy Citizens Association has already gone on record in favor of the reopening of the Wollaston School, and the Wollaston Park Association joins them in urging your approval of the Wollaston School reactivation plan, in the best immediate and long-range interests of Quincy; we hope you will concur.

Hershey Track Competition Winners

The Quincy Recreation Department recently sponsored an area competition as the first step in the Hershey National Track and Field Youth Program.

The winners of the local meet have their times and distances compared to winners from 41 other local meets in the state of Massachusetts. The top eight qualifiers will compete at the State Championship Saturday, July 19.

The winners of the Massachusetts Championship are compared to winners from meets held in the six other North East states and the top qualifiers receive an all-expense paid trip to the National Championship at Hershey, Pennsylvania, in August.

Local meet winners from the Quincy competition have advanced to the nationals for the last five years.

The event is held in three age categories for boys and girls. The 1986 Local Hershey National winners in Quincy are:

Girls 9-10: 50 yard dash - Kerry McGahan - 7.75; 100 yard dash - Caroline Cote - 15.38; 220 - Mekel Conway - 29.46; 440 - Mekel Conway - 69.13; Softball throw -

Boys 9-10: 50 yard dash - Matthew Porro - 7.22; 100 yard dash - Brandon Welch - 15.36; 220 - Christopher Klier - 33.46; 440 - Tony Henriquez - 1:19.10; 440 Relay - Christopher Klier - 67.24; Matthew Porro - 67.24; Paul Robinson - 67.24; Colter Houle - 67.24; softball throw - Andrew Joyce - 92' 6"; standing long jump - Paul Robinson - 5' 11".

Girls 11-12: 100 yard dash - Shalanda Fenner - 13.31; 220 - Alicia Houle - 35.44; 440 - Katie O'Shea; 880 - Lindsey McGovern - 61.17; 440 Relay - Katie O'Shea - 61.17; Lindsey McGovern - 61.17; Jenny Pratt - 61.17; Regina Murphy - 61.17; softball throw - Susan Curtis - 92' 3"; standing long jump - Regina Murphy - 6' 6".

Boys 11-12: 100 yard dash - Jonathan Madden - 13.98; 220 - Christopher Brophy - 34.87; 880 - Brian Klier - 2:45.10; 440 relay - Josh Gannon - 67.14; Anthony McGahan - 67.14; Jerry Marshall - 67.14; Brian Klier - 67.14; softball throw - Jonathan Madden - 98' 7"; standing long jump - Christopher Brophy - 6' 3".

Nicole Wilson - 29.09; 880 - Nancy Sheehy - 2:49.64; mile - Lean Sweeney - 5:42.99; 440 relay - Amanda Young - 57.57; Rachel Marshall - 57.57; Sherrin Quintiliani - 57.57; Alicia Porro - 57.57; softball throw - Rachel Marshall - 106' 5"; standing long jump - Amanda Young - 6' 8 1/2".

Boys 13-14: 100 yard dash - Omar Rowe - 12.83; 220 - Carlos Camago - 30.19; 880 - Christopher Digiacomo.

Recreation Director, Barry J. Welch, noted that the Hershey National Program is endorsed by the National Recreation and Park Association, and the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

"The meet, for many years, has provided Quincy youngsters with enjoyment, physical competition, and opportunities to participate in a positive program along with boys and girls from all fifty states," he said.

Welch also praised coaches Geoffrey Hennessy and Jerry Libby of the Quincy Track Club who served as local meet officials.

The National Hershey Chairman is Rafer Johnson, 1960 Olympic Decathlon Champion.

Drawing For Prizes Saturday

Suburban TV & Appliances Opens Second Store In Hanover

Darrell Roberts, active in community, educational and business affairs in Quincy, has opened a new Suburban TV & Appliance Center in Hanover.

Roberts, founder and president of Suburban, which has been serving the South Shore from Route 3A in North Weymouth since 1949, said his new store is the fulfillment of a dream that's been 35 years in the making.

At a ribbon-cutting ceremony July 10 the grand opening kicked off two weeks of sales and special events to mark the opening of the 30,000 square-foot facility on Route 53, just south of Hanover Mall.

A drawing will be held this Saturday (July 19) for prizes including a 100-watt stereo system and a console color TV.

The brown and white building houses a display floor, full service shop for appliances and home electronics, and 20,000 square feet of warehouse storage space. The Hanover location also offers plenty of parking.

Roberts is a past president of the Quincy Neighborhood Club and former vice-president of the Cohasset Country Club. He is a charter member and current member of the Board of Trustees of Quincy Junior College, and a member of the advisory board of the Quincy Vocational-Technical School.

An active Rotarian, he is also a member of the board of directors for Colonial Federal Savings Bank in Wollaston. He has served on committees in connection with General Dynamics and Fore River Bridge Replacement Project.

He received the 1978 Community Service Award from Quincy School Committee for his efforts on behalf of students from the Voc-Tech.

Roberts left a position as assistant chief of planning for Bethlehem Steel at the Fore River Shipyard to enter the television and appliance business.

"We really had everything going against us: no parking space, the ocean on one side, but in spite of it all, we've made our North Weymouth location a success."

"It took hard work from many good people to build our business. From the beginning, we made a commitment to offer quality merchandise at competitive pricing."

"And most importantly, we have backed that merchandise with a staff of skilled technicians and sales people who genuinely care about the customer."

"And we promise to continue to provide the same personalized customer service in our second location. At our Hanover location the warehouse space will allow us to stock more merchandise for next-day delivery," Roberts said.

Carl Abramson Elected Safe Deposit Assn. President

Carl R. Abramson of Quincy Co-Operative Bank has been elected president of the South Eastern Chapter of the New England Safe Deposit Association.

Other officers elected were Jeannine Demers of Quincy Co-Operative Bank, vice president; Vera Darrow, of Quincy Co-Operative Bank, secretary; and Claire Jesse of Rockland Trust Company, treasurer.

Named to the executive board were Ralph A. Pearson Jr., Bank of New England, Quincy; Louis Prunier, Bay Bank Norfolk County Trust; Barbara Baines, Abington Savings Bank; Thomas Murphy, Rockland Trust, Hingham; Pamela Jesse, Plymouth Federal Savings; Pamela Borgatti, Abington Savings Bank; and Ronald Grant, Randolph Savings Bank.

Hurley Insurance Wins Aetna Award

Hurley Insurance Agency of Quincy has again been awarded membership in Aetna Life and Casualty's Great Performance Club, an honor reserved for Aetna's national top independent insurance agencies.

Paul E. Hurley accepted the award which was presented by Jean T. Gorman, general manager of Aetna's Boston office. The Hurley Agency, which also has an office in Braintree, has been serving the insurance needs of the South Shore since 1940.

Donald Boyle Wins Edison Award

A Quincy inventor was the recipient of an honorable mention in the recent Boston Edison's two-year search for energy-related inventions.

Donald E. Boyle, Jr. of 26 Arnold St., received his award for a reusable caulking cord embedded with a four-ply acrylic yarn in the caulking so that it could be removed and used again.

It is waterproof, adhesive cord seals... for permanent or temporary, indoor and outdoor use. The cord can be inserted or removed without tools, can be painted and will adhere to wood, glass or metal. In addition to weatherization use, the cord will also keep glass window panes in place.

The product is manufactured under the name Delta

Caulking Cord, Inc., 24 Adams St., Quincy.

Boyle was one of six winners, all from New England, recognized in the utility company's centennial search for energy-related inventions. Judges evaluated 259 inventions from 45 states and five foreign countries without knowing the names or addresses of the inventors.

35 Qualify For Regional Frisbee Competition

Over 180 participants from the 26 Quincy playgrounds took part in the 1986 Frisbee Disk Contest, sponsored nationally by Carnation Instant Breakfast, and locally by the Quincy Recreation Department.

It is first round of a program that has community, regional, and national finals. There are four divisions of competition: boys and girls 11 and under, and boys and girls 12 to 15.

Thirty-five qualified for the regional competition in the Quincy competition, contestants were awarded points for distance events, accuracy, and catching. Those scoring at least 15 points are eligible to advance to the regional competition which will be held at Central Park in New York City in August.

In the boys under 11 division, 16 participants scored 15 points or more. Rob Cibotti of Faxon Park was the top scorer with 28 points. In the boys 12-15 division, 17 scored 15 points or more. Dennis Carroll of Pond St. was the top scorer with 34 points. In the girls 12-15 division, two contestants had 15 or more points. Michelle Thackery of Perkins was the top scorer with 24 points. There were no qualifiers in the under 11 girls division.

The regional qualifiers from Quincy are:

Morrisette's Hopes Dashed, Quincy, Wollaston In Wins

By TOM SULLIVAN

For the first time in Ray Cattaneo's 17 years as coach, the Morrisette Legion baseball team lost four games in a row, ending any hopes it had of winning its 24th Zone 6 title and greatly diminishing its chances of making the state playoffs.

Zone 6 is in one division this season with the top two teams making the state playoffs. In the past there were Zone 6 and 6A with the winner of each making the states.

Mass. Tire of Weymouth has clinched the top spot with a 9-1 record, but as many as five teams have a chance to move into second place.

Morrisette snapped its four-game losing streak Monday night with a 5-1 victory over Quincy, which has been having a good season after several years of frustration. The win improved Morrisette's record to 5-6.

Quincy, getting to be known as the "cardiac kids," gave Mass. Tire one of its toughest games of the year before losing, 5-4, and pulled out a 5-4 decision over Milton, making its record 4-7. The four wins are more than a Quincy team has captured in some time.

Meanwhile, Wollaston, which has been playing excellent ball after a slow start, defeated Milton, 6-1, to improve to 4-7.

Quincy will host Wollaston Friday at 8 at Adams Field and Morrisette will be at Holbrook at 8:30. Monday night it will be Randolph vs. Morrisette at 8 at Adams. Wollaston vs. Mass. Truck at 6 at Adams and Quincy at Carter Post.

These are the last regularly scheduled games, but each team has a number of games to make up.

John Cristiani pitched a four-hitter, struck out 10 and walked four in Morrisette's victory over Quincy Monday night. Cristiani has struck out 57 in 36 1/3 innings.

Morrisette took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Chris Ricciuti walked, Chris Marshall singled and Ricciuti scored when Marshall was caught in a rundown.

Morrisette added four runs in the third when Ron Fletcher had an infield hit, Steve Minichiello was hit by a pitch, Mike Joyce walked, Cristiani had an infield hit, Minichiello and Joyce scored on wild pitches, and Rob McDonald doubled.

Andy Palmariello, who pitched another good game for Quincy, giving up six hits, striking out nine, walking five and giving up three earned runs, settled down and blanked Morrisette the rest of the way on one hit, a triple by Fletcher.

Quincy scored in the fifth when Bill Mulhern walked, moved up on a passed ball and scored on Sean Gately's single. Quincy also had a triple by Pat O'Sullivan in the sixth and a triple by Gately in the seventh, but both were stranded.

Morrisette started its four-game slide when it lost to Milton, 5-4, in an extra-inning game that didn't end until 12:20 a.m. Milton tried to give the game away several times as its pitchers put 20 men on base, but Morrisette, limited to four hits, stranded 15 base runners.

Morrisette scored four runs without a hit, scoring once in the first on two hit batters, a stolen base and a fielder's choice, adding two in the second on another hit batter and four walks. The fourth run in the fourth came on three walks and an error.

Milton picked up two in third off starter Cristiani on a single, walk, double steal and a two-run double.

Milton tied it up in the fifth on a walk, stolen base and a double, driving out Cristiani and bringing in Larry Taglieri. He was greeted by a single that tied the score. It stayed that way until the bottom of the ninth when Milton loaded the bases with no outs and, with the outfield pulled in, Mike Flynn singled in the winning run.

Cristiani had two hits and Joyce and Marshall one each. Cristiani and Taglieri struck out 14. Cristiani with eight and Taglieri six.

Braintree walloped Morrisette, 9-2, scoring five unearned runs in the first three innings.

Chris Lane pitched four-hit ball for Braintree, which didn't look like a team that had lost five in a row going into the game.

Taglieri, who had pitched four innings the night before against Milton, could do little as his mates made five errors.

Cristiani again had two hits and Joyce and Marshall one each.

Five of the seven runs off Taglieri were unearned. Dan Overby pitched the last two innings and gave up two earned runs.

Morrisette bowed to Canton, 7-5, losing an opportunity to tie or win the game when, trailing, 8-6, with the bases loaded and one out in the bottom of the seventh, the game was called due to darkness and the score reverted back to the sixth inning.

Trailing, 3-0, Morrisette scored four runs in the fourth only to have Canton score four runs in the fifth.

Fletcher made his first pitching start and went all the way. Morrisette had eight hits, two by Minichiello, two and two RBI by Dan Biagini and one each by Cristiani, Joyce, Taglieri and Fletcher.

The fourth straight loss was a 3-2 squeaker to Randolph, which scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh.

Overby made his first start and pitched an outstanding game, giving up six hits, striking out nine and walking three. Only one Randolph run was earned.

Morrisette led, 2-1, going into the sixth but Randolph tied it with an unearned run and scored the clincher in the last inning on Pat Madden's single. Madden also pitched a three-hitter and had three hits and two runs scored.

Marshall, Cristiani and Ricciuti had the Morrisette hits.

Quincy played one of its better games against Mass. Truck, which has been blowing most teams out with long ball hitting.

Robbie Higgins pitched fine ball, holding the powerful zone leaders to six hits while striking out four and walking four. He allowed only two extra base hits, both doubles, to a team that has been averaging from five to 10 extra base hits a game.

All five Mass. Truck runs were unearned, two in the first, one in the second and two in the sixth.

Quincy scored a run in the first on singles by Steve Happas, who had three hits, Kyle Robertson and P.J. Hussey. It added one in the third on singles by Happas and O'Sullivan to make the score 3-2. Weymouth made it 5-2 in the sixth but Quincy came back with two in the seventh. Gately singled and Tony Orlando ran for him.

Mulhern hit a long home run to right center. Peter Tufts walked. Higgins struck out. Happas singled and O'Sullivan walked to load the bases with two outs. Robertson flied out to right.

to end the game.

In Weymouth's fourth inning, with runners on first and second and no outs, on a long fly ball to center, O'Sullivan dove to catch the ball and then fell into the high bushes that were in play. O'Sullivan disappeared from sight but came out with the ball. The home plate umpire declared it no catch, but in the confusion the Weymouth runners were returning to their bases, thinking the ball was caught.

A runner passed the other and was called out by the base umpire for the first out. Higgins then struck out the next two batters to end the threat with no scoring.

Quincy went 11 innings to top Milton, 5-4, in a game that lasted four hours and 20 minutes, ending at 12:45 a.m. Earlier Quincy had gone nine innings and three hours and 30 minutes in unsettling

Braintree.

Milton got off to a three-run lead after two innings with only one earned run off Quincy starter Bob Laracy, who went five innings and was lifted for a pinch hitter in the fifth. He gave up five hits, struck out two and didn't issue a walk.

Quincy scored twice in the fifth on a single by Hussey, a walk to Tufts, and a single by Orlando, batting for Laracy. Milton added a run in the seventh off reliever Palmariello on a walk, error and a single, to move ahead, 4-2.

In the bottom of the seventh Quincy tied it up as Billy Roche walked, O'Sullivan walked and Robertson hit a long triple to left-center.

O'Sullivan relieved Palmariello in the ninth and went the last three innings to pick up the win.

In the bottom of the 11th, Wayne Chambers walked, O'Sullivan bunted and the catcher tried to get Chambers at second but was too late and Hussey bunted both runners along. Robertson was intentionally walked to fill the bases with one out and Mulken drilled a single to right to drive in Chambers with the clincher.

Laracy, Palmariello and O'Sullivan walked only two batters in 11 innings.

Quincy used every one of its 18 players in the lengthy game.

Chris Rossie hit a three-run homer and Ricky Nabst pitched a complete game five-hitter as Wollaston topped Milton.

Tom Logan had a two-run triple and Jay Lepasio and Steve Austin collected two hits each.

July 22 At Quincy Youth Arena NHL, College Playing In Jimmy Fund Game

Several National Hockey League players will take part in the third annual N. E. Pro-Am Hockey League senior division all-star game to benefit the Jimmy Fund and the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute.

The game will be played next Tuesday, July 22, at 7 p.m. at the Quincy Youth Arena.

The game has become one of the most popular summer hockey events in the area.

Among the players will be Chris Niland and Steve Rooney from the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens; Craig McTavish (Edmonton Oilers and formerly with the Bruins), Joe Mullen and Nick Fotiu (Calgary Flames), Cleon Daskalakis and Jay Miller (Boston Bruins), 1986 Hobey

Baker Award winner Scott Fusco (Harvard) and several other top NHL and college players.

Tickets, which are priced at $5, are available during any NEPAHL hockey game at the Youth Arena or by calling 617-471-6864.

Tickets will also be available at the door on the night of the game. All proceeds will be donated to the Jimmy Fund.

Cable Continues Hot Streak With 2 More Wins

Quincy Cable continued on a hot streak in the Junior Baseball League with two more victories during the past week.

Cable edged Foley Chrysler, 6-5, with winning pitcher Pat Gallagher striking out 13.

Foley scored twice in the first inning but Cable, thanks to Mike Wood's double, tied it up in the bottom half.

The score remained 2-2 until the top of the fifth when Foley scored three runs, aided by three Cable errors.

Cable came back with four in the bottom half when Aiden O'Donoghue reached on an error, Mike McDonald walked, Chris Peek doubled and Gallagher tripled in the tying runs. Gallagher scored the winner when Dave Cedrone reached on a fielder's choice.

Pat Clifford pitched well for Foley.

Jim Gately reached base three times and made several good plays at third base. Brandon Balducci also played well as did Mike Kavanagh.

Joe Check, Terry Sheehan, Chris Sullivan and Brian Wood.

Cable also overwhelmed State Street, 32-11, scoring in every inning, including a 12-run outburst in the second.

Gallagher led the way, going 4-for-5, including a long three-run homer. Every Cable player reached base and scored. McDonald was the winning pitcher and O'Donoghue and Brian Wood each pitched an inning. Sullivan made a fine catch in the outfield.

Hot Shot Competition Opens July 21

The Quincy Recreation Department playground program will host the annual Pepsi/NBA Hotshot Competition at city playgrounds July 21 through July 24.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch said the competition is being made possible through the sponsorship of the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company of Milton in conjunction with the Quincy Recreation Department will be held at 10 a.m. at District II Playground Heron Rd. Tuesday July 22, District IV Playground, Pond St. Tuesday July 22, District I Playground, Welcome Young Thursday July 24, District III, Playground O'Rourke, Thursday July 24.

Open to boys and girls ages 9-18, the Pepsi/NBA Hotshot Competition tests youngsters' speed, dribbling, shooting and rebounding abilities. There are six age categories for competition: Boys 9-12, 13-15, 16-18; Girls 9-12, 13-15, and 16-18.

The winner in each of the six categories of the district competition will advance to compete against other local winners for the Quincy Recreation Department championship. One winner from each of the six categories will advance to an area playoff to be held in Boston.

The six winners of that round will play off during half-time of a Celtics game and the winner will receive an expense paid trip to the National Championships to represent New England in competition against the winners of the 22 other NBA cities. At that time the winners in each of the six categories will be crowned National Champion for his or her respective group.

Additional information for the Pepsi/NBA Hotshot program may be obtained at supervised playgrounds from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, or by contacting the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Our Local Business', Alumni, All Citizens

Who are concerned in assisting the athletic programs of our youth that have been greatly effected by recent budget restraints.

Our goal, to install permanent lighting facilities in our Veterans Memorial Stadium.

We need, $100,000 to achieve this goal.

We know that there are many citizens and alumni of our athletic programs that have many fond memories of our stadium. We want our facility to be second to none. Night athletic events will allow many more people to attend various competitions involving all of our athletes. The city of Quincy has always shown great pride in our Athletic Programs and throughout the years they have proudly represented our city of Presidents.

Now in these restricting times our Athletes need our support. We cannot let them down.

We the Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee are asking your help in achieving our goal to rededicate Veterans Memorial Stadium and help us "Brighten Up" the future of our athletic programs for all of the youth of our city.

Your support and tax deductible contributions would be greatly appreciated by the youth of our city.

Merry McLaren Miss Teen Contestant

Merry E. McLaren, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Philip McLaren of Quincy, is a contestant in the Miss Teen of Massachusetts pageant to be held July 24-27 in Worcester.

Six titleholders, one from each New England state, will be chosen. They will join the remaining 44 state titleholders in an all-expense paid trip to the national Miss Teen of America Scholarship and Recognition Pageant to be held next year.

Pageant finals for Massachusetts will be held Saturday, July 26 at 8 p.m. in the grand ballroom of the Sheraton-Lincoln Inn in Worcester. Miss McLaren is sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. J. Philip McLaren, Andrew C. Schwankl and Mrs. Bernice Eckman.

MERRY McLAREN

Log Rolling, Row Boat Races At Houghs Neck Saturday

Log rolling competitions and rowboat races on Saturday, July 19, are the next scheduled events in Houghs Neck's 350th Birthday celebration.

Postponed from last week due to rain, the events sponsored by Harvey's Salt Water Fishing Club and Harvey's Wharf, will begin at 12 at Harvey's Wharf with registration starting at 10 a.m.

Events in three categories are open to contestants over 18 years of age, with first, second and third prizes to be awarded in each competition.

Rowboat racing will be from Harvey's Wharf to an anchored boat off Edgewater Drive.

Daniel Boyd, president of Harvey's Salt Water Fishing Club, and Jerry Lyons are in charge of arrangements.

The annual Veterans' Day outing of Harvey's Salt Water Fishing Club on July 22 will also be a part of the 350th Birthday celebration with hospitalized veterans from Chelsea, West Roxbury Bedford and Brockton VA Hospitals as guests for all-day fishing.

This past week a toll booth manned by clowns on Sea St. raised funds toward festivities planned by Houghs Neck's 350th Birthday Committee. Working with Donald McCarthy as chairman are Jack Nigro, committee head; Joanne Bythrow, president-elect of the Houghs Neck Community Council; Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney; Terri Schofield, Tom Timcoe and Bill Morrill.

RAYMOND DUNN of Quincy Point was a recent $1000 winner in the Mass. State Lottery's 'Big Money Game.'

Limited Openings For Drama Workshop

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, announces that the Quincy Recreation Department still has limited openings in its week-long Drama Workshop which will be held as part of its self-supporting summer camps and workshops program.

The camp, to be held July 28 - Aug. 1, at the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., is under the direction of Mary Travers, Arts Film major at the University of Massachusetts, Boston.

The Drama Workshop program will focus on children's theatre, with an emphasis on characterization and stage direction. Participants will be taught the fundamentals of theatre games, scene study, improvisation, and voice projection. Techniques for overcoming stage fright, increasing confidence, and improving concentration will also be presented.

Each child will perform on stage in scenes from classic works as Alice in Wonderland, The Hobbit, Little Women, and Snow White.

Open to boys and girls age 7-12 years, the camp costs $18. Registration, while openings exist is being held Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Quincy Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Bicycle Safety Course July 22

Ward 2 Community Center will hold a bicycle safety course July 22, 9:30 a.m. at the Fore River Clubhouse, 16 Nevada Rd.

The event is co-sponsored by the police safety education program and Norfolk County 4-H.

Officer Anthony Pollara who will conduct the course said the recommended age group is from 7 to 14 years old and those participants should bring their bicycles and be prepared to spend about an hour and a half on the course.

The program will include instructions on developing proper riding techniques along with learning safety tips and rules on the road.

Miss Quincy Bay Pageant Preview On Sun. Ch. 8

A preview of the Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant will be presented tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. on Quincy Sun Ch. 8.

This year's 34 contestants will be shown in swimsuits at Marina Bay Village in Squantum, as they gathered for the official pageant photographing session.

Program co-hosts Leslie Thompson and Frank Cammarate will interview pageant chairman Beth Ann Streng, who was Miss Quincy Bay of 1981, Simone Riman, 1984 winner, Tricia Tanner, last year's winner, pageant emcee Bernie Reisberg, and Ray Nash, president of the Quincy Bay Race Week Association.

This special half hour program will also show highlights of last year's pageant, and the show will be repeated Friday on Sun Ch. 8 at 6 and 8 p.m.

Parents, Teenagers 'Psychology Tonight' Topic

"Psychology Tonight" will discuss the topic of parents and teenagers Wednesday, July 23 at 9 p.m. and Monday, July 28 at 8:30 p.m. on Quincy Cablesystems.

Joining host Tim Lynch will be Douglas Powell from Harvard University and author of "Teenagers: When To Worry and What To Do."

Discussion focuses on the problems of academic underachievement, helping the shy teen, the oppositional teenager, and the establishment of identity. Also to be discussed is what is "normal" and when it is time for a parent to worry.

STARSCOPE

Clare Annsell

WEEK OF: JULY 17

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Meetings are a way of life this week. Domestic chores can be split, but only if you made the request. In romance, dropping hints may not be enough.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Your suggestions are followed, but be sure to receive due credit. Luxury items may come your way now. Romantic intuition is strong. In finance, rely on hard facts.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Good things happen in twos... and there are a number of news brighteners. In area of career or education, fancy footwork is needed to get you over a hurdle.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
This is a good week for reading the newspapers closely. Want ads can include items of interest... and special features may have personal application. Friend introduces you to an exciting individual.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Thursday-Friday may include some travel mixups; it's wise to have a map handy. Weekend events may include a dazzling engagement. Monday-Wednesday see you finalizing presentations.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Appointments may be changed at the last minute, especially after the weekend. You may find yourself at a prestigious event. Money matters require more attention than imagination.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Spontaneous travel is highlighted after Thursday. You may be able to earn some spare cash now. Weekend highlights sports activities. Solution to romantic dilemma is quite logical.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Your ability to adapt to changing circumstances helps you over some obstacles. Romantic news-brightener arrives by Wednesday. Communications with relatives improve dramatically.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Tend to legal and property matters promptly and efficiently. Image improves at home and at work. Travel ideas require simplification. Time is right for making an important pitch.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Time is prudent for presenting pet idea to superiors. Travel is favorable so long as plans are mapped out carefully. Children are willing to listen to suggestions.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Travel companions may not see eye to eye and you may be playing role of mediator. Communications are highlighted. Your public speaking earns a round of applause.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Partnership ventures require careful review, especially in finances are involved. Week is favorable for publishing or promoting ideas. News of upcoming celebration may catch you off guard.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're kind and sensitive and possess an exquisite imagination. And while you're loyal and generous, friends sometimes find you moody and even flip. Possible change in career path may occur by year '87. Travel dream may be realized by this time next year.

BORN THIS WEEK
July 17th, actress Diahann Carroll; 18th, singer Paul McCartney; 19th, singer Vikki Carr; 20th, actress Diana Rigg; 21st, actor Don Knotts; 22nd, actor Jason Robards, Jr.; 23rd, writer Raymond Chandler.

Town Brook Project Money Up For Vote

The House of Representatives in Washington, D.C., was scheduled to vote yesterday (Wednesday) on the first installment of the $21.8 million Town Brook Flood Control Project for Quincy and Braintree.

John Stobierski, an aide to Cong. Brian Donnelly, said that the House would be voting on the $2.8 million first year cost for the project.

"Cong. Donnelly has been working for several years to obtain federal funding, but Congress has been reluctant to take up water policy legislation," said Stobierski.

"We're hopeful that it will receive approval this year."

The project would stretch from the Braintree Dam to Town River in Quincy and would divert water to prevent periodic flooding, according to Stobierski.

If the House approves the bill, it would then go on to the Senate, the conference committee to resolve the two different bills, and to the president, he said.

Cash, Lottery Tickets Stolen

Between $700 and $800 in coins and bills and 100 instant lottery tickets were reported stolen in an unarmed robbery July 20, at Curtis Compact, 526 Sea St.

A female clerk told police two men in their 20s entered the store, one walked to the center aisle and the other to the clerk.

When she came forward, he grabbed her by the throat and said, "Give me everything," according to police.

She gave him the contents of the register and safe, as well as the lottery tickets, the clerk told police.

At Sidewalk Bazaar

Ringin' Cash Registers Play Merry Tune

By DAN CONNELLY

Cash registers rang all up and down Hancock St. during the 16th annual Downtown Sidewalk Bazaar.

Some merchants thought there may have been fewer people last year but agreed more dollars were spent in and out front of their stores during the three days which once again provided a shot in the arm for summer business in downtown Quincy.

Quality merchandise at saleable prices, ideal weather and entertainment activities including the annual Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant added up to a big attraction.

Hancock St. between School and Granite Sts. was turned into a pedestrian mall as the street was closed to traffic. Merchants displayed merchandise at brightly colored booths.

A Quincy Sun survey of merchants who participated in the bazaar found them pleased with the turnout and amount of business, some of the comments:

Robert Colman, Sr. of Colman's Sporting Goods: "Good, in fact very good. Yes, I would term the bazaar a success. Sales were good and the crowd was orderly. I feel there was a decrease in pedestrian traffic this year but it certainly did not affect our sales. I want to add my appreciation to the Quincy police for doing an excellent job during the three-day event. I also want to draw attention to the exhibition of square and round dance performance that was held at our end of Hancock St. It drew a swell crowd."

Quincy Bay High Tide

| 30      | 7:09 | 7:28 |
| 31      | 8:06 | 8:21 |

Charles Ryder of Ryder's of Quincy: "The bazaar was much better than last year. Here at Ryder's our sales were excellent. It was great to have all the participating merchants work together; which is the key in making an event like this so successful. On opening day (Thursday) I found less foot traffic but Saturday Hancock St. was crowded. I would say that during the three days we had good sales." Ryder was chairman of the promotions committee of the bazaar.

Sheldon Forman of Remick's: "The people were buying a tremendous quantity of merchandise at Remick's at what we consider sensational savings. The traffic on Hancock St. appeared lighter than the previous year, but the quantity of goods sold here far exceeded the same three days in 1985. It is no question in my mind that the shoppers were buying by quantity because of the sales. Everything went smoothly and there were no problems."

Jack London of Quincy Furniture: "From our point of view the Sidewalk Bazaar was very successful. It was so good for us there seemed to be times when we couldn't handle the volume. Those that came in to browse obviously saw what they liked. Today (Monday) they came back. This makes us still look good. Yes, I thought everything worked out well." Bernie Reisberg of Bernie's

HANCOCK STREET became a pedestrian mall with merchandise on the sidewalk and pennants fluttering overhead during the Sidewalk Bazaar.

Modern Formal Shop: "It was the best year we have experienced during a bazaar. You can give some of the credit to the weather. On hot, hot days you lose the crowd to the beaches. But, because Saturday was mild we did well; dollar, cent and volume wise. There were a lot of folks in the center on Saturday. Don't forget an awful lot of people come to this bazaar to do their early Christmas shopping."

Kenneth Fallon, executive director of the sponsoring Quincy Center Business and Professional Association: "Overall it was successful. There appeared to be less foot traffic than a year ago but those that shopped obviously came to buy and spend money. This of course made it a financial success.

The entertainment was well received, like the O'Reilly's, a musical variety and song group who appeared near the Bank of New England. The limousine celebrity or bride and groom photos near the QCBPA office was popular. For $5 bazaar goers could have their picture taken standing next to cardboard celebrities. I might add that the beauty pageant went off well at Quincy Plaza with no unnecessary delays."

Mark Feldman of Jason's Music and T-Shirt Shop: "We had good sales on all three days. Outside our store our featured attraction was the Celebrity Look-A-Like (lip sync) of popular favorite songs. This drew a tremendous crowd. Yes, I'd evaluate that for us the sale days were good."

Quincy Resident On 'Lung Voyage '86'

Four years ago, Bessy Kleppel of Quincy was mostly confined to a bed, hooked up to a ventilator that inflated her diseased lungs.

But on July 30, Bessy and 25 other patients from all over the country with serious lung disorders will leave on Lung Voyage '86, a seven-day cruise to Bermuda.

Lung Voyage (which is not limited to those with lung disorders) is sponsored by Boston's University Hospital and the Pulmonary Center at Boston University Medical Center, and cosponsored by Foster Medical Corporation's Home Health Care Division.

Among those accompanying the patients will be Barry Make, M.D., a specialist in lung diseases at University Hospital and organizer of the Lung Voyage, and Mary Gilmarin, R.N., R.R.T., a nurse who specializes in the treatment of lung diseases.

Passengers leave New York harbor aboard the Royal Caribbean's Nordic Prince, a 23,000-ton, 1,000-passenger cruise ship.

For patients like Bessy Kleppel, severe lung disease such as emphysema used to mean adult years filled with pain, and confinement to a hospital bed in a chronic care facility.

Bessy entered the Respiratory Care Center at University Hospital several years ago where she was treated for her acute medical condition. Since there is no cure for emphysema, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease or other severe lung disorders, patients like Bessy are often left without much hope for a normal life. In the Respiratory Care Center, patients learn to cope with the disease and to break the physical and psychological constraints that normally tie people to ventilators.

She has learned to do for herself, despite the constant need for oxygen. While friends and family help her around the house, she is able to maintain a relatively independent lifestyle. For example, a hand cart with a small tank that delivers oxygen 24-hours a day gives her the mobility to be able to shop for food or even go to Bermuda.

Director Named For South Shore Human Services

Ann Franklin has been appointed regional director of Human Services for Quincy, Brockton and the South Shore.

Franklin, of Marshfield, will be the first person to work exclusively on South Shore human service issues, said agency secretary, Philip W. Johnson, who announced her appointment at the Quincy Mental Health Center, 460 Quincy Ave.

Franklin will oversee and coordinate the activities of 15 state agencies which serve the needy and vulnerable.

Johnson said: "Clients, providers, advocates, legislators and local officials in the South Shore have frequently felt cut off from the coordinating role of the executive office. This appointment will serve to fill that important gap."

OVERESTIMATING FLAWS

QUESTION: I found a house for sale and the price is low because it has been obviously neglected inside and out. Should I look elsewhere?

ANSWER: Not yet. You may have a diamond in the rough. Many prospects are instantly turned off by a home with peeling paint, a lawn overgrown with weeds, dirty kitchen, worn carpeting or shabby wallpaper.

Overestimating these flaws may be a mistake. You may be passing up an excellent purchase. If the location is good and other properties in the neighborhood are valued at a higher amount, it may be worth your taking a longer look. Many of the clean-up, fix-up and paint-up jobs can be done at little cost.

DON'T OVERESTIMATE surface flaws. You may be passing up an excellent purchase.

Tip And 'Delaney's Chicken'

Tom Currier, Jr. was reminiscing about his late father, Tom, Sr. of the famed harmony team of Hum'n Strum following a Memorial Mass for the latter at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

About a year or so ago, he recalled, he, his father, and mother, Helen, were invited to the Washington office of House Speaker Thomas (Tip) O'Neill.

O'Neill had been a fan of Tom's and Max Zides since they first got started in early radio in the 1920's.

Tom, Jr., who lives in Alexandria, Va. and is employed at the Pentagon, said they got a big welcome from O'Neill.

O'Neill then excused himself, saying he would be right back.

And he was, bringing with him an old phonograph and an old record.

The record was Hum'n Strum's rendition of an Irish ditty "Delaney's Chicken."

It was so old that Tom, Sr. couldn't even remember ever recording it.

O'Neill put the record on, and as it played, did an Irish jig to it.

"Can you imagine," said Tom, Jr., "here is probably the third most powerful man in the country and he drags out an old record and phonograph and does a jig around his office to something called 'Delaney's Chicken.'"

Ronald Reagan would have loved it.

TOM JR., and his brother, Terrence, who followed his father's footsteps into the entertainment field, were briefly reunited with an old boyhood chum after the Memorial Mass.

McCAULEY

That was Mayor Francis McCauley who knew them when they lived on Stoughton St. in Houghs Neck.

"They were good kids," McCauley recalled.

I DON'T KNOW ABOUT you but I felt a little (a lot) older with all the news coverage of Caroline Kennedy's marriage to Edwin Schlossberg.

I covered John F. Kennedy's election as President in TOM, SR.

November, 1960 for the old Boston Traveler and got to meet most of the Kennedy's at a victory party in Ambassador Joseph Kennedy's house in the Kennedy compound in Hyannisport.

I didn't get to see Caroline until the following morning at Barnstable Airport when the President-elect, Jacqueline and Caroline were to fly to Palm Beach, Fla. The plane was named Caroline after her.

Caroline, was a beautiful little girl who reminded you of little Shirley Temple. Jacqueline was pregnant with John, Jr.

Who would ever have dreamed all the tragedy that was to follow as the Kennedy family happily waited to step aboard the plane for the flight to Florida that happy morning.

LOOKING AHEAD: Tim Cahill, co-owner of Handshakes in Quincy Square, and former Quincy High School wrestling coach, plans to run for City Councillor-at-large next year.

He expects to have a shot at an open seat. Or, maybe two. Either the one now occupied by Richard Koch, Jr. or by Joseph LaRaia - or both.

Koch, who now lives on the Cape will not be seeking re-election, and LaRaia looks more and more like a mayoral candidate.

GOVERNOR Michael Dukakis apparently has become a firm believer in "running scared."

Even though the Republican party is in a shambles at the state level and Dukakis a shoo-in winner for re-election, he has been on the campaign trail like Marco Polo. All over the place.

Wednesday night a fund-raiser reception for him was scheduled at the Quincy Neighborhood Club from 7 to 9 p.m.

Tickets ($20 single) $30 (couple) were available at the door.

City councillor Patricia Toland is his Quincy campaign coordinator.

This marked Dukakis' third appearance in Quincy since June. The other two: North Quincy High School graduation and the Merrymount Fourth of July Parade.

Post Office Tips For Mailing Film

Extra care when mailing film for processing could mean the difference in preserving memories of your summer vacation.

According to the Postal Service, thousands of film packages end up in dead letter offices throughout the country each year because of careless wrapping and improper addressing. While they make every effort to return or forward materials found loose in the mails to the customer, once film becomes separated from its envelope, there is no way of matching envelopes to unmarked film.

To prevent this from happening, the Post Office recommends these mailing tips to ensure that your film arrives intact at the processing company.

• Tape a label to the roll of film containing your complete name and address. If photographs are being mailed, put your name and address on the back.

• Use a sturdy mailing container. Padded bags, available at the post office, are excellent for this purpose

• Write the film processing company's mailing address and ZIP Code legibly on the outside of the mailing container. Include your complete return address.

• Affix sufficient postage. Mail without postage will be returned to sender; short paid mail could be delayed in processing.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Shipyard Layoffs To Be Probed

Congressman Richard Wigglesworth notified David Claurette, acting head of Local 5, that he would investigate charges that workers were being laid off while the Fore River Shipyard had millions of dollars to keep men employed.

The union claimed that on the $23,000,000 conversion job for the Navy on the Springfield, there was little work being done.

RE-ZONING OF GERMANTOWN PROPOSED

A controversy was expected at the Quincy Planning Board public hearing on the proposed re-zoning of 90 acres in Germantown.

The proposal called for re-zoning the tract from Industrial A to Residence B. The re-zoning was sought in a petition signed by 190 residents.

The land in question was located south of Shedd St. and west of Palmer St. The area included the Snug Harbor housing project.

LEWIS ANNOUNCES RECONSTRUCTION OF SOUTHERN ARTERY

City Manager Edward Lewis announced that the reconstruction of the Southern Artery would begin after Labor Day.

Bids for two-thirds of a million dollar project would be called for Aug. 24 and the contract let the first week of September. The state would pay for the project, which was authorized by Public Works Commissioner John A. Volpe.

Original state plans called for a center strip and land takings for widening. The plans were dropped because of stiff opposition from business interests along the Artery.

QUINCY-ISMS

Michelle Toth:

Miss Quincy Bay Believes In Doing 'Her Best'

By BOB BOSWORTH

Michelle Toth believes in always doing her best.

And her best last Friday night was good enough to win the coveted title of Miss Quincy Bay of 1986. In a pageant field of 34 contestants. More than good enough.

"All I wanted to do was to do my best," she says. "I really did not expect to win. It was such a surprise."

The pageant, highlight of the yearly Quincy Center Sidewalk Bazaar, attracted an audience of over 3,000 people.

It was co-sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the Quincy Bay Race Week Association.

Michelle, 18, the daughter of Mary and William Toth of Weymouth, was selected from among the 34 contestants who were judged in swimsuits, evening gowns, poise and finally in answers to questions. She was crowned by last year's winner, Tricia Tanner, also of Weymouth.

As Miss Quincy Bay, Michelle will reign over Quincy Bay Race Week scheduled for Aug. 6 to 10. In addition, she will attend various yacht club functions and participate in the Marine Parade Saturday, Aug. 10 in Quincy Bay when Race Week is concluded.

Runners-up were Susan Mathewson, 18, of Weymouth; first; Annette Godin, 22, of Weymouth; second; Diane Savoie, 22, of Randolph; third; and Mary Trenholm, 20, of Abington, fourth.

Paula Wilkie, 20, of Weymouth, was named Most Photogenic by media photographers covering the pageant.

Michelle will receive the largest share of over $2,000 in prizes which will also be divided among the four runners-up.

The blond hair, blue-eyed beauty is no pageant stranger.

Last year she entered but was not a finalist. "After last year's pageant, I knew I wanted to return," Michelle said she hoped to be a finalist this year and thought if she became one, she would have a good chance at being named Miss Quincy Bay.

"All I wanted to do was to do my best. I really did not expect to win. It was such a surprise."

Returning to the pageant was a definite plus for her performance said Michelle. "I was more aware of what is expected. This year I was more self-assured, poised and confident and that helped a lot."

Michelle said she became interested in the pageant after viewing the past few race weeks and pageant winners with her father, a member of the Braintree Yacht Club.

Michelle received some added support from her family and friends who attended the pageant. Cheering her on were her parents, grandmother, two sisters and four close friends.

"My family gives me a lot of confidence and just having them there (in the audience) helped."

For the swimsuit competition, Michelle wore a blueish-green one-piece suit.

In the evening gown competition, she wore a strapless, cream colored satin gown with a front ruffle and rhinestones that she designed and made herself.

After the pageant, Michelle, her family and friends attended a reception at McDonald's Restaurant on Southern Artery where she was warmly welcomed by various pageant personnel.

Presently, Michelle is employed by Rudy V. Pompeo Inc. as a secretary.

In the fall she will be a freshman at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. A business major, she is interested in marketing and advertising.

Besides beauty, Michelle has a very keen outlook on life.

"People should focus on what they have and make the most of what they are given."

The other contestants were: Maria Andrews, 20, of Quincy; Kimberly Ballard, 16, of Abington; Lauren Barnes, 20, of Braintree; Linda Barton, 19, Braintree; Donna Berg, 18, of Quincy; Susan Bold, 19, of Braintree; Amy Facobacci, 16, of Rockland; Kerry Eden, 16, of Quincy; Dawn Elworthy, 21, of Braintree; Corrine Fleming, 16, of Weymouth; Mary Galdins, 16, of Weymouth.

Gloria Beth Garvin, 23, of Quincy; Ellen Mary Gordon, 18, of Quincy; Lynnette Houle, 17, of Quincy; Alisa Lurvey, 20, of Braintree; Barbara Moran, 22, of Randolph; Jeanie Murphy, 17, of Weymouth; Mariah Murphy, 19, of Braintree; Maryann Murphy, 19, of Weymouth; Kimberly Nash, 17, of Norwell; Tammie O'Brien, 16, of Quincy; Tracy Panuschka, 16, of Quincy; Laurie Pitts, 18, of Quincy; Laura Robinson, 18, of Weymouth; Toni Solimini, 17, of Weymouth; Tammy Trabucco, 18, of Quincy;

Orchard St. Beach Questionable Water Quality Improves At Beaches

The water quality at Wollaston Beach and all but one of the other beaches in Quincy is considered good by city and MDC officials.

But warnings against swimming at Orchard St. Beach in Squantum were scheduled to continue until results were known from tests taken by the city Tuesday and due in a few days.

The Metropolitan District Commission had issued a warning against swimming at a section of Wollaston Beach last week, but the advisory was lifted when fecal coliform counts reached acceptable levels.

Tests at the Milton Rd. section of the beach had shown a coliform count of 1,000 parts per 100 milliliters of water, according to City Personnel director David Smith, who is also acting health coordinator.

However, tests last Friday showed the counts had dropped to 22.

Orchard Beach tests registered 1,500, Smith said.

Health officials consider a count above 400 evidence that the water is contaminated.

Quincy issues media advisories about coliform counts, but does not attempt to close any beaches, officials said.

Quincy Bay Sludge Data Being Checked

The Department of Health and Human Services is investigating the data already collected regarding sludge in Quincy Bay, according to Cong. Brian Donnelly's office.

The federal agency will determine whether there is an urgent threat to human health in answer to a request for funds to study and then clean up Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay, said Donnelly aide John Stobierski.

A group of Quincy officials including Planning Director James Lydon, Leo Kelly, chairman of Quincy Environmental Control Commission, and Peter Kenney, the mayor's executive secretary, met with Donnelly in Washington last month to enlist his aid.

Since then, Donnelly has been holding discussions with the Environmental Protection Agency and Health and Human Services Department to see what funding is available for a study, said Stobierski.

"He is also prepared to offer legislation to provide money for the studies, if money is not already in place," Stobierski said.

"Cong. Donnelly is committed to obtaining federal funds," he said.

"I can't give a reading this week on how the money will be obtained, but in the next week or two, we hope to have it pinned down," said Stobierski.

'Shipyard Cat Man' To Receive Award

The Board of Directors of the Quincy Animal League has voted to present a check for $100 to Donald Pizzi of Braintree, known as "the Cat Man of the Quincy Shipyard."

Pizzi was the subject of recent news stories which told of his feeding and caring for hundreds of stray cats at the yard during his 35 years of employment there.

It also detailed his efforts to find homes for these cats before the yard closes later this year.

John H. McDuff, Jr., league president, praised Pizzi as "a truly humane man and an example of what one dedicated person can do."

At a meeting to be held in October, Pizzi will be presented with the league's Golden Paw Award certificate for his work on behalf of animals above and beyond the call of duty.

Previous recipients of the award include South Shore Humane Society president Althea Griffin, Newsbyhero James Arroyo, and former Massachusetts Governor Edward J. King.

McDuff states that Pizzi still is in urgent need of homes for a number of remaining cats and kittens. Interested persons should call him at 843-7289.

Church News

'Mercy As The Gentle Rain' Sermon At Bethany Church

There will be one worship service Sunday, July 27, at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon "Mercy As The Gentle Rain," based on the scriptural text from the Gospel of Luke 17:1-21. The lay scripture reader will be Harry F. Massey, Jr.

The sacrament of Christian Baptism will be given to Sarah Allison Cresswell, daughter of Scott G. Cresswell and Deborah Mary (Ryan) Cresswell. Godparents will be Richard Ryan and Dale Carr.

Richard Reynolds will be the guest organist. Joseph Pezzulo, guest baritone soloist, will sing "The Gift of Love," an American folk tune, and as the offertory, Stuart Hine's arrangement of "How Great Thou Art."

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers.

The worship service will be broadcast live over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc, at 10 a.m. Sunday morning.

There will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor beginning at 11 a.m.

Individuals and families from the community and visitors are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship.

For additional information about Bethany's programs and ministry, please contact the church office at 479-7300.

Two Services Sunday At Squantum First Church

The pastor of the First Church of Squantum, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on "Your Vision of Ministry" at the early service Sunday and on "Healing from God" at the later service.

The sermon during the first service was the second in a series leading up to an outdoor baptismal service in Squantum on August 3.

Susan Scott and Lori

Ogilvie served as the ushers during the first service. Guitarists Mary Ruth Scott and Andrew Ogilvie accompanied the singing. During the second service, Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were the ushers. Patti Hurd and Minnie Langevin were the greeters. For the offertory, Sarah Mildram and Susan Scott sang "There's a Quiet Understanding."

This Saturday, July 26, young people of the church will hold another car wash in front of the church from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. to raise money for a trip the youth of the church are planning for 1987.

There will be two services this Sunday: the guitar service at 8:15 a.m. and the traditional service at 9:30 a.m. After the second service there will be a special church business meeting.

'Chastisement' Theme At Covenant Congregational

The uncertain weather early Sunday morning caused the 10 a.m. service to be held in the sanctuary of Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite sts.

This is the third Sunday that the scheduled outdoor service was not held in the church park adjacent to the church.

The Rev. Fred Lawson's sermon was entitled "The Deep Agony of Chastisement."

The scripture reading was from Jonah 2: 1-9, Jonah, the "overturned saint," was shown as an example of deliberate disobedience, whose actions just prove God's abiding presence in the lives of all.

The ushering team consisted of Ruth Johnson, Ken Nelson, Stanley Nelson and Ida Taylor. Once again, all members were called upon to act as greeters for the summer services. The flowers on the altar were from the wedding of Laura Wynands and Jeffrey Drew on Saturday.

The music was provided by Luisa Dano and Lori Westhryn who sang the duet, "The Gift of Love," an American folk tune arranged by Hal Hopson. They were accompanied on the organ by Virginia Anderson, who is a former organist. The hymns were: "All Praise to Him Who Reigns Above," "Now Before Thee, Lord We Gather," and "Take My Life, and let it be..."

A service of baptism was held for Sandra Nash Mitchell, daughter of Kathleen (Benson) and Robert Mitchell. Pastor Lawson sang

"Loving Shepherd of Thy Sheep" as he carried Sandra down the aisle to present her to the congregation. The water in the baptismal font was from the Jordan River, brought from the Holy Land by Pastor Lawson several years ago.

The coffee following the service was served by Luisa and Martha Dano in the fellowship hall downstairs.

If weather conditions are favorable, the service next week should be held outside in the church park.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Dawn Swartz, a Covenant minister who as yet does not have her own church, but is active in various ministries throughout the Boston area, especially the New England Seamen's Mission.

Compromise Reached On Boatyard Dispute

By DAN CONNELLY

The Licensing Board and Ward One Councillor Michael Cheney took on the role of mediator Tuesday and came out successful in a dispute between a Houghs Neck boatyard and neighbors. At issue were complaints to police about noise and hours of operation at Robert Sutherland's Bayview Boat and Engine Company at 2 Bayview Ave.

Atty. William E. McGrath Jr., representing Margaret Skinner of St. Germain St., said restoration work on boats is being performed on Sunday, spray painting is not being properly shielded and Sutherland has installed cement floats on the beach. Board Chairman John Gillis interrupted McGrath and said, "the problem here is we have no jurisdiction in this matter. Mr. Sutherland's boatyard is not licensed by this board."

It was noted the boatyard has been an established business in the residential neighborhood for years.

Sutherland, in rebuttal, told the board he feels harassed by constant complaints and defended his customer's rights to work on their own boats during weekend hours because "that is the only time they can do it."

Cheney was at the meeting to voice his opinion on what he termed a "unique situation." He echoed board members' sentiments that boat owners only have the weekend in which to work on their property, but objected to work of any kind being performed there after dusk or during "unreasonable hours."

It was then that Gillis asked Cheney and the principals to adjourn to a back room, sit down and reach an agreement to satisfy both parties and further, bring a more positive relationship between the boatyard and the neighborhood.

Soon after Cheney and the principals returned and submitted to Gillis the following issues that were agreed upon:

- The use of power tools or any equipment to be kept to a minimum, if not eliminated on Sundays. If this is not possible, then no restoration work will be allowed on boats on Sundays before 10 a.m. and after 5 p.m.
- That Sutherland maintain a three-foot clearance from abutter's fence line.

- All spray painting will take place on the easterly side of the property abutting Sutherland's house and, further, that any spray painting that is performed will be shielded on the westerly side so as to prevent any particles that might affect Mrs. Skinner or her property.
- No work of any kind be performed after dusk on any day.

- Any boats that will have extensive work will be placed on the easterly side of the property, away from Mrs.

Skinner's yard.

- Sutherland will redirect all exterior lighting away from Mrs. Skinner's windows.

- By Sept. 1, Sutherland will notify Cheney on the disposition of his application with the Army Corps of Engineers regarding the installation of the cement floats that are currently located on the beach. In the event that the engineers deny Sutherland's application he will dispose of said floats.

- Sutherland will make every effort to organize his boat yard in such a way so as not to obstruct Mrs. Skinner's view.

Gillis, after reading the eight issues, adjourned the summer session satisfied in the fact that compromise is still possible when opposing parties sit down and air their differences between themselves.

Discover A Village

Visit The Seaside Village That Isn't Oceans Away

Marina Bay Village offers everything that your favorite offshore island does, plus one more—convenience. Just minutes from Boston by car or boat, Marina Bay Village features the relaxing atmosphere we appreciate so much on summer days. Come stroll the oceanside boardwalk, take in the delicious salt air and enjoy the variety of shops and restaurants that make Marina Bay Village so unique.

Marina Bay Village Shops

Coast Girls. Beautiful fresh flowers and plants at The Flower Loft.

Whatever you're looking for, you're likely to find it at Marina Bay Village Shops. Casual resort fashion for men and women at Fran's Landing. Swimwear and accessories at East experience, you might try The Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant, once an actual working tugboat.

Distinctive gifts, at Anchor. Unique jewelry and gifts at the Treasure Chest. And a complete line of nautical supplies at The Boat House.

If by now you've worked up an appetite with all this shopping, stop in at Amelia's or The Eddy Fitz Raw Bar for a light bite and a cool drink. Or make the day into a real occasion with a water's edge picnic. Choose gourmet foods from Chutneys, fresh salads from Seaside Salads or take-out Chinese from Cathay Marina. Top it all off with an old-fashioned ice cream from McGillicuddy's or a tempting sweet from Montilio's Confectionary.

For a truly special dining experience, you might try The Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant, once an actual working tugboat.

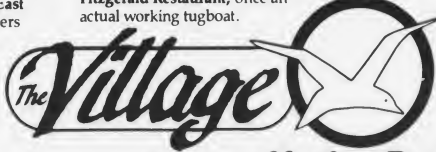

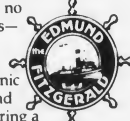

And before you do anything else, visit Clippers at Marina Bay for a smart new haircut and indulgent manicure.

Also this summer, look for the new pushcarts, providing more variety and fun for browsing and buying and take a unique sight-seeing tour with Boston Skyview Helicopter Tours.

A Day To Remember

Marina Bay Village is the perfect spot to spend an easy summer day. Bring the family or make it just the two of you. There's no rush, no schedules—just the gentle sound of the water, the scenic view of Boston and the joy of discovering a new place to be. It's all here, and all so close. t Marina Bay Village.

Mary Lou Glaman, 56 Retired Quincy Teacher

A funeral service for Mary Lou Glaman, 56, of Quincy, a retired teacher of 31 years at the Snug Harbor School and an active member of several local and national organizations, was conducted July 18 at the Bethany Congregational Church by the Rev. J. William Arnold.

Miss Glaman died July 15 at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

She retired from the Snug Harbor School June 11, 1985 after 31 years of teaching. On that day, she received plaques and awards for distinguished service from the Massachusetts Teachers Association, the Quincy Educational Association, Parent Teacher Association and School Committee, and a citation from Sen. Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy).

She taught first grade in Chicago for three years before coming to the Snug Harbor School in 1954. There she taught kindergarten, 1954-1958, and second grade, 1958-1962, and returned to the kindergarten level until her retirement.

She also taught courses in early childhood education at Eastern Nazarene College during the late 1960s.

A native of Illinois, she was a graduate of North Park Academy in Chicago. In 1951, she received a bachelor's degree from Lake Forest College in Illinois and received a master's degree in elementary education from Boston University in 1962.

She was a member of the National Educational Association, the Massachusetts

Teachers Association, the Quincy Educational Association, the Norfolk County Teachers Association, the Association for Childhood International, the National Association for the Education of Young Children and the National Kindergarten Association.

Miss Glaman was a past president of the Quincy Women's Club and Quincy Women's Club Juniors. She was also a member of the Quincy City Hospital Auxiliary, Quincy Historical Society, Germantown Historical Society and the Rice Eventide Home Auxiliary.

She was an active member of Bethany Congregational Church, serving as a deaconess, advisor to youth groups, Sunday school teacher, member of the by-laws committee, and president of the Bethany Players from 1966-1985. She was president of the Protestant Social Service Bureau from 1982-1984.

She is survived by her mother, Lillian (Platt) Glaman of Quincy, and several cousins.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Funeral arrangements were by the Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy.

Memorial donations may be made to the Protestant Social Service Bureau, 776 Hancock St., Quincy, 02170, or to the Bethany Congregational Church Memorial Fund, 18 Spear St., Quincy, 02169.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Through the years much has been written and quoted as to what 'true contentment is ...' 'The contented man is never poor; the discontented never rich' ... 'When you can think of yesterday without regret and tomorrow without fear, you are near real contentment' ...

The following quote by Johann Wolfgang von Goethe is one of the best we have come across:

1. HEALTH enough to make work a pleasure,
2. HEALTH enough to support your needs,
3. STRENGTH to battle the difficulties and overcome them,
4. GRACE enough to confess your sins and forsake them,
5. PATIENCE enough to toll until some good is accomplished,
6. CHARITY enough to see some good in your neighbor,
7. LOVE enough to move you to be useful and helpful to others,
8. FAITH enough to make real the things of God,
9. HOPE enough to remove all anxious fears concerning the future.

VCR, Radio Stolen

Regina Anshewitz of Taffrail Road, Germantown, reported to police July 19, the theft of a $350 Quasar VCR, $300 Fisher stereo radio and $300 Emerson cassette stereo.

License Board Briefs

The city's License Board took the following action at a special summer session at City Hall:

- Granted a request from Pete's Fleet, doing business at the Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant, 542 East Squantum St., for a one-day all alcoholic license for the purpose of a fund raiser Sept. 14.

- Granted a request from Beth A. Jenson, Wollaston, for a one-day all-alcoholic license for a law school graduation bar exam party Saturday, Aug. 2, 8 p.m. to 12 midnight at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall. The food will be catered and the petitioner assured the board professional bartenders will serve the drinks.

- Granted a second-hand antique license to Philippa and Peter Vaughan, 98 Beach St., Wollaston, to operate Alladin Antiques, 3 Elm Ave., with the stipulation the petitioners meet with Ward Councillor Stephen McGrath over whether there are neighborhood objections to another antique business in that area.

- Allowed to be withdrawn a request by Walsh's Cafe, 2 Billings Rd., for a common victualer take out only license.

- Granted transfer of the retail all alcoholic license from Neilan Enterprises, doing business at Murphy's Beer and Wine to Robert L. Couté who will manage the MRHT, Inc. Murphy's Package Store.

- Approved a gas station license transfer requested by James J. and Stephen A. Feeley to store 8,000 gallons in existing underground tanks at 15 Liberty St., South Quincy.

- Granted a common victualer wine and malt beverages license to the LaPaloma Mexican Restaurant, 183 Newport Ave. Atty. Carl Johnson told the board the license request was not submitted for the purpose of financial reasons but rather to complement the food served. Some 450 patrons signed a petition to support the request. Because the restaurant has no bar, drinks will be served from a service area.

- Granted a request from North Quincy High School cheerleaders for canning days, Aug. 1-2, and Aug. 8-9, for fund-raising purposes.

- Allowed to be withdrawn without prejudice a request from Sing Yin Ho, 115 West Squantum St. for a common victualer license at a proposed Tian Gourmet Restaurant, 1591 Hancock St. The planned location is in Quincy Fair, former site of the Sear's Building.

- Approved with the condition a state permit and insurance document be submitted by St. Boniface Church, to hold their annual festival activities on church grounds, and the grounds at the Snug Harbor School Aug. 13-16. Featured at the festival will be carnival rides, games and refreshments.

- Allowed to be withdrawn without prejudice a request from the proposed Arts Auto Body Service, 30 Fayette St., for a license to store 300 gallons of gasoline in tanks of vehicles scheduled for repair or restoration. The Board objected to the request citing the neighborhood is now saturated with heavy traffic and exhausted parking facilities.

- Granted a request from the estate of Joseph Gallagher for a license to store 1160 gallons of gasoline in 50 cars in a parking garage at the proposed new eight story, 47-unit condominium at the intersection of Hancock and Adams Sts., across from the JFK Health Center.

Atty. Peter Eley, representing Nancy Gallagher, executrix, told the Board the proposed development has planning board approval and assured them final blueprints will be submitted for examination by building and fire departments.

DON'T KID YOURSELF.

Maybe you'll someday benefit from Social Security or a company pension. But a well-planned, systematic savings/investment program is still the No. 1 way to achieve financial independence. And you're not too young or too old to begin.

IF YOU'VE GOT THE NEED WE'VE GOT THE MONEY

In fact, Quincy Junior College offers the most financial aid dollars on a per student basis of any community college in Massachusetts. Consider these facts:

- Every Quincy Junior College student demonstrating need this year was offered a financial aid award.
- 70% of our student body received some type of financial assistance.
- Over half of QJC students paid no tuition money out of their own pockets.

You can attend college, too. Call our Financial Aid Office at 786-8775 and let us put you on the path to a more successful future.

Koch Broad Meadows District Closes Season

The Broad Meadows District of the Koch Club Boys Baseball and Girls Softball Leagues will close out the 25th season tonight (Thursday), at 6:30 p.m. at the Broad Meadows Middle School Field on Calvin Rd., Quincy with its annual awards and parents night.

Laminated certificates will be awarded for attendance and reliability with special recognition for those with 100 percent attendance.

Anthony T. Delmonico, founder of the Broad Meadows District in 1962 and director for a quarter of a century, will be master of ceremonies and he will be assisted by Mrs. Gerry Delmonico and umpires and coaches of the leagues in the presentation of awards to the boys and girls.

Following the formal ceremonies, ice cream will be distributed to all the children in attendance.

Broad Meadows District completes the Koch Club Twi-light Boys Baseball and Girls Softball Leagues for the 1986 season. The North Quincy, Montclair and West Quincy Districts had finished their schedule several weeks ago.

The Koch Club Boys Baseball and Girls Softball Leagues have been part of the community recreational program since 1952 when it originated at Cavanagh Stadium in North Quincy.

Koch, Luke's Tied For Top In Suburban League

The 38-year-old Koch Club men's softball team, the oldest activity of the recreational organization, is currently tied for third in the South Suburban League with Luke's Lounge.

Each has a 15-9 record and both are chasing the Flyers and Darkhorse teams, currently leading the top spot with 18-6 marks. Royal Cafe follows at 13-11, Means 8-14, Bryan VFW Post 5-19, and the Spoilers, 4-20.

Two weeks and four games remain in the current season with the first four teams eligible for the playoffs.

The Koch's winning streak, five in a row, is led by Dick Schaeztl batting .550 and Tom Koch's 13-6 pitching mark while Matt Keenan and Steve Mancuso and Paul Schaeztl's defensive play have tightened the infield for the North Quincy team and Roy Pettinelli patrolling the outfield and delivering the home run ball when needed. Tom Bowes is coach of the Koch Club team in its successful season.

The Koch Club organization originated in 1948 with a men's intramural softball league and entered a team in the Y. M. C. A. "Acmy League" in the fifties under the direction of John J. McGue, well-known North Quincy sports enthusiast. The Koch Club won the North Quincy Softball League championship in 1954 and 1955 and gained the Quincy Softball League championship in 1956.

Richard J. Koch, Jr. reactivated the softball team in 1973 and assisted in establishing the South Suburban League. Tom Koch took over the managerial reins in 1980 and has been managing the team for the past seven years.

Good News For Everyone Born Before 1921.

IF YOU'RE A SENIOR CITIZEN, AND YOU'RE WILLING TO SPEND FIVE MINUTES READING THIS, WE'LL GIVE YOU TODAY'S CABLE FOR A MONTH, FREE.

Until now you probably thought that cable wasn't for you. That it was just an extra expense. If you'll be good enough to spare us your time, we've got some facts that may well change your mind.

There's always something good on today's cable.

You'll always find programs to entertain you, inform you and keep you in touch, just when you're in the mood. Cable's even got programming especially for seniors. You don't have to watch more, you just enjoy it more.

CABLE ISN'T JUST MORE TV.

BASIC. THE HEART OF THE CABLE DIFFERENCE.

People often think that cable must be expensive. But the fact is that the essence of cable, Basic Cable, is really a bargain. For $9.95 a month you get great reception on the channels you're getting now, plus 33 fascinating new channels. Here's just a taste of what they offer:

Senior Spotlight with local personalities and senior issues

Senior Nutrition and Senior Exercise

The Discovery Channel with the world of nature and science

Senior Smarts and the Senior Dating Game

Classics from the golden days of TV and Hollywood

Lifetime with tips on finance and life extension

C-Span with coverage from Congress

News, 24 hours a day, world, financial and local

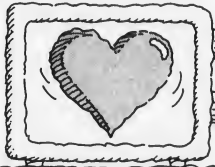

Country and Classical music, The Home Shopping Network

Economics of one and two person households

National Geographic Explorer Series every week

Plus The Weather Channel and documentaries not seen on ordinary TV

If Basic is the heart of cable, Senior Service is the soul. Our people go out of their way to provide thoughtful, courteous and prompt service to everyone. But especially to senior citizens. Just listen to what some of our senior subscribers have to say about us:

"Senior Smarts has done a great deal to add to the enjoyment of senior citizens and helps to keep them young, active, and important."

Steve Marx

"Let me thank you for your good service and especially for providing such good TV as Mother Angelica."

Mary A. Maloney

"I'm pleased beyond words...I find your working crew polite, efficient and you keep your word!"

Phyllis Acebo

"It is really a pleasure to deal with honorable people. Thank you very much."

Joe and Esther Ross

We could tell you about cable for hours, but there's no substitute for first hand experience. That's why we're making this special offer to senior citizens only. We'll install cable and give you a month's Basic Cable service, all for free. You can sit back and see what Basic Cable's got for you, without spending a cent.

SEE FOR YOURSELF, FREE.

A GUARANTEE, NOT A GIMMICK.

We don't want you to rush into anything. We're giving you a month's free service to help you make up your mind. If, at the end of it, you're not completely satisfied, we guarantee we'll remove your cable and that will be that. So, what have you got to lose?

If you'd like to give cable a try, please give us a call at 479-2936 or 471-9611 today. One month after installation, you'll see why some of our happiest subscribers are seniors. Because you'll be happy too.

Still Has Playoff Chance

Morrisette

Rebounds For 6 Straight Wins

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Morrisette Legion baseball team, after losing four games in a row for the first time in Ray Cattaneo's 17 years as coach, bounced back to win six straight, the latest a 14-2 romp over Randolph Monday night.

Morrisette still has an outside chance of finishing second in Zone 6 and qualifying for the state playoffs. As of Monday's games Braintree was 11-5 with games to make up with zone champion Mass. Truck and Milton, while Morrisette (10-6) met Canton last night (Wednesday) and still has a game with Mass. Truck, with a 12-2 record, has wrapped up first place.

Morrisette had nine hits against Randolph and received 10 bases on balls from three Randolph pitchers.

Dan Overby pitched excellent ball for Morrisette in making his record 2-1. He allowed six hits, struck out 10 and walked two. Both Randolph runs were unearned.

Morrisette scored three runs in the first inning, three in the second, two in the third and six in the fourth.

Ron Fletcher was three-for-four with an RBI, John Cristiani had a double and a sacrifice fly and three RBIs, Dan Biagini and Chris Marshall each had a two-run single, Steve Minichello had two RBIs with a fielders choice and a bases loaded walk, and Bob Hunter drove in a run with a single.

In its previous game Morrisette defeated Quincy, 13-3, for the second time in a week, taking advantage of Quincy's shortage of pitchers due to illness and rapping out 15 hits including a towering two-run homer over the right field fence at Adams Field by Hunter.

Larry Taglieri was the winning pitcher, working five innings and allowing four hits and four walks and striking out seven. His record improved to 3-3.

Morrisette put the game away early with five runs in the first inning on a single by Minichello, who took second on an error and scored on Biagini's single. Marshall reached on an error, Cristiani and Rob McDonald walked to force in a run, a run scored on Hunter's infield out and Fletcher drove in two with a single.

Quincy answered with two in the bottom half on a single by Duffy, a walk to Steve Haggas and a two-run double by Kyle Robertson.

Morrisette added three in the third, four in the fourth and one in the seventh.

Minichello had two hits and an RBI Biagini three singles and an RBI Marshall a double and two singles and two RBIs Hunter his long homer and three RBIs, Taglieri an RBI double and Mike Joyce a single.

Joyce pitched the final two innings, didn't allow a hit, struck out four and was wild, walking five.

Morrisette exploded for a 10-0 decision over Holbrook behind the three-hit pitching of Cristiani, who improved to 5-1. He struck out 13, giving him 70 on the season, and walked only two. He has not allowed an earned run in his last two games and has five complete games in seven starts.

Morrisette had 13 hits, scoring early and often. It picked up a run in the first on Biagini's single and Cristiani's double and wrapped it up with six in the fourth on five hits and a walk.

The big blow was a bases loaded triple by Hunter, who also singled in a run for four RBIs. Cristiani, Marshall, Ed Flavin and Minichello also had RBIs. Biagini, Marshall and Cristiani had two hits each and Taglieri, Joyce, Fletcher and McDonald one apiece.

Morrisette swept a double header from Carter Post, 7-6 and 10-1. One game was a makeup of a game halted at the Carter Post field when the lights went out.

Taglieri went all the way on the mound as Morrisette got off to a 3-0 lead with two in the second and one in the third. Key hits in the second were an RBI single by Chris Ricciuti and a double by Taglieri. It added a run in the third on two walks, a hit batter and Hunter's fielders choice.

Carter came back with five runs in the fifth to take the lead. It put together three hits and two walks and the big blow was a bases loaded triple by Al Nelson.

Morrisette scored four runs in the sixth with the key hits a triple by Hunter and Biagini and a single by Joyce. Biagini drove in the game winner and Ricciuti also drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.

In the second game Morrisette scored twice in the first three times in the second. This was more than enough for Overby, who pitched two-hit ball in only his second start, struck out seven and walked two. He didn't give up a hit until the sixth when Carter scored its run on an infield hit and a triple.

Morrisette collected 11 hits of three pitchers. Minichello had a triple and two RBIs, Biagini an RBI single, Marshall two hits and an RBI, McDonald an RBI single, Fletcher two hits, Flavin two hits and an RBI (he also played well in right field in his first start), Cristiani a hit, two walks and two runs scored.

Cattaneo was able to get every player into the double header and all had at least one chance to bat.

To Support All The Young Athletes Of
The City Of Quincy

We need the support of all friends and Alumni to help light up our Veterans Stadium. There are many Alumni who remember their experiences representing the city of Quincy in athletics at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

We, the Alumni and concerned citizens of our athletic programs must join together to "brighten up" the future of the athletic programs we were all once proudly a part of.

Come together with us on Saturday, August 9th, to help "brighten up" and return Quincy athletics to a top priority for all of us concerned.

PREPAYING A FUNERAL PRESERVES YOUR ASSETS

The law permits a certain amount of money from your estate to be set aside for funeral expense should illness deplete your assets. We can help you place such funds in an irrevocable trust that will guard against inflation. Participation in THE NEW ENGLAND FUNERAL TRUST assures that your wishes will be known.

Please write or call for a free brochure No Greater Kindness For Those You Love that explains the details of funeral preplanning.

• Babe Ruth

Bryan, Police Tie 4-4 In Pitching Thriller

Bryan Post tied the Police Club, 4-4, in an extra inning Babe Ruth League game halted by darkness.

The game was dominated by Bryan pitcher Rob Cinquegrano, who struck out 13, and Police hurlers Billy Bellew and Jeff Calvert, combined for 14 strikeouts. Police jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the third inning on Mike Ainsley's two-run single.

Bryan picked up a run in the fourth when Chris Standing scored on hits by Mark Dwyer and Aaron Silverman. Bryan took a 4-2 lead in the fifth on hits by Chris Kyller. Cinquegrano and Pat McDonough.

Police closed the gap to 4-3 in the sixth on hits by Mike Cronin and Ralph Bevilacqua and tied the score in the seventh thanks to excellent base running by Ainsley.

Bryan Post also tied Golden Print, 5-5, in a 10-inning game.

Bryan's Sean Murphy pitched an outstanding game allowing only one earned run and striking out 16.

Golden Print scored twice in the opening inning on hits by Nick Dragone and Pat O'Donoghue.

Bryan scored once in the bottom half on hits by Kyller and Cinquegrano and tied the score in the third on Cinquegrano's long triple and singles by Jamie Green and McDonough.

Golden scored three unearned runs in the fifth to take a 5-2 lead, but Bryan Post rallied for three in the bottom of the seventh to tie it. The key hits were a towering out-of-the-park ground rule double by Standing and Silverman's (three hits) line drive RBI single.

Sean Mulhern, Kevin Mullaney and Donnie Anderson also contributed to Bryan's effort.

• Triple A

Yankees Wrap Up First Place

The Yankees defeated the Tigers, 12-7, to wrap up first place in the Triple A Baseball League.

They finished with a 16-2 record.

Peter Sullivan was the winning pitcher and also had a double and single.

Shawn Kane had two doubles and a single, Theresa Elwood and Sean Vermette two singles each.

For the Tigers Victor Lange and Dennis Reggere had a double each.

The Yankee players were Garvin Chan, Sullivan, Vermette, Elwood, William

Sit, Kane, Anthony Darrigo, Chris McColley, Michael Duffy, Shane O'Connor, Anthony Donahue, Bradley Galanek, James Schatzl, Coleen Gallagher and John Downey.

Coaches were Ralph Elwood and Gil Vermette.

Youth Athletic Jamboree At Stadium

The Quincy Housing Authority will sponsor a Youth Athletic Jamboree Saturday, Aug. 2, at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The jamboree is the first of its kind in Quincy and all young people between the ages of seven and 19 in the Snug Harbor and Riverview areas of Germantown and West Acres in West Quincy are urged to sign up. To register call the Housing Authority at 471-7050.

Events will include basketball games, foul shooting, track events and football, softball and frisbee throws.

The track events will take place in the morning under the supervision of Bart Petracca, race director. Petracca is a former North Quincy High and Cornell record-breaking runner and former cross country coach at North Quincy High. Assisting him will be George Hitt, another record-breaking runner and a Milton resident. Helping out in various events will be some of the area's best runners.

In the afternoon the basketball events will be coordinated by Radzik of Quincy, an outstanding coach of local championship teams.

Youths are encouraged to get together and register their own seven-person teams. Coaches to be provided.

Those participating in the jamboree will receive a free T-shirt, lunch and prizes. First and second place finishers between 12 and 19 will compete against youngsters from Holyoke to Boston.

Non-Contact Football Camp

Recreation Director announces that the Recreation Department will still accept registrations for its Non-Contact Football Camp which will be held Aug. 4-8.

The Camp will be directed by Jack Raymer, head coach at Quincy High School and Ken McPhee, head coach at North Quincy High School.

Registration will be taken on a first come first serve basis at the Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery, Monday through Friday, 8:30 to 4:30 p.m. as long as openings still exist.

The camp is a non-contact instructional football camp which will emphasize fundamental skills necessary to play in this sport. Prior exposure of the sport of football will not be necessary. Working with the staff members from the Quincy Youth Football League, lectures, demonstrations and individual drills will be offered. Video tapes and films will also be utilized.

18 Qualify For Hershey State Championships

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch announces that 18 Quincy participants qualified for the state championship in the Hershey National Track and Field Youth Program.

The Quincy competition winners had their times and distances compared to the winners of 41 other community meets with the top eight selected to take part in the state finals.

The winners of the Massachusetts championship are compared to winners from meets held in the six other Northeast states and the top qualifiers receive an all expense paid trip to the National Championship at Hershey, Pa. in August.

The qualifiers from the Quincy competition and their events are:

Matthew Porro, 50-yard dash and 440 yard relay; Christopher Klier, 220 yard dash and 440 yard relay; Paul Robinson, 440 yard relay; Colter Houle, 440 yard relay; Mekel Conway, 220 yard dash and 440 yard dash; Brian Klier, 880 yard run; Shalanda Fenner, 100 yard dash; Katie

O'Shea, 440 yard dash and 440 yard relay; Lindsey McGovern, 880 yard run, and

440 yard relay; Jenny Pratt, 440 yard relay; Regina Murphy, 440 yard relay, and standing long jump; Christopher Digiacomo, 880 yard run; Alicia Porro, 100 yard dash, and 440 yard relay; Nicole Wilson, 220 yard dash; Nancy Sheehy, 880 yard run; Lean Sweeney, mile; Amanda Young, 440 yard relay; Rachel Marshall, 440 yard relay, and Sherrin Quintiliani, 440 yard relay.

Trip To Starland Planned For July 29

WEEK OF: JULY 24

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Week sees you enjoying the limelight thanks to a recent accomplishment. Family ties strengthen and an older relative supports your stand. Lost item may be found on weekend.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
At the workplace, diplomacy is your middle name. Learning a foreign language may prove advantageous. Old, established remedies prove the key to solving family disputes.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Be careful not to discard items prematurely. . . there may be some unknown treasures among them. Curiosity is increasingly active—a plus on the job, a liability in romance.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Watch tendency to procrastinate, and don't postpone or cancel appointments with specialists. Romance flourishes provided you're less secretive. An injured friendship shows signs of gradual recovery.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Heuristics support your ideas . . . but be prepared to back them up with statistics. Relationship becomes more relaxed. Partnership activities require more detailed planning.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Thursday/Friday find you highly intuitive, especially in romantic situations. Weekend's accent is on entertaining with flair. Monday through Wednesday highlight long term financial planning.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Thursday/Sunday focus on reunions and reconciliations. Creativity runs high after the weekend—an outstanding time for redecorating or designing. Business and pleasure mix well on Tuesday.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Be more precise in expressing your viewpoint, especially where personal relationships are involved. Career roadblock won't be removed automatically; your participation is a vital factor.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Coincidences are scattered through the week and intuition is generally strong. You're inclined to spend more lavishly than you should. Your best entertaining is done on a shoestring.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Career or academic interests undergo a period of change. A lucky romance cycle begins by the weekend. Punctuality is extremely important for all meetings and appointments.

CAPRICORN — December 22-January 20
Creative writing is highlighted, but your business writing needs some polishing. In romance, positive thinking can bring favorable results. Communications with neighbors improve.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Plans should prove successful even though a friend may bow out at the last minute. In group undertakings, be sure that division of labor is carefully outlined.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're sympathetic to the needs of others, making you a sought after friend. At home and at work, you're highly resourceful. But you're hard to pin down. Opportunities for career or financial growth may be highlighted toward the end of '86. The key is to be observant of trends.

BORN THIS WEEK

July 24th, actress Ruth Buzzi; 25th, scientist Nicholas Daves; 26th, singer Mick Jagger; 27th, producer Norman Lear; 28th, actress Sally Struthers; 29th, actor Robert Horton; 30th, singer Paul Anka.

Miss Quincy Bay Pageant On Sun Ch. 8 Thursday

The Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant will be shown on Quincy Sun Ch. 8 tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m.

The program, videotaped last Friday at Quincy Center Plaza, will follow the 7:30 p.m. Sun Ch. 8 Video News Report.

Ch. 8 news anchors John Noonan and Leslie Thompson are the co-hosts.

The program features the 34 contestants in swimsuit and evening gown competition and the crowning of Michelle Toth, 18, of Weymouth as Miss Quincy Bay of 1986.

There is also music by Baron Hugo and other entertainment.

The program will be repeated Friday at 6 p.m. immediately following the 5:30 p.m. Sun Ch. 8 Video News Report.

Live TV Coverage Of Summerfest

Summer '86 concerts are now being aired live every Wednesday at 7 p.m. from the Ruth Gordon amphitheatre, thanks to a joint effort by American Cablesystems and the city.

The live 10-week summer coverage continues into August and is made possible because of a cable drop provided by the Community Television Council and installed by American Cablesystems. The city had a pole and electrical service positioned to provide power to light the area. The city's civil defense and auxiliary police are also present to provide assistance.

This is Ch. 3's fourth season of coverage of the popular concert, made possible through the efforts of staff and volunteers from American Cablesystems in Quincy.

At each concert there is a cable representative at the production van to answer questions about service in Quincy and how TV viewers can get local entertainment live at home on Chs. 3 and 55.

Muscular Dystrophy Swim-A-Thon July 30

Swimming instructors from the Quincy Recreation Department are once again participating in the Swim-A-Thon for Muscular Dystrophy which will be held on Wednesday, July 30th, at the Lincoln-Hancock Community School Pool.

This is the ninth year of the Swim-A-Thon which has raised over $28,000.00 for the fight against Muscular Dystrophy. The event is sponsored by the South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee in a unique partnership with the Lincoln Hancock Community School Council and the leaders of the Quincy Recreation Department.

In a Swim-A-Thon, participants obtain pledges for laps they swim in the A.A.U. size pool. The event is open to children and adults and pledge forms are available at City Beaches, playgrounds, and The Quincy Sun. Recreation Swim Instructors expected to participate are: Yvonne Boness, Jean Boudreau, Tina Calabro, Mary Coughlin, Michelle Dunn, Kathleen Egan, Ann Marie Flanagan, Laura Grande, Mary Ann Kelleher, Marie McAdams, Kristin McCready, Douglas Morash, Marjorie Swanton, Susan Swanton, and Stacy Welch.

Special Houghs Neck Events Planned

Two more events have been scheduled as part of Houghs Neck's 350th birthday celebration.

A Houghs Neck Night will be observed Wednesday, July 30, at the weekly 7-9 p.m. program at the Ruth Gordon Amphitheater.

Maria and Rene Rancourt, former residents, will be featured.

Buses for the concert will leave that neighborhood's Community Center at 6:30 p.m. returning at the close of the program. Advance reservations should be made with Patricia Ridlen, coordinator of community affairs at the center.

A Talent Night has been rescheduled from July 26 to Aug. 23 at Fellowship Hall in the Houghs Neck Congregational Church. Peggy Negro is in charge of arrangements.

Tables Available

For Montclair Indoor Yard Sale

Tables are available for an indoor yard sale to be held Saturday, Aug. 2, rain or shine, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Club, 93 Holbrook Rd., North Quincy.

Set up time will be 7:30 a.m. To rent a table, call 770-0015.

BARON HUGO and his orchestra in concert near QCBA office attracts a standing audience.

Concert In Tribute To Baron Hugo

Quincy South Shore Cultural commission will sponsor a free concert, a tribute to Baron Hugo, Sunday, July 27, 6:30 to 8 p.m. at the Ruth Gordon Amphitheater, Merrymount.

Hugo, whose appearance with his band, providing the Big Band Sound, will be in addition to the regular Wednesday evening performances which are presently being held at the amphitheater.

The Sunday night concert will possibly be expanded next year to include several concerts in addition to the regular Wednesday evening performances.

Cablesystems Seeking Talent For TV Commercials

The Cablesystems Advertising Department of Quincy, is searching for talent to appear in locally produced television commercials.

Performers of all ages are invited to send in a photograph (headshot) of themselves, resume, and/or video or audio tape. Auditions for actors and actresses, musicians, dancers, narrators, children and senior citizens will be held in late August. Amateurs as well as professionals are encouraged to participate.

Tight production budgets restrict Cablesystems from offering performers broadcast wages for appearing in cable commercials. However each performer will receive a VHS dub of their commercial, and talent appearing in a major commercial role will receive an additional stipend.

Talent from some of our productions have moved on to prime-time television programs, industrial films, and have appeared in nationally broadcast television commercials.

Cablesystems Advertising offers an alternative approach to "breaking into" the world of television as well as a fun and exciting day.

For further information write: Laurie Rehill, Cablesystems Advertising, 81 School Street, Quincy, MA 02169, or call 770-0906.

Houghs Neck Trip To Summerfest

The Houghs Neck Community Council will sponsor a bus trip to the Ruth Gordon Amphitheater for the Summerfest Concert by Rene and Marie Rancourt Wednesday, July 30.

A bus will leave the center at 6:30 p.m. and return to the center about 9 p.m. To sign up for the bus trip, call Pat Ridlen at 471-8251. The trip is open to all ages and is free to all Houghs Neck residents.

The musical variety show is also free (supported by the city of Quincy, arts council and Mass. arts lottery).

This is one of the celebrations put on by the Houghs Neck community council in honor of the 350th birthday of Houghs Neck.

Leisure Topic On Psychology Tonight

Psychology Tonight will address the importance of utilizing leisure and relaxation Wednesday, July 30 at 9 p.m. and Monday, Aug. 4 at 8:30 p.m. on Quincy cable. Joining host Tim Lynch will be Linda Oliva who teaches a workshop on leisure for the empowerment workshops.

They will discuss workaholics, letting go of office troubles, and enjoying leisure time.

The scope of work includes cleaning and cement mortar lining of approximately 2,900 linear feet of 16-inch water main and appurtenant work.

Bid security in the form of a bid bond, cash, certified check, treasurer's or cashier's check, payable to the Owner, is required in a dollar amount of not less than five percent of the bid amount.

The Instructions to Bidders, Form of General Bid, Contract, Plans, Specifications, Performance and Payment Bond, and other Contract Documents may be examined at the following:

Weston & Sampson Engineers, Inc., Wakefield, Massachusetts
Dodge Reports, Boston, Massachusetts
Department of Public Works, 55 Sea Street, Quincy, MA

Copies may be obtained at the Department of Public Works, 55 Sea Street, Quincy, Massachusetts 02169, upon payment of $25.00 for each set. Any unsuccessful bidder or nonbidder, upon returning such set within 30 days, Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays excluded, after the date of opening of bids and in good condition, will be refunded his payment.

Contract documents and plans will be mailed to prospective bidders upon request and receipt of a separate check for $10.00 to cover handling and mailing fees. This amount is not refundable.

Both checks shall be made payable to the City of Quincy, Massachusetts.

All bids for this project are subject to applicable bidding laws of Massachusetts, including General Laws Chapter 30, Section 39M as amended.

The Contractor will be required to participate in the City of Quincy's Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action Plan.

The Bidders attention is called to the requirements and conditions of employment to be observed and minimum wage rates to be paid under the contract.

The bidder agrees that this bid shall be good and may not be withdrawn for a period of 30 days, Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays excluded after the opening of bids.

The Owner reserves the right to waive any informalities or to reject any or all bids.

Point Building Sold, Board Hearing Off

By DAN CONNELLY

The License Board was scheduled Tuesday to hold another hearing on conditions outside the South Shore Health & Fitness Complex, 500 Washington St., Quincy Point, but the hearing didn't take place after the board received word the property has been sold.

Peter Ricciardi, who holds a common vicualer license for the property appeared before the board June 17 to rebut complaints from abutters on conditions around the grounds.

Major issue was a mound of dirt piled against a fence, which neighbors said is a nuisance because prevailing winds blow dust into their homes. They also cited other eyesores that needed cleaning up.

Joining them in their complaint was Ward 2 Councillor Ted DeCristofaro, who said he was tired of having to appear so many times before the board to have this situation corrected.

That hearing was continued to June 24 at which time it was disclosed that some progress was being made by Ricciardi to comply with the boards order to shape up his property.

The board then extended Ricciardi more time.

On June 11, Ricciardi submitted plans for an eighty-eight two-bedroom condominium complex on the site.

The Massachusetts Department of Education has awarded a grant to Quincy Vocational-Technical School to write a directory of non-traditional role models.

The directory will serve as a tool for vocational-technical schools in the Greater Boston area.

Classroom instructors who would like to locate speakers and role models in non-traditional trade areas for both boys and girls, will find this directory to be a valuable and encouraging resource, according to the school.

Joseph Mazarella, director of Quincy Vocational-Technical School said, "We're very pleased to be funded to write this directory Role Models are very important in introducing students to people in their fields."

Project supervisor, Alicia Coletti, added, "It is quite helpful for high school students who are studying in various non-traditional careers to hear and see women in plumbing, men in cosmetology, talk about what work in that field actually entails."

The Project Manager, Laura Finnin, is seeking the names of people who would be interested in discussing their non-traditional jobs with students. She can be reached at 282-3221.

'Difficult But Not Impossible'

Nuclear Accident Would Evacuate 14,600 To Quincy

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

In the event of a serious accident at the Pilgrim nuclear power plant, Quincy would be called on to give refuge to some 14,600 evacuees from communities north of Plymouth.

According to Quincy Deputy Civil Defense director Tony Siciliano, the task of bringing 14,600 people to Quincy and accommodating them here would be difficult but not impossible.

"It could be done if it had to be done," said Siciliano.

It would be like moving the entire population of Holbrook and half of West Bridgewater into Quincy.

However, if an accident of major proportion occurred necessitating Quincy residents to be moved, serious problems would surface since there is no state evacuation plan for Quincy, said he.

"I do not know of any evacuation plan in case (nuclear) radiation passes over Quincy," said Siciliano. Siciliano said Quincy's close proximity to Boston makes an evacuation plan extremely difficult.

"Where are you going to put the people? It is something one hates to think about but people should still think about such a situation."

Siciliano said Quincy is part of an evacuation plan for residents of communities situated north of Plymouth. Endangered residents would first be brought to Hanover.

If further evacuation northward is necessary, people would be brought to shelters in Rockland, Norwell, Abington, Weymouth, Braintree and then Quincy.

In Quincy, 11 emergency shelters, eight schools and three halls, would be set up by Civil Defense to house and accommodate 14,600 people.

The shelters and the number they would house in Quincy are:

- Quincy High School, 3,000.
- Quincy Vocational Technical School, 5,500.
- North Quincy High School, 2,400.
- Atlantic Middle School, 678.
- Broad Meadows Middle School, 592.
- Central Middle School, 792.

It's Wait-And-See On Shipyard Buyout

Like everyone else in Quincy, Mayor Francis X. McCauley is in a wait-and-see position until Sept. 15 which will determine if an ongoing study on whether a worker buyout of General Dynamics shipyard is viable.

"I have nothing to report and I do not expect to hear anything, one way or another until after that September deadline," said McCauley.

Efforts by the mayor and others to win an extension of the shipyard buyer proposal deadline met with success recently when General Dynamics vice president and general manager Gary S. Grimes moved it from Aug.

15 to Sept. 30.

McCauley said this shot in the arm allows the employee buyout committee to complete their feasibility study and decide if they want to submit a proposal to buy.

George O'Kane, president of the Shipbuilding Workers Union, Local 5, said that consultants, hired by the state, expect to report back on a worker buyout by mid-September. He added that he was optimistic about the outcome of the study.

Earlier this summer, Meredith & Grew, a Boston-based real estate firm, was hired to help General Dynamics sell the yard.

Since then over 100 different groups have responded to the realtors Request for Proposals which asks what they would do with the shipyard were they to purchase it.

Among those interested are industrial users, brokers, developers and consulting firms who have interested parties.

Local developer Thomas Flatley also expressed an interest in the yard. The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority recently said that it is considering using up to 50 acres of the shipyard for an operations center.

President's Place Help

$780,450 Grant Seen Spur For Center Project

By DAN CONNELLY

A $780,450 state grant has been awarded to Quincy for area improvements adjacent to the $54 million President's Place planned on the site of the old Bargain Center.

"This shows how the state feels about our President's Place project. I'm pleased they feel as strongly as we do," said McCauley, who expects to be ready, probably by Sept. 15, to present to the City Council, a package, consisting of appraisal work and formal urban renewal planning, study, and review relative to the project.

Lydon, who has referred to the project as the single largest development ever to occur in downtown Quincy, won council approval to apply for that sum under the Massachusetts Community Development Action Grant program.

Harold said the funds awarded to Quincy by the Executive Office of Community and Development are to be used for improvements for utilities and site improvements, such as landscaping and sidewalks along Saville, Washington and Hancock Sts. These roadways about the proposed development, Harold added.

The Bargain Center building, a landmark in Quincy Square for 49 years, and nearby properties are included in that project.

Ricciardi Company of Quincy, who purchased the Bargain Center for about $3 million, is expected soon to demolish that building. They will be joined by Campanelli Industries of Braintree in developing that site.

Lydon has referred to the project as the single largest development ever to occur in downtown Quincy.

Project supporters have said the most significant impact of the project would be an estimated $10,400,000 in increased sales in downtown Quincy by workers and new residents.

President's Place will have 227,000 square feet of commercial space, 200 residential condominiums, and 580 parking spaces.

Between 1200 and 1400 new, permanent jobs will be created as a result of the project. Lydon said recently. There will be 500 construction jobs connected with the 18 months of building, he added.

Taxes paid to the city will increase from the current $110,000 to $822,597, including $513,147 for commercial and $309,450 for residential, according to Lydon.

Decision Soon On New Health Commissioner

The long search for a new city health commissioner is drawing to a close and it's just a matter of time in which final reviews are completed before I'll be notified," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

The post, which carries a salary of about $35,000 a year, has been vacant since the death of Dr. M. Grace Hussey in January, 1985.

McCauley earlier said his administrative assistant, Arthur Foley, and Personnel Director David Smith have narrowed the field of candidates to two strong contenders whose backgrounds are being checked.

Richard Stuart filled in as acting health coordinator until he suffered an illness, and the administrative part of the job was taken over by Smith.

The five-member City License Board has been short a member since Dr. Hussey's death.

After he had trouble finding a medical doctor to take on the position for the salary of slightly over $40,000 the city was offering, McCauley introduced a home rule petition dropping the requirement of an MD degree.

That petition was then signed by the governor.

"We want someone who is well qualified for the position," said McCauley, "that is why we are proceeding in a careful effort before making a final decision."

Vandals Strike At Gordon Amphitheatre

Park Department personnel are working with school department employees in an attempt to remove extensive graffiti discovered Monday morning at the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre and sections of the roof at the Pageant Field Pavilion.

Vandals marked the fieldstone backdrop cement stage and a number of cement bleacher seats at the outdoor amphitheatre used by the Cultural Commission on Wednesday evenings for the weekly Summerfest programs.

The same group also climbed on the roof of the two pavilions at the adjacent picnic site and painted graffiti across the asphalt shingle surface.

The Park Department carpenter has been assigned to install new asphalt shingles to cover the graffiti over the pavilion roof while the school department employees have been sandblasting the graffiti at the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre site.

In a second incident, Park Department employees found all the picnic tables turned upside down at the Faxon Park location Tuesday morning.

Police have been notified relative to the two incidents.

Tickets Still Available For Shipyard Cruise

General Dynamics workers Buyout Committee's fundraiser moonlight cruise on Aug. 4 is a near sellout and there is only a limited number of tickets available.

The 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. cruise will leave Marina

Bay in Squantum. Tickets are $20 a person and can be obtained by calling George O'Kane, president of the Shipbuilding Workers Union, Local 5, at 773-7900, or Sen. Paul Harold at 722-1494.

The event is being held to help defray expenses incurred by the committee in its efforts relative to an ongoing study of whether it is feasible for the workers to buy the shipyard.

Cable Firm Seeks Restraining Order On Sports 'Pirating'

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Officials from American Cablesystems and the New England Sports Network were scheduled to go into U.S. District Court in Boston Wednesday seeking a temporary restraining order to stop four Quincy bars from receiving satellite signals.

John King, American's southeastern Massachusetts manager, said his company and NESN, a cable company which broadcasts primarily Boston Red Sox and Bruins games, are suing the bars for using satellite dishes to pirate sports programs and showing them to customers.

The bars are Dee Dee's Lounge, 295 Newport Ave.; Darcy's Village Pub, 93 Willard St.; Kane's Place, 23 Des Moines Rd.; and Sully's, 28 Chestnut St.

American and NESN filed a complaint last Friday in U.S. District Court in Boston saying the four bars are violating federal law by using NESN's programming without paying the local cable company a $75 fee.

King said the bars face damages up to $50,000 under federal communications law.

The suit is believed to be the first of its kind in the state in which a local cable company and a cable network have united efforts in an apparent pirating case.

King said the bars are pirating the programming that NESN puts out via satellite at substantial cost. King also stated that federal communications law prohibits the unlawful reception of satellite programming for commercial use.

One bar owner, Charles Kane of Kane's Place, said he has no intention of retreating from the threat of the lawsuit. Kane said the "air waves are free" and "the signal comes from the sky and it is our sky, too."

King pointed out that all the bars received warning letters last August asking the establishments to stop using the satellite signal without paying for it. Since the bars continued to use the signal, American and NESN will pursue this lawsuit to a conclusion, he said.

A private investigator helped identify the bars, said King.

Kane said he received the letter but discarded it saying the cable company was "just trying to intimidate us."

King said American Cablesystems owes it to the other 28 Quincy bars which pay for NESN to pursue this case. King said the two companies plan to sue the bars under state law for unfairly seeking a competitive edge over other bars who do not pay for the cable signal.

There is a federal law distinction between those who take satellite signals for home use and those who pirate them for use in commercial establishments. Home users can be sued only if they take scrambled signals without paying for them.

King said it is illegal for commercial establishments to take either clear or scrambled signals.

Council Opposes Diesel Rail Service

By DAN CONNELLY

Efforts by the state to revitalize South Shore commuter diesel rail service through Quincy met with strong opposition Monday night at a meeting of the City Council Public Transportation Committee.

MBTA assistant project manager Steve Polechronis, who represented the state at the meeting, said the proposed project would consist of up to three lines to Scituate, Plymouth and Middleboro. They would link up in Braintree, and six trains an hour would go through Quincy during rush hour, to Boston. There would, however, be no stops in Quincy.

Ward One Councillor Michael Cheney said diesel engines expel unburnt fuel which he said is not only harmful to people but also to houses and property. He added the proposed plan would result in enormous opposition from city residents.

Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley who represents North Quincy, told Polechronis and other state officials who were trying to make a case for rail service, that diesel fumes would pose a devastating health hazard to city residents. He added that what Quincy has to look forward to is trains coming up through the middle of Quincy, spewing fumes and noise all over the city, simply for the convenience of the people on the distant South Shore.

Councillor-at-large Patricia Toland said residents are concerned about noise and vibration in their homes from the rail service.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro expressed concern about possible land takings along the route.

Ward 5 Councillor Stephen McGrath said Quincy has too often borne the brunt of projects including transportation and sewerage and doesn't want to see the city "being used" again.

Both Cheney and Nutley said that rather than the diesel commuter rail, the MBTA should consider upgrading the regular system and adding more cars.

A $5.5 million study of reviving the rail lines has been underway since September, with environmental studies now being done. "I" officials are also visiting cities and towns that would be affected to consider possible station sites.

After the meeting, Polechronis said of the Councillor's statements, "I'm not agreeing with what the councillors said because the studies aren't in. But they raise good points and we have to look very closely at them."

CHERYL LANDRY, a special education teacher in the language development class in the Atherton Hough School was recently selected as a Sallie Mae Teacher Award winner on the basis of her academic achievement and outstanding performance as a first year teacher. ## Plumbing, Gas Inspection Permits Inspector James A. Erwin, Jr. reports the Department of Plumbing and Gas Inspection issued 194 permits for the month of June.

The department collected $2,246 in fees. Plumbing: permits issued 113; fees $1,504; number of inspections 174. Gas: permits issued 81; fees $742; number of inspections 112.

Brownell Blasts WRA On Sludge

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) sharply criticizes the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority's recent decision to withdraw its application for dumping sludge off the New Jersey coast.

By withdrawing its application, the Authority may have to continue its practice of discharging 600 million gallons per day of sludge directly into Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay until 1991, Brownell said.

In a letter to the Water Resource Authority's Board of Directors, Brownell wrote: "The Board has acted in a manner that is not only extremely premature, but also blatantly hypocritical given that the Authority's primary mission is to clean up Boston Harbor."

He urged the board to reconsider its decision saying that, "The manner in which the authority proceeds from here will determine the extent to which it fulfills the public trust as a steward of the Commonwealth's water resources."

At Quincy Pound:

Stray Dogs Adoption On Increase

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

In the more than four months that animals in the Quincy Dog Pound have been listed in The Quincy Sun and other newspapers, telephone inquiries to the local shelter have increased.

The number of pet adoptions has also increased as a result of the listings which began at the request of animal advocate groups.

Other shelters on the South Shore had regularly submitted such information which is listed in an "Around the Pounds" column.

"We get a lot of telephone calls," said Mrs. Phyllis Berlucci, Acting Dog Officer for Quincy.

"The only problem is that by the time people call, a lot of the dogs have already been adopted or euthanized," she said.

Mrs. Berlucci said that because the pound only has 10 cages, most dogs can only be kept for about 10 days.

"Once the new pound is built (in 12 to 16 months) there will be 20 to 30 kennels and we'll be able to keep the dogs longer rather than have to euthanize them," she said.

According to Mrs. Berlucci, in 1985, four dogs were adopted in April; six in May; and six in June.

During 1986, there were 10 dogs adopted in April, seven in May and seven in June, she said.

Mrs. Berlucci said that an average of three dogs a week are euthanized.

Listing the dogs in the paper also helps those who have lost their dogs, she said.

"Mrs. Berlucci is cooperating very nicely," said Althea Griffin, president of the South Shore Humane Society.

"Pretty much all the area pounds and shelters advertise their animals now," said Mrs. Griffin.

"We're just very happy that it has worked out."

MOVE IN BEFORE SETTLEMENT?

QUESTION: A prospect wants to buy my home, but says he will not have the money for a couple of months. Should I let him move in before we finalize the sale?

ANSWER: One of the best ways to kill a sale is to allow a prospective buyer to move in before settlement. He may keep finding things wrong with the house, keep insisting they be fixed, or even worse, demand that an adjustment be made in price.

Sometimes the result is even more disastrous. The seller becomes disgusted with all the alleged complaints and calls the whole sale off. It is better to let a prospective buyer move in before closing the sale.

LETTING A PROSPECTIVE buyer move in before closing the sale is asking for trouble.

No Home Town Advantage

Just thinking out loud in search of a column:
You can't say being from Quincy gives a contestant an advantage in the Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant. In case you didn't check the home towns, none of this year's five finalists was from Quincy.

Weymouth had almost a grand slam in the win department.

Michelle Toth, 18, walked off with the crown. Susan Mathewson, 18, was first runner-up and Anette Godin, 22, was second runner-up. All three are from Weymouth.

Diane Savoie, 22, of Randolph was third runner-up and Mary Trenholm, 20, of Abington was fourth runner-up.

TOOTH

And, Paula Wilkie, 20, of Weymouth was selected as Miss Photogenic by the photographers. Last Quincy girl to win the pageant was Christine McGrath in 1982.

And, before her, Beth Ann Strange who is now the very capable pageant chairman, won it in 1981.

McGRATH

WHEN IT COMES to picking beauty queens you'll never get a unanimous vote. Not from the judges. Not from onlookers. And, not from politicians.

For example: James Shannon, Democratic candidate for Attorney General, stopped off at the Sun office on a campaign swing.

While here he looked at the photos of the pageant five finalists. We asked him who he thought the winner was. He picked second runner-up Anette Godin.

Next day, State Treasurer Robert Crane came by and also checked the photos. He looked them over carefully and picked Michelle Toth -- the winner.

Readers Forum 'Excited' Over Selling Myles Standish School

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I was excited to hear Mayor McCauley and the School Committee's decision to sell the Myles Standish school. I am sure we all agree Quincy needs more office building and/or condominium development. Hopefully we will look just like Boston in a few short years.

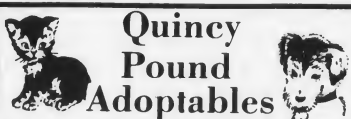

I understand the reason for this decision is the decrease in student population. I know the student population has declined so dramatically that serious overcrowding exists in the F.W. Parker and Furnace Brook Parkway schools. These schools have so much room their kindergarten classes must be bused to other schools. Our school children enjoy having classes in a basement gym when it is not used as a lunch room or for an occasional physical exercise class.

Teachers don't mind having their rooms used as a passageway to the bathroom. I am happy my future years will be controlled by children who have been taught that overdevelopment of land is better and more profitable than the investment in education and development of a child's mind.

I thank these elected officials for keeping Quincy's development rolling and I am sure their happy children can't vote.

MORRISSEY

Still thinking and searching:

WONDER WHY CARS are allowed to park at the corner of Chubbuck St. and Des Moines Rd. in Quincy Point -- right under the "No Parking" sign? Anyone going down Chubbuck St. to make a left hand turn onto Des Moines Rd. can't see cars coming at them.

The "No Parking" sign is one of the most ignored in Quincy.

Makes for a dangerous situation. Lucky there isn't at least one bad accident there a day.

Still searching:

VERY FEW BARTENDERS really know how to mix a good martini these days. Even in the best of restaurants.

Ask for a dry martini on the rocks with a twist and they don't know what dry means. They'll pour you almost half gin and half vermouth. There should just be a hint of vermouth in a dry martini.

I hate to say this, but some bartenders don't even know the difference between a twist and an olive.

Or, is the waitress the culprit?

VIRGOS CAN BE a big pain. I know because I am one. Virgos are perfectionists. So, can you imagine what kind of a pain a Virgo ordering a dry martini can be?

Giving up the search, but still thinking:

LIFTED FROM THE Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter and from wherever they lifted it: Mother to small son: "Don't come to me after your father said no. I'll not have you going over his head."

Quincy Welfare Office Receives Child Support Award

The Quincy welfare office has received the Department of Public Welfare's Child Support Award for its efforts to collect support payments on behalf of 150,000 children on welfare in the Commonwealth.

This year, the Department of Public Welfare collected a record $50 million in child support payments. The Child Support Enforcement staff of the Quincy office collected more than their goal of $1,050,000 in child support.

"More than 90-percent of the families on welfare in Massachusetts are on welfare because one parent - usually the father - does not pay child support," said Charles M. Atkins, Commissioner of the Department of Public Welfare.

"In the first year following a divorce, women and children experience a 73-percent drop in their standard of living, while men experience a 42-percent rise," he said.

"Fathers who don't pay support hurt us all. The children suffer because they are forced to live in poverty. Taxpayers suffer because we have to foot the bill for welfare programs. And society suffers when absent parents are permitted to ignore their moral, legal and financial obligations to support their children."

"The child support enforcement staff of the Quincy office has done an outstanding job of collecting support payments and I am extremely pleased and proud of their work. Not only have they saved tax dollars, they have helped our most vulnerable citizens -- the children on welfare in this state."

Child Support enforcement workers increased the amount of collections by automatically deducting payments from absent parents' paychecks, intercepting approximately $2 million in federal and state income tax refunds, more vigorous enforcement of voluntary support orders, better coordination with the district and probate courts and the use of collection agencies.

The child support staff of the Quincy welfare office received the award from Commissioner Atkins at a recent special ceremony in Provincetown at the 50th Annual Welfare Conference.

Ross To Seek U.S. Funds For Post-War Projects

The war in Europe was not yet over, but Mayor Charles Ross announced his plans to seek federal financial aid for post war construction projects for the city.

Ross said that planning for the anticipated post war construction boom should begin now. He also noted that public works projects would be necessary to employ men during the post war readjustment.

NORTH QUINCY QUARRY TO BE FILLED

The city began work this week filling the old slate quarry on Athorp St. in North Quincy.

The 250 year old quarry was the center of the Quincy slate business 50 years ago. Records showed that slate was first taken from the quarry as early as 1687 for use as tombstones. In recent years, the quarry was filled with 20 feet of water and served as a hazard for neighborhood children.

The filling was being done by the city's Public Works Department, under the supervision of Commissioner James Donovan. When completed, the quarry area would be used as a city playground.

GAS VIOLATORS' CASES HEARD

The gasoline panel of the Quincy Rationing Board heard five cases of alleged violation of the QPA "pleasure driving" ban. All five cases were dismissed without penalties. Various excuses were given by the violators. One said he was going to a wake, another claimed he was installing plumbing on his day off.

FOR "RIVER TEAM WINS FIRST IN SERIES

The Fore River baseball team won its first game in the series of the New England War Workers League.

Its next home game will be at Adams Field where it would face Fort Devens' team. The Devens team already has victories over the Boston Red Sox and Boston Braves.

The job of keeping Fore River on top is expected to fall on pitcher Joe Mulligan, although, there was a chance Buddy Freberg might be called.

Four August Events For Houghs Neck 350th Celebration

Houghs Neck's summer-long 350th birthday celebration continues with four events in August.

A community social honoring new neighbors and old timers will be held Aug. 10 from 1 to 5 p.m. at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

Local artists are being invited to display their work, there will be a video showing of a recent Pilgrim Fellowship musical, and display of historic pictures. Joanne Bythrow is coordinator.

On Saturday, Aug. 23, there will be a toll booth on Sea St. at The Willows from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Jack Nigro, 350th birthday committee chairman, will coordinate workers for this event at which voluntary contributions to defray birthday expenses will be accepted.

A talent show for all ages, plus a gong show for adults.

will take place Saturday, Aug. 23, at 7 p.m. at the Houghs Neck Congregational Church hall. Participants are asked to register at the Houghs Neck Community Center by Aug. 17. There will be free admission, and refreshments will be sold. Peggy Nigro is coordinator.

On Saturday, Aug. 30, a bottle and can drive, proceeds for the parade, will be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Houghs Neck homes, directed by Martin Gordon, birthday committee cochairman.

The 350th Birthday Celebration will close Sunday, Sept. 21, with a parade, athletic activities, rededication of Veterans Memorial Park, and a clam bake and dance at the Quincy Yacht Club. Bill Morrill is parade coordinator Paul Shaw heads the yacht club events.

Tomato Tasting Festival At McIntyre Mall

Quincy backyard gardeners and commercial growers are invited to enter their best red, juicy tomatoes in the second annual "Taste of Massachusetts Tomato Festival," a contest worth $670 in cash prizes to be held at McIntyre Mall, City Hall Plaza Aug. 20.

The contest, sponsored by the Quincy Farmers' Market and the state Department of Food and Agriculture, will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

There will be several contest categories for best tomatoes including three commercial and four home-grown. A panel of food experts will judge the tomatoes on firmness, shape, color, taste, and slicing qualities.

Commercial growers are asked to submit 20 pounds of standard size tomatoes and home gardeners should submit five pounds.

Prizes will be awarded by that state agency's Division of Fairs, and a "Tomato Trophy" will be presented by Sen. Paul Harold. The winner will then have an opportunity to compete with New York growers at a Farmers' Market contest to be held in Union Square, near the World Trade Center, according to food and agriculture commissioner August Schumacher, Jr.

Cash awards will total $670 and will include first, second and third prizes for both home growers and commercial in field, trellis and cherry tomatoes, plus an additional category of container tomatoes for home gardeners. In addition, there will be judging on mixed vegetables and cut flower displays, as well as a recipe contest.

"The best tasting and highest quality tomatoes are grown right here in Massachusetts," said

Schumacher, "and August is our peak harvest season."

Anneli Johnson, spokesperson for the Quincy Farmers' Market, said for entry form and complete contest rules, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Tomato Contest, Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture, 100 Cambridge St., Boston, MA 02202.

Sponsoring participants to date include the Cooperative Extension Nutrition Program, Smith's Country Cheese of Winchendon, Commonwealth Winery of Plymouth, Stop & Shop, Inc., Handshakes, Montilio's and the Granite Rail Restaurant, all of Quincy.

For more information, contact Janet Christenson or Guy Paris at 727-3018, or Anneli Johnson at 479-6056.

Church News

First Squantum Church To Hold Outdoor Baptism

First Church of Squantum will hold an outdoor baptism of new believers Aug. 3.

The ceremony will begin at the church at 9:30 a.m. There will be a dedication of children at the same service. The public is invited to attend. Further information can be obtained by calling the church pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, at 328-7675.

In preparation for that service, Dr. Langevin preached on the subject, "The Cleansing Flood" Sunday, at both services. During the early service, guitarist Mary Ruth Scott accompanied the congregational singing. Kristen Fluhr and Susan Scott were the ushers.

During the second service, Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were the ushers. Diane Lindblad and Tom Williamson sang "Just As I Am" for the offertory anthem. Hazel Mayne and Grace Holmes were in charge of the refreshments for the Fellowship Hour. The hymns were:

"Before the Cross of Jesus," "Nearer My God to Thee," and "Jesus Christ Is Risen Today."

There will be a car wash in front of the church again this Saturday, Aug. 2, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., sponsored by young people of the church who are earning money for a trip to California in 1987.

Rev. Dawn Swartz Guest Speaker At Covenant Congregational

For the fourth consecutive Sunday, the weather prevented the 10 a.m. worship service from being held outside in the church park of Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

As Rev. Fred Lawson was away, guest speaker was Rev. Dawn Swartz, an ordained Covenant minister who as yet does not have her own church, but works for the East Coast Women's Caucus in West Newton and the New England Seamen's Mission in Boston.

Her message was about the warning issued in the story of the tower of Babel against man trying to play God. The supporting scripture was Genesis 11:1-9. When man tries to play God, the result is destruction and confusion, as evidenced by events such as Hiroshima and Chernobyl.

Rev. Swartz then pointed out that the season of Pentecost is the direct opposite of Babel because the presence of the Holy Spirit unifies and creates understanding; it "informs all people."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sylvester presented a duet version of the hymn by Rev. W.B. Stevens, "Farther Along." They were accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Virginia Anderson, a former organist, who is substituting for Richard Smith, minister of music.

Mrs. Linda Day, a member of the Missionary Committee, spoke about Pilgrim Pines, the East Coast Conference's recreational facility on Swaney Lake in New Hampshire. She said that 75 per cent of all Covenant missionaries reported that their Christian camping experiences were influential in their decisions to take up the challenge of their calling. She asked the congregation to pray for Bob Poor, the administrator of Pilgrim Pines, Derek White, a camper at Camp Squanto, and Florence Anderson, who volunteers her time in the office almost every week.

Charles Sylvester and Trudy Acker were the ushers and Anna and Bob Day served the coffee after the service. The congregation was invited to attend the Hobby Fair that will be held on Wednesday morning, July 30 by the Vacation Day Camp.

Next Sunday, Rev. Fred Lawson will preach on the topic, "Preparation for the Lord's Supper," and communion will be served, hopefully in the outdoor chapel.

Sheriff Marshall QCA Speaker

Norfolk County Sheriff Clifford Marshall will be the guest speaker at the Aug. 6, 8 p.m. meeting of the Quincy Citizens Association to be held at the Montclair Men's Club, North Quincy. Interested city residents are invited to attend.

Montilio, Ciampa Re-elected To Mass. Osteopathic Board

George Montilio, owner of Montilio's Bakery Corp., was recently re-elected to a three-year term as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Mass. Osteopathic Hospital and Medical Center.

Montilio has served a previous three-year term on the Board of Trustees. Senator Paul Harold, who is also a member of the Board of Trustees of the hospital, is chairman of the Membership Committee and presented the slate of officers and directors at the recent annual meeting of the corporation.

Arthur Ciampa, of 409 Adams St., Quincy, was also re-elected president of the Board of Trustees for a one year period.

Ciampa, executive director of Cerebral Palsy of the South

Shore Area, has been a member of the hospital Board of Trustees since 1969 and president of the board since 1983.

Ciampa has been involved in many civic and community organizations. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Children's Protection Services, South Shore District, and is treasurer of the Thomas Crane Public Library Board of Trustees.

He is also a member of the R.S.V.P. Advisory Council in Quincy.

Recently he was elected to the Board of Trustees of the New England Foundation of Osteopathic Medicine, and is a member of the Dean's Advisory Committee for the only Osteopathic Medical School in New England, which is located in Biddeford, Maine.

Bernie Reisberg, owner of Bernie's Modern Formal, is also a member of the Board of Trustees of the Mass. Osteopathic Hospital and Medical Center.

Another Quincy resident, William Trifone, is administrator of that institution.

The hospital, which is located at 222 South Huntington, Boston, is an osteopathic institution which provided medical and surgical services, in addition to osteopathic manipulative therapy, in a community hospital setting. It serves the Greater Boston and South Shore areas.

Medical ID's Adopted For Area Foster Children

Foster children in the Quincy, Milton and Randolph areas today carry medical passports.

The ID was developed by the Department of Social Services to help ensure regular, consistent medical care for children being served by that department.

Steve Bates, Supervisor of Foster Care for Quincy explains: "We developed the passport for children living either with foster families or in residential programs. It's a way to keep track of their medical information, so we can keep children to regular schedules of preventive care."

The passport contains a child's medical history, to be used by physicians, dentists, and foster and adoptive parents. It also provides a brief on-going record indicating medications, hospitalizations, immunizations, and major medical and dental problems.

In addition, it tracks routine care according to Project Good Health requirements.

The ID remains with a child during placement and is then given to the child's parents upon return home or to the child's adoptive parents. Foster parents take the passport to the child's doctor and dentist visits and return a summary of each visit to the child's DSS social worker. In this way, both foster parents and medical professionals receive information that may be essential to a child's daily care or to a specific diagnosis.

The medical passport has been adopted by other Massachusetts communities.

Long-range plans include possible use of the passport by all state agencies serving children.

St. Agatha Outreach Program To Provide Transportation

The St. Agatha Parish Outreach program announces it may be able to help all people of any age within the boundaries of the parish in Milton and Quincy with transportation.

This would include visits to physicians, shopping, nursing home or hospital visits, telephone reassurance, home visits, liaison to services.

For more information call Jack Riley, 773-9574, Donna Bowe, 696-8066 or Marge Fortin at 479-5641.

On Campaign Trail:

Crane: 'I Just Work And Tell My Story'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane has been reelected to that position 11 times since 1964, but he still says he intends to "run scared" in this fall's state election.

"Tip O'Neill (Speaker of the House) once told me that a good politician and a good candidate is one who always runs scared," said Crane during a campaign visit to The Quincy Sun.

But "I'm not running more scared this time than I ever was," said Crane, in response to a question regarding Republican opponent Joyce Hampers.

"I just work and tell my story," Crane said.

Part of his story is the fact that the Massachusetts State Lottery, which began with Crane as chairman in 1972, has been number one in the nation for the past seven months as far as sales per capita.

"We hope we'll be number one forever," said Crane, "but everything is competitive."

Crane explained that the lottery came into being because the Commonwealth needed money to balance the budget and help the cities and towns.

"The legislature saw the opportunity to make $35 to $50 million, and that's why it passed," he said.

In 1985, Quincy received $4,740,193 in lottery distributions, according to Crane. Since 1972, the city has received $17,069,569, he said.

Crane said that a lot of work goes into planning the instant lottery games.

"We're in the business end of state government," said Crane.

"We have to know what the customers want, and give it to them."

Crane acknowledged that some people become addicted to gambling.

"It is a disease with some people. But I don't think people with that disease are really lottery players."

"There are probably more such people found at the race track."

"That's gambling. The lottery is more a game of chance."

"Anyone can be lucky. But we do have people who over do it," said Crane.

The treasurer noted that there is a bill to provide $100,000 for a study of the gambling system "to remove the stigma of people with that disease."

ROBERT Q. CRANE

Crane also discussed his Abandoned Property Division which began in 1970 in an effort to reclaim money that had lain dormant for many years which belonged to residents of Massachusetts.

Millions of dollars have been returned to the rightful owners because of the program, Crane stated.

He explained that he had heard of the program's success in California, Michigan and Illinois, sent people to study it, and then instituted it in this state.

The division returned the largest single unclaimed account in the nation -- $300,000 -- and awarded the largest unclaimed property judgement in the nation, $4.2 million, according to Crane.

Crane also discussed a Massachusetts law which provides compensation for loss of earnings or support and for medical care or other necessary services to victims of violent crimes.

Any victim of violent crime who sustains out of pocket loss of at least $100 or who has lost two continuous weeks or earnings or support is eligible to receive compensation up to $25,000, according to Crane.

Since 1969, the state treasurer has paid over $11,000,000 to innocent victims of violent crimes, Crane said.

"The legislature has not done as much with this as it can," noted Crane.

"There could be a great deal more done with the program," he said.

"There is a $600 million surplus in the state. Why not use it for pension reform or scholarships for needy students?"

"What could be more important than money in programs like this to help people?"

Crane also praised weekly newspapers.

"I believe they get the message across easier through weeklies than dailies," said Crane.

In a lighter moment, Crane discussed his Treasury Notes singing group which has been performing for the past 10 years.

He was also asked about his friendship with former Bruins superstar Bobby Orr.

"Not many people know this, but I taught Bobby Orr the slap shot, and he taught me to sing," said Crane with a wink.

Arts, Crafts Display At McIntyre Mall

The annual arts and crafts display featuring projects made by participants of the city's 26 supervised playgrounds will be held today (Thursday), and Friday, on McIntyre Mall.

The display will be open from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The public will be asked to cast a ballot on their favorite project.

The project receiving the most votes will be designated "City Champion" and participants from the winning park will receive gift certificates provided by area merchants. The businesses providing prizes for this year's competition are:

McDonald's Restaurant, Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream, and Friendly's Ice Cream.

The display is under the supervision of arts and crafts specialists Kimberly Curran, Janice Ruane, and Lisa Ventola.

Dr. James O'Hara Named To Aging Council

A longtime Quincy physician has been appointed by Mayor Francis X. McCauley to the 15-member Quincy Council on Aging.

Dr. James M. O'Hara, who fills the unexpired term of Herbert Morgan of Houghs Neck, is also affiliated with the Mass. Hospital School in Canton. He is a graduate of Harvard Medical School and a specialist in physical medicine and pediatric surgery.

In other Council on Aging news:

Reservations are being accepted at the council office in the JFK Health Center, 1120 Hancock St., for a September bus trip to Rhode Island. For details and reservations call 773-1380, ext. 243. No exact date has been set yet.

Quincy Community Action is now accepting applications from senior citizens for eligibility into their weatherization program. This program is available at no cost and includes insulating attics and walls, weatherstrip doors and windows, replace broken glass, repair storm windows, tune-up and repair heating units, and minor repairs as needed. For further information call 479-1655 or 471-3366.

According to William Cara Donna, job placement coordinator at the Quincy Job Center of the Division of Employment Security, job opportunities for individuals age 50 and older are currently available. The new office is at 1 Billings Rd., Norfolk Downs, telephone 471-5712. This program is funded by the South Shore Elder Services.

Mayor McCauley will be the guest speaker at the newly organized Quincy Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons, Sept. 3, 1:30 p.m. in Tobin Towers, 80 Clay St.

Tufts University is looking for men age 50 and over to participate in a nutrition research program, co-sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The program is designed to investigate the circulation of fats in the blood while fasting, and while eating. A stipend of $400 is available to participants. Telephone 956-0400 at Tufts and ask for Study No. 086.

According to John Noonan, council chairman, the Council on Aging is supporting an application for a grant to study affordable housing needs in the city. The Department of Planning and Community Development is seeking funding through the state Executive Office of Communities and Development for the study.

South Shore Elder Services client service report for May, shows that Quincy received its share of services to the elderly.

The report points out there were 419 clients provided with homemaker services; 14 seniors received chore services; 16 clients received transportation of a total of 113 trips; 29 companionship clients and eight respite clients; some 1,813 seniors participated in 4,671 meals at nutrition sites in Quincy; 56 individuals participated in 527 meals under the weekend meals nutrition program.

The council reports that a recent survey of the needs of the elderly on the South Shore indicates that transportation and access, housing, social isolation, and finances are major concerns. This survey was based on responses received from individuals in the 70 to 79 age bracket, and because of it plans are being formulated for a public hearing Aug. 14 to address and obtain more information on this problem.

Diane Fandel Receives Harvard MBA Degree

Diane M. Fandel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Fandel, Jr. of 94 Grandview Avenue, Wollaston, recently received the Masters in Business Administration degree from the Harvard Business School.

Following graduation, she will work with Hewlett-Packard in Waltham as director of management and employee development.

Harold F. Goodman of Quincy was recently elected president of the Harvard Club of Quincy.

Elected vice presidents were Barry L. Ambroseno of Quincy, County Commissioner James J. Collins, Sen. Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy), Elizabeth S. Hawes and Harold G. Olson, who was also elected membership chairman.

Other officers elected were Louis Homonoff, treasurer; James D. Asher Jr., secretary; Philip M. Percy, assistant secretary and Rona W. Goodman, chairman of scholarships and prize books.

Outgoing president David B. MacIntosh received a special 350th History of Harvard book and an engraved gavel for his service by the new officers.

Two Residents Honored By Telephone Company

Two Quincy residents, Gertrude E. Medicke and David P. McGillicuddy, were recently honored by New England Telephone for volunteer efforts.

In recognition of their achievements, the company presented them with the top President's Award for Volunteer Service.

The Quincy residents were selected from among 184 nominees, by representatives of the media and academic, social service and medical professions.

Medicke, a staff assistant in the distribution services department, has worked with the poor in Haiti, Quincy and Boston, and created the Caritas Christi group in Quincy. The group has visited more than 8,000 sick and elderly people throughout the city in the past two years.

McGillicuddy, a toll assigner in the switched services department, designed and now conducts a drunk driving education program, called "Heaven Can Wait."

The program links a number of local organizations concerned with the problem, and has been shown to more than 5,000 Boston area high school students.

2 Residents In Off-Campus Studies At Ohio Wesleyan

Two Quincy residents attending Ohio Wesleyan University spent last semester in studies abroad and in Washington, D.C. as part of off-campus study programs.

Michelle Saltzman, a graduate of North Quincy High School, spent her semester time in Segovia, Spain, to perfect her knowledge of the Spanish language and to pursue other studies at the Segovia Branch of the University of Madrid. Michelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Saltzman of 33 Cheriton Rd., Wollaston.

Sean Barry of Quincy, traveled to Washington, D.C., for experience in national government and politics, foreign policy, economic policy, justice, and journalism.

Barry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barry of 184 Marlboro St.,

Carol Jones Certified As Gerontological Nurse

Carol P. Jones of Quincy, head nurse at the Hebrew Rehabilitation Center for Aged, Roslindale, became certified by the American Nurses Association as a Gerontological Nurse.

She was one of 10 nurses at the HRCA who studied together after work for four months, each teaching a portion of the course, in anticipation of the national examination. This has never before been done in a long-term care facility. There are very few gerontological nurses in the country.

Two Residents In Thayer Cum Laude Society

Two Quincy residents have been elected to the Thayer Academy Chapter of Cum Laude Society in recognition of their superior scholarship.

They are: Joanna Skoler and Richard Gurwicht.

Election to the society brings special recognition at the Braintree-based academy and a cum laude diploma.

"That looks great. I love it. Just what I wanted."
Those are remarks heard often at Stasha's Hair Care, 143 Water St., South Quincy, as a satisfied customer turns and leaves.
They also support Stasha Crehan's decision to open her own business in Quincy after working for 12 years in the Harvard Square area of Cambridge.

Co-worker, Nancy Finigan of Boston, who also worked at a hair salon in Cambridge, brings out the trendy look for those who prefer that fashion mode.
Soon after opening, Stasha was pleasantly surprised when a host of her Cambridge 'steadys' followed her exodus to Quincy. She also has customers from Medway and New Hampshire.

Assisting at the salon as well is mother-in-law, Mrs. Lucy Crehan who is apt at cosmetic facial waxing. Stasha's daughter, Maureen, adds another welcome pair of hands. Involved in other

There are many misconceptions about funeral costs. That's not surprising, really, as there are other charges involved in a funeral, then those of the funeral director... cemetery or cremation charge... monuments or markers... newspaper death notices and flowers. Many also believe that funeral directors will not discuss funeral or burial costs frankly and specifically. Nothing could be further from the truth. Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., adjacent to the Quincy Historical Society Home, stands ready to give you whatever cost information you desire at any time. Roger Hamel, Donald McCarthy and Joseph Thompson are thoroughly trained in the profession they have chosen and ready to discuss frankly, funeral cost information. # ● Legion Baseball Morrisette Win Streak Not Good Enough, Miss Tourney

By TOM SULLIVAN
Despite winning its last seven games, the Morrisette Legion baseball team missed out by one game of finishing second in Zone 6 and qualifying for the state tournament.

Morrisette finished with an 11-6 record and Braintree, winning its last nine games, made the tournament with a 13-5 mark. Mass. Tire won the zone title with a 15-3 record.

The tournament got under way last night (Wednesday) with Mass. Truck opening a three-game series with Zone 10 champion Barnstable (16-4) and Braintree opening a three-game set with Zone 10 champ Fall River (21-3).

Morrisette finished up strong with a 10-0 victory over Canton as pitcher John Cristiani completed an outstanding season, giving up only a bunt single in the second inning and striking out 11.

According to scorer and statistician Richard "Berger" Ryan, the crafty southpaw, pitching his last game for Morrisette, struck out 81 this season, finished with a 6-1 record and didn't allow an earned run in his last three games.

Cristiani received a lot of support as Morrisette scored a run in the first inning, five in the second, two in the sixth and two in the seventh.

Steve Minichiello sent 4-for-5 with a triple and scored three runs. Dan Biagini drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a sacrifice fly. Cristiani had a double and single along with three walks and an RBI. Mike Joyce had three hits, Chris Ricciuti had a double and single and an RBI and Chris Marshall had a hit and an RBI.

"I am disappointed and am sorry for the boys not making the tournament, as they played excellent ball in winning seven in a row," said Coach Ray Cattaneo. "The four losses in a row (the first time Morrisette lost four straight in Cattaneo's 17 years as coach) really hurt us. But we have 12 players returning next year and things look bright for us."

The only three leaving are Cristiani, center fielder-pitcher Mike Joyce and power hitting third baseman Bob Hunter.

Coming back will be pitcher Larry Taglieri, pitcher Dan Overby, who was a late-season surprise, catcher Rob McDonald, first baseman Marshall, who will be playing his fourth year, second baseman Ron Fletcher, shortstop Biagini, outfielders Minichiello and Ricciuti and reserves Mike Mullaney, Jim Ross, Jay DeBartolo and Ed Flavin.

Meanwhile, Quincy ended on a strong note with a 9-5 victory over Canton.

Quincy finished at 5-13 but the record is deceiving as many games were close and the team was out of only four games.

Coaches Ed Spring and Dick Laracy went with a young team and will lose only four players from the 18-player roster. The team had four 16-year-olds in the starting lineup, all of whom played well above what was expected of them. All should be outstanding next season.

In the Canton game, pitcher Robbie Higgins went the distance, giving up seven hits, striking out seven and walking only two. He also drove in two runs with two singles.

Quincy collected 15 hits off three Canton pitchers.

Quincy fell behind, 4-1, after three innings but in the fourth Andy Palmariello walked and singles by Sean Gately, Higgins and Kevin Duffy drove in two runs. In the fifth Quincy added four runs as Pat O'Sullivan walked, Kyle Robertson singled, Palmariello reached on a fielders choice and Gately, P.J. Hussey, Higgins and Duffy all singled.

In the sixth Quincy added two insurance runs on a double by Robertson and singles by O'Sullivan, Palmariello and Tony Orlando.

Higgins rose to the occasion as he struck out Bob Dawson, Canton's all-scholastic pitcher-first baseman, three times with runners in scoring position.

Earlier Quincy lost to Canton, 5-1, in the makeup of a 7-7 tie.

Sixteen-year-old Chambers pitched and turned in a fine effort as he gave up eight hits, struck out seven and walked six.

Four Quincy pitchers were down with illness and injuries during the final two weeks of the season.

Quincy out-hit Canton with 10 hits but was unable to hit when it counted. Chambers and Gately had two hits each and Bill Mulken, Bill Roche, Richie Bryan, Palmariello, Duffy and Orlando one each.

Quincy also lost to Carter Post, 4-3, with Palmariello hitting a two-run homer.

Another 16-year-old, Joe Taylor, gave up six hits for Quincy, struck out eight and walked four.

Quincy has something to look forward to as pitchers Higgins, Chambers and Taylor will be back as will 17-year-olds Bob Laracy, Steve Happs and Bryan, giving Quincy a strong pitching nucleus.

FOUR QUINCY boys were chosen for the South Shore Select soccer team. Front, Matt Flynn, left, and Paul Kearns. Back, Derek Mooter, left, and Brian Fitzgerald. The team, made up of the best soccer players in the 12 and under age category, play teams from other regions in the state as part of the Olympic Development Soccer Program.

Point Panthers Registration Aug. 2

The Quincy Point Panthers will open their 36th Quincy Youth Football League season with registration Saturday, Aug. 2, at 5 p.m. at Fore River Field.

Area players ages 11 to 14 are encouraged to sign up. Parents or adult guardians are requested to appear with a copy of birth records and a $20 registration fee for each player.

All equipment, along with game and practice uniforms, is provided.

Practices are held weeknights at 5:30 through August. When school opens, practices are held Tuesday and Thursday evenings only. Games are played weekends. The league season will open in mid-September.

Further information can be had by calling 472-1375.

● Triple A Blues All-Stars Bomb Reds

The Blue team started off with eight runs in the first inning and went on to wallopp the Red team, 22-11, in the annual Triple A Baseball League all-star game.

Pitchers for the Blues were Matt Frattolillo, Timothy Kane, Paul Murphy, Peter Sullivan, Derek Mooter and Shawn Kane. Red pitchers were Victor Lange, Jason Loiselle, Dennis Lawrence and Dennis Reggere.

Frattolillo pitched no-hit, no run ball for two innings, had two strikeouts and also had two hits himself. Murphy had four hits and played well at third base, Sean Vermette was outstanding behind the plate, Sullivan played outstanding defense at first base, Kane had a triple, two singles and four RBI and Garvin Chan threw out a runner at first base from right field, preventing a hit.

For the Red team Lawrence sparked on defense. A left-hander, he played shortstop, backhanded a ground ball with the bases loaded and ran to second to force the runner. As a pitcher, he covered the plate on a passed ball and tagged the runner out, and as a second baseman, he backhanded a ground ball and threw the batter out. He also had two hits.

Reggere had a double and two singles, David Mysiuk a double and single and Jason Paolini threw out a batter at second on a base hit to right.

The Blue squad included Chan, Sullivan, Vermette, Shawn, Kane and Teresa Elwood of the Yankees; Murphy, Frattolillo, Kevin Boyle, Brian Jennette and Mooter of the Braves and Michael Kane, Timothy Kane, Philip Bell, Greg Burke and Bernie Sharpe of the White Sox. Ralph Elwood, Bill Boylen and Lou Mazzini were the coaches.

The Red squad included Lange, Paolini, Mysiuk, Pat Donaher and Reggere of the Tigers; David Burke, Brian Kravitz, John McGowan, Dennis Lawrence and Mark McGillicuddy of the Pirates and Loiselle, Chris Nickerson, David Mullen, Sean Cleary and Paul Colleary of the Indians. Coaches were Judi Salvatore, Wayne Elmore and Doug Holmes.

Quincy, North Girls In California Volleyball Competition

The Mass. Patriot 15 and under volleyball teams, which include several Quincy and North Quincy girls, recently returned from Festival 86 at the University of California at Davis.

The two teams, coached by North Quincy's Chris Prendiville, were highly competitive as they faced some of the top teams in the country.

Mass. Patriot White, with Quincy's Nancy Laitinen and Amy Guidice, North Quincy's Deirdre Murphy and Abp. Williams' Erin Murray, finished 35th in a field of 73 teams.

On the first day the team defeated Sunset Blue, 11-15, 15-12, 15-13, and Central California, 15-13, 13-15, 16-14, while losing to Asics Tiger, 1-15, 11-15.

On the second day it lost matches to Cal Tigers and Bav Club White and defeated

So. California Blue, 1-15, 15-9, 15-13.

The final day saw the team upsetting the higher-seeded Davis team in a tough three-game match, but they lost to Yakima, Wash., and So. California Black to finish 35th.

Laitinen and Guidice were key forces in blocking many of the opponents' big hitters and Murphy and Murray were strong offensive players in giving the Mass. team its 4-5 record.

Mass. Patriots Royal, with George Winters of Quincy assisting Prendiville, finished 46th.

On opening day it dropped its first two matches to San Gabriel and Santa Cruz but defeated So. California Red in two games.

On the second day Royal defeated Arizona Jrs., 15-10, 15-8, lost to Stockton Green in three games and defeated Hayward, 15-6, 15-5.

On the last day the team had a big game and defeated Cal Jrs., one of the top teams nationwide, 9-15, 15-7, 15-7, and defeated Santa Cruz White, and lost to a strong Utah Junior team, 11-15, 16-8, 12-15, to finish with a 5-4 record.

North Quincy's Barbara Carroll, a co-captain, was the lone setter for the team, running the offense. Holly Rendle of North Quincy was a key defensive specialist with consistent passing and serving. Debbie Panaro of North Quincy, an outside hitter, helped the team with excellent defensive play and consistently strong net play.

The Patriots thank all those whose donations made this and other trips possible for these area players.

VFW Rebounds To Win Junior League Title

After losing the first game of the playoffs to Boston Gear, 4-3, the VFW bounced back with four straight wins to capture its second straight Junior Baseball League championship.

In the first game Mike Patch was the winning pitcher for Gear and had seven strikeouts. Scott Dunn, the loser, had nine strikeouts.

For Gear Derek Happs had three hits, including a double; Patch two hits, including a double, and Mike Riley a hit.

For VFW Mark Walsh had a double and Christine Barrett, Sean Donovan and Robbie O'Connor a single each.

VFW came back to top Keohane's 8-2, with Donovan the winning pitcher with seven strikeouts and Dan Kearns the loser, striking out three.

For VFW Mike Geddis had two doubles, Mike Walsh, Donovan and O'Connor two hits each and Dunn, Barrett, Mark Cahill and Steve Martin one each. For Keohane's Kelly had two hits and Kearns one.

VFW then rolled over Houghs Neck, 13-4, with Dunn the winning pitcher, striking out eight.

Dunn and Geddis had two doubles each, Mark Walsh, Barrett and Cahill two hits apiece and Manning and O'Connor one each.

Donovan pitched a no-hitter and struck out eight as VFW blanked Foley Chrysler, 3-0.

Geddis had two hits, including a double, Barrett two hits, Donovan a double and Dunn and Ed Costello a single each.

VFW edged Keohane's, 3-2, in the championship game.

Geddis had a triple and Dunn, Donovan, Cahill, Dave Bogan and O'Connor singles. For Keohane's Tom Ridge had a double and two singles, Pat Shea two hits and Kearns, Kelly, Gilmore, Nolan and Clifford a single each.

Dunn and Donovan allowed only 12 runs in five games, highlighted by Donovan's no-hitter against Foley, one of the best hitting teams in the league. Barrett, Mark Walsh, T.R. Reppucci, Keith Driscoll and Costello played strong defense. O'Connor shone behind the plate and Geddis had an outstanding series hitting with five doubles, a triple and the game-winning hit in the title game.

Limited Openings For Baseball Camp

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch announces the Quincy Recreation Department still has limited openings in its first week-long baseball camp for 12-15 year olds which will be held as part of its self-supporting summer camps and workshops program.

The camp will be held Aug. 11-15 at Adams Field from 8 a.m. to noon and is under the direction of David Perdios, baseball coach at North Quincy High School and Morrisette Legion, and Mike Marshall, All-New England pitcher at Suffolk University.

The baseball camp will be open to participants who are interested in perfecting their skills in the game of baseball. Individual attention will be emphasized in all phases of the game.

Instruction, position play, films and game experience will be offered. Participants will be under the personal supervision of highly qualified staff who specialize in all areas fundamental to building a solid baseball foundation. Instruction will range from the basic fundamentals to advanced skills.

The camp cost is $18 and registration can be done, while openings exist, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Quincy Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

To Support All The Young Athletes Of
The City Of Quincy

We need the support of all friends and Alumni to help light up our Veterans Stadium. There are many Alumni who remember their experiences representing the city of Quincy in athletics at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

We, the Alumni and concerned citizens of our athletic programs must join together to "brighten up" the future of the athletic programs we were all once proudly a part of.

Come together with us on Saturday, August 9th, to help "brighten up" and return Quincy athletics to a top priority for all of us concerned.

Quincy Companies In Road Race

South Shore Bank, The Stop and Shop Companies, and State Street Bank and Trust of Quincy were among the 296 companies that participated in the third annual manufacturers Hanover Corporate Challenge road race held recently around the Boston Common, the Public Garden and the Commonwealth Avenue Mall. John Doherty of Cutler Display & Packaging of Johnston, RI, was the overall winner with a time of 15:48 (a new course record), and Julie Burke of JR Development of South Hamilton, was the first woman to cross the finish line with a time of 19:27.

• Babe Ruth

Granite City Wins N.L. Crown

Granite City Electric won the Babe Ruth League National League championship and will play in the playoffs, together with the Firemen, against the top two teams in the American League.

Granite City defeated the Police, 9-3, behind the five-hit pitching of Ken Ciesewski. The Police scored all of its runs in the first inning on singles by Brian Kelly, and Mike Ainsley and two Granite City errors. Ciesewski blanked the Police the rest of the way, allowing only two singles by Ainsley and one by Tom Roberts.

For Granite City Tony Anderlonis, Brian Howlett and Tim Brillo had two hits apiece and Erik DeBoer, Sean Thompson and Steve Wysocki one each. Andy Colleary and George Walsh made fine catches in the outfield and also contributing to the win were Jim Munroe, Angelo Kyranis, Wayne Sit, Mike Picariello and Dave Gamsby.

Granite City then walloped Local 1139, 11-1, as DeBoer (6-2) pitched his eighth straight complete game and allowed five hits.

DeBoer also paced the attack with two long triples and a single. Gamsby and Howlett had two singles each and Brillo, Anderlonis and Thompson one apiece. Paul McDonnell and Kyranis played well on defense.

For Local 1139 Steve Kohler played a strong game at third base and had a booming double to deep center field. Ray Grant had two hits, Brandon Farrell had a single and Pat Harrington made the defensive play of the game, spearing a line drive at third base off the bat of Anderlonis.

Steve Buckley, coaching his final season for the team, did a fine job of keeping Local 1139 in playoff contention despite the loss of outstanding players Steve Johnson and Jim Bryan, who moved away, and Rob McDonald, who joined Morrisette Legion.

The Quincy Firemen edged Granite City, 2-1, with each team having only four hits. Mike Bagless was outstanding for the Firemen, keeping Granite City's batters off balance and popping up. The 13-year-old struck out seven and didn't issue a walk.

Brillo also pitched brilliantly for Granite City, striking out five and also not issuing a walk. The game took only an hour and 20 minutes and neither team had a base runner until the bottom of the fourth inning.

For the Firemen Feeney led off the fourth with a single. Brillo retired Steve Neiters and Bill MacDougall but Chris Noble hit a fly ball to short right center. Anderlonis was playing deep and made a great try, getting his glove on the ball but was unable to hold it. The next batter, Brian Taylor belted a long triple to right field, scoring Feeney and Noble.

In the fifth Howlett lined a single to left and stole second. DeBoer's long drive to center was caught by MacDougall and Brillo singled home Howlett with Granite City's run run.

Anderlonis and McDonnell had singles for Granite City. The defensive play of the game was turned in by Firemen second baseman Billy Monteith, who ran down DeBoer's grounder heading for right field and threw him out at first. Walsh played a strong game at first base for the Firemen, digging out several low throws.

Darkhorses Take Over First

Gary Fine led the Darkhorses into sole possession of first place in the South Suburban Men's Softball League after sweeping a doubleheader Sunday to improve their record to 20-6.

The Flyers split a doubleheader and dropped to second place with a 19-7 mark.

The Koch Club and Luke's Lounge remained tied for third place at 16-10 after splitting their doubleheader. Luke's won the opener, 7-3, and Koch bounced back to win, 8-4.

With two games remaining in the regular season, Royal Pizza (14-12) is looking for an upset over Luke's Sunday and a sweep will tie it for a playoff berth. Means is 8-18, Bryan Post VFW 6-20 and the Spoilers 5-21.

The playoffs will begin Sunday, Aug. 10, with the top four teams taking part. Dave Walsh is president of the league.

Apaches Registration Saturday

The North Quincy Apaches of the Quincy Youth Football League will hold registration Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Upper Merrymount Field on Hancock Street, Wollaston.

Boys from 10 to 14 in the North Quincy and Wollaston districts are eligible.

Further information can be had by calling Billy Peters at 773-2495, Paul Moody at 472-8455 or Tom Carter at 770-1776.

Whiffle Ball Tourney Results

The Quincy Recreation Department recently held its second annual whiffle ball tournament as part of its supervised playground program.

The event was coordinated by sports specialists JoAnn Runge and Jaime Paz.

For the past three weeks, district finals have been held, and these results determined the qualifiers who went to Russell Park for the city championship.

The home court advantage was beneficial to Russell Park. It had champions in both Midget and Junior Boys Divisions. Playing for the Midget team were Steven Barrett, Mary Ellen Eddy, Chris Roncarati and Todd Portesi. Chris Roncarati made a stellar performance as he hit a home run each of the seven times that he came to bat. The Junior Boys team members were Billy Campbell, Chris Campbell, and Danny Canovan.

Winners for the Senior Boys Division were from Fanno St. Park. Its team consisted of Pat O'Donahue, Jamie Greene, Paul Kearns and Tom Sullivan.

In the Junior Girls Division the winning team was that of LaBrique Park, and members included Michelle Dreary, Christine Barrett, Susan McKay, and Renee Francouer.

Competition in Senior

Girls play was heated as co-champions Perkins and LaBrique shared the glory. The Perkins team members were Alyssa Haldoupis, Christine Killy, and Rachael Keeney. LaBrique girls were represented by Kristin Picarski.

The trophies that were handed out at the event were donated by staff member, tennis/archery specialist Steve Durante.

Runners up in the tournament were:

Junior Boys - Bishop-Paul: Murphy, Chris Murphy, Scott McCormick, Chris McCully, Fenno St.-Mike McDonald, Mike Kane, Tim Kane, Aidan O'Donahue; Chapel-Jeff Craig, Steve Lourd, Bill Rimovitz.

Midget Girls - Kincaide: Shannon Pierceson, Jennelle Cole.

Two From Quincy Advance To Hershey Track Final

City Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, announces that two winners of the Quincy competition of the National Hershey Track and Field Competition have advanced to an all expense paid trip to the national finals in Hershey, Pa.

Nicole Wilson will compete in the girls 13/14 200M run and Mekel Conway in the girls 9/10 220M (girls). The girls advanced by winning the state championship at a meet held recently in Braintree. Their times were compared to similar meets in the other New England states and the fastest qualifiers will represent New England at the National Championship.

Welch noted that this is the ninth year that the Quincy competition has sent winners to the national championship.

"Giving local athletes an opportunity to participate in such a worthwhile activities is our real objective, however, when through hard work and dedication the athletes achieve success by advancing to a national championship, it provides a very positive and tangible objective for younger participants to strive for," he said.

Eighteen from the Quincy competition advanced to the state finals. Others in the group finished first and are state champions, but because of faster times in other states are not selected for the national championship.

Brian Hamilton

Brian A. Hamilton, son of Jeannette A. Hamilton of Plymouth St., Middleboro, and grandson of Clarence F. Johnson of 91 Town Hill, Quincy, has been promoted in Finishing as state champions were Brian Klier, 800M; Lindsey McGovern, 800M; Alicia Porro, 100M; Nicole Wilson, 200M; Mekel Conway, 200M. Finishing in second place at the state meet were Christopher Klier, 200M and 4x100M relay; Shalanda Fenner, 100M; Katie O'Shea, 4x100M relay; Lean Sweeney, 1600M; Amanda Young, 4x100M relay; Lindsey McGovern, 4x100 relay; Jennifer Pratt, 4x100 relay; Regina Murphy, 4x100 relay; Rachel Marshall, 4x100 relay; Sherrin Quintiliani, 4x100 relay, and Alicia Porro, 4x100 relay.

Other competitors qualifying for the state championship but not finishing in the top three places were Matthew Porro, 50M; Katie O'Shea, 400M; Regina Murphy, standing long jump; Nancy Sheezy 800M, and Christopher DiGiacomo, 880M.

Welch thanked Jeff Hennessy of the Quincy Track Club and Julio Henriquez of the Boston Flyers Track Club for their assistance in the Quincy and state meet.

The local meet was sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department and is run in competition with the National Park and Recreation Association and the President's Council of Physical Fitness. The national competition is sponsored by the Hershey's Chocolate Company.

Senior Airman

the U.S. Air Force to the rank of senior airman.

Hamilton is an inventory management specialist at England Air Force Base, La., with the 23rd Tactical Fighter Wing.

Dudek Has Work Cut Out To Make Broncos

North Quincy's Joe Dudek, who signed with the Denver Broncos as a free agent, recently completed six weeks of development workouts in Greeley, Colo. and, according to the Rocky Mountain News, he had his hands full much of the time but improved drastically as the workouts progressed.

JOE DUDEK

Backfield coach Nick Nicolau, who formerly coached at Wareham High School, handed Dudek a plastic football attached to a 12-foot elastic band and instructed the former North Quincy High and Plymouth State College standout to throw himself passes.

The elastic band had been snapped to a fence post at a distant end of the practice field. Positioning himself with his back three feet from the fence, Dudek lobbed a pass. The football was zipped back at Dudek and, jumping awkwardly, he tried to cradle it against his chest but it rocketed past his right ear.

The next two passes had the same result and Nicolau stepped in and told him to use his hands to catch the ball, then tuck it against his body. Dudek showed improvement after that.

Next Dudek moved inside the practice bubble, catching passes launched at 60 miles and hour by a mechanical quarterback that can pass at speeds up to 100 mph and penetrate a rookie's ribs.

Joe again had troubles at first but he improved until he missed only two of his 125 passes. He bore out the words of his college coach, Jay Cottone, who had said "Joe will work harder than anyone you've ever seen and he will never, never quit."

Dudek is a long shot to make the Broncos and pass receiving was not the only area in which he must improve at the rookies' camp, which opened last week.

His pass patterns must be lean and his blocking ferocious. Neither was required in his four years at Plymouth State, where he was the Panthers' offense, gaining more than 5000 yards and becoming college football's all-division all-time leading scorer.

Despite his figures, Dudek wasn't taken in the National Football League draft. He was drafted by the Tampa Bay Bandits of the USFL, but several NFL teams showed interest in him as a free agent. He signed with the Broncos instead of taking a chance with the USFL, whose future is cloudy to say the least.

"Denver was my first choice all along and I chose the Broncos (Dallas offered more money) because of the six-week development camp," Dudek said. "It means the coaches can get a longer look at me. The money doesn't really matter, I have to make a team first."

Since the development camp opened in late May, Dudek has worked hard and his weight is up (he is 6-1 and 194, a gain of nearly 15 pounds), and his 40-yard dash time is down to slightly under 4.6.

Dudek also picked the Broncos as they are a little short on backs. Last season they initiated a one-back system, carrying only four but Nicolau hinted that they may carry a fifth back this fall.

"I'm not the head coach, but I'm pretty sure we'll carry five," he said. "So it's not like Dudek is up against a stacked deck. If we go with another guy, he'll have the opportunity."

When Dudek arrived in Denver, he was welcomed royally with all three of Denver's network television affiliates meeting him with mini-cams and microphones.

He was on three Denver radio talk shows and ESPN the cable sports network, splashed his signing over a few prime time minutes.

There is little doubt that Dudek is a real long shot to make the Broncos, but don't count him out. He is pumped up and anxious to show what he can do.

If he fails to make the Denver club, he won't stop trying. He figures the NFL is worth a two-to-three year commitment.

Houghs Neck Center Sponsoring Harbor Cruise

The Houghs Neck Community Center is sponsoring a bus trip to "The Spirit Of Boston" cruise ship Thursday, Aug. 28.

A bus will make stops at the Adams Shore Library, O'Brien Towers in Germantown, and across from Granite Place from 10 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.

The group will board the "Spirit of Boston" at 11:30 a.m. for a cruise of Boston harbor and other points of interest, a clambake-luncheon on board consisting of chicken, lobster, corn on the cob. Entertainment on board will be a "Salute to Broadway" revue.

The ship will return to the dock about 2 p.m. and return time to Quincy is about 3 p.m.

The fee for the bus, cruise, luncheon and entertainment is $21. Pre-registration is absolutely necessary by Aug. 5. Money must be in by Friday, Aug. 8. Call Pat Riden at 471-8251 to sign up. Only 42 people can be accommodated.

Quincy Choral Society To Sing At Faneuil Hall

The Quincy Choral Society will join other area choruses and sing at the Faneuil Hall 10th Anniversary Celebration Thursday, Aug. 7 at 5:30 p.m.

The singing group will be part of a 1500 voice choir under the direction of John Oliver to be accompanied by the 18th U.S. Army Band. Selections included in the outdoor performance are "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Let Freedom Ring" and "This is My Country."

SCARBOROUGH CHAMBER PLAYERS Virginia Sindelar, flutist, of Squantum, and William Buonocore, guitarist to present a concert Saturday at 100 Southern Artery.

Scarborough Chamber Players In Concert At 1000 S.A. Saturday

Virginia Sindelar, flutist, and William Buonocore, guitarist, members of the Scarborough Chamber Players, will present a concert of classical music this Saturday, Aug. 2, 7 p.m. in the South Wing Auditorium at 1000 Southern Artery, Quincy.

Sindelart, artistic director of the musical group, is a resident of Squantum.

The artists will perform works by Bach, Ravel, and Mauro Giuliani, who was a guitar virtuoso and composer from 1781-1829. Miss Sindelar has recorded four other works of Giuliani for flute and guitar for the Centaur label in the compact disc format.

The players have presented programs in the Quincy and Milton Middle Schools.

They've also produced a 30 minute video with the Quincy Cablesystem which has been shown several times on Ch. 3 and the American channel.

The free concert is open to the public and is made possible by a grant from the Quincy Arts Council and the Mass. Arts Lottery and is part of an on-going series to present live chamber music in the senior centers of Quincy.

Bicycle Program At Library Aug. 7

A program concerning the maintenance and safety of bicycles will be held at the Thomas Crane Public Library Quincy Center Thursday, Aug. 7, at 10:30 a.m.

Jay Field from the 4H County Extension Service in Walpole will lead the program.

The "Bicycle Rodeo" is offered in conjunction with the Aeronauts Meeting, a summer reading program at the library. However, all youngsters ages eight years and older are invited to attend. Bicycles are required so they can be given safety inspections and can be ridden through the obstacle course.

Participants with their bicycles are asked to meet for the program in the parking lot on Spear St., behind the library.

For more information, call Central Children's, of the Thomas Crane Public Library at 471-2400, ext. 38.

Cristin Conroy In Dance Program

Cristin T. Conroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen L. Conroy of Quincy, recently participated in the summer dance program of the National Academy of Arts in Champaign, Ill.

Cristin is a junior at Archbishop Williams High School in Braintree.

WEEK OF: JULY 31

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
A week for receiving surprise invitations. Career expectations may prove unrealistic; use the week to sort priorities and outline goals. Don't take romantic situation for granted.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Prepare to agree to disagree with a romantic partner or business associate. Work out a realistic health and fitness program. A cycle of self-improvement is launched this week.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
You do more than your share of entertaining, partly because friends from faraway pay surprise visits. Romantic road is less rocky thanks to your compromise philosophy.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Candlelight and wine suit the mood of this romantic, nostalgic week. On the job friction does not go away... the time may be right to take positive action.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Travel is highlighted; the week sees you taking jaunts to unusual destinations. You might be a little glib... take all rumors with more than a grain of salt.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Small but welcome financial windfall may arrive after the weekend. If sharing expenses or dividing labor, be sure all terms are understood in advance. Advertising ventures prove rewarding.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Loose ends are tied up quickly... then it's on to a new challenge. People from abroad enter the scene. Be certain that colleagues understand your expectations.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Financial breakthrough may take place provided you remain alert to trends. Partner's argumentative streak may surface toward the weekend but your offbeat sense of humor solves the day.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
A wounded friendship shows signs of recovery but don't rush the healing process. Relatives count on your good humor to end a squabble. Dull job brightens dramatically.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Friendship is the theme of the week as oldtimers return and new relationships are forged. Watch tendency to overextend yourself. You may be promising more than you want to deliver.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Travel plans require regular review; be prepared for changing conditions. A colder look suits your present mood. Romantic slump is temporary. Job tensions ease.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Friend's intentions may be more earnest than you initially believe. Overdue payment arrives but surprise expenses may prove unavoidable. Financial tensions begin to ease.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're a born romantic and a natural leader, and you thrive in the limelight. The next few months see you sharing center stage and benefiting as a result. Spontaneity is important as you enter a key romantic cycle. In money matters, watch your tendency to take unnecessary risks.

BORN THIS WEEK
July 31st, actor Don Murray; August 1st, actor Geoffrey Holder; 2nd, actress Myrna Loy; 3rd, singer Tony Bennett; 4th, astronaut Neil Armstrong; 5th, actress Loni Anderson; 6th, actor Robert Mitchum.

Stasha's: A Complete Hair Salon For Entire Family

factors of the business is husband Jim. He gives tireless efforts to the business when not working as a supervisor of technicians at Microsonics Incorporated, an electronic firm in Weymouth.

Stasha recalls: "I was a little frightened at first when I finally made the where and when decision to open. I was a little tired of the old ways and wanted to create a whole new image in wash, set, and permanents. So, a year ago this October, I opened. 'Course before that happened, there was a period of renovation in which the whole family pitched in to bring about a warm, inviting atmosphere to the salon."

"Being your own boss is a dream come true and it's exciting," says Stasha, a Weymouth resident who loves Quincy and doesn't mind that long commute to Cambridge.

One day a new customer from State Street Bank South dropped in. Soon after a host of his fellow workers showed up for hair styling. "It must be the personalized service we give," said she.

An especially satisfying moment in the daily work day of Stasha and Nancy occurs when a customer comes in feeling blue and walks out feeling like a new person.

Consultation is a must with some customers, said Stasha. "They fail to realize that facial contours influences a person's hair style. So when they come in and seek to have us image their hair style into something they've seen in a magazine, TV or movie, we urge them to reconsider because one does not compliment the other."

Stasha adds that "hair is either short, long or in-between. It's what you do to it that makes the difference and sets you a step above other salons."

With a salon equipped with the latest in hairstyling equipment, no job is too big, or too small.

"We enjoy the challenge of a customer as young as age 2," Stasha said.

The salon is a complete hair care salon for the entire family and welcomes walk-in customers.

According to Siciliano, a bus-shuttle system would be used to relocate people from Hanover to Quincy using Route 3, Hancock St., Southern Artery, Furnace Brook Parkway, McGrath Highway and Granite Ave., Milton.

Once in Quincy, Civil Defense would care for the evacuees providing beds, food and clothing, said Siciliano.

There are four stages of nuclear accidents, Siciliano pointed out. In increasing degree of danger, they are:

- An unusual event.
- An alert situation.
- A sight/area emergency.
- A general emergency.

"For the evacuation plan to be used, the accident would most likely be of the sight/alert or general emergency kind," said Siciliano.

He said implementing the evacuation plan depends greatly on the scope and magnitude of the accident.

Other factors such as weather conditions would figure in the decision to evacuate, Siciliano said.

The power plant, located about 30 miles south of Quincy, has been the focus of strong criticism since May when U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission Members declared it one of the worst-managed plants in the country.

Last Friday, Boston Edison officials said Pilgrim will stay shut until at least early 1987 as the utility makes improvements in the containment system designed to prevent the release of radiation during a core meltdown.

The plant has been closed since April 12 for repairs and maintenance. It had been scheduled to begin operations next month.

Airman Robert Clements, Jr. Graduates From Course

Airman Robert Clements Jr., son of Robert Clements of 60 Stewart St., Quincy and Helen Maloney of 241 Billings Rd. Wollaston, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force aircraft maintenance course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

During the course, students were taught aircraft maintenance fundamentals to repair and service one- and two-engine jet aircraft. Maintenance management and documentation was also taught to assess aircraft readiness capability.

Graduates of the course earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Clements is scheduled to serve with the 410th Organizational Maintenance Squadron at K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich.

He is a 1983 graduate of Quincy High School.

Cadet Jay Connors Second Lieutenant

Cadet Jay R. Connors, son of James E. Connors of 165 N. Quincy Shore Drive, North Quincy, and Janet A. Connors of 66 Hawthorne Circle, South Burlington, Vt., has been commissioned a second lieutenant under the Army's Early Commissioning Program.

The program allows a cadet who has completed all the military science requirements to become a member of either an Army National Guard or Reserve unit. This allows the new officer to continue working toward a bachelor's degree.

Shipyard Cruise Raises Hopes For Buyout

By DAN CONNELLY and BOB GOHL

The long struggle to keep the General Dynamics shipyard gates open got a good shot in the arm Monday night when a cross-section of people joined in a common effort and raised more than $15,000 at the Workers Buyout Committee's fund-raiser moonlight cruise.

Sen. Paul Harold, one of the key organizers of the event, said 325 people were on board and more than $15,000 was raised to give the committee working capital to fund while an ongoing study continues on whether it is feasible for the workers to buy the shipyard.

General Dynamics has set a bid deadline of Sept. 30 for the yard which it said it is selling because of a lack of contracts. The workers are awaiting the results of that study, due Sept. 15, before deciding.

About 325 former workers and their families, public officials, local merchants, shipbuilders and consultants paid $20 a ticket and boarded the Mass Bay Lines "New Boston" at Marina Bay in Squantum for the three hour

Boston Harbor Cruise.

For many of those who took the cruise it was a chance to see old co-workers again from the shipyard that for many has been almost a second home.

Harold said it was a "tremendous success," both financially and in demonstrating community support for the potential employee buyout of the yard.

Other comments from those attending included:

State Sec. of Labor Paul Eustace: "Some time in

$8,529,641 In Construction

The Building Inspection Department reports that his office issued 169 permits for construction estimated to cost $8,529,641 during the month of July.

The department received $29,002 in permit fees and $115 for public safety inspections. A total of 27 dwelling units were added through new construction and three through alterations.

Permits were issued for four one-family homes estimated to cost $252,000.

There was one permit for a three-family dwelling at 120,000, one for multi-family dwellings (20 unit condominiums) at $950,000, one mercantile (drive-up teller) at $65,000, 116 residential alterations at $642,241, 15 other alterations at $5,084, 865, one storage at $31,500, three garages at $33,000, four removals at $9,900, seven signs at $6,750, and 16 miscellaneous jobs at $1,334, 385.

Seeks New Location

Registry May Become Shelter For Homeless

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Quincy's shelter for the homeless may find a permanent home of its own at the current site of the Registry of Motor Vehicles, Broad St., Quincy Center.

The Registry is requesting proposals for the lease of some 7,000 square feet of office space in Quincy.

If the Registry is successful in finding a new location, the Interfaith Sheltering Coalition intends to talk with the mayor about renting the city-owned building as a shelter and occupying it by next January or February.

"There is a strong possibility of locating a permanent shelter for the homeless at the Broad St. site," said Mayor Francis McCauley.

"Quincy owns the building. The Registry is a tenant at will."

"If lease expired a couple of years ago, and they're looking at different locations."

"The coalition has expressed an interest in the location if the Registry decides to leave," he said.

According to McCauley, the Registry pays $40,000 a year in rent to the city.

The Registry must remain in Quincy, according to the law, but needs more office and parking space, McCauley said.

"Everything is very much contingent on the Registry getting a new location," he said. "We don't intend to ask them to leave."

The Registry has unsuccessfully searched for a new location before, McCauley noted.

It has specified a 10 a.m. deadline on Sept. 4, on proposals for leasing, and is seeking a five year lease with occupancy as soon as possible.

McCauley said that if the Registry does move, and an agreement is reached between the city and coalition, it must be approved by the City Council.

In the past, the council has supported the coalition which was started in March, 1984, and is comprised of 45 churches, seven social service agencies and many individuals.

"It seems to be a good location," said McCauley of the registry site which is adjacent to the Quincy Police Station.

"It's relatively centrally located, but isn't in the heart of downtown," he said.

Some downtown merchants had objected to a proposal

Quincy To File For Traffic Improvement Grant

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces Quincy has been invited by the State Executive Office of Transportation and Construction to file a full application for a $225,000 public works economic development grant.

The grant would fund detailed engineering and design of vehicular and pedestrian traffic improvements in Quincy Center which would serve to increase the viability of the downtown as a retail center.

Area slated for improvements stretches from the Hancock and Dimmock Sts. intersection through the square to the intersection of Burgin Parkway and Granite St. Engineering services will include the design of a pedestrian walkway over Burgin Parkway which would link the retail area west of the Parkway with Quincy Center. McCauley said a pedestrian walkway would allow safe and accessible shopping especially for the elderly in the area.

The state grant would allow the city to follow-up the recommendations of the Quincy Traffic 2000 study currently underway.

The City will apply for approximately $900,000 in the next round of funding in order to undertake the actual construction of the improvements.

AN IMMERSION Service of Christian Baptism and Dedication was held Sunday morning beginning at the First Church of Squantum and continuing at the beach of Squaw Rock in Squantum. The service was led by the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, church pastor.

Squantum First Church Baptizes 8 By Immersion

Over 100 members and friends of the First Church of Squantum watched as eight new Christians were baptized by immersion in Quincy Bay last Sunday morning. Later in the service, which was held at Squaw Rock, three of those who were baptized dedicated their children to God there on the shore. Seven children were dedicated.

For church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, who conducted the service, it was a "missionary harvest" of work that he and others have done for 22 years in a special youth program called "The Way Up."

Colorful liturgical banners made by young people of The Way Up were hung down the side of Squaw Rock. The women who were baptized wore white baptismal robes; the men wore blue ones.

The actual number of people who joined the church Sunday was nine. One had been baptized by Dr. Langevin at Squaw Rock three years before and now had returned to join the Squantum church.

"Every one of these believers who joined the church originally came to Christ because of The Way Up," Rev. Dr. Langevin said. "We have here today young people who are still in the program of The Way Up, others who used to be involved when they were kids, others who are relatives of those who were, some who began as volunteers to help in the ministry of The Way Up and at least one who first came to the church because of the Sunday School ministry of some of the kids in The Way Up."

"This is a glorious resurrection morning," Dr. Langevin added, referring to the symbolism of the immersions themselves. "When Jesus was baptized in this way in the River Jordan and when Paul and all the Christians in New Testament times and then for some years after that went through the same experience, they were bearing witness to a profound truth of the Christian faith:

KATHRYN B. MACRITCHIE was one of eight new Christians baptized by immersion in Quincy Bay by the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor of the First Church of Squantum.

that an individual needs to lay down his or her old life in Christ, to die and be buried spiritually so that God can raise him or her up again, as a new person in Christ."

The texts for the morning were the story of Jesus' baptism by John the Baptist as recorded in the Gospel of Matthew.

Most of the baptismal candidates had been waiting a year or more for the day. During that time, they were involved in the life of the church in various ways: in Bible study, worship and special service projects. The young people in the group even went to classes for a year in a "Covenant of Discipleship."

Those who were baptized were:

Bonnie Adams, Christopher Dixey, Barbara Edgar, Mindi Hurd, Kathryn MacRitchie, Raymond Sweet, Gail Thornton and Lynda Sorenson-Thornton. The ninth person to join was Sam Corey.

The children who were dedicated were Ian Alexander MacRitchie, Kathryn Sarah MacRitchie, Leann Sweet, Michael John Sweet, Raymond Michael Sweet, Jr., Gwen Ingeborg Williamson and Grant Dalton Williamson.

The service began at the church at 9:30 a.m. with some opening hymns and prayers, then moved to the beach at Squaw Rock for the main parts of the service.

Guitarists Mary Ruth Scott, Steven Williams, Robert Dixey and David Williams accompanied the congregational singing at Squaw Rock. Steven Williams began the service by singing a Christian version of "Bridge Over Troubled Water" and then "My Jesus, I Love Thee" just before the baptisms.

As each of the baptismal candidates waded out into the water, Mary Ruth Scott, Susan Scott sang verses of "Just As I Am," "Seek Ye First" and "Amazing Grace."

THE CHRISTIAN BAPTISM of, from left, Bonnie E. Adams, Barbara J. Edgar, Kathryn B. MacRitchie, Gail I. Thornton, Lynda J. Sorenson-Thornton, Raymond M. Sweet, Mindi K. Hurd and Christopher R. Dixey took place Sunday at Squaw Rock during ceremonies held by the First Church of Squantum.

Sarah Midram joined them in singing "Amazing Grace."

After the baptisms and the dedications, the nine new members were welcomed into the church with "the right hand of fellowship," extended to them by the pastor and others representing various groups in the church.

Those others included Stewart Scott, Board of Deacons; Helen Miller, Board of Trustees; Pat Olson, Board of Christian Education; Eva Martin, Board of Benevolences; Deborah Stohlberg, the youth groups; and May Lewis, The Way Up.

Assisting the pastor during the dedications were Stewart Scott and Evelyn Ahearn of the Board of Deacons. Sponsors of the new members of the church were Evelyn Ahearn, Mary Ruth Scott, Ruth Swenson, Patti Hurd, Susan Scott, Hazel Mayne, Tom Williamson and Arthur Sorenson.

"Some people may mistakenly think that The Way Up works only with teenagers in trouble," explained Dr. Langevin, "because that is how it started. Actually, The Way Up is special outreach ministry that works with three different kinds of kids: church kids, kids outside the church and kids in institutions. We have programs for each of those different kinds of kids and our goal, besides helping them, is to bring them to Christ."

Dr. Langevin began The Way Up 22 years ago and it has been in Quincy most of that time, serving young people and their families from throughout the South Shore. The ministry that The Way Up does now is accomplished in partnership with the First Church of Squantum. The Way Up has a separate Board of Directors, all of whom are drawn from other Christian churches on the South Shore. It is supported by contributions from individuals and churches of different Protestant denominations located throughout the state.

On the other hand, the congregation of the First Church of Squantum is actively involved in performing the ministry of The Way Up. As recently as last Sunday, the members of the church voted to affirm that "the ministry of The Way Up is a regular part of the ministry of the First Church of Squantum" and that its work was "a part of the ministry of our pastor and our members."

"We really need the First Church of Squantum," Dr. Langevin said. "The Way Up is only a missionary organization, a conduit, a way of providing kids with social services and sharing the Gospel. It is not a church in itself. Therefore, when our work bears fruit, we have to have a congregation for the new believers to join. That's where the Squantum church comes in."

There were only 29 people in the sanctuary of the Squantum church in the fall of 1978 when Dr. Langevin went there to be pastor. There were nearly 300 people on the church roll but most of them were inactive. The church had been without a pastor for several years and there were no young people coming to the church at all.

Since then, Dr. Langevin and other members of the church have continued the missionary work of The Way Up through a wide variety of service projects, camping trips, counseling, advocacy, home visits, tutoring, youth employment and "self-help" fundraisers for teen-agers

Shipyard Cruise Raises Hopes For Buyout

September we'll know whether it is feasible to buy the yard or not. We're interested in maintaining older manufacturing, and shipbuilding certainly would be one of those. Hi-tech is great but it is not the panacea that a lot of people think it is. We need a balance of both old and new."

State AFL-CIO President Arthur Osborne: "This is just a great night. Probably the greatest in the long struggle trying to keep the shipyard gates open. It exemplifies the spirit and commitment of the people in Quincy and surrounding areas in trying to help the workers. Sen. John Kerry said to me what can I do to help. I said keep those gates open in Quincy."

George O'Kane, president of the Shipbuilding Workers Union, Local 5, and who was chairman of the event, was highly optimistic in his comments. "We've been very busy. We anticipate buying the yard. We've been busy with the feasibility study and look forward to opening the yard up again. We got enough money from the state to conduct and pay for our study but what we didn't anticipate was the cost of traveling to Washington, telephones and office equipment and supplies."

"So instead of going back to the state and asking for another handout, Sen. Paul Harold (he was co-chairman of the cruise) suggested we have a fund-raiser and this cruise has turned out to be one of the most successful fund-raising campaigns I've ever been a part of. In another year we'll be back in business, making money, believe me."

Rev. Joseph Downey, pastor at St. Joseph's Church in Quincy Point: "Well my parish originated in 1917, and many of the parishioners have worked there through the years. We are like partners in Quincy Point and we hate to see this partnership suffer and disappear. All my parish is praying that many good things will happen to the shipyard in the next few months. I think Quincy Point has improved so much with the many condominiums being built, it would just be a very sad thing to see General Dynamics shipyard fall apart for the lack of employment."

Thomas Nutley, Ward 6 City Councillor: "We're hoping for the best. This is a great beginning. The city council is solidly behind them."

Ted DeCristofaro, Ward 2 Councillor: "We are all hoping like heck that something happens with this buyout situation. If it works, I think there is a good possibility that we could get work."

Rep. Robert Cerasoli: "I look for anything that is going to economically improve the area. My feeling is that I'd like to see a shipyard there, but certainly if that's not possible then I would not like to see the property divided into small parcels, separate industrial parcels. I would not like to see that at all. I wouldn't want to see something like the Hingham shipyard, just sitting there for the next 10 years not used, not paying taxes and a blight on the area."

Pat Hanratty, executive director of the state's Industrial Services Program, which is overseeing the consultant's study on the feasibility study, was impressed. "Can you believe the crowd? What's really encouraging to me is the community support," she said.

Also attending were:

Arthur Batson, president of the National Shipbuilders of America in Washington, D.C., and a Brockton native; Joe Greenwell of Virginia, president of American Flagships Inc.; Jack Grace of Virginia, a retired marine colonel who consults on the military application of commercial ships; Dr. O. Clayton Johnson, president of Quincy Junior College; Tony Svizzero of Weymouth, head of the New England branch of the Shipbuilders of America; shipbuilding consultant Peter Gwyn of Duxbury; Kathleen Hickey, manager of Cathay Center in North Weymouth, where many shipyard workers ate, came with Diane Pelchowicz, a waitress at the restaurant; Rep. Suzanne Bump (D-Braintree); Rosemary Wahlberg, head of Quincy Community Action Organization; John Kane, member of the Quincy City Hospital Board of Managers; Mark O'Connor, administrative aide to Sen. Ted Kennedy; Chris Greeley, administrative aide to Sen. John Kerry; members of the Industrial Services Agency which commissioned a study on shipbuilding and on the profitability of an employee buyout, and Industrial Cooperative Association, which is doing the study on the buyout.

Zaida Shaw, owner of Ma's Lunch which has served shipyard workers for many years, prepared the food, assisted by Kathy Marcelle and Nancy O'Kane.

Music was donated by musicians from Local 9.

Bill and Jay Spence, owners of Mass. Bay Lines, returned to the committee the $800 deposit for the $2,000 rental of the boat.

Food donations were given by Purity Supreme of Quincy, Stop & Shop, Prevites Market and Blazing Salads of Boston.

Mark Haherty solicited the food donations.

Fleischmann Liquor Mart in Quincy donated liquor for a drawing. Pat Curran, Irish Consul General in Boston, donated Bailey's Irish Cream.

Edison Utility Workers, Local 387, gave 12 tickets to Great Woods for the drawing. George Finch donated lobsters for sandwiches.

Twenty-three people donated $100 each which paid for the cruise overhead.

"All of the ticket sales were 100 per cent profit," said Harold.

MARIO SALVATORE, right, whose cookout for sister Dora, center, and patients at New England Sinai Hospital, is always the talk of South Quincy, is shown with Martha Desilva and Richard Realini, president of the Quincy Sons of Italy. Salvatore, of 39 Hughes St., initiated the cookout last year when Dora mentioned in passing it would be nice to have a party for her second floor fellow patients. Assisting were family, neighbors, and members of the Sons of Italy. (Quincy Sun photo by Deborah Pasquale)

Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services (QNHS) will meet Tuesday, Aug. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at St. Joseph's School Hall, Pray St., Quincy Point.

Results of a physical conditions inventory of the Quincy Point neighborhood will be revealed and discussion on plans to visit an NHS program in Rhode Island in September is scheduled at the meeting.

Contact Nancy Salzman from Neighborhood Reinvestment at 770-1747 for information on how to become a member of QNHS.

How to pay for higher and higher education.

With a cost of thousands, school and college tuitions seem to go up every year. Whether or not your income does. As a result, there may be a gap between what you've saved and what you actually need to pay on your next tuition bill.

One course to take for extra credit is to apply for a student loan at Quincy Savings Bank. Qualified borrowers can get up to $2,500 per academic year, at an attractive rate. Sign up at our nearest office, or call our Consumer Loan Center at 471-3500 for more facts and an application.

Crime Prevention Tips For Senior Citizens

Crime prevention tips for senior citizens will be included in a new program, "Senior Power," being implemented by Quincy Police Chief Francis Finn.

The program will be presented to senior citizens groups in Quincy beginning Sept. 1, by Quincy Police Crime Prevention Officer Robert Hanna.

The tips include such suggestions as:

- If you use a bus regularly, get and use a schedule to minimize the length of time you have to wait — perhaps alone — at the stop.
- It is a wise idea to carry your house keys separately from your other things. That way, if your purse or wallet is stolen, the key won't be there along with your address.
- Install a peephole and good lock in your door. You don't have to open the door to strangers, and shouldn't if you are at all suspicious or uncomfortable.

There is no charge for the presentation, according to Hanna, who said the department hopes to reach 5,000 Quincy senior citizens with the program.

Some of the topics to be covered in the program include home security, personal security while shopping and while in your car, fraud and cons used on seniors.

Each senior citizen who attends the program will receive a whistle with instructions on how and when to use it to prevent crime. A 20-minute film will also be shown.

The program is being made possible through the cooperation of South Shore Bank.

Quincy senior citizen groups interested in the program should contact Hanna at the Quincy Police Department, 479-1212, for more information.

Brownell To Poll Constituents On Issues

Some 1000 registered voters selected at random in Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Germantown, Merrymount, Wollaston, will soon be receiving a survey from Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy).

In an effort to obtain a sense of constituent opinions, Brownell's questionnaire will be asking voters their opinions on a wide range of issues from medical malpractice to nuclear energy.

Brownell said, "as in the past, our office is very interested in the responses of our constituents to a number of important issues facing the Commonwealth. By conducting this survey, we hope to get a good indication of voter sentiment." He added, "we have polled the voters on a few other occasions and the reception has been excellent. For that reason, we have doubled our sample from 500 to 1000 households."

MAYOR OF QUINCY

HOSPITAL REPLACEMENT: GROUND BREAKING:

On Wednesday, July 16th, ground was broken for the $60,000,000 Quincy City Hospital replacement project.

This project which was in the planning stages for 5 years, is the largest, single municipal undertaking in the history of the City of Quincy. Many of the older buildings at the hospital will be replaced with modern, functional facilities. 7.2 million dollars will be used to purchase modern equipment for the new facility.

The construction is expected to be completed in time for the 100th Anniversary of the hospital in 1990. As Mayor of Quincy, I would like to thank all those involved in bringing the planning phase of this most important project to a successful conclusion. When the construction phase is completed, the City of Quincy will have a hospital that will deliver health care second to none in an area where excellent health care is the standard.

OTHER PROJECTS:

Two other major projects are on the drawing board. Engineering and design work for a complete renovation and addition to the police station as well as a new dog pound, have been underway for several weeks. Construction will start later in this year or early next year on these two important projects.

CHRIS PETER — BLOODMOBILE:

On Thursday, July 17th, the 2nd Annual Chris Peter Memorial Bloodmobile was conducted at Saint Thomas Aquinas Hall at Darrow St., Houghs Neck. The bloodmobile was organized in 1985 and is conducted by Charles and Trudy Peter in memory of their son Chris Peter, 22, who was killed in an automobile accident in September, 1984. The first bloodmobile was held in July, 1985, at the Manet Community Health Center. Some 104 pints of blood were collected while 10 prospective donors were turned away for medical reasons. The 1986 drive yielded 112 pints, with 25 persons unable to donate.

Charles Peter has been a blood donor for many years and has contributed almost 10 gallons of blood to the Red Cross. Chris Peter had donated close to a gallon of blood prior to his death.

Charley and Trudy were joined at the bloodmobile with their remaining 5 children.

Mrs. Peter summed up the family's involvement by stating, "It was either, do something to make Chris' life meaningful, or stay home and feel sorry for ourselves."

LEO KELLY - QUINCY BAY:

Leo J. Kelly, former City Councillor and present Chairman of the City's Environmental Control Commission is working with my administration and Congressman Brian Donnelly, on a plan to identify and remove sludge, solids and other waste materials from Quincy Bay. While the new sewerage treatment at Deer Island will eliminate pollution in Quincy Bay in future years, Chairman Kelly and Congressman Donnelly are exploring ways to remove past pollutants from the Bay.

POLITICAL SCENE:

The political scene in Quincy will be very quiet at the local level as the 1986 State election approaches.

State Senator Paul Harold and State Representatives Bob Cerasoli, Tom Brownell and Mike Morrissey are all unopposed.

At the County level, Quincy office holders having no opposition in either the primary, or the final election, include, Dist. Atty. William Delahunt, Sheriff Clifford Marshall, Treasurer Daniel Raymond and Governor's Councillor Peter Eleey.

Once the State elections are over, interest will begin to build for the 1987 City elections. The upcoming vacancy in the office of Councillor-at-Large (incumbent Richard J. Koch, Jr. will not be seeking reelection) should attract a large field. Potential candidates include Council President Steve McGrath, Councillor Jim Sheets, and Ron Icaubucci. Tim Cahill, Handshakes Restaurant entrepreneur, is a definite candidate as of this writing. Tim made a strong showing for Councillor-at-Large in the 1981 election.

On the School Committee scene, Atty. Dean Nicastro is considering a bid for this office. Nicastro, who is a former Assistant Attorney General and Quincy City Solicitor, made a strong run for the Committee in 1971.

ITEMS YOU WON'T READ IN A SUNBEAMS COLUMN WRITTEN BY HENRY BOSWORTH!

- Support for a 4 year term of office for the Mayor and the City Councillors.
- A call for the abolition of the Mayor's 2 P.M. Tuesday, press conferences.
- An endorsement of a Joe LaRaia candidacy for Mayor.

POLITICAL TRIVIA QUIZ:

- A Quincy Mayor, early in his political career, served as a Ward Councillor in 2 different wards. Name the Mayor and the Wards he served.
- Name the Quincy Mayor who served the only 3 year Mayoral term in the City's history.

Anyone having the answers, please call me, Frank McCauley, at 479-6230, any evening after 11 P.M.

Steve Downing, Manager

TWO PLUS TWO EQUALS FIVE

QUESTION: I have a choice of investing in two duplexes or a four-unit apartment house. Which makes more sense if the sales price and income are the same?

ANSWER: You will be better off financially with the most number of units in a building that you can afford rather than two separate buildings of half the number of units. The economic reasons are obvious. One lot, one tax bill, one oil tank, one boiler, one basic plumbing system and electrical system. The cost per unit decreases in direct proportion to the number of units. The greatest number of units you can get for your money, the better off you will be financially.

THE MORE the number of units in a building, the lower the per-unit upkeep cost.

Mayor's Commission Members To Be Sworn In Tuesday

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces that 28 members of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women will be sworn-in Tuesday, August 12, at a swearing-in ceremony to take place in the Mayor's Office at 7 p.m. John M. Gillis, City Clerk, will officiate at the ceremony.

Members of the commission will sign the Official Register after being sworn in. The commission has been active in the city since it was established in 1974. It promotes events such as the annual "Woman-To-Woman Day" which has been a success for a number of years.

A meeting of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women will take place following the swearing-in ceremony. The objective will be to get to know the members of the commission. Scheduled to be sworn-in Aug. 12, as members of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women until June 30, 1987, are:

Ann Binder, Trudy Buckley, Kathleen Butler, Alicia Coletti, Marybeth Curran, Carol DeMeritt, Marion Fitzgerald, Harriet Goldman, Justine Jarosz, Irene Larrington, Jean M. Leslie, Patricia Lovell, Kathleen McCormick, Marylou Meighan.

Health Commissioner Decision Expected In 10 Days

Mayor Francis McCauley said he expects to make a decision within the next 10 days on a new public health commissioner for the city of Quincy at a salary of about $35,000 a year. "I'm hopeful that we will have a new health commissioner on board in four to five weeks," said McCauley, who noted that the finalists are several women who are not from Quincy.

Fourteen candidates were interviewed by the mayor's administrative assistant, Arthur Foley, and Personnel Director David Smith, McCauley said.

The position has been vacant since the death of Dr. M. Grace Hussey in January, 1985.

The individual chosen as health commissioner will be the first to hold the position under new legislation which dropped the requirement of an MD degree.

Drugstore In Wollaston Becomes HoJo Co.

Howard D. Johnson who took over the Walker Barlow Drug Company of Wollaston announces this week that the business' name would be changed to the Howard D. Johnson Company.

Aug. 7-13, 1925

61 Years Ago

Johnson, a well-known Quincy boy, is the son of the late John H. Johnson, proprietor of the Johnson Company, makers of the Y.D. Johnson's Private Stock and Girard Cigars.

Since taking over the Walker Barlow store and newspaper delivery service, Johnson has done an exceptional job in the delivery of newspapers. He has encouraged good service by his delivery boys by offering a number of prizes throughout the year.

MAYOR BARBOUR PROTESTS PHONE RATES

Mayor Perley Barbour sent a letter to Governor Fuller voicing his protest against the recent increase in rates by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. Barbour called the new rates "unfair, unnecessary and therefore unfair."

Monthly rates increased from $2.25 to $3.25.

LABRECQUE DEFENDS CUTTING SEA ST. TREES

Rep. Alfred LaBrecque in a letter to a local newspaper defended his proposal to cut down the elms along Sea St. LaBrecque said it was necessary to remove the trees from the center of the roadway from Merrymount to Adams Shore because of the dangerous condition the trees presented to the auto traffic.

As an alternative to cutting down the trees, LaBrecque suggested that the hazardous conditions could be eliminated if the street railway company would remove its tracks from one side of Sea St. and instead run buses to Houghs Neck.

HOUSING CORPORATION TO SELL POINT LAND

The U.S. Housing Corporation announced that it was ready to put its remaining properties in Quincy Point on the market.

The vacant land was in three separate tracts, the largest known as the Dormitory section, was bounded by Cleverly Ct., Chubbuck St., Sixth and Lawrence Avenues. The other tracts were located near the government school and Baker Basin.

SANDBERG'S "BATH TUB" DEDICATED

The Black's River basin dam at the Black's River bridge was dedicated in ceremonies this week. The basin inside the dam was dubbed Sandberg's Bath Tub because it was Rep. Sandberg who secured the funds for construction of the dam.

The dedication ceremonies were held in connection with the first annual field day of the Scandinavian Sons and Daughters at Pageant Field.

DEATH OF SPARGO NOTED BY CITY COUNCIL

Shortly before the City Council adjourned, President Charles Ross called the attention of the council to the recent death of William Spargo.

Spargo was editor and publisher of the Quincy Telegram. He operated a job printing plant near his home on Roberts St. in South Quincy and 17 years ago started publishing the Telegram. Funeral services for Spargo were conducted at Christ Episcopal Church by the Rev. Mr. Birch of Wollaston.

Church News

'Where Are You Headed?' Bethany Sermon Topic

This Sunday there will be one service of worship at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, located at Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon entitled, "Where Are You Headed?", based on Psalm 14 and Matthew 25:1-13. The sermon will examine in a fresh way the topic of Heaven and Hell. The lay Scripture reader will be Bruce G. Crofts.

Peter E. Kraskinski will be at the organ console. The soloist for the service will be the soprano, Brenda Kelly.

Nursery care will be provided by church members for babies and toddlers.

The service of worship is broadcast live at 10 a.m. over WJDA, 1300kc. A cassette tape of the service is available for $2 by contacting the church office at 479-7300.

There will be a fellowship hour following the worship service. Members of the community are welcome to share in both the worship and in the fellowship.

Muslims Celebrate Eid-Ul-Adha Aug. 15

On the occasion of the Eid-ul-Adha, the Islamic Council of New England, 470 South St., Quincy, extends its good wishes and warm greetings to all Muslims as well as our non-Muslim friends living in the New England area.

Eid-ul-Adha will be celebrated Friday, Aug. 15. Correspondingly, millions of Muslims fortunate enough to visit the Holy precincts in and around the city of Mecca and who have made their pilgrimage to Mecca this year will also be celebrating.

According to Muslim tradition, it was Prophet Abraham, who built the Holy shrine of the Ka'bah in Mecca, the first house of God. The pilgrimage to Mecca is an affirmation of faith in God (or Allah in the Arabic language) and of all God's Prophets, a lineage beginning with the father of all Prophets, Abraham, and ending with the last Prophet, Mohammad peace and blessings be upon them.

The Eid-ul-Adha is also known as the Feast of Sacrifice because it commemorates the day on which Abraham was willing to sacrifice his beloved son for the sake of God. God ordered Abraham to sacrifice a lamb instead because he had verily passed the test of his faith and devotion.

Muslims all over the world numbering one billion, will celebrate the festivities by being with their families, dressing in their best clothes praying and being grateful to God, and by sharing their feast with friends, relatives, and the poor among them, so that the Holiday can be enjoyed by everyone.

Lord's Supper Sermon Focus At Covenant Congregational

The 10 a.m. worship service last Sunday was held in the sanctuary of the Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts. Rev. Fred Lawson's sermon topic was "Preparation for the Lord's Supper."

Rev. Lawson spoke about communion becoming meaningless because it is a habit, when it should be a time of soul-searching and self-examination.

Preparation, he said, should include assuming a spirit of humility, as Jesus did when he washed his disciples' feet; a unity of feeling that drives away any alien spirit, as Judas left the Last Supper; and a spirit of love, as Jesus commanded his disciples to love one another.

The music was provided by a quartet, comprising Luisa Dano, soprano; Lori Westrich, alto; Rev. Fred Lawson, tenor; and Ken Nelson, bass. They were accompanied by Karen Nelson, who is substituting for the month of August.

Ushers were Florence Anderson, Etta Erickson, Florence Jacobs and Virginia Sylvester. Communion was served by David Day and Don Johnson. Following the service, the coffee was served by Virginia Anderson and Peg Bennett.

Next Sunday, Aug. 10, guest speaker will be Harold Smith, a lay preacher from the Covenant Community Church in East Bridgewater. The service will be held outside in the church park, weather permitting.

Old Fashioned Cookout

For Christian Charities Aug. 13

The Religious Charity Committee of North Quincy will conduct its second annual Old Fashioned Cookout with proceeds to aid Christian Charities and Communications Wednesday, Aug. 13, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Koch, 241 Newbury Avenue, North Quincy.

Receipts derived from the event are forwarded to Mother Teresa of Calcutta, Mother Angelica of the Eternal Word Television Network Father Tom DiLorenzo and his Radio Ministry and Father Roland Bedard LaSalette Missionary serving the Indian and Mexican people in Southern Arizona.

The program was initiated in memory of the late Rev. Romeo D. Levasseur lovingly known by many as Father Meo.

Last year the cookout and Christmas Party reflected a $750 gift to each of the foregoing for a total of $3,000 and the Committee hopes to reach if not surpass last years amount.

Those unable to attend but wishing to donate toward the event may make checks payable to the Religious Charity Committee and mail to Treasurer Debra Koch, 241 Newbury Avenue, Quincy, MA 02171.

Local Heart Association Branches To Be Formed

Quincy residents are joining neighboring Braintree, Milton, and Randolph to develop a volunteer branch of the American Heart Association, which will implement local programs for the development of cardiovascular health as well as raise funds for heart research.

These branch activities will include: Save A Sweet Heart, a school program designed to prevent and reduce smoking among teenagers; Creative Cuisine, a program designed to encourage restaurant owners and food service managers to provide low-calorie, fat modified meals for their patrons who request them; Heart Treasure Chest, a heart health education program for pre-school and kindergarten children; Dance, Jump and Swim, for Heart events to raise monies for vital research, public & professional education and community service programs while promoting cardiovascular fitness. Many other educational programs and events are available for implementation in the communities.

If you would like to volunteer some of your time to make a difference in the health of your community, call the American Heart Association at 584-0446.

Lung Association Annual Auction Sept. 6

George S. Bennett of Quincy, president of the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association, announces that Saturday, Sept. 6, is the date for the group's eighth annual auction at the South Shore Plaza, Braintree.

The auction features items ranging from Red Sox tickets and health club memberships, to theater passes, dinners for two at area restaurants, goods and services, all donated by area merchants and businesses.

"Each year, the auction offers some fantastic bargains for those lucky enough to be there," stated Bennett. "It's the perfect opportunity to get some early Christmas shopping done, while helping a worthy cause."

Proceeds from the auction help the lung association provide services to Norfolk County children and adults with lung disease.

The association is still in need of items for the auction. If you would like to donate an item for the auction, or are interested in volunteering your time, contact Joseph Stone at the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association, 25 Spring St., Walpole, MA 02081 or call 668-6729.

8 Baptized By Immersion At Squantum First Church

such as putting on church dinners, sponsoring car washes and printing T-shirts.

In his church work, the pastor has emphasized the importance of "making a decision for Christ," offering the members two services each year during which they can renew their Christian covenant with God and the other members of the church. These emphases on "intention" seem to have borne fruit.

"Counting four young people who joined the church during Lent and these nine new members who joined Sunday, our active membership is up to 116," said Dr. Langevin. "That is why we think of these new folks as part of a missionary harvest."

The church now also has two worship services each Sunday, a guitar service and a more traditional one, four choirs and a whole slew of youth groups, all with names like Orange Crush, Seven Up, Pepsi Challenge, and so on. A weekly Bible study group is scheduled for the fall.

The need to have Sunday's service out of doors arose from the fact that, while the First Church of Squantum is officially related to the United Church of Christ, Dr. Langevin is an American Baptist. Since his convictions are that a person who is going to be baptized ought to be old enough to make his or her own profession of faith, the Board of Deacons agreed that he is not expected to do infant baptisms. Infants and children in the church are now dedicated rather than baptized. This conforms to the practice of American Baptist churches and some congregations of the United Church of Christ. Since the church had no indoor baptistry for the baptism of adults, the service had to be outside.

"But what better place could we have than at Squaw Rock?" Dr. Langevin asked. "It is a beautiful setting."

Young people and one of the leaders from the Youth Leader Core, a Christian leadership program sponsored by the American Baptist Churches of Massachusetts, came from around the state to witness the service.

After the service, the ladies of the church hosted a reception for the new members there on the beach. Lemonade and cookies were served.

There will be a car wash in front of the church again this Saturday, Aug. 9, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., sponsored by young people of the church who are earning money for a trip to California in 1987.

Nutley Praises WRA For Speedy Repair Of Sewer Line

Ward 6 Councillor Thomas J. Nutley has praised the Mass. Water Resource Authority for its speedy repair recently of a leaking sewer line in Squantum.

In a letter to Michael Grizuk, executive director of MWRA, Nutley said:

"I would like to extend my congratulations to you and your staff regarding the speedy repair of the leaking sewer line in Squantum, which deposited 1.5 million gallons of sewerage on the beaches and shoreline of that area."

"My congratulations also regarding the MWRA's thoughtful apology to the people of Squantum. That was a first class courtesy."

"The remaining problem is the cleanup of the area. My understanding is that both David Smith, acting city health administrator, and Paul Anderson, commissioner of Public Works in Quincy, have asked the MWRA to conduct a cleanup at Squantum.

"For the benefit of the area's residents, I urge the MWRA to do that cleanup as soon as possible. I thank you in advance for a job well done from start to finish."

You Can Win $1,000 In Boston Harbor Treasure Hunt

How well do you know Boston Harbor and the islands?

If you know them well enough, you can win $1,000, $300, or $100.

Marina Bay, in cooperation with the Metropolitan District Commission and The Quincy Sun is sponsoring a special and entertaining Treasure Hunt that will test your knowledge of Boston Harbor and make you a possible winner.

What is the Treasure Hunt and what do you have to do?

This is a hunt of facts, features, myths, trivia and history of the islands that surround us. The Treasure Hunt combines your nautical skills, with your knowledge of the islands. It's fun, it's free, it's easy - and you could win $1,000!

RULES

1. There is no entry fee.

2. All entry blanks must enter using a boat name

3. Only one entry per boat.

4. The Treasure Hunt is in two parts:

5. The Treasure Hunt is in two parts:

First: Fill in as many answers as you can on the attached pages. The total points for part 1 is 100.

Second: On Saturday, August 16th, you must turn in this entry blank, and the answers to as many questions as you can at Marina Bay headquarters. Then you will be given the final Treasure Hunt clues. The Treasure Hunt headquarters will open at 8:00 am to hand out the last of the clues. Then you jump in your boat to try to solve the last ten questions - worth 10 points each. You have to be back before 3:00 pm sharp.

5. The team with the most correct answers (points) wins. All entries must be in by 3:00 pm on Saturday, August 16, 1986. Maximum total points: 200. We don't expect anyone to answer all the questions. Transient slips are available for non-Marina Bay boats to pick up your clues on Saturday, August 16.

PRIZES

First Place $1,000

Second Place 500

Third Place 300

Awards will be judged by the most number of points. Answers will be tallied by a panel of judges. The decision of the judges is final. In case of a tie, the prize money will be split among the winning teams.

INCLEMENT WEATHER

In the event of inclement weather, the Treasure Hunt will be postponed to Sunday, August 17. Please telephone the Marina Bay office at 328-0000 the morning of August 16, should the weather be questionable.

AWARDS CEREMONY

There will be a reception and party after the Treasure Hunt in the Marina Bay Tent. All participants are invited to attend, and hear the answers to the mystery question!

2ND ANNUAL BOSTON HARBOR ISLAND TREASURE HUNT

What is it?

A treasure hunt of the facts, features, myths, trivia and history of the islands that surround us. You'll enjoy the competition, challenge your nautical skills and search your mind (or your friend's) for little known facts hidden on our islands and the surrounding Boston Harbor.

How does it work?

On August 7th you will pick up a treasure hunt clue list. For a week, you and your mates will answer the questions or go find the answers any way you can! Then on Saturday, August 16th, you'll be given the final Treasure Hunt clues and you'll scramble around to complete the last dash of the Treasure Hunt search. Then back to Marina Bay with the answers — and get the treasure. $1,000 — that's what you can win. You enter by boat name and can have as many mates as you want on your boat. There will be prizes for 2nd and 3rd place too . . . and fun for everyone!

It's free to enter and all you need is a boat and imagination!

Treasure Hunt Sample Questions:

1. How many islands in Boston Harbor?
2. How many windows are at the home of "The Lady in Black"?
3. What are the names of the Spanish American Forts located on the islands?
4. How many islands have docking facilities?
5. What directions do the George's Island cannons fire?
6. How many flashes per minute does Boston Light have?

See — it's easy! And if you don't know you go find out and that's the fun. The competition is open to everyone with access to a boat.

Foul Weather Date: August 17, 1986

Shionis, Parry Sparkle In Agganis All Star Game

North Quincy's Ted Shionis and Quincy's Don Parry turned in fine performances in last week's annual Agganis All-Star schoolboy football game at Lynn's Manning Bowl won by the West, 29-0, over the East.

Shionis played outstanding defense for the West as he knocked down two passes and had three unassisted tackles.

Parry also shone defensively for the West, knocking down a pass and was in several tackles.

The West was led by Brockton's Greg McMurtry, who was drafted by the Red Sox but passed up baseball to accept a four-year scholarship to the University of Michigan. McMurtry scored three touchdowns for the West squad.

North Quincy coach Ken McPhee was the West's defensive coordinator and was pleased with the showings of Shionis and Parry.

"They played very well," he said. "Shionis really stood out as did Parry, who didn't have as many chances to shine as Shionis. I tried to give everyone about the same amount of time. We really had a fine squad.

"It was a real pleasure coaching McMurtry. I honestly feel he could be All-American next fall as a freshman. He certainly will be a future All-American. I think he made a wise move in deciding on college on a football scholarship. I don't think there is any doubt about him being a pro standout of the future."

6 From Quincy In Hot Shot Area Playoffs

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch announces that six Quincy competitors in the Pepsi NBA Hot Shot program will advance to the area playoffs to be held at the University of Massachusetts, Boston, Oct. 4.

The six are Kara Feeney, Erin Doherty, Christine Barrett, Nicholas Mastrogriaco, Brendon Farrell, and Kevin Duffy.

Pepsi NBA Hot Shot is a timed competition involving shooting baskets from five "hotspots" marked on one half of a basketball court. The competition tests a youngster's speed, shooting, dribbling and rebounding ability. Each of the above have advanced through the City of Quincy championship which is run in conjunction with the city's 26 supervised playgrounds. Coordinators of the Quincy program are Jamie Paz and Jo Ann Runge, sports and special events coordinators for the summer program.

Area winners competing at University of Massachusetts, Boston, will represent communities from all over New England. Winners will advance in the national competition to compete in the regional championship at halftime of a Boston Celtic game at Boston Garden.

The Quincy competition is underwritten by the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company of Milton.

Others scoring well in the Quincy finals were Boys 9-12, Jay Hepburn, Nick Mastro, John MacNeil, Aiden O'Donahue, Eric Zimmerman; boys 13-15, Nick Dragone, Joe Gately, Ernie Barresi, Robb Allan, Jimmy Glynn, Mike Stevens; boys 16-18, Jack Kilrain, Jimmy Dennis, Mike Bartkus; girls 9-12, Christine Kelly, Christine Richmond, Kristen Wilson, Lumbo Young; girls 13-15, Jennifer Dondoro. Over 200 boys and girls competed in the first round.

Limited Openings For City Cheerleading Camp

Recreation Director, Barry J. Welch announces the Quincy Recreation Department has limited openings in its cheerleading camp which will be held the week of Aug. 11-15 at the Quincy Vocational Technical High School.

The camp is part of the Department's self-supporting summer camps and workshops program.

Open to girls age 9-15, the camp is under the direction of Patti Myers, director and coach of the Quincy Point Panthers, Quincy Youth Football League, St. Joseph's cheerleaders, and a competitive judge; Jean Feeney and Donna McDonald, coordinators of cheerleading at St. Ann's School and regional competition judges.

Special sessions will be held by college and professional cheerleaders, and gymnasts. It features a program geared to beginner through intermediate cheerleaders.

Particular emphasis will be placed on fundamental techniques, voice, partner stunts, mounts and dance routines for all cheerleading sports. In addition, new sideline and floor cheers will be taught.

Cost of the camp is $18 and runs from 8:30 - 12:30 Monday - Friday. Registration can be done at the Quincy Recreation Department, Monday - Friday from 8:30 - 4:30.

49th Quincy Bay Race Week Underway

The 49th edition of Quincy Bay Race Week, the highlight of the summer sailing season, got under way yesterday (Wednesday) with Wessagusset Yacht Club hosting the first day of racing.

Quincy and Braintree clubs host today's racing at Quincy. Town River is host Friday at Wessagusset, Wollaston and South Shore clubs will be hosts Saturday at Wollaston and Squantum and Metropolitan clubs will host the final day of racing Sunday at Squantum.

Quincy Yacht Club is celebrating its 112th year, while Wessagusset is celebrating its 84th year. South Shore Yacht Club is the newest member of the Quincy Bay Race Week Association, joining two years ago. It was the first addition to the association in 10 years.

A record 1800 boats competed in 1970 and the previous record was 1667 in 1967. The 1800-boat figure may never be equalled as one-design racing and week-long regattas have been on the decline for several years.

Race Week still remains the biggest event of the summer for boating enthusiasts, men, women, boys and girls. It offers five days of one design racing, two days of ocean racing, a marine parade and several social events.

Racing is conducted from two starting lines, each starting at 1:30 p.m. daily: the outside line for the Tornado, Hobie Cat, 210, 110, Thunderbird, Hustler, Ensign and Flying Scot classes, and the inside line for juniors: 420s, Lasers, A, B, C and National 10 classes.

Major trophies include the Francis Charles Trophy for 210s and The Governor's Trophy for the winner of the largest fleet represented.

The colorful marine parade of decorated boats of all sizes, will start at 1 p.m. Sunday at Town River.

The parade will pass Wessagusset and Quincy Yacht Clubs, Nut Island, Manet and Wollaston beaches, Wollaston and Squantum Yacht Clubs and a panel of judges who will award prizes for the best decorated boat in each of four divisions—cruisers, auxiliaries, open boats and outboards.

Volleyball, Soccer Camps Open Aug. 18

Recreation Director, Barry J. Welch announces that the last two camps, sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department as part of its self-supporting sports camps program, will be volleyball and soccer.

Both will be held Aug. 18 - 22, and limited openings are available in each.

The soccer camp will be under the direction of Paul Bregoli, past head coach of boys soccer at North Quincy High School, and John Osgood, head coach of soccer at Norwell High School.

The focus of the camp will be on the fundamentals of soccer with a particular emphasis on the skills of passing, trapping, heading, dribbling, and shooting. Children will receive instruction from high school coaches as well as local college and high school players. Lectures demonstrations, individual drill stations, and controlled scrimmages will be offered daily to introduce and perfect skills. In addition, individual and team strategies will be covered.

The volleyball camp will be under the direction of Chris Prendiville, South Shore volleyball coach and head coach Mass. Patriots elite team. The volleyball camp will include a wide variety of skills from passing and setting, to spiking and blocking. Geared to beginning and intermediate players, the camp will include instruction by top high school players and guest coaches. Competition through doubles, triples, and 6 on 6 will highlight the camp.

Registration for both camps can be done at the Quincy Recreation Department office Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., as long as openings exist.

For additional information, call the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Cattaneo Calls Tourney Decision 'Flagrant Violation'

By TOM SULLIVAN
Despite having two ineligible players during the regular season, the Braintree Legion baseball team was allowed to play in the state tournament last week with the two ineligible players disqualified.

Braintree was eliminated in two straight games by Fall River in the tournament.

According to Morrisette Coach Ray Cattaneo, it was a violation of Legion rules to allow Braintree to play in the tournament.

Morrisette finished a game behind Braintree in Zone 6 and would have made the tournament with first place Mass. Truck of Weymouth if Braintree had been disqualified.

In high school and college ball, a team would have to forfeit all games in which ineligible players were involved. Quincy High this spring was forced to forfeit its opening day win due to an ineligible player and this cost the Presidents a berth in the Eastern Mass. tournament.

"The state committee met in Auburn July 22 and disqualified Braintree from any post-season play because of carrying two ineligible players," Cattaneo said. "Braintree appealed the decision and the committee called for another meeting in Braintree to hear the appeal.

"A committee of seven, including the state chairman, met at Braintree Legion to hear the appeal. I attended, as I was interested in hearing the results. My players were excited when Braintree was disqualified as they felt they would be in the tournament after winning the last seven games of the season.

"I was not allowed to hear the appeal and was asked to leave the room while the appeal was presented. I waited outside and was called back into the room later. Upon entering, I heard a Braintree official asking when the team would play its first tournament game, so I knew the decision had been made. I waited for the room to clear out to present my case and find out what happened on the appeal.

"I was asked to hurry up as they had been there long enough. I asked for the decision and what the violation was but they wouldn't tell me until they contacted the judge advocate of the state Legion on a technicality on the appeal. I went outside to wait for the outcome but, not hearing over the weekend, I knew the decision had been made and that Braintree would be allowed to play in the tournament.

"I was never told why the players had been declared ineligible, but I know it had to be for violating the high school enrollment rule. Legion teams are limited to picking players from schools with a 3600 enrollment in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades, including boys and girls.

Quincy has three teams and have to pick boys from Quincy due to the Quincy enrollments. If we have someone going to outside schools such as Abp. Williams or B.C. High, we take the number of boys attending these schools from Quincy.

"No Quincy team has ever violated this rule, but there have been several teams disqualified through the years for violating the rule.

"Teams have violated the rule in the past to build up their teams and get the one or two boys who will strengthen them. To say players are ineligible during the year, then letting the team play in the tournament, is a flagrant violation of the rule. I just don't know how the state committee made its decision. If the committee bends the rule this year, what will happen next year?

"I am not protesting the ruling because we would have made the tournament if Braintree beat us fair and square twice this year. But I don't feel the committee should have bent the rules and allowed Braintree to play in the tournament."

"If I violated the rule I would expect to be disqualified. Teaching baseball is one thing, teaching fair play is another. I'm very upset by the state committee's ruling and I know other Legion coaches feel the same way."

For Red Cross

South Shore Bank Golf Classic Raises Over $7,000

The early morning drizzle of last Thursday could not dampen the determination of 160 "would-be" golfers who made the first South Shore Bank-Red Cross Golf Classic at the Halifax Country Club a success.

Chairman Bob Quinn, senior vice president of South Shore Bank and vice chairman of the American Red Cross, estimated that more than $7000 was raised for the Red Cross.

South Shore Buick of Quincy and Muzi Ford City of Needham donated 1986 cars for the first hole-in-one on holes 3 and 16. No one succeeded, but Paul Levondosky, assistant vice president of South Shore Buick, and Joe Wood of Marionne Corporation came within four feet and eight feet of driving home in a new Buick or Ford.

Mrs. Helen Shea, chairperson of the South Shore Chapter of the Red Cross, announced that this will become an annual event.

THE QUINCY ROTARY Club team competed in the South Shore Bank-Red Cross Golf Classic. Left to right, Jerry Dacey, Oz Sapp, Lou Rudier, Jack Lynch and Ed Keohane.

BILL AUSTIN, president of South Shore Bank, and Helen Shea, chairperson of South Shore Chapter of the Red Cross, watch proceedings at the charity golf classic.

To Support All The Young Athletes Of
The City Of Quincy

We need the support of all friends and Alumni to help light up our Veterans Stadium. There are many Alumni who remember their experiences representing the city of Quincy in athletics at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

We, the Alumni and concerned citizens of our athletic programs must join together to "brighten up" the future of the athletic programs we were all once proudly a part of.

Come together with us on Saturday, August 9th, to help "brighten up" and return Quincy athletics to a top priority for all of us concerned.

A city-wide tug-of-war, including at least 10 Quincy teams, will be a highlight of the Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee's all-sports day featuring Bobby Orr and friends Saturday from 2 to 6 p.m. at the Elks Field at 240 East Squantum St.

Orr will be on hand to talk hockey and to sign autographs.

Other events will be included on the program.

Tickets at $5 each are available at the city clerk's office at City Hall, the Quincy Sun, the Quincy Recreation Dept. office and Balducci's Pizza in North Quincy.

Tickets will also be available at the door.

Royal In Playoffs

Darkhorses Capture Suburban Season Title

The Darkhorses captured the regular season championship of the South Suburban Softball League with a 22-6 record, after sweeping a doubleheader from the Flyers on the final day of the season Sunday. The Flyers finished second with a 19-9 mark.

The Koch Club finished third at 18-10 after sweeping the VFW Sunday. Tom Koch threw a shutout in an 11-0 win and Walter McConaghy hurled a no-hitter in a 6-1 win. A walk forced in the VFW's only run.

Royal Pizza qualified for the playoffs with a double win over Luke's Lounge. Both finished with 16-12 records but Royal Pizza won three out of four from Luke's in regular season play to make the final playoff berth. Means finished at 9-19.

VFW at 6-22 and the Spoilers 6-22.

The playoffs start Sunday with the Darkhorses meeting Royal Pizza and the Flyers facing the Koch Club.

The Darkhorse entry receives a cash prize and trophy for winning the regular season title and the playoff winnings will include a $400 prize and a championship trophy.

Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: August 7

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
You find yourself in a new and unexpectedly comfortable environment; there's ample opportunity for making some useful contacts. Romanticwise, there's more room for negotiation than you think.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Week may prove favorable for implementing monemaking ideas. New neighbor shares common interests that are worth exploring. Higherup may be unusually demanding; you rise to the occasion.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
If challenging a friend-or an idea-the key is to hold onto your sense of perspective. Careerwise, you get wind of a new opportunity. Travel idea may materialize.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Don't be overzealous to say no to an offer or veto a plan, there could be some hidden benefits. Allow added time when visiting loved ones; your counselling is important.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Your realistic approach and sense of humor help a loved one cope with a health worry. Although intuition is strong in romance, rely also on logic and past experience.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Charisma is strong on the job, but consider it a bonus only. Be sure to come equipped with hard facts. Domestic situation brightens. Financial news needs thorough review.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Decisions related to domestic life should involve all concerned parties. In other areas too, a shared effort brings generally better results than a solo approach.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Promoting your special talents can lead to significant strides on the job. There may be more than meets the eye where a community project is concerned. Motto in romance is 'handle with care.'

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Don't hesitate to seek out contacts as you hunt for a job, home, or the like. A difficult friendship situation shows signs of improvement. Your surprise gifts mean more than you realize.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Suspensions should be checked out before you make a key move on the job. Travel accents spontaneity. Domestic responsibilities increase. Invitations arrive unexpectedly.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Workload expands but the key is not to accelerate your speed. Details are important, and it may be time to recruit an apprentice. Domestic scene becomes brighter all the time.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Your advice is taken to heart, so dispense it responsibly-especially where finances and relationships are involved. Business ideas benefit from refinement. Be sure to keep relatives up to date.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're a natural leader, a splendid role model, and an influential and determined worker. Sometimes you're reluctant to share the limelight. The year ahead accents a greater number of joint ventures than you're used to. Hard work and bright ideas begin to pay off early in 1987.

BORN THIS WEEK
August 7th, singer Lana Cantrell; 8th, actress Connie Stevens; 9th, comedian David Steinberg; 10th, singer Eddie Fisher; 11th, Actress Arlene Dahl; 12th, actress Jane Wyatt; 13th, actor Buddy Rogers.

Registry May Become Shelter For Homeless

that a shelter be located at Knights of Columbus Hall, Foster St., Quincy Center.

McCauley said that he suggested to Nancy Powers, executive director of the coalition, that she take an architect to look at the registry building to determine what remodeling would have to be done if the shelter were to be located there.

Mrs. Powers said she has not yet done so.

But she did talk enthusiastically about the potential move.

"Hopefully, we'll have enough space to breathe again," said Mrs. Powers, who noted that a shelter for women is currently housed at Quincy Point Congregational Church, and for men at Wollaston Lutheran Church.

The shelter began in July 1984 at the Salvation Army, expanded to St. John's Church, Quincy Center, and then moved to Faxon House at Quincy City Hospital, she said.

It had to move from Faxon House in May because the building will be demolished as part of the reconstruction of the hospital.

"We're looking for it to be the same kind of thing as at Faxon House," said Mrs. Powers. "We're not looking to enlarge it. We'll have 40 beds for men and women, offices and kitchen facilities, all under one roof."

"The location is perfect, there are no residential neighbors whatever," said Mrs. Powers who added that there used to be a facility for the poor in the area in the 1960s.

"We hope we can be in the registry location by January or February of next year," she said.

Mrs. Power said that the coalition still has kitchen and bedding equipment from the Faxon House which it intends to use.

"We would have to work with the city to see what it wants for rent," said Mrs. Powers.

"In Worcester, shelters are part of block grant money for the city."

"We don't get anything from city funds. Two years ago, we did get a one-time grant of $12,500."

"Maybe this could be a way the city could support the work we're doing with citizens of Quincy."

Mrs. Powers also said the coalition would need the support of the public to renovate the building.

"No funds are available through the state or local government for renovation of buildings," she said.

"If we're going to do it, we'll need local support for the renovation."

The coalition was able to raise $40,000 last year which was used for the bedding and kitchen equipment.

"We let the churches know, and we let the people know what we needed, and they responded," said Mrs. Powers.

"Hopefully, that will happen again."

Health Commissioner Named By McCauley

A 48-year-old Quincy native who has served as director of public health in Reading for the past three years has been appointed by Mayor Francis McCauley as Quincy's new health commissioner.

M. Jane Gallahue, who now lives in Salem, will begin the $37,500 a year position Sept. 22. Her duties will include serving on the five member Quincy License Board.

The position of health commissioner has been vacant since the death of Dr. M. Grace Hussey in January, 1985.

Miss Gallahue will be the first to hold the position under new legislation submitted by the mayor which dropped the requirement of an MD degree.

Fourteen candidates were interviewed for the position before Miss Gallahue was selected, McCauley said at a Tuesday news conference.

"It's a very important position and we had many fine candidates," said McCauley. "We're looking forward to having Miss Gallahue come on board Sept. 22."

He noted that her appointment is for a three year term which will expire the first Monday of February, 1989. It will then be subject to appointment by the mayor.

Her salary will increase to $38,250 on Jan. 1, 1987.

"I'm delighted to be here," said Miss Gallahue. "I feel very pleased to have been selected."

The daughter of the late Stephen Gallahue, a Quincy dentist, she said she grew up in the Post Island section of Quincy, near Houghs Neck.

She attended the Coddington School, Woodward School for Girls and was graduated from Archbishop Williams High School in 1956.

Miss Gallahue received a B.S. degree from Boston University, an M.S. degree from Wheelock College and an M.P.H. degree from Harvard University School of Public Health.

She is also a board certified health officer.

Miss Gallahue said she intends to move back to the Quincy area, and will stay with her sister and brother-in-law in Hingham temporarily. She said she intends to assess the situation in Quincy before instituting any changes, but did say she is thinking of introducing a program for restaurant owners regarding prevention of illnesses from food.

Miss Gallahue has held positions of Coordinator of Community Organization and Education, Coordinator of Health Education with the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, and Senior Program Coordinator with Harvard School of Public Health.

She has been responsible for developing position papers and grant funding in the areas of environmental pollution, toxic waste contamination, community health, as well as revising current health procedures.

A member of the Mass. Health Officers Association, she is also a member of the Executive Board of the Mass. Health Officers Association, American Public Health Association, Mass. Public Health Association, and the New England Public Health Association.

Validated Parking Revenue Up 26%

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Validated parking is a success in Quincy, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

Revenues increased $59,566 or 12.2 percent over revenues of $489,835 for fiscal year 1985, he said. A total of $549,401 was collected in fiscal 1986, the second full year of the program.

Payments to the city for fiscal year 1986 amount to $204,051, an increase of $42,133 or 26% over fiscal year 1985 revenues of $161,918, according to McCauley.

The money goes into a revolving account for the city's parking division, he said, and will allow two additional people to be hired in fiscal 1987.

In 1984, the city entered

Reluctant To Leave Quincy For Belfast Boy A Wonderful Experience

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

For most of his life, 11 year-old Paul Monaghan has lived in Belfast, Ireland, an area where violence and unrest are unfortunately commonplace.

But for six weeks, he stayed with Paul and Susan Holland and their four children in Quincy. There, from June 23 to Aug. 4, he not only found relief away from his troubled homeland, but a pleasurable experience he won't soon forget.

The Hollands, who live at 78 Churchill Rd., hosted Paul through the Boston Area Irish Children's Program. The Program's primary goal is to provide children with a peaceful environment by bringing a balance of Catholic and Protestant 10 to 12 year old boys and girls from Northern Ireland to Boston for six weeks during the summer.

Paul's stay was truly wonderful, said Mrs. Holland, who along with her husband is on the Board of the Boston Area Irish Children's Program.

"Paul had a wonderful time here. He did not want to go home."

Paul's visit included a surprise party given to him by the Holland family in honor of his 11th birthday. That special day came just a few days before he left for home.

Some gifts he received were clothing, art kits and a skateboard which replaced a skateboard stolen from him at home.

During his stay, Paul participated in various activities including miniature golf, go-carting and a trip to McDonald's Restaurant, his first American experience.

While staying in Quincy, Paul did a good deal of sightseeing. Locally, some well-known sites he visited were the Adams Mansion, the John Adams and John Quincy Adams birthplaces and City Hall.

He also walked the Boston Freedom Trail, and visited the New England Aquarium and Quincy Market.

Midway through his visit, Paul was introduced to Bernard Cardinal Law and the Right Rev. Tom Kennedy of the Episcopal Church at the cardinal's residence in Brighton.

For further enjoyment, Paul and the Holland children, Paul, Elizabeth, Joseph and Jacqueline, vacationed in Chatham, giving Paul the opportunity to tour Cape Cod.

Mrs. Holland describes Paul as a "quiet, considerate and sincere little boy." She said the saddest day of his stay was Aug. 4 when he left to return to his home in Ireland.

"My children will miss him a lot. My son Paul became best friends with Paul."

Mrs. Holland said the program is proof that all religions can live together peacefully.

Before leaving for home, Paul received a photo album of his visit from the Holland family as a remembrance of his stay.

Mrs. Holland said she and her family are looking forward to hosting another child next year. And that child may be Paul.

"The last two years we sponsored the same boy. This year we took a new boy (Paul) and chances are good that we may sponsor Paul again next year."

Mrs. Holland said the program holds fundraisers during the year to cover the approximately $600 per child transportation fee. Last year, the sponsorship doubled, bringing the total to 41 children, including 22 in the Quincy-South Shore area.

To host a child, families fill out applications including their likes and dislikes in order to match a child. In Ireland, a similar process takes place.

A prime requisite is that the host family be able to offer a compatible environment for the Irish child. Generally this includes having children in the same age bracket (10-12) and at least one parent must be home to care for the visiting child.

For further information about the program, call (617) 934-6268 or (617) 585-4573.

Moon Island Task Force Meets

The Moon Island Task Force was scheduled to hold its initial meeting last night (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. in the second floor conference room, City Hall Annex, 1305

Hancock St.

Chairman Joseph A. (Jay) MacRitchie, city solicitor, said that the meeting will include discussion of short term and long term goals for the use of Moon Island and establishment of future meetings.

Other committee members are Rep. Michael Morrissey, Mrs. Rona Goodman, president, Squantum Community Association; Mrs. Maureen Mazzimas, Save Our Shores; Thomas Nutley, Ward 6 Councillor; Richard Meade, Planning Department; and Robert McCauley, president, Atlantic Neighborhood Association.

President's Place Advisory Committee Meets Thursday

A citizens advisory committee appointed by Mayor Francis McCauley to study the proposed $55 million President's Place project and to make suggestions is scheduled to hold its first meeting today (Thursday) at City Hall.

"This is THE project for the downtown area," said committee chairman Leo Kelly, a former City Councillor. "We want to make sure that the concerns of the public are heard."

The project, to include office, retail and residential condominium space, is planned for the site of the Bargain Center and nearby property.

The Bargain Center, a Quincy Square landmark for 49 years before it closed a few months ago, is scheduled to be demolished beginning next month. The operation is expected to take several weeks and the land is expected to be cleared sometime in October.

The developers, Ricciardi Brothers and Campanelli

Industries, have already purchased the Bargain Center. If they can not reach an agreement for the rest of the properties, the city may take it by eminent domain if it receives City Council approval.

An eminent domain plan is scheduled to be presented to the City Council in September.

The developers plan to start construction in the spring and are looking for an April, 1988 completion date.

The agenda for the first advisory committee meeting is scheduled to include a presentation by the developers.

"They'll bring us up to date on the project," said Kelly, who was involved in the Campanelli project in downtown Quincy as chairman of the council's Downtown and Economic Development Committee.

"This is the most elite project we could possibly get at the intersection," he said. "It is one of the most historic sites in the United States, with two presidents and their wives buried at First Parish Church and the birthplace of John Hancock nearby."

Kelly noted the importance of the project to the financial and economic status of the downtown area and the city.

"We hope to work along with the mayor, City Council, developers and public to help this become the significant project that it should be," Kelly said.

Others appointed to the committee were Beth Ann Strenge of the Hurley Insurance Agency and Quincy Center Business and Professional Association; Joyce Baker, Quincy Historical Society; Geoffrey Davidson, former city planning director; the Rev. William Arnold, Bethany Congregational Church; Warren Watson, director, Thomas Crane Public Library; Forrest Neal, United First Parish Church; and Edward McVinney, Granite Travel.

Hearing Aug. 20 On Proposed Zoning Changes At Nut Island

Quincy Planning Board is scheduled to hold a public hearing Aug. 20, 7:30 p.m., in the second floor conference room at City Hall annex to consider a proposed change in zoning on two parcels.

Nut Island and flats in Houghs Neck be rezoned to open space. Land is presently zoned as industrial B and shown in plot one of assessor's plan 1001.

Parcels zoned business B, industrial A and residence A, shown as plots 35 and 50 on assessor's plan 2087, be rezoned to planned unit development.

A map outlining these proposed zoning changes can be examined at the Office of the Department of Planning and Community Development in City Hall.

In another agenda matter, the board will hold a hearing for the purpose of considering the following proposed amendment: In Chapter 24, the Zoning Ordinance, Article VI, Supplementary Provisions, Sec. 63, Accessory Uses,

Wallet Stolen

add a new paragraph 5 to read as follows:

"Residence A districts shall not serve in any accessory or auxiliary capacity to any other zoning district, including but not restricted to parking, open space, recreation, egress or ingress to or from any other district, or in calculating the number of dwelling units in any other zoning district."

Attempted Break

An attempted break was reported at Eye Health Services, 101 Adams St., Quincy, Aug. 9, but apparently nothing was taken.

Public Hearing Aug. 18 On Grant Application

A public hearing will be held Monday, Aug. 18, regarding the city's intention to apply for a $225,000 grant for engineering and design of vehicular and pedestrian improvements in downtown Quincy.

The hearings to be held by the Department of Planning and Community Development, will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the City Hall Annex, second floor conference room.

Any person or organization will be afforded the opportunity to be heard at the hearing.

The city intends to submit an application to the Massachusetts Executive Office of Transportation for grant assistance through the Public Works Economic Development program in order to facilitate current and planned commercial and retail expansion in the downtown business district.

The vehicular and pedestrian traffic improvements will be from the intersection of Hancock/- Dimmock Sts. through Quincy Center to the intersection of Granite St. and Burkin Parkway.

The project will include the preliminary design of a pedestrian bridge over Burgin Parkway which would connect the retail area west of the parkway with Quincy Center.

DON'T WAVE RED FLAGS

QUESTION: We are going to sell our home. We just repaired a leaky roof. Now, a yellow stain remains on the ceiling. I want to get the ceiling repainted but my husband claims we have spent enough money and showing the paid bill will suffice. Will it?

ANSWER: Don't be penny-wise and pound foolish. Each of your prospects will ask about the yellow stain on the ceiling. The receipted bill will never put their minds at ease. Your home will probably sell, but not for the price you are hoping for. The fewer apologies you have to make, the easier it will be to sell. If you have any "red flags" waving — remove them.

REPAIRING A leaky roof and not removing the ceiling stain is definitely unwise.

Now, Frozen Books

You've heard of hot books but how about cold ones?

Real cold ones.

Like frozen.

Recently several hundred books were damaged by seeping rain at the Thomas Crane Public Library.

L. Paul Marini, chairman of the Library Board of Trustees, says the damaged books had to be frozen quickly to avoid mold and then dried out a few at a time.

Library Director Warren Watson found the right person, at the right time: Robert White, president of Hendries, Inc. in Milton.

White came to the rescue by making his ice cream storage facilities available.

The books were frozen there and then dried out.

White made one refusal, however. He refused any payment for the service.

Marini, in a thank you letter to White, noted: "As the emergency effort to dry out the building (library) proved quite costly and the cost of permanent repair of the roof drains has not yet even been calculated, the trustees are especially grateful for your donation of services."

A story with a happy ending.

IT ISN'T VERY often a columnist is surprised by his own column. But that's what happened to Mayor Francis McCauley last week as guest writer of this column.

The surprise came at the very end. His Honor closed out with three trivia questions and invited anyone with the answers to call his executive secretary, Peter Kenney, after 11 p.m. He gave Kenney's home phone number.

Only when the column appeared it said, instead.

"Anyone with the answers, please call me, Frank McCauley at 479-6230 any evening after 11 p.m."

What happened was that someone at City Hall switched the names and phone numbers before the column was delivered to the Sun.

Who would you suspect?

"I did it," confesses Kenney. "I'm guilty."

Why did he do it? He just couldn't help it.

Because twice in the past, McCauley has done a guest column for the Ledger's Phil Dine. And, in each column he had trivia questions and invited readers to call

Merrymount Assn. Plans Fundraiser Sept. 8

(Thank's for the testimonial, Peter)

And what about His Honor?

No, he isn't looking for a new executive secretary.

He took it pretty much in stride.

Even when someone called him at 2:30 a.m. -- with the wrong answer.

KENNEY

IF THEY EVER establish a national or state Youth Commissioner post, we nominate Bobby Orr for the job.

There is no communication gap between him and kids of any age. He knows how to talk to them -- talk to, not talk down to them.

And that was quite evident Saturday when Orr turned out for the sports day at the Quincy Lodge of Elks grounds to help raise funds for the Veterans Stadium Lighting drive.

He patiently signed autographed photos and posed for pictures with youngsters.

He just has that natural way with youngsters, even those who never saw him play and who were born after he retired.

He and kids go well together.

He would be great at heading up a national or state program for youths.

QUINCY Deputy Civil Defense Director Tony Siciliano, who has seen his share of hurricanes, northeast storms, etc. missed Mother Nature kicking up her heels locally last week.

Siciliano was on vacation in Hawaii. And while on the island of Maui happened to catch an ABC TV news report of the tornado in Bedford.

He spent the next couple of days worrying about how Quincy was faring.

"I felt a little guilty being away when I might be needed at home," he said.

Readers Forum Barbara Anderson: Where Are You?

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Some thoughts occurred to me about why we should have an increased concern at this time regarding the public servants who will be taking care of us in this state.

It seems that too many of them are involved in petty politics. Not enough of them pay attention to statesmanship. (The reason why they were elected in the first place!) Since the Republican Party can't seem to find a satisfactory candidate and when they do find one, the Democrats try to tear them down as soon as they are nominated, I have a suggestion for Governor.

Why not run someone whom we know we can trust? My choice is Barbara Anderson, who is very bright and articulate.

If it were not for her, we would be paying taxes at an incredible rate (Citizens for Limited Taxation). We need taxes to operate our government but it's foolish to collect more taxes than are needed and have a huge surplus.

With all this in mind, I think we need her, Barbara! Help! Where are you? We need you!

Houghs Neck Artists Exhibit Feature At '350th' Social

An exhibit by Houghs Neck artists, sculptors, and photographers was part of an Old Timers-New Neighbors social held Sunday at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

The event was sponsored by the 350th birthday committee of the Houghs Neck Community Council.

Paintings were displayed by Joan Chennette, Joanne Dondoro, Carol Bottary, Karen Flanagan, Jack Nigro, Jr., and the Nugent family of William and Madeline, Parents, and daughter Kathy. George "Ske" Milkowsky's collection of sculptured works included a wood carving of a Christmas city from Poland.

Photographers, whose pictures were mainly of Houghs Neck water scenes, were Ron Goodman, Darlene Gardner and Mary Laing. There was a display of graphics by Bob Reynolds.

A table of Houghs Neck memorabilia was arranged by Dorothy Laing.

Posters throughout the hall directed newcomers to sources of information on health, church, youth groups, civic organizations and social clubs.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley Ward 1 Councilor Michael Cheney, and Leo J. Kelly of the Quincy Housing Authority, were among the special guests.

Joanne Bythrow, council president-elect, was coordinator for the event, assisted by Joanne Dondoro, school committewoman Peggy Nigro, Vincent Norton, Dorothy Laing, Margaret Radcliffe, Jean Bragg and Marion Nelson.

On Saturday, Aug. 9, the 1986-87 officers of Houghs Neck American Legion Post and Auxiliary were installed at the Post Home.

Carl Barnhill, commander, was installed for a second year by County Commander Barry Peasley and his Sergeant-at-Arms Robert Sprissler.

Also installed were Stanley Younie, and Brian Young, senior and junior vice commanders; Florence Verronneau, adjutant; William Morrill, finance officer; Alice Scribner, chaplain; Albert Jackson, historian; and Jim Barnhill, sergeant-at-arms.

Executive committee members for the coming year include Mary Timeoe, Victor Davidson, Joseph Gibbons, Richard Wainwright, Thomas McDonald, Ann O'Connell and Buddy Gogan.

Ann Barnhill, president, and her officers were installed by County Director Lillian Frasco and her Sergeant-at-Arms Frances Coombs.

Dianne Lorenzetti and Dec Elsmore are senior and junior vice presidents. Jean Bragg, chaplain; Jessie Morrill, secretary; Mary Timeoe, treasurer; Marge Hirtle, historian; Jane Sarson, sergeant-at-arms.

Executive board members are Betty Vecchione, Donna Luther, Renee Gordon, Marge Hirtle and Nancy Barry.

Construction To Start On $1 Million Addition At St. Joseph's School

Construction of an 8,000 square foot gymnasium-auditorium addition to St. Joseph's School in Quincy Point, a $1,000,000 project, will begin next month and is scheduled for completion next June.

$750,000 of the project has been funded by St. Joseph's Parish and the remaining $250,000 will be raised by new fund raising activities.

The addition, designed by Donahue Associates of Quincy, will give St. Joseph's School its own gymnasium as well as auditorium space for general assembly use.

Rev. Joseph Downey, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, said the auditorium will serve as a meeting place for parishioners and a sports center for many of the parish's youth.

The building, contracted by T.G. Driscoll of Peabody, will have a basketball court measuring 90 feet by 53 feet, two volleyball courts, spectator seating and mezzanine spaces adjacent to four newly constructed classrooms, access ramps and an elevator chair lift to the second classroom level for the physically handicapped.

The new addition will be built on parish property between the school and convent. The convent is presently occupied by 13 Sisters of Providence as a retirement home.

The porch of the convent will be taken down to make way for a fire lane between the new hall addition and the convent.

Also, the school's 60 year-old boiler will be removed and a new efficient heating plant installed.

All asbestos will be removed from the school to comply with the new code of laws.

Other refurbishing work includes a new efficient heating and ventilation system for all classrooms and an automatic fire suppression system in the corridors and stairs of the existing school.

St. Joseph's School has eight elementary grades, 240 students and is staffed by eight lay teachers and three nuns, Sister Anne Judge, principal, and Sister Bernadette Noonan and Sister Thomas Regan, the school's administrators.

"To Sing Of Life" will be the sermon topic this coming Sunday, Aug. 17 at Bethany Congregational Church, United Church of Christ.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will share reflections on how the love of God can overcome the power of death in our lives. The message will be based on the texts of Psalm 100 and Luke 8:40-56. The lay scripture will be Shirley D. Pyne.

Peter E. Krasinski will be at the organ console. The soloist for the service will be the baritone, Philip Brown. In addition the sacrament of Christian baptism will be given to Jared Tristan Assmus, son of Cheryl (Forman) and Frederick Assmus. The godparents will be Virginia and Glenn Enders.

The worship service is at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary. Bethany is located in Quincy Center at the corner of Coddington and Spear Sts.

Nursery care will be provided by church members for babies and toddlers.

The service of worship is broadcast live at 10 a.m. over WJDA, 1300 kc. A cassette tape of the service is available for $2 by contacting the church office at 479-7300.

There will be a fellowship hour following the worship service. Members of the community are welcome to share in both the worship and in the fellowship.

'Key To Our Salvation' Topic At Squantum Church

"The Key to Our Salvation" was the title of a sermon preached at the First Church of Squantum Sunday at both morning services by church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin.

His text was, "As the outcome of your faith you obtain the salvation of your souls." (1 Peter 1:9)

Guitarist Andrew Ogilvie accompanied the singing during the first service, Marci Hurd and Lori Ogilvie were ushers.

During the second service, Craig Zaehring was guest organist. Stewart Scott and Tore Wallin were ushers. Hazel Mayne and Grace Holmes hosted the fellowship hour.

There will be a "Lawn Party" at the church Saturday, Aug. 23. It will include a small flea market, a bake sale, refreshments and a car wash.

Young people of the church sponsor a car wash every Saturday in front of the church from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. They are trying to earn enough money to attend a Christian youth gathering in California next year.

There will be two services again this Sunday; the guitar service at 8:15 a.m. and the traditional service at 9:30 a.m.

Open House Sept. 24 For SSARC's New Site At Quincy Fair

South Shore Association for Retarded Citizens (SSARC) will hold an open house Sept. 24, 5 to 7 p.m., at its new Harbor Industries site, The Quincy Fair, 1585 Hancock St.

William Delahunt, chairman of SSARC's development committee said following a ribbon-cutting ceremony there will be music and refreshment at which the public is invited.

A short program will then recognize some of the many committed public and private citizens will take place.

Some of those to be honored include:

Local legislators and officials who have made SSARC services possible; Frank Messina of F.X. Messina Enterprises, for making such an integrated site a reality. Richard Frye of Frye Insurance Agency will receive the 1986 Challenge Award for steadfast leadership and financial support.

Delahunt said the association is in the midst of its 35th anniversary in providing services to persons with mental retardation and their families.

He added that at SSARC Harbor Industries there are 32 persons who receive services, even though they have no state funding. This cost exceeds $140,000 on an annual basis. SSARC also provides community services without state funding, he said, but added more services are needed so that families can continue to care for their sons and daughters at home.

H & R Block To Offer Tax Schools Throughout Boston & South Shore Area

Thousands of people are learning to prepare income tax returns.

H & R Block, the world's largest income tax preparation service, is offering a basic income tax course starting the week of September 8th with morning and evening classes available. Classes will be held in H & R Block offices throughout the Boston and South Shore areas.

During the 14 week course, students will study all phases of income tax preparation and receive actual experience in preparing individual returns. Experienced Block personnel will teach current laws, theory, and application as practiced in Block offices nationwide. There is a classroom lecture on each subject and practice problems at every level. Courses are programmed to teach students increasingly complex tax problems as study progresses. Students will find the course both interesting and challenging.

Anyone may enroll. There are no restrictions or qualifications. Courses are ideally suited for housewives, retired persons, teachers, or anyone wanting to increase their tax knowledge.

Qualified course graduates may be offered job interviews for positions with Block. Many accept employment with Block because of the flexible hours available. However, Block is under no obligation to offer employment, nor are graduates under any obligation to accept employment with H & R Block. Those students that are employed by Block however may be eligible for a rebate of the tuition paid to attend the course.

Registration forms and a brochure for the income tax course may be obtained by contacting the H & R Block district office at 19 Commercial Street, E. Braintree, MA 02184, telephone (617) 848-4240.

This course is regulated by the Massachusetts Department of Education. H & R Block is a member of the Massachusetts Association of Private Career Schools.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Perhaps most of the forest fires that lay waste to our parks and mountains are caused by careless motorists who throw lighted matches or cigarettes from their cars. One single spark is enough to devastate a mountainside. One careless motorist can cause an inferno of destruction that requires hundreds of fire fighters to battle it and can scar the mountainside for years to come.

Similarly, couldn't it be said that a few words freighted with the poison of malice can cause a landslide of sorrow and bitterness? Also, couldn't it be said that there are so many good things to say that it is a terrible tragedy when our tongues are used to destroy rather than build, to devastate rather than preserve?

The tongue can do a "world of good," but it can also do a "world of evil." A word of strife can break a heart, ruin a trip, break up a family and offend a friend. The Apostle Peter summed it up beautifully when he said "He who would love life and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil and his lips that they speak no guile."

Thomas V. Morrissey Sr. Former Personnel Director At QCH

A funeral Mass for Thomas V. Morrissey Sr., 78, of Quincy, retired personnel director for Quincy City Hospital and former Quincy purchasing agent, will be celebrated today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. in St. Ann's Church Wollaston.

Mr. Morrissey died Aug. 11 at Milton Medical Center after a brief illness.

Born in Charlestown, he lived in Somerville and was a summer resident at Bear Island, Lake Winnepesaukee, N.H.

He retired from Quincy City Hospital eight years ago. He also worked for the Jordan Marsh Company for 25 years.

Mr. Morrissey was past king lion of Quincy Lions Club, a member of Quincy Elks Lodge, former director of Quincy Municipal Employees Credit Union, and was a fundraiser for the United Way.

He is survived by his wife, Gertrude (Morris) Morrissey; two sons, Thomas V. Morrissey Jr. of Braintree and Col. Donald E. Morrissey, U.S. Air Force of New Brunswick, N.J.; a sister, Alice Murphy of Foxboro; and five grandchildren. He was the son of the late Alice and John Morrissey and brother of the late Joseph Morrissey, William Morrissey, John Morrissey and Mary Buckley.

Visiting hours were scheduled for yesterday (Wednesday) from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. at the Keohane Funeral Home, 333 Hancock St., North Quincy.

Burial will be in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Thomas J. Herbert Jr., 51 Trial Attorney

A funeral Mass for Thomas J. Herbert Jr., 51, of Pembroke, will be held at 10 a.m. today (Thursday) in St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Mr. Herbert, a trial lawyer and public defender, died Aug. 10 at the Jordan Hospital in Plymouth.

Born in Boston, Mr. Herbert lived in Quincy before moving to Pembroke.

He joined the Boston Committee for Public Counsel in 1965 as a trial attorney and was the trial lawyer in the Commonwealth vs. Benders trial, which established the law of joint venture.

In 1972, Mr. Herbert was appointed public defense attorney in charge of Middlesex County, and the next year was appointed supervisor of district courts in Middlesex, Norfolk and Suffolk counties.

In 1975, Mr. Herbert was promoted to chief trial counsel and in 1984 was designated head of the homicide unit. He held both positions at the time of his death.

He was a member of the 100 Club, and the following legal associations: Dukes County Bar, Plymouth County Bar, Massachusetts Bar, American Bar, National Criminal Trial Lawyers and the National Legal Aide Defenses.

A 1964 graduate of Suffolk Law School, he was president of his class and was a founding member of the Political Science Club.

He served in the Army from 1955 to 1958.

Mr. Herbert is survived by his wife, Geraldine A. (Gustafson) Herbert; his mother and stepfather, Frances E. and Charles G. Vierkant of Quincy; two brothers, Francis M. Herbert and Charles E. Herbert, both of Quincy, nephew of Mary and Charles Fay of Neponset, and several nieces and nephews.

Visiting hours were scheduled from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. yesterday (Wednesday) in the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Burial will be private.

Memorial donations may be made to the Children's Hospital Development Department, 300 Longwood Ave., Boston, 02115.

Maida R. Needham, 74

A funeral service for Maida Rose (Fraleigh) Needham, 74, a Quincy resident for 30 years, was held Monday in the Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Quincy.

Mrs. Needham died Aug. 8 at the Braintree Manor Nursing Home.

She was a secretary for the Burns Detective Agency in Boston for 10 years.

She is survived by her husband, E. Howard Needham; a stepson, Edgar H. Needham of Ottawa, Canada; a stepdaughter, Janice Walsh of Braintree; and two grandchildren.

Burial was in Cedar Grove Cemetery, Dorchester.

$25,200 In Grants To 3 Cultural Groups

The state Council on the Arts and Humanities has awarded four state grants totalling $25,200 to Quincy cultural groups, Senator Paul D. Harold announces.

Two of the awards were made to the Quincy Historical Society, and one each went to the Quincy Choral Society in Wollaston and the Scarborough Chamber Players in Squantum.

Harold said the four grants are among 764 grants in nine major programs statewide totalling $14 million for cultural organizations and programs.

This year's funding marks the fourth consecutive year the Historical Society has received grants from the Arts Council.

The Arts Council awarded the historical society an $18,000 Curriculum Development grant to focus on the history of Quincy, in conjunction with the Quincy school department.

The project is designed to use the historical society's main historical exhibits to introduce students in grades two and four to the history of Quincy from 1625 to the present.

The historical society also received an additional $3,000 Merit Aid grant to help support ongoing programs.

The Quincy Choral Society received a $2,200 Merit Aid grant, while the Scarborough Chamber Players received $2,000 Merit Aid funding, both to help support their programs, Senator Harold said.

John L. Ryan, 72

A funeral Mass for John L. "Buddy" Ryan, 72, of Quincy, a retired construction worker for the White Construction Co. of Stoughton, was celebrated Monday in St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Mr. Ryan died Aug. 7 in Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Hull, he had lived in Boston before moving to Quincy 40 years ago.

He retired 11 years ago and was a member of Teamsters Local 379.

He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

He is survived by his wife, Helen C. (Linskey) Ryan; a son John V. Ryan of Quincy; a daughter, Helen P. Ricciarelli of Braintree; two sisters, Isabelle Schilouskas and Anna McCloskey, both of Quincy; a step-brother, Arthur Bare of Boston; five grand-children and two great-grandchildren. He was the father of the late Carol Ann Ryan.

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery, West Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Albert L. Peck, 81

A funeral service for Albert L. (Zapf) Peck, 81, of Quincy, formerly of Kingston, a member of St. Luke's Lutheran Church in West Roxbury, was held Monday in the Shepherd Funeral Home, Kingston.

Mrs. Peck died Aug. 7 in Quincy City Hospital after a long illness.

Born in Dedham, she had lived in Kingston more than 20 years before moving to Quincy 14 years ago.

She was a member of the Altar Guild and Ladies Aid Society of St. Luke's Church.

Wife of the late Leroy G. Peck, she is survived by a son, the Rev. Alan L. Peck of Sanford, Mich.; a daughter, Claire L. Scager of North Quincy; a sister, Phyllis Vasileci of Dedham; six grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery, Kingston.

Memorial donations can be made to St. Luke's Lutheran Church, East St., Dedham, or the Park Street Church Mission Fund, Park St., Boston, MA 02018.

At Mister Sub They Really Know How To Build One

When Joseph Buccini, owner of Mister Sub in North Quincy, left General Dynamics Quincy shipyard in 1972, he thought his submarine building days were over.

Little did he know his future would be filled with building submarines of a more appetizing nature: sandwiches.

Mister Sub, at 64 Billings Rd., today is one of the better known sub shops in Quincy because of its commitment to quality, consistency, and promptness.

"I want to be sure that my customers get a well-made sub without having to wait, each and everytime they come in," says Joe.

Family is a good word to describe Mister Sub. Beginning in 1973, his wife Gail worked by his side. Over the years, each one of the seven Buccini children, who grew up in South Quincy, has found a job waiting for him or her; from Greg, now 32, to Michael, who is the baby at age 17.

Joe commented on the value of having his family working with him. "Working together has kept our family close. What's that they say about the family that works together?"

Presently sons Michael, 17, and David, 29 (chief cook) are employed there.

Mister Sub's reputation as a quality sub shop has been built through hard work and long hours.

"People believe that one benefit of being self-employed is that they can make their own hours. Sure, I make my own hours. They are 12-14 hours a day, six and seven days a week. Some benefit! But I believe the only way to be sure my customers get the best is to be there for them."

Since Mister Sub first opened, its menu has been expanded from a wide variety of delicious subs, to six different bountiful salads and 12 different hardy soups. The newest addition to the menu is the spinach salad, a light, tasty entree made with fresh spinach leaves, topped with bacon bits, egg, fresh mushrooms, and Mister Sub's own dressing. Much of this recent expansion can be credited to the efforts of Donna McLean, who manages the shop.

Freshness is the key to offering the best subs around.

(Cont'd on Page 14)

JOE BUCCINI says hard work has made his family supportive Mister Sub Shop in North Quincy the success it enjoys today.

At Naborhood Pharmacy It's Quality And Service

By DAN CONNELLY

A business doesn't have to be big to be busy, nor demanding to get noticed. At least that's how John Valante feels about his Naborhood Pharmacy, a fixture in the North Quincy business community.

Valante's drugstore at 406 Hancock St., corner of Billings Rd., continues to believe in establishing and maintaining a reputation for the best in quality and service, a must for success.

Valante, a Quincy native who is in his 26th year of dispensing prescriptions, bought Naborhood Pharmacy five years ago. Prior to that, he worked there for 21 years. His growing years were spent getting an education at Central and Quincy High Schools, serving in the military, and graduating from the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy.

Joan Dole, formerly of Quincy and now of Weymouth, has worked at Naborhood for 21 years. The assistant manager, she specializes in aiding ostomy patients, Valante said.

"Many times Massachusetts General Hospital referrals have been helped by Joan who understands the discomforts and setbacks attributed to this medical problem," he added.

Joan also wears another hat. She handles the developing at the store of a speedy film processing call 'Kis'.

"A customer can drop off a roll of film at 1:30 p.m. and Joan can usually have it ready by 5," Valante said.

Another key staffer is Helen Norton of Quincy, who has a 10-year tenure. She handles utility payments such as gas, electric and telephone bills. These can be paid Monday through Friday, from 9-5.

"Gone are the good old days when most drug stores featured a soda fountain, telephone booth and an endless array of stacked comic books and magazines," Valante said. "Today, we are fully computerized in prescription dispensing which averages about 70 a day."

Valante stresses that Naborhood is a relaxed and informal store. People can browse among the endless array of quality specialty items while they are waiting for their prescriptions to be filled.

He noted that you have to be a hardy individual to own and run a pharmacy because it is the biggest profession with the greatest amount of regulatory agencies overseeing it.

A role he doesn't relish but never-the-less accepts is acting as the buffer between customer and pharmaceutical firms in their complex continuous fluctuation of drug prices and other matters.

Valante intends to keep his store's seven-day-a-week schedule in the manner his neighborhood customers have always expected over the years and that includes service. The drugstore features a charge system and a prescription delivery available once a day for those who have someone ill at home and are unable to get to the drugstore for their needed medication.

He cares about his professional role, one which provides one of the most important services in our community. He enjoys working in the North Quincy business center but, like a lot of other business people, would like to see a solution to customer parking woes.

Store hours at Naborhood Pharmacy are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Sundays and holidays, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Richard Pierce V.P. At O'Connell Development

O'Connell Development Company has appointed Richard C. Pierce of Randolph as Vice President. O'Connell Development Company is an affiliate of O'Connell Management Company, one of the largest real estate and development companies in New England.

In his new capacity, Pierce will assist in the coordination and development of new projects concerning the World Trade Center in Boston and Marina Bay in North Quincy.

Pierce is an attorney and previously worked as a lobbyist for the South Shore Chamber of Commerce. He also served as Assistant Secretary and General Counsel to the Executive Office of Consumer Affairs.

He is a graduate of University of Massachusetts at Amherst with a B.A. Degree in Political Science and New England School of Law. He was also admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court.

RICHARD C. PIERCE

Quincy Hospital Outing Saturday

Quincy City Hospital will hold a family outing this Saturday, Aug. 16, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at King Philip on Lake Pearl in Wrentham. Rain date is Aug. 17.

The employees activity committee, who are planning the event, said the day will include a long list of games and activities. They added that hours for an all-you-can-eat barbecue are 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 4 to 5:30 p.m. with a menu prepared by the QCH dietary staff.

The committee said upon arriving at King Philip, those attending must present their ticket at the gate, where you will be presented with an I.D. bracelet. This entitles the wearer to refreshments, boat rentals, pony rides, games and field events.

At Mister Sub They Really Know How To Build One

Big bread is delivered fresh every morning. Joe insists in making his own sauces, roasting the beef himself on the premises, and making his own meatballs.

The specialty at Mister Sub is eggplant parmigiana which is still prepared according to an old family recipe handed down to Joe by his mother.

"There's nothing like home cooking!" boasts Joe.

Buccini says business has been booming this summer. "Why shouldn't it? It's the perfect place to get a genuine nutritious, hearty meal without spending a lot of money. What more could anyone ask for in this vacation season?"

On a more sentimental note Joe wants to say thanks first, to all his hardworking employees who have endured his insistence on perfection.

But most importantly, he thanks his customers; all the faithful ones who have been with him for years, as well as the new ones who have just discovered Mister Sub.

"After all, without them, there would be no Mister Sub," he added.

Race Week A Success Despite Freaky Weather

The 49th edition of Quincy Bay Race Week endured some tense moments from the weather last week but, except for the Friday inside-line racing being postponed, things went smoothly and two inside-line races Saturday permitted completion of the five-race series.

The final day of racing Sunday, co-hosted by Squantum and Metropolitan Yacht Clubs using Squantum's facilities, drew one of the largest crowds in recent years.

Part of the attraction was the biggest marine parade in Race Week history.

It included 201 decorated boats, of which 130 were from Town River Yacht Club.

"It was the biggest, best parade ever," said parade marshal Al Shaughnessy. "Town River is celebrating its 75th anniversary, so it really put on a show."

Among the week's highlights was Joe Carven, Jr., seeking his sixth straight Hustler title.

However, he failed in the attempt as he was beaten by Squantum clubmate Harry Carleton.

Harry skipped the Winabout Riplet with his brother, John, in the first Quincy Bay Race Week in 1938.

CAMELOT, a boat owned by Fred Corning of Town River Yacht Club, was decorated by Germantown Yacht Club members and won first prize in the annual Marine Parade, the largest in Race Week history, which attracted 201 boats.

With Bill Reed as his crew, he won the Winabout title in 1940 and in 1962 he sailed the 210 Cygnet to the championship with Bob Desmond, Bob Dolbec and John Foster as crew.

Rick Jakaus of Hingham won his third straight Laser championship.

The Governors Trophy went to John McShane of Wessagussett.

Family feuds featured parts of the week just as they do every year. Chrissy Ross was all smiles as she recalled beating her older sister, Kelly, in three White Fleet races.

"We are competitive and sometimes we even fight about sailing," she said.

Trophy Day will be held Sunday, Oct. 5, at 3 p.m. at Wessagussett Yacht club at which time all winners will receive their trophies.

Applications Available For City Tennis Tourney

The Quincy Recreation Department announces that applications are now available for the 16th annual All-Quincy Tennis Tournament sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department in cooperation with the Granite Co-operative Bank.

Open to Quincy residents, this tournament will begin Sept. 3 and will be played nights and weekends at the Vo-Tech courts on Russell Park in Quincy Center. There are 10 divisions of play for persons over age 16.

This year, the participants in the men's singles division will be competing for the "Lionel 'Shine' Buckley Cup," which was named this spring to honor Buckley who retired after 35 years of service to the Quincy Recreation Department.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch notes that this was the 8th year of co-sponsorship by the Granite Co-operative Bank. "I know that this tournament would not have survived without the support of the Granite Co-operative Bank which underwrites a majority of the costs for awards and advertising. We are indebted for the continued support of the residents of Quincy who enjoy participating and watching this annual event," he said.

Applications are available at the Quincy Recreation Department and North Quincy and Quincy branches of the Granite Co-operative Bank. The deadline for entry is 4:30 p.m. Aug. 29.

The divisions of play are: men's 50 and over, men's 35 and over, men's singles, men's doubles, mixed doubles, women's 35 and over, women's singles, women's doubles, boys 16 and under and girls 16 and under.

For additional information, please call the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

16 Clubs Compete In Kelly Track Meet

Although attendance was down slightly from last year, the 11th edition of the Frank Kelly Memorial Track Meet was a decided success last Saturday.

The host Quincy Track Club had seven different athletes take first places, including double wins for Finn Kelly and Debbie McWalter. The talent was perhaps the best ever as 15 other clubs from Massachusetts and Rhode Island competed.

Finishing first for Quincy were Matt Porro in the boys 9-10 long jump (11-4 1/4); Chris DiGiacomo, boys 13-14 high jump (4-4); Kelly, 15-18 440 (53.49) and 880 (2:07.38); Matt McNamara, 15-18 discus (172-7); Kerry McGahan, girls 9-10 long jump (1-7 3/4); Alicia Porro, 13-14 girls 100 (11.85 including a 11.67 in her trial heat), and McWalter, high jump (5-1) and shot put (36-2).

Taking second places were Matt Porro, 9-10 100; Paul Robinson, 9-10 long jump;

Kelly, 15-18 mile; McNamara, 15-18 shot put; Katie O'Shea, 11-12 440; Alicia Porro, 13-14 220, and Gloria Gougian, 15-18 discus.

Placing third were Robinson, 9-10 100; Sean McWalter, 15-18 shot put; Alana Crehan, 13-14 shot put; Sherrin Quintiliani, 15-18 mile, and Gougian, 15-18 shot put.

This meet concludes the Quincy Track Club summer program and coach Jeff Hennessy thanks those who helped make the meet and the entire program a success.

Darkhorses, Flyers In Title Showdown

The Darkhorses, winners of the regular season play of the South Suburban Softball League, will meet the second place Flyers Sunday at 9 a.m. at Bishop Field in Montclair in the playoff finals.

The stage was set for the finale Sunday as the Darkhorse entry downed the Royal Pizza, 7-6 and 1-0, in the double elimination opening round of the playoffs. Gary Fine scored the winning run in the final contest to guarantee the final round for the Darkhorse.

Both games were decided in the seventh inning with the Darkhorse team proving clutch performers.

The Flyers dropped the opener in their playoff round to the third place Club Chub team, 13-4, and bounced back to even the count with a 9-1 victory in the second game. In the rubber game, the Flyers eked out a 1-0 win, closing the Kochs down with one run in the final two games.

Bob LaFarge was the winning pitcher for the Flyers in their double win.

Squantum Sailors Registration Saturday

The Squantum Sailors of the Quincy Youth Football League will hold registration for players and cheerleaders ages 11-14 Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. behind the Squantum School.

Registration fee is $25 and those registering are asked to bring the fee at that time.

Further information can be obtained by calling 843-3694.

Firemen Take Opener From Granite Electric

Firemen Local 792 defeated Granite City Electric, 5-2, Monday night in the first game of a best-of-five series for the Babe Ruth League championship.

The Firemen had won their semifinal series in three games over Houghs Neck Legion, while Granite City had taken its semifinal series over Local 1139 in two straight games.

Granite City took a 2-0 lead in the first inning against the Firemen but Steve Neiters settled down and blanked Granite City the rest of the way, giving up only four hits, striking out five and walking six.

The Firemen tied the game in the fourth inning on Brian Taylor's two-run double and they won it with three in the sixth with Mike Bayliss driving in two with a line single.

Billy Monteith played outstanding ball at second base with several fine defensive plays.

The Firemen won the opener against Houghs Neck, 4-0, as pitcher Billy McDougall pitched a two-hitter and struck out nine.

Houghs Neck threatened in the fifth inning with runners on first and second and no outs. McDougall grabbed a pop bunt, fired to first baseman Mike Walsh, who then threw to Chris Noble to complete a triple play, which may have been first ever in Babe Ruth League play.

Monteith again turned in a fine defensive performance for the Firemen.

Houghs Neck evened the series with a 4-3 victory, scoring two runs in the bottom of the seventh.

The Firemen won the rubber game as McDougall again pitched a strong game after a shaky start. He forced in two runs in the first but blanked HN the rest of the way, giving up four hits, striking out 13 and walking six. Jim Maloney made two fine catches in the outfield.

The Firemen have a 18-8 record, winning 16 of their last 18 games. They have featured fine pitching by McDougall (six wins), Jason Doyle (five wins), Bayliss (three wins), Neiters (three) and Noble.

Providing good defense and bench strength have been Walsh, Monteith, Noble, Billy Eddy, Neiters, Martin Feeney, Bayliss, Brian Comeau, Mark Portese, Tommy Kane and Jim Peters.

Granite City rolled to a 9-1 win over Local 1139 in their opener and followed with a 6-1 win.

Tony Anderlonis had three hits in each game to spark the offense.

In the first game Tim Brillo pitched four-hit ball, struck out six and walked only two. He gave up his only run in the seventh on singles by Jonathan Brosnan and Ray Grant and Granite City error.

Granite City scored twice in the third on singles by Steve Wysocki, Paul McDonnell and Anderlonis and a walk to Jim Munroe. A five-run third inning broke the game open.

Brian Howlett opened with a long triple to right-center, Ken Caiwieski and Anderlonis singled and Granite City received three walks.

Erk DeBoer also had a single for Granite City. The game ended with Granite City centerfielder George Walsh making a fine catch of Mike Kiley's line drive to right-center.

Dave Gamsby, Andy Colleary, Wayne Sit, Sean Thompson, Angelo Kyranis and Mike Picariello also contributed to the win.

For Local 1139 Mike Toland was outstanding behind the plate and also had a long triple to right field. Jim DeCarli had a single.

Also playing well for Local 1139 were Grant, Steve Kohler, Kiley, Brandon Farrell, Steve Sumpter, Brendan Toland, Gary Rawdon, Fred Regan and Greg Hohmann.

In the second game Caiwieski pitched a four-hitter and walked only two. He also fielded his position well, throwing out five batters.

Granite City collected 10 hits with Anderlonis having two singles and a double. Sean Thompson drove in two runs with a line drive triple over the rightfielder's head. Howlett had two hits as did Wysocki and Caiwieski and DeBoer each had one. Kyranis, McDonnell, Brillo and Munroe played well defensively.

For Local 1139 Grant, Farrell, Kiley and Kohler all had singles. DeCarli pitched a solid game, striking out eight.

High School All-Star Hockey Tourney Opens

New England Pro-Am Hockey League directors Mike and Bob O'Connell announce that the third annual high school all-star tournament will be held tonight (Thursday) through Sunday at the Quincy Youth Arena.

There will be two games each night at 7 and 8:30, featuring four all-star teams from the high school division of the NEPAHL.

Eighty players were selected as all-stars from a group of over 400 skaters. There will be four teams of 20 boys each and each will play four games in the round-robin tournament.

Tonight at 7:30 the Quincy West all-stars will face off against the Danvers East stars and at 8:30 Quincy East will meet Danvers West.

Friday night at 7 Quincy East will meet Quincy West and at 8:30 Danvers East will face Danvers West. Saturday Danvers West will play Quincy West at 7 and Danvers East will take on Quincy East at 8:30. Sunday the third place game will be played at 7 and the championship game at 8:30.

Orr Helps Bring Stadium Fund To Over $36,000

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Veterans Stadium lighting fund received a big boost last Saturday as $5000 was raised at the committee's all-sports day at the Elks Field, boosting the total to install permanent lights at the stadium to over $36,000.

The committee estimates it needs $15,000 to reach its goal by Labor Day.

Bruins Hall-of-Famer Bobby Orr stole the show at the all-sports day. Orr, who has done much to aid youth programs in the area, spent the entire afternoon at the event, posed for hundreds of pictures and signed numerous autographs.

"This is just great. I'm having a ball," Orr said as he watched the city-wide tug-of-war, a highlight of the afternoon. "I'm happy to help them raise money for the lights at the stadium and I'm really having a terrific time."

Also joining in the festivities was Nevin Markwart of the Bruins, who also posed for pictures and signed many autographs.

The North Quincy High football players proved they will be tough this fall, as they made a fine showing in the tug-of-war, finishing third among more than 10 teams.

Finlay's caterers, who provided an excellent buffet in the Elks lounge for the major contributors to the lighting fund, won the tug-of-war.

The lighting committee expressed its special thanks to Orr and Markwart and to Thomas Kelly, president of Pandick of New England, who arranged for Orr's appearance.

The committee also thanked Henry Bosworth and the staff of the Quincy Sun, Bob Gohl and John Noonan of Sun Channel 8 News, Finlay's Caterers, Harry Brett of Image Photo Services, who took the numerous pictures, and members of the host Quincy Elks.

Bob Colman of Colman's Sporting Goods and Campanelli Industries had contributed $1000 each to the fund.

LaBrecque Playground Wins Crafts Display

A three and a half foot high birthday cake made from cardboard to salute Hough's Neck's 350th birthday by the participants of LaBrecque Playground captured the grand prize in the Quincy Recreation Department's annual Arts and Crafts Display.

The display at McIntyre Mall featured the projects of the 26 supervised playgrounds from all parts of the city. The public was asked to vote on their favorite project.

Second place in voting, which was the closest in many years, went to a five-foot papier mache replica of Gumby done by Russell Playground.

Third place went to the Perkins entry - a model of the Merrymount area done with popsicle sticks.

The winners were awarded gift certificates from Baskin Robbins Ice Cream, McDonald's on Southern Artery, and Friendly's Ice Cream in Wollaston.

Participants from the winning parks who assisted in creating the projects are: first place - LaBrecque Playground, leaders Cindy Morrell and Steve Austin and playground participants Rhonda Gaura, Debbie Brown, Karen Brown, Jody Galligan, Jennifer Dondero, Julie McCloskey, Jennifer Richmond, Christie Richmond, Susan Mackey, Jason Fennelley, Cheryl Melone, Wendy Melone, Michelle Drury, and Renee Francoeur.

Second Place - Russell Park, leaders Noreen

Connolly and Donald Greene and playground participants Chris Roncarati, Marvellen Eddy, Billy Campbell, Brian Campbell, Christine Barrett, Gilly Eddy, David Gamsby, Chad Mackie, Steve Barrett, Johnny Campbell, Aubry Shakelford, Scott Portese, Todd Portesi and Steve Buccella.

Third place - Perkins Playground, leaders John Murphy and Kristin Hardy and playground participants Christine Kelly, Jennifer Keddy, Susan McCole, Jennifer Mazzini, Kathy O'Brien, Steve Keddy, Jeff Keddy, David Keddy, J.J. Borden, Alyssa Haldoupis, Peter Haldoupis, Kristin Mazzini, Patrick Kearney, Sabrina Kearney, Bill Reardon, Mark Reardon, Chris Fay, Michelle Thackery, Chucky Fealy, and Brian Ulevicuous.

Quincy Woman Wins Quilt Festival Awards

Carol Anne Grottrian, artist and Quilter of Quincy, captured two awards in last month's Vermont Quilt Festival held in Northfield.

Mrs. Grottrian's "Hello Halley's," won the festival's star theme, a category for under bed-sized quilts. She also received a second place ribbon in the large wall hanging category.

The three-day event, the largest of its kind held in the East, brings quilters from across the country and Canada to take workshops, hear lectures, and exhibit. Over 200 quilters competed for ribbons.

Mrs. Grottrian topped 21 other Massachusetts residents to represent the state in the Great American Quilt Contest and Festival in New York this past April.

Contest theme for that festival was "Liberty, Freedom and the Heritage of America," her 6-by-6 entry titled "Light of Liberty," was designed by her. She also hand-dyed the plain white muslin from which she cut its nearly 1,000 pieces. Done in patchwork, not applique, it was hand-sewn, and took close to 750 hours to complete. This work was also awarded one of seven Judge's Choice awards.

She started quilting about 10 years ago as a hobby, and became serious enough about it in 1983 to give up all the other crafts she had once done. Mrs. Grottrian recently won a quilted-skirt competition sponsored by Joseph's Coat Shop in Peterborough, N.H.

Mrs. Grottrian, when not quilting, works as an office manager for a Cambridge architectural firm. Her husband, David, is a freelance artist.

Wasp Crew Reunion Sept. 18-20

The 43rd anniversary reunion of the Quincy built aircraft carrier U.S.S. Wasp will be held Sept. 18-20, at the Marriott Hotel in Providence, R.I.

For the hundreds of former shipmates the reunion will have as its primary purpose the rekindling of old friendships, experiences and feelings about those good and bad times of major sea battles and victories in the Pacific during World War II.

The Wasp, or "The Fighting Lady," as she was called in a famous Hollywood film, or "the Stinger" as she was nicknamed by her crew, earned eight battle stars for her service. Her name was not struck from the Navy's list of honored ships until she was decommissioned and scrapped in 1972.

Eight years ago, Arthur H. Tobin, then mayor of Quincy, led Boston and state in issuing proclamations saluting the ship's 35th anniversary reunion in Randolph.

The Wasp was originally named Oriskany, but her name was changed in responseto pleas from Quincy shipyard workers. She was commissioned in 1943 by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

For more information about the 43rd anniversary reunion contact publicity chairman Allyn (Flash) Gordon at 66 Victoria St., Milton (696-1802), or 14 Doane Way, Harwichport (432-9280). Gordon was New England chairman of the Wasp 1985 reunion in Hawaii.

Camp Fire Plans Trip To Statue Of Liberty

It took two years of hard work but the efforts were rewarding for Quincy Camp Fire who are opening the 1986-87 Season with a trip to the Statue of Liberty in New York next month.

The trip there is the culmination of two years of work on behalf of the "Save Our Statue" program, in which the Quincy Camp Fire learned about the history of the famous statue and raised more than $500, through bowl-a-thons, candy sales, and other fund-raising projects, for the statue's renovation.

Buses will be rented for the Sept. 20 trip, which will leave Quincy at 6 a.m. and return by 10 p.m. Camp Fire members should contact their group leaders for further information.

WEEK OF: August 14

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Interest in an idea of yours perks up, and acceptance of it may be just around the corner. Romantic puzzle is solved thanks to partner's more open approach.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Pieces of a career puzzle are all there; it's up to you to put them in place. Your talents in a new area of interest surprise everyone—especially yourself.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Watch leanings toward extravagance; this is a week that accents thrift and budgeting. Children respond to your honesty. Career challenges arrive when they're least expected.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Be alert to people who may be overly eager to spend your money or volunteer your precious time. Career path is smoother. New friendships are highlighted now.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Influential individual may be having difficulty reaching you. Be sure that you keep contacts informed of current status. Romantic puzzle may be solved by an unlikely source.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
You find yourself center stage—and relishing the limelight thoroughly. New travel or business ventures are in the offing; there are some misses here, but many more hits.

LEO — July 23-August 22
If traveling, watch tendency to do too much in too short a time. Platonic relationship may be launched during this period. New academic interests are spotlighted.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Watch tendency to complain to the wrong parties. Period is generally favorable for becoming involved in new fields of interests. Recreational activities, however, may prove too strenuous.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Criticism coming your way may be more valid than you initially believe. Writing skills are sharp; this is a good week for penning a story or special letter.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Week is favorable for completing tasks. Writing is your strong suit; the time is favorable for submitting a proposal. More care is required in financial ventures.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
If making a pitch, be sure you're not preaching to the converted. Partner's sense of humor improves. Be wary of deals that seem too good to be true.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Meetings occupy many hours but may lead to important business contracts. There's less stress in a relationship thanks to partner's good fortune. More family time can be enjoyed.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You have a very romantic nature, and a view life in an idealistic manner. Life with you is always an adventure. You're easily flattered. Academic expansion is highlighted over the next six months. Shaky relationships may stabilize by late '86, early '87.

BORN THIS WEEK
August 14th, actress Susan St. James; 15th, actress Janice Rule; 16th, actor Robert Culp; 17th, actress Maureen O'Hara; 18th, actor Robert Redford; 19th, actress Jill St. John; 20th, actor Van Johnson.

Harold To Meet With Dukakis On Shipyard Buyout

Senator Paul Harold said he hopes to meet soon with the governor to coordinate the state's commitment to assist in an employee buyout of the General Dynamics Quincy shipyard if the final report on a feasibility study is favorable.

"I hope to meet as soon as next week with Gov. Michael Dukakis and Al Raine, his special advisor on economic development," said Harold. "There could be 200 bids made to General Dynamics," said Harold. "We want to be sure to coordinate efforts leading up to a possible employee buyout."

A state task force studying the future of the Quincy shipyard learned at a State House meeting last week that a consulting firm is optimistic about the feasibility of an employee buyout after completing two-thirds of a study.

"From what they've done so far, Industrial Cooperative Associates (which is conducting the study under a $100,000 contract) is optimistic about the feasibility and profitability of an employee buyout," said Harold.

"However, the study is not complete. The two remaining elements of the study are most crucial, they have to do with marketing and financing.

"So that while no conclusion is in yet on the study, based on what we have so far, we're optimistic," said Harold.

The study is to be completed by Sept. 15 so that Mass. Shipbuilders, Inc., the employee group, can decide whether or not to submit an offer for the shipyard.

General Dynamics, which closed the shipyard last spring, extended the deadline for bids to Sept. 30, to accommodate the employee group.

The consulting firm feels that by reducing the size of the yard, obtaining wage concessions, and selling one

$132 Million Triples Last Year

City's Biggest Building Boom In History

By DAN CONNELLY

Estimated construction in Quincy this year almost tripled over last year's figures reflecting what Planning Director James Lydon calls a building boom.

"We've come a long way" said Lydon referring to the Building Department's year-end report whose figures indicate there was more construction in Quincy for fiscal 1985-1986 than in any other year so far.

Estimated construction costs increased over $84 million from last year to this year. In fiscal 1984-1985, $47,552,410 was the total for estimated construction. The figure is $132,172,186 for fiscal 1985-1986.

"For the most part success in this area is due to Quincy's efforts way back in the early 1980s to foster a construction boom which today has resulted in the lowest rate of unemployment that we've ever had," said Lydon. Figuratively Lydon said the city has effectively diversified itself from a past blue collar image. This move has added over 10,000 new jobs and literally millions in new tax revenues, he added.

Kenneth F. Johnson, Jr., appointed Building Inspector by Mayor Francis McCauley two months ago, said that the city's construction growth is due also to the hard work of Allan MacDonald who retired after many years as building inspector.

Johnson added that $31 million of the $84,619,776 increase in estimated construction costs is attributed to the expansion of Quincy City Hospital under the category in his report of "other alterations."

"But that still leaves over $50 million of an increase and that sure is wonderful news for Quincy," Johnson said.

Johnson also reported in his figures the department issued 1437 permits from July 1, 1985 to June 30, 1986. Fees totaling $393,160 for issuance of these permits, and $5,629 in other fees collected for public safety inspections added $398,789 to the city's coffers.

The 1985-1986 figure is due to the construction of 783 dwelling units added through new construction, 45 dwelling units added through alteration.

Johnson's building report lists the following categories in which the total number of permits were issued, and the estimated cost for that work:

Permits were issued for 37 one family dwellings estimated to cost $2,122,200.

There were eight two family dwellings at $645,000, one 3 family dwelling at $179,000, three four family dwellings at $768,000, 12 multi-family dwellings at $55,867,000, 12 mercantile at $28,737,000, two storage at $30,000, 36 garages at $185,800, 859 residential alterations at $5,328,287, 154 other alterations at $35,495,160, 55 removals at $511,934, 94 signs at $146,766, and 128 miscellaneous at $2,156,039.

110-Space Ross Deck Out To Bid Soon

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The city hopes to go out to bid in October for construction of the $1.3 million Ross Parking Deck in Quincy Sq. which is expected to add 110 parking spaces to the area, for a total of 217 spaces.

"Construction isn't expected to begin until after the first of the year so that it will not disrupt the holiday shopping season," said Mayor Francis McCauley.

McCauley explained that the deck will be an extension of the current garage in the Parkingway.

Some $300,000 of the $1.3 million is from a UDAG grant returned to the city after the sale of 200 Newport Ave., and $60,000 is from Community Development Block Grant money, he said. The remainder is a state grant.

"It's a good step forward," said McCauley. "The completion of Quincy Fair and the expected development of the Kincaide Building site by the Goldman family will tie in with the garage which will provide additional parking."

"It's an excellent project," said McCauley.

Principal Planner Kevin Shea of the city's planning department said that construction is expected to take five to six months.

The one level parking deck will be attached to the current garage by a ramp on Clivedon St., according to Shea.

"It will be high enough to maintain the visibility of the stores in the area," said Shea.

There will be a walkway to Quincy Fair, as well as stairs to that building and the T.J. Maxx store, he said.

The Jersey Barriers in the area will be removed, he said, and landscaping will be installed.

Attempted Rape In Wollaston

A man armed with a knife attempted to rape a Wollaston woman in her apartment Aug. 16, but was persuaded to leave when she offered him her money, according to police.

The woman told police that she went to bed and then discovered the man, described as in his late 20s, or early 30s, about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, standing in her bedroom.

A struggle ensued and the woman fought off the man and made her way to the living room, according to police.

When she offered him the $60 that she had in the apartment, he agreed to leave, police said.

Police Seek Bank Robber

Police are seeking an unarmed robber who made off with an undisclosed amount of money after holding up a teller at the US Trust Company Bank, Parkingway, Quincy Center.

According to police, a man walked up to a female teller Aug. 15 with a paper bag in hand and passed her a note which read, "10s, 20s and 50s, no dye, no alarms and no one will get hurt."

The teller gave him some money and pushed the bag back to him, police said. She also returned the note to him as he requested.

The man, described as about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, with olive skin and curly dark hair, then walked calmly out of the bank, police said.

So Busy As Acting Head

Valenti Finds Little Time To Study For Chief's Exam

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Acting Quincy Fire Chief Carl Valenti has held that position for about a year now, since the retirement of Chief Edward Barry.

And though he is enjoying the job, it is keeping him so busy he's not sure how he will find the time to study for the Civil Service exam for chief in March, 1987.

"The job itself takes a tremendous amount of time," said Valenti, a veteran of the Quincy Fire Department for almost 29 years.

"It is 24-hours a day, seven days a week, as far as being on call," he said.

"You really have to study at least five hours a day for six months before the exam. Some people study eight to 10 hours a day."

Valenti would need to pass both sections of the exam in order to be named permanent chief. His salary of $48,854 would remain the same if he were named permanent chief.

Valenti passed the first part of the most recent Civil Service exam, but did not pass the second part.

His score was 65.7. Passing grade is 70.

There was speculation at the time that Valenti, who had already been named acting chief, would ask to be returned to his former position of deputy chief. However, he decided to stay on as acting chief at his men's urging.

"The higher up you go, the tougher the exams are," Valenti said.

"Even so, I'll be around another couple of years anyway because the Civil Service marks from the next exam won't be known until April or May of 1988.

"Even if I didn't take the exam, I'd be here until then," Valenti said.

Valenti said that his first year as acting chief has been demanding.

"It's not something I can't handle, but it requires a change in lifestyle," said Valenti.

"There are long hours, a lot of phone calls, decisions to be made, and paperwork to be completed.

"I go over the plans for all new buildings in the city to make sure they conform to fire protection standards.

"At first it was quite rough adjusting," said Valenti. "But it's not bad at all now."

"After a year, I don't find the job as tough as I did at first."

"I find I can accept things a lot easier. I've adjusted to the job," he said.

"It's a tough job to be head of any department," noted Valenti.

"I have 245 people to be concerned about. You try to make changes to suit the people you have working for you."

"We have some good people. There are some small problems like any department has. But on the whole, it's a good department."

"The help that I've gotten from all the officers and men has been terrific, and it has helped me to adjust to the job a lot easier."

Valenti also said he has had a "tremendous working relationship" with all the city departments, especially the office of the mayor.

"I can't say enough about him," said Valenti.

"He's gotten us new equipment. I would like to talk with him about replacing some other apparatus."

Valenti said he has changed a few policies, but has basically gone along with the established routine.

"I haven't given much thought to any major changes," Valenti said.

"My main objective is to improve the condition of the stations. They have all been painted on the outside. Now we're in the process of getting the inside straightened out."

Valenti said that he sometimes misses his previous job in Fire Prevention.

"I got out a lot and inspected buildings. It gave me more freedom on the outside," Valenti said.

But overall, Valenti has found his new position rewarding.

"I love the job. I've always loved the job."

"I've always been proud to say I'm on the Quincy Fire Department."

"It is a great department. It always has been, and hopefully it always will be."

Public No-Show At $225,000 Grant Hearing

The Planning Department will move ahead and file for a $225,000 state grant for Quincy Center traffic improvements despite a no-show of public attendance at a hearing Monday called to take public comment on the grant application.

About 45 minutes after the meeting was scheduled to begin, City Planner Kevin J. Shea was still looking at rows of empty seats in the meeting room at City Hall.

Shea said the lack of public comment would not affect the city's plans to file for the grant next month.

He said the city wants the money to pay for engineering designs to improve the traffic flow from Hancock and Dimmock Sts., along Hancock to Granite St. and Burgin Parkway Extension. The improvements also would include construction of a footbridge over the parkway extension.

Shea said the footbridge would provide pedestrians with access between retail shops in Grossman's Plaza with those on Hancock St. The new footbridge would replace a wooden structure that enabled pedestrians to cross over the Red Line tracks. That bridge was torn down to make way for construction of the parkway, which opened last November.

Residents of the School St. area near Parkingway gathered petitions recently urging that the bridge be rebuilt.

Shea said in the city's grant application it will demonstrate the extent of Quincy's economic development, and will indicate that more than 2,500 jobs will be created as the result of either construction of new buildings or rehabilitation of old buildings in the downtown area.

Shea said those buildings include the Dimmock Building, Elks Building, one Parkingway, Quincy Fair, the Greenleaf Building, Cottage Street Building, and the $55 million President's Place development at the site of the former Bargain Center.

He also said the city, which is putting up $70,000 as its share of the project, will know within 30 days after filing the grant application whether it will receive the money.

"The city will apply later for a $1 million state grant to construct the improvements," Shea said.

The state Executive Office of Transportation and Construction plans to award $15 million for highway-related projects based on their ability to revitalize commercial and industrial areas and improve employment opportunities.

Planning Board Meets On Zoning Changes

The Quincy Planning Board was scheduled to hold public hearings last night (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. in the second floor conference room at City Hall Annex.

The public hearings were to be in regard to proposing zoning changes regarding Nut Island and Flats, Houghs Neck, from Industrial B to open space; and land on Quincy Ave., from Business B, Industrial A, and Residents A to Planned Unit Development.

A hearing was also scheduled regarding a proposed zoning amendment.

Some 20 items were scheduled for the meeting to follow, including discussion of the master plan for Yankee Heights on Ricciuti Drive by developer Stephen Ricciardi.

City To Observe Harvard's 350th Anniversary

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has proclaimed the week of Sept. 1-7 Harvard University 350th anniversary week in Quincy.

The announcement was made because the city's two most famous citizens are graduates of Harvard University: John Adams, Class of 1755, second President of the United States and John Quincy Adams, Class of 1787, the nation's sixth President.

McCauley's proclamation went on to say that "in this community we are fortunate to have access to an excellent learning institution such as Harvard University as education is a never-ending process, and those individuals who are the most content are those who continue to develop their intellectual capacities, to grow with the times in which they live, and to work to achieve their highest potential."

McCauley urged all residents to give fitting recognition to this observance.

Applicants Sought For Parent-Teen Talk Program

Quincy Family Planning's Parent-Teen Talk program is in need of teenage parents, or teens who choose adoption, to promote awareness of the problems of teenage pregnancy.

According to Chris Leach, assistant coordinator at Quincy Family Planning, 1354 Hancock St., applicants will receive intensive training to enable them to teach family communication skills in nine communities served by the organization.

She added that pay is provided for the initial five weeks of training and all future presentations made.

Laura Wieman, another spokesperson at Quincy Planning, said those selected will be required to give volunteer time for a weekly updating of training and support meetings. Child care and transportation will be provided.

Besides Quincy the organization serves Braintree, Cohasset, Hingham, Hull, Milton, Randolph, Scituate, and Weymouth.

For further information on the program call Leach or Wieman at 773-7308.

Tuesday 2 P.M. Blues

For a newspaper that is as big as it is, the Patriot Ledger can really get up tight over little things.

At times it seems to become somewhat paranoid over having to compete with weekly newspapers that are much smaller in size and staff.

You sometimes even get the feeling that the Ledger would like to see all the weeklies disappear so that it can call everything in sight "Ledge Land."

But if the weeklies can help it, it will be Never Never Land instead.

Somehow, The Quincy Sun seems to have become a special annoyance.

Frankly, we're flattered by all the attention the Ledger goes out of its way to give us.

Like our good friend Ray McEachern, in a news story Monday, Aug. 11, reporting that Mayor Francis McCauley was going to announce his choice as the new health commissioner at a 2 p.m. news conference Tuesday.

"He (McCauley) declined to release the name of the new commissioner today," McEachern stressed and then pouted:

"The mayor often has acknowledged that he sometimes favors Tuesday as a time for press conferences to aid the weekly Quincy Sun which publishes on Wednesday."

Phil Dine followed on Saturday with a column on the same theme. Dine has been beating this same drum for a year or so now.

The Tuesday 2 p.m. news conference called by McCauley to announce the appointment of Jane Gallahue as the new city health commissioner, was, whined Dine:

"...another example of news management engineered by McCauley to ensure the Sun would have it at the same time as everyone else."

For The Sun to "get it at the same time as everyone else" seems to bother the Ledger.

What they really want is to have the story before The Sun.

The Ledger conveniently doesn't mention the other press conferences called by McCauley during the course of a year. The ones which may come on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, or—Tuesday a.m.

The Sun doesn't beef about those.

Ronald Reagan has the right to call a press conference when he wants to. So does Mike Dukakis. And, so does Frank McCauley.

The fact of the matter is that McCauley has been fair with all of Quincy's news media since becoming mayor five years ago.

Tuesday 2 p.m. news conferences (and they are not held every Tuesday) allow the city's media—the Ledger, Sun, WJDA and Sun, Ch. 8 to all have a certain news story on the same day.

What's wrong with that?

This particular story was news, but hardly earth-shattering. It wasn't a matter of life or death. It had no immediate effect on or threat to the lives of any Quincy resident. There wasn't a mad bomber running loose.

The city had been without a health commissioner for a year and a half since the untimely death of Dr. Grace Hussey. And the new commissioner isn't going to take office until Sept. 22.

So what's the big rush?

Dine whined down:

"But it's wrong, because politicians don't own the news, so they shouldn't manage it. Public information belongs to residents and taxpayers, who should receive it as soon as possible."

To which we would like to paraphrase, a newspaper doesn't own the town and shouldn't try to run it.

Dine's words sound pretty lofty—mountain high—but he would find them inconsistent if he read his own newspaper.

The Ledger did a little managing of the news itself recently.

Mayor McCauley and City Planning Director James Lydon met with the Ledger editorial board to update the Ledger on the city's position regarding the multi-million dollar President's Place at the site of the old Bargain Center.

Ledger reporters sat in on the briefing, scurried to typewriters and, look fellas, it's a lead story.

The Sun, WJDA and Sun Ch. 8 got it afterwards. But none of us beeped.

As far as "getting news to residents and taxpayers who should receive it as soon as possible," the Ledger isn't consistent about that either.

Recently, for example, the Squantum First Church held a baptism by immersion service on a Sunday off Squaw Rock. The Sun, Ledger, and Ch. 8 were there.

Ch. 8 used it Monday night, the Sun on Wednesday. The Ledger waited until Saturday to do its thing.

City License Board meetings are held Tuesday mornings. The Ledger has always had the opportunity to get the story in that day's issue. But lately it might not make it until Wednesday or even Thursday.

And sometimes news releases given the Ledger don't see print for a week or more.

Dine's drum seems to have been beaten out of shape.

The Ledger doesn't have valid ground for these editorial tantrums over Tuesday, 2 p.m. press conferences at Quincy City Hall.

The Ledger used to be The Quincy Patriot Ledger but conveniently dropped Quincy from its name when it became a regional newspaper a couple of decades ago and set out for greener pastures through Norfolk and Plymouth Counties.

For a newspaper that no longer is a Quincy newspaper, it certainly makes a big fuss over Tuesday, 2 p.m. Quincy press conferences.

We still maintain the mayor has the right to call a news conference when he wants to and not have to be harassed by a newspaper that wants everything its own way.

The Ledger doesn't own this town. And let's hope, never will.

And didn't the Ledger kind of forfeit its rights in the local complaint department when it took Quincy out of its name?

PRICING FOR BEST PROFIT

QUESTION: What is the best way to arrive at the best asking price when you put your home up for sale?

ANSWER: National experience has proven conclusively that if your property is priced within 5% of fair market value, the chance of making a clean, top dollar sale during the early stages is TEN TIMES greater than otherwise.

Buyers buy by comparison. Properties not competing favorably do not sell. Overpricing at inception causes properties to become shop-worn; valuable time and money are lost forever. Ultimately, all properties sell for their true value by comparison—or less if exposed initially at an inflated price.

THE RIGHT selling price is the most important element in how fast or profitably you sell.

Quincy's Yesterdays

PR Voting Question To Go On City Ballot

Mayor David McIntosh and his associates filed petitions bearing 3,000 names seeking to have the questions of abandoning PR voting placed on the November ballot.

McIntosh said that while the people strongly supported Plan E, "all factions are sick and tired of PR voting."

If PR is rejected by the voters, Quincy will return to plurality voting with primary and final elections.

SHIPYARD CONTRACT TO EXPIRE IN TWO DAYS

Workers and company officials of Bethlehem Steel Company turned their attention to New York, where contract negotiations are being carried on. The present contract for workers is scheduled to expire on Monday.

Orders have gone out to workers to prepare for a strike, but unofficial reports from New York indicated that agreement is near on all issues, except the date of retroactivity of the new wage scale.

In the meantime, the Navy insisted that protective grease be spread on heavy machinery in the event of a walkout.

Eight Bethlehem shipyards, Quincy, East Boston, two in Baltimore, three in New York and one in Hoboken, N.J., would be affected by a strike if contract negotiations fail.

VOTERS TO GET RENT CONTROL QUESTION
The controversial problem of rent control, whether or not it should stay or go, will be decided by the voters in November.

The question was referred to the voters after a two-hour bitter debate at this week's City Council meeting. Since the council was hopelessly deadlocked on the issue it was decided to let the people decide.

1953 - YEAR OF ACTION FOR YMCA

It was announced by the new president of the Quincy Y, Thomas Burgin, that 1953 will be an action year for the Y.

The Y recently obtained a new building site on Coddington St. to replace its outdated facility on Washington St. The raising of money for the new building has gone along all right to date, but it is not coming in fast enough to keep up with the constant rise of building costs.

SCHOOL REPORT

It was announced this week that the new Fenno St. school is ready for occupancy, but the new Snug Harbor school will require more work. Overcrowding at the Cranch School required the transferring of 35 students to the Coddington.

And word received by Mayor McIntosh is that the MDC will continue to oppose the city's plan to build a new Cranch Hill School on commission land on Furnace Brook Parkway.

DR. GOSSARD CRITICIZES COMMITTEE ELECTION METHOD

In his annual report, School Supt. Dr. Paul Gossard criticized the Plan E method of electing members of the school committee.

Under Plan E, all seven members are elected every two years. Dr. Gossard said that this system violates every known rule of good procedure. He suggested that the terms be staggered so that there will be some continuity on the board.

QUINCY-ISMS

The Planning Board discussed plans to widen Quarry St. to serve as an access to the proposed new South East Expressway. A civil service exam will be held to fill the vacancy of Quincy Chief of Police at a salary of $5,100. Spirited bidding is expected in the sale of 32 acres of city owned land off Forrest St., West Quincy. Quincy Elks Exalted Ruler Joseph Brett, presented a $400 scholarship to Ellen Flaherty of West Quincy. The Adams Shore Community Club held a pet show at the Hunting School grounds with Michael Lux and William Reardon, chairmen. Long awaited repairs to Massachusetts 1 field School began this week. Newly organized Quincy Young Republicans selected the following nominating committee under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Jaffee; Mrs. Harry Chandler, Robert Eng. Frank Wiot and James Cotter. Ave Maria Council K of C met at the Columbus Club on Miller St. to plan the upcoming clambake. John Gillis and John Lyons were in charge of youth events. Larry McGee pitched and batted Kiwanis to an easy 14-2 win over Hassan Brothers in the first game of the Quincy Little League playoffs.

McIntyre Memorial Clambake Sept. 14

The first annual James R. McIntyre Memorial Clambake will be held Sunday, Sept. 14 from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. at Marina Bay in Squantum to help raise funds for the James R. McIntyre Memorial Scholarship.

This is the first major fundraising event for the scholarship being established by McIntyre Fund, Inc. in the memory of McIntyre, a former Quincy mayor and state senator who died March 7, 1984.

In addition to the clambake, a drawing will be held at Marina Bay Sept. 14. First prize in the drawing is a trip for two to Bermuda.

Other prizes to be awarded include:

Conservation Meeting

The Quincy Conservation Commission scheduled a public meeting last night (Wednesday) in the City Council Chamber to address the following agenda items.

Three notices of intent to construct included: a one-story ranch-style dwelling at 25 John St.; two-story, split-level dwelling (no cellar) at 50 Essex St.; single-family, wood frame dwelling at 11-13 Riverbank Rd.

Other agenda items included a request for determination of applicability by The Raytheon Company for planned improvements to the east side of a building at 465 Centre St., and discussion by the city's conservation enforcement officer Heather Sargent, of the Duane property at 144-148 Utica St., and the Halsen property at Rock Island Rd.

Michael P. Barry, 53 Quincy Police Sergeant

A funeral Mass for Michael P. Barry, 53, a veteran sergeant of the Quincy Police Department, was celebrated Monday in Star of the Sea Church, Squantum.

Sgt. Barry died Aug. 15 at Carney Hospital in Boston after a long illness.

Born in Quincy, he was a lifelong Quincy resident and attended Quincy Junior College.

"We were all saddened to hear of the passing of Sgt. Barry," said Mayor Francis McCauley.

"I had known him for many years. He was a fine police officer and a good family man."

"I extend my sympathies to his family. He was an exemplary police officer."

Police Chief Francis Finn eulogized Sgt. Barry as a "professional police officer and an enlightened leader."

"He was the recipient of many commendations for outstanding accomplishments, both for saving lives and apprehending criminals," stated Finn.

"Sgt. Barry was held in high esteem by his fellow police officers for his humble concern for all."

"He was a devoted husband and father, and a true friend to everyone. He will be sincerely missed."

Lt. John Doyle president of the Police Relief Association, said "Mike was the most compassionate man you could ever meet. He was always the first to assist families of deceased officers, and was often a pall bearer at officer's funerals. He cared about everyone."

He was a U.S. Marines veteran of the Korean War.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

Through the years we have all seen TV and newspaper pictures of crashed cars in a scramble of twisted steel. We have seen pictures of previous human life made lifeless in the devastating wreckage on the highways. This, in spite of the fact all of us have been constantly alerted to traffic dangers and dire predictions of almost uncannily accurate death tolls. And, even so, in the fading hours of each holiday we once again see the sorrowful and sickening tabulation of traffic fatalities.

When, if ever, will we realize a license to drive is a privilege and not a right to drive in a manner that endangers our own life and property, as well as that of others? When, if ever, will we realize we have heartlessly permitted these happenings through mass inertia and indifference to the mishaps of "others." When, if ever, will we initiate self-corrective measures to at least TRY to minimize the danger to ourselves and others? Conceivably, this could be our last chance. For far too many it will be . . . .

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery, West Quincy.

Memorial contributions can be made to the Salvation Army, 6 Baxter St., Quincy, MA 02169, or to Father Thomas Delorenzo, Radio Ministry in Season and Out of Season, 222 Paris St., East Boston, MA.

Quincy Adams Landscaping Receives Needed Attention

Landscaping which surrounds community parking at the Quincy Adams MBTA Station, South Quincy, received some much needed attention over the weekend, according to Sen. Paul Harold.

The MBTA sent out a crew to rake and weed the area which Harold called "an eyesore and embarrassment to the MBTA."

Harold had requested last week that the MBTA order the concessionaire, Kinney

Systems to clean up the landscaped area on the Burgin Parkway Extension or do the work itself and bill Kinney.

Kinney has a combined parking and maintenance contract for the station, Harold noted.

"I'm pleased with the immediate response from the MBTA, and hopeful that there will be continued maintenance without waiting for requests or complaints," Harold said.

'The True Prophet' Bethany Sermon Topic

"The True Prophet" will be the sermon at the 10 a.m. worship service in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, 18 Spear St., Quincy, Sunday, Aug. 24.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will lead the worship and preach the sermon using Jeremiah 28:1-17 as his text. The message will focus on how to distinguish true faith from false faith.

The lay Scripture reader will be Marsha B. Archer.

Peter E. Krasinski will be the organist and Sean Kirby will be soloist.

Nursery care will be provided by church members for babies and toddlers.

There will be a fellowship hour following the worship service.

Members of the community are welcome to share in both the worship and in the fellowship.

First Outdoor Service At Covenant Congregational

For the first time this summer, the 10 a.m. worship Sunday, Aug. 17 was held outdoors in the park adjacent to the Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

While Rev. Fred Lawson was on vacation, guest speaker was Dr. David Stryker of Eastern Nazarene College, where he teaches courses in pastoral counseling.

The title of his sermon was:

"Who is a healthy person?"

His answer, in concurrence with those of three psychologists he interviewed, was manifold: one who possesses a sense of humor; the ability to work, love and play; flexibility; the ability to look at one's self; emotional freedom; and intimacy (an extension of trust).

To conclude his message, Dr. Stryker presented the question to the congregation to elicit their responses. The supporting scriptural texts for the sermon were: Proverbs 3:1-14 and Luke 2:41-52.

The service was led by Ken Nelson, chairman of the Deaconate. Ushers were Etta Erickson and Virginia Sylvester. A duet, "My Savior's Love," by Charles H. Gabriel, was sung by Luisa Dano and Anna Day. They were accompanied on the portable electronic organ by Karen Nelson, who is substituting during August for Richard Smith.

Following the service, a coffee hour was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Florence Anderson was hostess.

Next Sunday, Rev. Fred Lawson will preach on the topic, "Things Still Sacred." The service will again be held outside, weather permitting.

'Wrestling With God' Topic At First Church Of Squantum

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on "Wrestling with God," during last Sunday's two morning services at First Church of Squantum.

This text was Jacob's comment, "I have seen God face to face..." (Genesis 32:30c) from the Old Testament story of Jacob wrestling with the angel.

Guitarists Andrew Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott accompanied the singing during the first service. Kristen Reister and Krista Olson were the ushers. Karen Reister was in charge of the refreshments.

During the second service, Sarah Milderam, Susan Scott and Robert Dixey sang "Dono Nobis Pacem" as a trio with Robert Dixey singing the solo parts. Stewart Scott and Tore Wallin were the ushers. Hazel Mayne and Grace Holmes hosted the fellowship hour.

There will be a "Lawn Party" at the church on Saturday, August 23. It will include a small flea market, a bake sale and light refreshments. At the same time, there will also be a car wash sponsored by young people of the church who are trying to earn enough money to attend a Christian youth gathering in California next year. The hours of the lawn party are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

There will be two services again this Sunday: the guitar service at 8:15 a.m. and the traditional service at 9:30 a.m.

Over $64M Granted In K Of C Student Loan Aid

Howard F. Crowley, Grand Knight of the North Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus, reports that for 15 years that national fraternal order has granted over $64 million to its membership in their application to the order's student loan program.

"The program is funded by the Knights of Columbus and the federal government pays the interest on the student's behalf throughout the time he or she is enrolled in school and during the grace period prior to repayment. The eligibility for these loans are subject to the rules and regulations by the U.S. Department of Education," he said.

Crowley then went on to explain that "if the adjusted gross income (AGI) of the student's family is $30,000 or less, the eligible student qualifies for the K of C federally subsidized loan. If the AGI of the student's family is greater than $30,000, the student qualifies for a loan only if the school determines, after taking into account the expected contribution of the student's family and other financial assistance, that the student needs a loan to meet his or her educational costs. The school must be one that is recognized by the government under the Guarantee Student Loan Program.

"The student may borrow from the Knights of Columbus $2,500 per year with a maximum cumulative amount by an undergraduate up to $10,000. However, it is emphasized that any GSL borrowed from other lenders in addition to the Knights of Columbus may not exceed the federal maximums of $2,500 per year with a maximum cumulative amount of $12,500. All loans must be repaid within 10 years based on principal and whatever interest accrues on the outstanding balance."

Crowley added that "for further information concerning the loan program write directly to: Knights of Columbus Student Loan Committee, P.O. Drawer 1670, New Haven, Connecticut, 06507. Or call (203) 772-2130, ext. 224.

Of course!

UMass/Boston courses, of course—for professional advancement and personal growth. We make a point of scheduling them at convenient times and locations.

At our Harbor Campus this fall, we'll offer under graduate and graduate "Extended Day" courses after 4:00 pm in over forty fields of study (not to mention our daytime courses).

We'll also offer undergraduate courses during evening hours in Braintree, Hingham, and West Roxbury, and on Saturdays in downtown Boston.

It's not too late to register for fall courses as a non-matriculated Special Student. To learn more, see the registration schedule below or call us at 929-8600.

Where and When to Register

Extended Day Program

Harbor Campus, August 28, 1-7pm
Undergraduate courses: Clark Athletic Center
Graduate courses: Graduate Admissions Office, Administration Building, 2nd Floor

Off Campus and Saturday Program

Braintree High School, September 2 & 4, 6-8pm
Hingham High School, September 10, 4-7pm
West Roxbury High School, September 3 & 4, 6-8pm
UMass/Boston Downtown Center (Arlington & Stuart Sts.), September 6, 10am-12 noon

Special students can take courses in which space is available if they meet the prerequisites. Taking a graduate course requires obtaining permission from the graduate program director, which can be done during the registration period.

Charges for Mass. residents are $54/credit (undergraduate) or $67.50/credit (graduate). You must pay when you register. Checks are accepted for all courses; you may also use VISA or MasterCard for off-campus and Saturday courses.

Extended Day classes begin September 2; off-campus and Saturday classes begin September 15. Late registration is possible; for information, call 929-8600.

Quincy, North Start Football Workouts

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy and North Quincy football squads, eagerly looking forward to their first season of night ball at Veterans Memorial Stadium, will open full-scale workouts Monday with double sessions.

The teams actually report today (Thursday) for morning conditioning drills which will continue Friday and Saturday.

Quincy, hoping to rebound from the school's first winless season last fall, will report Monday morning at 8:30. The Presidents, under third-year coach Jack Raymer, will work out from 8:30 to 11 and from 1 p.m. to 3 each day next week at Faxon Field.

Raymer will have John Taglieri who did a fine job with the defense a year ago despite the record, back as well as Jim Kennedy. Joining the staff will be Bob Nobles, who has coached the West Quincy Elks of the Quincy Youth Football League for several years.

At this writing the freshman coach is undecided. Raymer lost three of last year's assistants. Peter Chrisom is coaching at North Quincy this year, Kevin Kelly is playing at Curry College and Mark Righini is playing at Bridgewater State College.

Quincy will open against Cambridge Rindge and Latin Saturday night Sept. 20, at 7 at the stadium, the first of five home night games.

North Quincy, under fifth year coach Ken McPhee, will also report Monday at 8:30. The Raiders will practice from 8:30 to 11:15 and from 12:30 to 3 p.m. daily at Cavanaugh Stadium.

McPhee lost one assistant coach from last year's squad, which finished at 3-7, in Mark Mulvaney. Replacing him is Peter Chrisom, who coached at Quincy last fall.

Returning assistants are the "dane," Ted Sadowski, starting his 28th year at North; Kevin Cobban, Pete Zoia and Jamie Walsh, who moves up from freshman coach to the varsity. Tom Carter, coach of the North Quincy Apaches of the Youth Football League, will be the freshmen coach and also helping out will be former Raider Jack Brown, who played at Curry College the past three years.

North will open against Milton Friday night, Sept. 19, at 7 at the stadium, the first of three night home games. North will have one Friday afternoon game at the stadium against Newton North Oct. 3.

Stadium Lighting Passes $41,000 Mark

A $2000 check from Richard Buccheri and other contributions during the past week boosted the Veterans Stadium Lighting fund to $41,395.

The committee is fast approaching its goal to install permanent lighting at the stadium for night football games and other sports activities.

Buccheri presented his check to Jack Raymer, a member of the committee.

South Shore Bank contributed $500, the Reuben A. and Lizzie Grossman Foundation and the Nissie and Ethel Grossman Foundation $400 each, and Jerry Coletta, Ralph Maher, Dick Barry, Tom Hughes, Pete Ricciuti, John and Arlene Pacino, Paul G. McDonald, Thomas Donovan, Ed Martin and Sons, Leisure Graphics, North Quincy K. of C. bingo, George Reilly, Committee to Elect Pat Golland, John Brenner, Bob Cirilli, Donna and Bob Noble and Gloria and Robert Noble

Other contributors were Ayers Brothers Inc., Louis Malvesti, Barbara and Jim Cahill, Bob and Barbara Read, Bill and Geraldine Simon, and Bill Mackey Jr. (North Quincy High class of 1963).

Firemen Sweep Granite City For Title

Firemen Local 792 won the Quincy Babe Ruth League championship by sweeping Granite City Electric in three straight games.

After winning the first game, 5-2, the Firemen edged Granite City, 3-2, in nine innings in the second game in an excellent pitching duel between Firemen's Billy McDougall and Granite City's Tony Anderlions.

McDougall got off to a shaky start, giving up both Granite City runs in the first inning and that was the only scoring until the seventh.

Brian Howlett and Erik DeBoer drove in the runs with singles.

In the seventh, with two outs, Mike Bayliss and Jim Maloney walked and Jason Doyle singled to left-center, scoring Bayliss. Martin Feeney and Steve Neiters singled to drive in Maloney with the tying run.

In the ninth Feeney and Neiters singled following an error and McDougall won his own game with a long drive over the outfielder's head which brought in the winning run.

McDougall allowed only four hits, struck out 16 and walked just one. At one time he retired 24 straight batters. Anderlions was also outstanding but the two walks with two outs in the seventh led to his downfall.

The Firemen clinched the championship with an 8-5 victory with Doyle the winning pitcher and DeBoer the loser. The win gave Doyle a final 6-1 record.

McDougall had a triple and single and Bayliss and Doyle two singles each to lead the champions.

Morrisette Baseball Dinner Sept. 12

Morrisette Legion Post will hold its annual dinner for its baseball team Friday night, Sept. 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the post home.

Jimmy Walker, a former Morrisette pitcher, will be the speaker following a catered dinner.

Morrisette this year won its last seven games but finished a game behind Braintree, which joined Zone 6 champion Mass. Trucks of Weymouth in the state tournament.

Further information on the dinner can be obtained by calling Frank Osborne at 773-5436.

Darkhorse Wins Suburban Softball Title

The Darkhorse entry won the South Suburban Softball League playoff championship Sunday at Bishop Field in Montclair, defeating the Flyers in two of the three games in the showdown series.

The Darkhorse team won the first game, 8-4, as Hal Marshall and Scott Silverman wrapped home runs behind the pitching of Dan Solis-Cohen to gain the win. The Flyers bounced back in the second to squeak out a 4-3 victory and force the third and deciding game.

In a dramatic third game, Paul Berresi of the Darkhorse

Team broke up a pitching duel in the ninth with a solo home run while Solis-Cohen blanked the Flyers for his second win of the day.

The Darkhorse team had won the regular season championship earlier with a 22-6 record and had a 4-1 in playoff competition.

The only series loss of the season by the Darkhorse team was to the Koch Club, losing three of four to the third place finisher.

The Flyers had finished second in regular season play and ousted the Koch Club earlier in a three-game series with the third and deciding game a 1-0 contest.

The Darkhorse team had eliminated the Royal Pizza in their initial playoff in a duel win.

The Darkhorse team won the $500 prize for winning the championship presented to Manager Gary Fine.

Last year, the Darkhorse team ended the season with one win and 23 losses and had only three losses the previous year. In its third season the winners took it all in the regular season and playoff championship.

Dave Walsh is president of the South Suburban League and Tom Koch secretary. The loop finished its 13th year of competition in 1986.

Police, Firefighters City Officials, Media In Doubleheader

The 10th annual softball doubleheader to aid Muscular Dystrophy will be held Thursday, Aug. 28, at 6:30 p.m. at Adams Field with the Quincy Police and Fire Teams meeting in the early encounter and the City Officials and the News Media All Stars clashing at 8 p.m. under the lights.

Proceeds from the games have resulted in over $6,000 going toward the Muscular Dystrophy Telethon during the last nine years.

Chuck Walters will guide the fire team while Stephen Kring will be the helm for the police nine.

Peter Kenney, executive secretary to Mayor Francis McCauley, is coordinating the public officials squad while Henry Bosworth is heading up the news media entry.

The Quincy Police Department recently placed 33rd out of 88 teams in the fifth annual world police softball tournament held in Detroit. Quincy started strong defeating Ypsilanti, Michigan and Cincinnati, Ohio (finished 10th). Quincy was eliminated with losses to Detroit (3rd overall) and Wayne-Oakland, Michigan (6th overall). This was quite an improvement over last year's finish of 65th.

Tickets may be obtained at the mayor's office, the Quincy Sun and from Richard J. Koch, Sr. executive secretary Quincy Park-Recreation Board.

Koch Club Women's

Bowling To Start Sept. 8

The Koch Club Women's Bowling League will open its 32nd season Monday, Sept. 8, at 7 p.m. at the Merrymount Daylight Alleys on Broad St. in Quincy.

New bowlers are invited to join as regular or spare bowlers and should report to the alleys on opening night.

The league will bowl three weeks for individual averages before teams are formed for the season. Further information may be obtained by contacting officers of the 1986-87 season including June Hillier, president; Charlene Josephs, secretary; and Shirley MacNeil, treasurer.

Members of the league are requested to attend the first night on Sept. 8 or contact one of the officers if they are unable to bowl this season.

NQHS Car

Wash Saturday

The North Quincy High School girls volleyball team will hold a car wash Saturday, Aug. 23 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Public Works building on Sea St., next to the police station.

Fond Fenway Memories For Bill Fitzgerald

By TOM SULLIVAN

With the Red Sox leading the American League East and things looking good for a division title and a possible spot in the World Series, Bill Fitzgerald has some fond memories of Fenway Park.

Fitzgerald, co-owner of PhotoQuick in Quincy Sq. and Marina Photo at Marina Bay, worked at Fenway Park for nearly 20 years including the 1967 and 1975 World Series, starting part time in 1956 and getting through after the 1976 season.

The South Boston native started operating the Fenway scoreboard part time in 1956 while a student at Emerson College.

"I worked a few games late in the 1956 season, then for half the 1957 season and began full time in 1958," he said. "Three of us worked the board and it was very interesting work. I stayed on that job until 1963."

Fitzgerald and the other scoreboard operators carried on conversations with the left fielders between innings and he said Ted Williams was his favorite to talk with.

"Ted was just great, the best of the lot," he said. "He was always friendly with us and he was always asking questions. If he heard someone had hit a home run in another game, he would ask who hit it and who the pitcher was."

"The worst was Ted's successor, Carl Yastrzemski. He wanted nothing to do with us and we never could talk with him."

Among others Fitzgerald found friendly and willing to carry on a conversation were

Leon Wagner, Bobby

BILL FITZGERALD

Thompson in his short stay in Boston, Minnie Mino and Rocky Colavito.

In 1963 Fitzgerald left the scoreboard and moved up to the press box to work with PA announcer Jay McMaster. McMaster got through after the 1965 season and Fitzgerald took over as PA announcer for the 1966 season.

"That was one of the worst Sox teams," he said. "The next year Sherm Feller took over and right away the team won the pennant. He had it easy that year."

Fitzgerald explained that working with McMaster and Feller consisted of keeping track of out-of-town scores, pinch hitters and relief pitchers.

"Another of my jobs was to get the starting lineups from the managers and giving them to Jay and Sherm," he went on. "One of my toughest assignments was getting the lineups between games of a doubleheader, especially from the manager of the losing team in the opener."

"They often put me off while Jay and Sherm waited in the press box for the lineups. It was really tough getting the lineups from some of the managers. Most of them, however, were very cooperative."

"It was fun working with both Jay and Sherm. They were entirely different types, but both were good to work with."

Fitzgerald said working the 1967 and 1975 World Series were two of his biggest thrills. Another was watching Williams hit a home run in his final time at bat at Fenway.

He said he made many friends among the press and he misses such writers as Tom Monahan, John and Mike Gillyooly, Bill Liston, Harold Kaese, Lin Raymond, George Bankert, Larry Claffin and others who have died.

Fitzgerald, who still lives in South Boston with his wife and three children, taught for 18 years at the Gavin Middle School in Southie.

"After 19 years I'd had it and I began looking into some other business," he said.

"Glenn Caterer, my partner at Photo Quick and Marina Photo, taught with me and he asked me if I was interested in opening up the photo service. He was a real picture buff and I taught photography classes. I knew nothing about photography but told him I'd like to try it."

"Now I'm as big a picture buff as he is. I really like the business. It was a lot of fun working at Fenway Park and teaching, but I am really happy with my new life."

Koch Club Men's

Michaels Wins Ladies' Tourney At Ponkapoag

Mary Michaels was the winner of the annual Ponkapoag Golf Course Ladies' Inner Club's Rothera Cup tournament with a net 72.

The cup is given each year in memory of Emma and Charles Rothera, an English couple who played a lot of golf at Ponkapoag in the 1940s and '50s. Emma was president of the Ladies' Inner Club for two years. When she died Charles donated a Paul Revere Bowl.

Since he passed away the Ladies' Inner Club has kept the tradition alive of having a tournament in appreciation for all the couple did for promoting interest in golf at Ponkapoag. Nancy Carlton won the club championship with Michaels runnerup. Charlotte Dickie won Flight B with Dot Yancey runnerup. Marion Dale won Flight C with Stella Carvelli runnerup and Edna Tenney won the nine-hole flight with Laura Lynch runnerup.

Fall Sports Physical Exams Saturday

Physical exams for all fall sports in the Quincy schools will be held Saturday in the Vo-Tech gym at 9 a.m. for Quincy High athletes and in the North Quincy High gym at 8 a.m. for all North Quincy athletes.

QYHA Offering Six $500 Scholarships

The Quincy Youth Hockey Association is again offering six $500 scholarships to present and former members who are now attending post secondary schools. Applications are available at Quincy Youth Arena and must be returned by Sept. 1. All former applicants who did not win and are still eligible are welcome to apply again. Further information can be obtained by calling the Youth Arena at 479-8371.

TENNIS ANYONE?

Elliott Levine Joins Capitol Electric Supply

Elliott Levine, a familiar face to Quincy shoppers at the former Bargain Center for 32 years, has joined the sales department at Capitol Electric Supply in Mattapan Square.

The firm is located at 1601 Blue Hill Ave., in the former Oriental Theater, which was refurbished to house a warehouse and large showroom, featuring a full line of lighting fixtures, a large selection of both big and small appliances, TV's, radios, microwaves, air-conditioners and other electrical supplies.

"Buy where the contractors buy," said Elliott. "Our prices are competitive and our sales staff are courteous and friendly. He welcomes all his many friends on the South Shore and in the Greater Boston area to stop by and browse in the firm's spacious showroom and say hello.

Capitol has been in business in Mattapan Square for the past 50 years and is one of the largest supply houses for electrical contractors on the east coast.

Keith Westerman Appointed Interface P.R. Manager

Keith F. Westerman, formerly of Quincy, has been appointed public relations manager for the Interface Group, Inc., a producer of computer and communications conferences and expositions.

Westerman will be responsible for managing all public relations efforts for the company's four divisions: the Show Division, GWV International, International Weekends and Five Star Airlines.

Westerman brings 10 years professional experience in the field of communications to his new role at Interface. Most recently, he was senior public relations specialist for Ziel, Inc. (Wilmington, MA). Prior to that, he was communications manager for SGM&A (Boston, MA), a marketing-polling consulting firm. From 1983-1984, Westerman served as manager of public relations at AAA Massachusetts (Chestnut Hill, MA).

Between two stints as an independent communications specialist, he served as Deputy Press Secretary to Edward J. King, then-Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, from 1982-1983.

Westerman is married, and has an M.S. degree in Mass Communications from Boston University and a B.A. degree in English from the University of Massachusetts - Boston. He is a member of the following professional associations: Public Relations Society of America, Publicity Club of Boston, Sigma Delta Chi and the National Writers Club.

Recently, Westerman received his APR (Approved Public Relations) certification from the Public Relations Society of America.

70% Of Space Taken In Professional Building

The city's newest office condominium, Quincy Center Professional Building, 21 McGrath Highway at Washington St., is preparing for a grand opening soon after Labor Day.

Quincy realtor Michael Kenally said 70 percent of space has been sold. Key Realty is the firm marketing the 34,000 square-foot building.

Designed by architect Joseph Donahue of Donahue Associates, Quincy, the building features six office modules ranging from 959 square-feet to 1,998 square feet on each of four levels.

Located across from Quincy District Court, the new building features ground-level parking.

"Of the 68 parking spaces, 15 are under cover and adjacent to the lobby," said Kenally.

The central core design has made it possible to maximize window areas.

"This is one of the most attractive features of the building," reports Kenally. Tinted insulated glass with heat mirrors reduces both cooling costs in the summer and heating expense during the winter.

The Key Realty telephone number for information is 472-7200.

combining more than one area.

"We are extremely pleased with the response," said developer Barry Goldman, who reports the building is now being occupied by Atty. Thomas Williams, Atty. Lewis Bertucci, Atty. Leon Aronson, Atty. Paul Losordo, Dr. Shushil Gupta, Dr. Alfred Roncarati, Dr. Alija Starzyk, Walter M. Hesson, Key Realty, architects Donahue Associates, Ernst, Kaeding & Co., Terrace Lynn, X.S. Brokers, and Goldman.

Cynthia Silveira QNHS Services Director

Cynthia Silveira of 24 Potosi St., Dorchester has been selected as the Community Services Director of Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services.

She will replace Gary O'-

Brian.

Miss Silveira formerly was employed as a counselor for Parents Aid Society in Boston.

"I am pleased to be joining the Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services. I hope that I can help to make community services more accessible to residents in the South West area," she said.

"I also hope to meet South West residents in the next few months," she continued.

Two Residents Wheelock Graduates

Lori Swafford and George Joseph, both of Quincy, recently received master of science degrees from Wheelock College in Boston.

The college specializes in training professionals to work with children and families in schools, hospitals and social service agencies.

WEEK OF: August 21

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Partner is more willing to see your point of view. A friend may be reluctant to acknowledge your support—but don't press the issue. Recent assignment may prove lucrative.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Watch tendency to overindulge in areas of diet, exercise and sunshine. Coordination is your current strength and earns you rewards in the community or the workplace.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Magical meeting may take place during the week. Academic interests are highlighted after the weekend. Don't neglect medical suggestions—and keep an eye on loved ones' health needs.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Independent streak surfaces—with both positive and negative consequences. The key is not to isolate yourself. Community events or charity functions benefit from your expertise.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Lively work period begins shortly; the present time is for getting ahead of schedule. Your distinctive qualities are appreciated by a new friend. Love life is highlighted.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Keep alert to goings-on in the news—they may be closely related to your professional interests or hobbies. Good week for hosting or planning parties—but triple check guest list.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Good week for advertising your abilities. You may be updating a resume or advising higherups of your yet-to-be-discovered skills. Financial advances are spotlighted.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Conferences provide fine opportunities for you to voice concerns. Community status is enhanced thanks to your accomplishments and your upbeat, enthusiastic approach. Family pressures ease.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
The week's menu includes unexpected travel and news of an upcoming celebration. Buying and selling are favored, but be sure all purchases come with valid guarantees.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Week sees you plotting career path and developing ideas. Breakdown in communication may mean that a key message does not get through to you until the eleventh hour.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Petty disputes can grow to ridiculous proportions unless you take quick action. You may be meeting a celebrity this week—and find that he/she is impressed with you.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Decorating and renovating are favorably spotlighted provided you remain in control of all operations. Business and travel mix nicely. Financial hurdle may be lifted by Tuesday.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're known for the intellectual approach you take to nearly all aspects of life. You're more adaptable than people think—and adaptability is the operative word through to next spring. New responsibilities, new employers, new interests and new places are all possibilities this year.

BORN THIS WEEK
August 21st, actor Clarence Williams; 22nd, actress Valerie Harper; 23rd actor Gene Kelly; 24th, actor Dennis James; 25th, actor Sean Connery; 26th, dancer Bob Slop; 27th, actress Martha Raye.

Middle Students In Ruth Gordon Festival

Some 128 students from the city's five middle schools participated in the recent first Ruth Gordon Drama Festival, dedicated to the spirit and excellence exemplified by her in her practice of the theater arts.

Those sharing in the festival received a telegram from Garson Kanin, husband of the late Quincy-born actress which said: "Ruth's spirit is with you beaming with affectionate pride. Allow me to add my felicitations to all."

The students presented excerpts, among which were Atlantic's presentation from Act II of "Oklahoma," under the direction of Marcia Karhu and Gail Raftery.

Marcia Rosenblum's students from Central Middle did scenes from Thornton Wilder's "Our Town." Frank Feeney directed Point Middle in an adaptation of Pearl S. Buck's "The Big Wave." Broad Meadows presented scenes from Tom Sawyer under the direction of Eugene Creedon.

The session also focused on developing characterization for theater presentation, conducted by Jay O'Callahan, internationally known storyteller.

The festival was initiated and conducted by Dr. Janet P. DiTullio, coordinator of language arts for the city's school system.

Students who participated in the program included:

Atlantic Middle School: Tara Miles, Kim Olson, Kevin Heffernan, Maria Gavras, Andrienne Mercier, Robert Ricketts, Michael Rudniski, Erik Schwendenman, Susan Williams, Lan Yun Yu, Lori Ogilvie, Michelle Anderson, Debbie Hourin, Bonnie McLaren, James Peers, Chris Rogers, Julie Marinelli, Alex Smith, Amanda Young, Gina Golden.

Community Theatre To Present 'Jacques Brel'

Quincy Community Summer Theatre and JM Productions will present the musical "Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris" tonight (Thursday) through Saturday at 8 p.m. at St. Ann School Hall, Wollaston.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

This summer marks the third since Quincy Community Summer Theatre's inception in 1984. The group was formed in cooperation with JM Productions, and attempts to bring local talent to the live stage through an annual musical. They are supported through a grant from the Quincy Arts Council and from public support.

"Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris" is a montage of musical numbers written by Jacques Brel and translated from French by Eric Blau and Mort Shuman. Billed as "A new kind of musical," the show features songs like "Carosel" and "If We Only Have Love."

The production features musical direction by Gail Raftery, and performances by Carolyn Mercier of Quincy, Ron Murphy of Milton, and Frank Gayton of Peabody. It is being produced and directed by Michelle Desaulniers of Wollaston. For ticket information and special Senior Citizen group rates, call 479-0139.

Local Artists Sought For Medford Festival

Quincy artists and craftspeople are being sought by the Medford Arts Council for its 16th annual Festival of the Mystic.

The two-day event, Sept. 6-7, will be held on the bank of the Mystic River just outside Medford Square.

In addition to exhibiting and offering their works for sale, participants compete for ribbons and popular awards. If they choose, they may also vie for purchase prizes. Last year, awards totaled more than $2,000.

For further information call the Medford Arts Council, I. George P. Hassett Dr., Medford, or by writing the council at PO Box 239, Medford, MA 02155.

Monarch Child Care To Launch Balloons

Children of the Monarch Child Care Center, Inc., One Monarch Drive, Quincy, will let off balloons today (Thursday) to celebrate being open for two years.

The event will also mark the center's new name and ownership.

It was formerly the Howard

Johnson Child Care Center.

The center is now a non-profit organization open to people within the Quincy community as well as within the state street South Complex.

Each child will let off a balloon with the center's name and address and also their own name inside the balloon. Purpose is to see how far the balloons will travel.

Those who find the balloons are invited to call or write to the center.

All of the 47 children of the center, who range in age from five months to five years, will let off the balloons in front of One Monarch Drive.

North Cheerleaders Shine

The North Quincy High football and soccer cheerleaders recently attended a cheerleaders workshop at Emmanuel College and won several ribbons.

The girls learned new cheers, pom-pom routines, sideline cheers, partner stunts, jump and crowd leadership techniques. They also participated in a talent show and presented a pep rally.

The program, conducted by Nationwide Cheerleaders Association of Indiana, Pa., attracted cheerleaders from several states.

The football cheerleaders placed in the top five and won five superior blue ribbons and three excellent red ribbons.

The squad included Capt. Judi Whalen, Co-Capt. Kathi Feeney, Tammy Cuniff, Anniese Rodriguez, Megan Gannon, Melissa Holt, Andrea Kelly, Kristen Morris, Christina Kalazantis, Sheila Daytona and Suzanne Rochon. Joan Welby, Laura Chiampa and Carolyn O'Brien were unable to attend due to injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

The soccer cheerleaders won three superior blue ribbons and two excellent red ribbons.

The squad was made up of Capt. Erin Kane, Co-Capt. Kim Gott, Paula Connell, Carolyn Hagerty, Kelly Gillespie, Stacey Lee, Rebecca Histen, Wendy Lampa, Jane Amendelari, Sharon Stroup, Carolyn O'Brien, Yola Zynch and Tracy White.

City Encouraged To Apply For Traffic Funds

The City of Quincy is being encouraged to file a formal application for funding of design work for traffic and safety improvements, according to Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli (D-Quincy).

Cerasoli said that the Executive Office of Transportation and Construction, under the direction of Secretary Frederick Salvucci, informed him of the development.

The city is encouraged to apply for design work funding for improvements to Quincy Center, Hancock/Dimmock and Burgin/Granite Street intersections, under the Public Works Economic and Development Grants Program, he said.

"This request from the state to file a formal application for funding has a dollar limit of $225,000," said Cerasoli. "The dollar match required by the city of Quincy would be $70,000."

"Projects for which construction will be funded in this round must be able to start within the 180-day time period established in the regulations," he said.

Rep. Cerasoli indicated that Quincy must clarify the scope of work to identify whether or not the project links with the Economic

Office of Communities and Development Grant and may also be asked to submit an Environmental Notification Form.

"My interest and concern in this particular grant is based on my determination to help the city obtain a new walkway or access road over Burgin Parkway that would replace a wooden overpass torn down during construction," said Cerasoli. The old overpass was used on a daily basis by senior citizens and other residents from Hancock Court, Hancock House and the general area."

Rep. Cerasoli noted that he had written to Secretary Salvucci recently requesting his support for this project.

He cautioned, however, that the request for application is for design work only and that additional funding sources for the construction phase of the project should be researched.

Rep. Cerasoli concluded, "Although the City of Quincy is being requested to file a formal application for funding of design work only, I am encouraged that it is at least the first step in a long process. I sincerely hope it will result in the construction of a new ramp or access road across Burgin Parkway."

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT O.
Holy Spirit, You who enlightens me, who illuminates all things so I may attain my goal. You who gives me the divine gift of forgiving and forgetting the evil done to me and who is ever with me at all moments of my life. I wish during this short dialogue with You to thank You for everything and to confirm once again my wish to never be

third of the property, the shipyard could be competitive, according to Harold.

"They think that there will be enough naval ship repair work available to employ 400 to 500 people at the yard to keep it going initially," said Harold.

"When the projected upswing in shipbuilding occurs, they can bid on new naval work and can be competitive, where General Dynamics could not, because they will reduce the size of the yard and overhead."

Harold said that the consultants also proposed that some of the work, for example engineering, be contracted out.

"They just want to build ships," said Harold. "Anything else can be contracted to an outside group to reduce costs."

Harold noted that some information can't be disclosed at this point.

"Cost figures were given to them by General Dynamics, with the understanding they not be publicized," Harold said.

"Mass. Shipbuilders, Inc., doesn't want to disclose some of their finances because they will be competing against other bidders," he said.

Attending the State House meeting in addition to Harold, were representatives of Industrial Cooperative Associates, Inc., George O'Kane, president of Local 5 of the Shipbuilders Union; Peter Gwynn, of Mass. Shipbuilders, Inc.; Secretary of Labor Paul Eustace; Secretary of Economic Affairs Joseph Alviani and representatives of Rep. Thomas Brownell and Rep. Robert Cerasoli.

CABLE FOR A MONTH, FREE.

Until now you probably thought that cable wasn't for you. That it was just an extra expense. If you'll be good enough to spare us your time, we've got some facts that may well change your mind.

There's always something good on today's cable.

You'll always find programs to entertain you, inform you and keep you in touch, just when you're in the mood. Cable's even got programming especially for seniors. You don't have to watch more, you just enjoy it more.

CABLE ISN'T JUST MORE TV.

BASIC.
THE HEART OF
THE CABLE DIFFERENCE.

People often think that cable must be expensive. But the fact is that the essence of cable, Basic Cable, is really a bargain. For $9.95 a month you get great reception on the channels you're getting now, plus 33 fascinating new channels. Here's just a taste of what they offer:

Senior Spotlight with local personalities and senior issues

Senior Nutrition and Senior Exercise

The Discovery Channel with the world of nature and science

Senior Smarts and the Senior Dating Game

Classics from the golden days of TV and Hollywood

Lifetime with tips on finance and life extension

C-Span with coverage from Congress

News, 24 hours a day, world, financial and local

Country and Classical music, The Home Shopping Network

Economics of one and two person households

National Geographic Explorer Series every week

Plus The Weather Channel and documentaries not seen on ordinary TV

PEOPLE ARE
THE PICTURE.

If Basic is the heart of cable, Senior Service is the soul. Our people go out of their way to provide thoughtful, courteous and prompt service to everyone. But especially to senior citizens. Just listen to what some of our senior subscribers have to say about us:

"Senior Smarts has done a great deal to add to the enjoyment of senior citizens and helps to keep them young, active, and important."

Steve Marx

"Let me thank you for your good service and especially for providing such good TV as Mother Angelica."

Mary A. Maloney

"I'm pleased beyond words...I find your working crew polite, efficient and you keep your word!"

Phyllis Acebo

"It is really a pleasure to deal with honorable people. Thank you very much."

Joe and Esther Ross

We could tell you about cable for hours, but there's no substitute for first hand experience. That's why we're making this special offer to senior citizens only. We'll install cable and give you a month's Basic Cable service, all for free. You can sit back and see what Basic Cable's got for you, without spending a cent.

SEE FOR YOURSELF, FREE.

A GUARANTEE,
NOT A GIMMICK. We don't want you to rush into anything. We're giving you a month's free service to help you make up your mind. If, at the end of it, you're not completely satisfied, we guarantee we'll remove your cable and that will be that. So, what have you got to lose?

If you'd like to give cable a try, please give us a call at 479-2936 or 471-9611 today. One month after installation, you'll see why some of our happiest subscribers are seniors. Because you'll be happy too.

Nutley Calls It 'Interference' Development Petition Drive Launched

By DAN CONNELLY

A group of Quincy residents, representing civic organizations in various sections of the city, have united and launched a petition drive for 16,000 signatures to curb development density and effect change in present building ordinances.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he is not happy with all of the group's proposals but "could live" with the overall package.

Planning Director James Lydon said he also generally supports the petition with exceptions.

Ward One Councillor Michael T. Cheney, a member of a Task Force on Rezoning, said that when it completes its report he feels everyone will be pleased with the results.

Task Force Chairman Thomas Nutley, who is Ward 6 councillor, was irked over the petition drive and said he resented that group's interference in an orderly process.

The latest pro and con over density in Quincy began at noon Tuesday when Arthur M. Chandler of 320 Belmont St., Wollaston, president of the Quincy Citizens Association told a press conference at City Hall Plaza that Quincy residents representing civic organizations in various sections of the city have united to "Save Our Quincy." He said this action has come about after years of frustration over the extent of development in Quincy.

Chandler said the group, predominantly made up of residents, feels that after many hearings the city is not listening to them.

"The hearings satisfy a legal requirement but then our opinions are ignored," he said.

"We are not opposed to development as such, but any development must not be done at the sacrifice of the quality of life. We do not have problems with traffic, sewage, parking and density. Many of these solutions now will require tax dollars to correct," Chandler added.

The "Save Our Quincy" petition drive will gather as many signatures to support the groups proposing a height limit of six stories, or 60-feet in all areas and an increase in the square-footage per dwelling unit and business.

Chandler explained that "this is done by increasing Residence B required space for four units or more, from 2500-square feet to 3500. Residence C from 1000-square feet to 2500; Residence D from 2000-square feet to 2500. This will also affect dwelling units built in business areas. In addition they propose the PUD and PUD-1 areas to be increased from 1000-square feet to 2500.

Mayor McCauley, who watched the press conference from his office said although he is against the six-story

Aboard Edmund Fitzgerald At Marina Bay Quincy Sun Pledge Center Goes On Location

The Quincy Sun-Jerry Lewis Telethon pledge center is going on location this Labor Day weekend.

The pledge center, based at The Sun the past nine years, will operate this year out of the Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant at Marina Bay, Squantum.

This is believed to be a first in the 21-year history of the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy telethon; the first "ship-to-shore" telethon pledge center.

Although the pledge center will be aboard the Edmund Fitzgerald, the telephone number to call to make a pledge will remain the same as the past several years: 328-6622.

For the convenience of those wishing to make a fishbowl donation and for youngsters returning cannisters and volunteers working in the pledge center, a free shuttle bus service will be provided throughout Monday from The Sun to Marina Bay and back.

The Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee and pledge center, headed by Sun publisher Henry Bosworth and Richard Koch, Sr., executive secretary of the Quincy Park-Recreation Board, has raised $889,314 in the past nine years and hopes to pass the $1 million mark this 10th year.

"We are moving the pledge center to Marina Bay for a change in scenery and to meet new friends," Bosworth said.

"Most of our volunteers have been with us from the start and we thought it would be a nice change of pace to move to Marina Bay this year."

"We are taking the whole gang with us—our faithful telephone volunteers and key pledge center workers and all our entertainment."

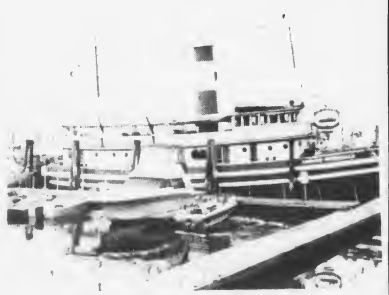

Bosworth and Koch said they are indebted to Richard Barrett for making the Edmund Fitzgerald available for the Labor Day weekend.

Volunteers will man 15 telephones on various shifts beginning Sunday night at 9 p.m.

Mayor Francis McCauley has proclaimed Aug. 31-Sept. 1 "Quincy Sun-Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Weekend in Quincy" and will be among the volunteers manning the phones.

Quincy radio station WJDA (1300) for the 10th straight year will carry live progress reports every half hour from the pledge center starting at 7 a.m. Labor Day. Roy Lind, (Cont'd on Page 11)

Clowns Will Paint Faces Outside Telethon Pledge Center

Send in the clowns to help Jerry's Kids. Millie Fantucchio and several other members of the Clowns of America, Alley No. 159, will be outside the Quincy Sun pledge center at Marina Bay Squantum raising funds to fight muscular dystrophy.

They will paint clown faces on children for a $1 donation. The money will go to the fishbowl to help Jerry's Kids.

First Parish Church Members Have Concerns Over Bargain Center Demo

Rev. Cynthia Edson, minister, and historic First Parish Church leaders have expressed concerns over possible structural damage when the former Bargain Center is demolished.

But construction director Bert Wilcox calmed their fears when he attended a meeting of the historic district commission to explain that the demolition will be accomplished using a unique type of construction equipment that bites chunks out of a building rather than by blasting or with a wrecker's ball.

Rev. Edson said there was growing concern about the church's aging ceiling. The church is the burial place of two presidents and their wives.

The group were also told that a survey crew would be sent to the church to evaluate the potential impact of the planned demolition work before the former discount store is leveled to make way for construction of the $55 million President's Place.

Chairman of the commission, Joyce L. Baker, said the project will be watched more closely than anything else that has gone up in the square.

Developers are scheduled to meet soon with Police Chief Francis X. Finn and other city officials to outline specific precautions that will have to be taken during the demolition of the former Bargain Center and other buildings on the 4.9-acre parcel that is included in the complex which is expected to start next spring and be completed in 1988.

'Crime Watch' New Sun Feature

Crime Watch, a new public service feature in cooperation with the Quincy Police Department, starts today on Page 4 in this issue of The Quincy Sun.

Robert Hanna, Quincy Police Crime Prevention Officer, each week will give you tips on how to help keep you and your family from becoming victims of crime whether it be a petty theft, vandalism, housebreak or a crime of violence.

Each week Hannah will cull "trouble spot" entries from the Quincy police log to alert you to incidents happening in your own neighborhood.

We hope you will find this new feature both interesting and informative and that you will join the "Crime Watch" team to report suspicious persons and happenings to the Quincy Police Department.

You may help someone—maybe yourself—or a member of your family— from becoming a victim.

Dogs Don't Climb Trees But Don't Tell Butch

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Dogs can't climb trees, right?

Wrong.

Butch, a pit bull terrier owned by Mike and Ann Marie Mazzarella, 69 Holmes St., North Quincy, can climb one as quick as a cat and as swift as a squirrel.

Mike said Butch, a two and a half year old, 55-pound 100 per cent pure bred, began climbing trees about a year ago in his father's backyard at 19 Colby Rd., North Quincy. "He chased a squirrel one day and ever since he has been climbing trees," said Mike.

"The first time he did it I was shocked, really surprised. I figured it was just one of those things but he kept doing it."

Butch's technique is simple:

He runs full speed for a few feet, leaps several feet up a tree trunk, hugs the trunk and then climbs up to a branch big enough for him to stand on safely.

Amazing?

More amazing is the fact that Butch has never been hurt climbing or descending a tree.

The first tree Butch climbed was an apple tree. He ended up four feet off the ground.

Now Butch can climb a maple tree and stand commandingly on a branch seven feet in the air.

Mike explained that Butch's mischievous behavior began when he was just a pup.

"When I first got him, he climbed over a children's wooden gate I had set in a doorway. I put another gate on top of that (six feet high) and he got over that."

"Butch was determined to get out of the house and

HE DID! But climbing trees is old hat to him. He does it all the time.

run around. When I let him out, he climbed over a four foot chain-link fence," Mike explained.

Naturally, people are shocked when they see Butch scale a tree.

"People stop what they are doing and they just can't believe it."

"Some people even think I put him up in the tree myself," Mike said with a laugh.

Mike added that he has a friend who owns two pit bull terriers and is amazed at Butch's rare skill.

Mike, who works as a ramp serviceman for United Airlines, disagrees with the thought that all pit bull terriers are vicious.

"Butch is harmless. He is really a pussycat," he insists.

Regarding Butch's passion for climbing trees and chasing an occasional cat or squirrel, Mike said "He has never caught anything. In fact, I think he just wants to chase them."

The longest time Butch has stayed up a tree is about an hour, according to his owner.

"He loves the attention." He deserves an audience.

North Quincy Library To Be Dedicated In Della Chiesa's Memory

Mayor Francis X. McCauley and the Thomas Crane Library Board of Trustees invite the public to attend the dedication of the North Quincy Branch Library in honor of late Quincy mayor Amelio Della Chiesa Sunday, Sept. 7 at 2 p.m.

The North Quincy Library is located at 381 Hancock St. Della Chiesa, who served as mayor from 1954 to 1965, was a generous benefactor to the Thomas Crane Library. The North Quincy branch, which opened in 1964, was one of the major pieces of construction during his terms as mayor.

Della Chiesa personally formed a trust fund for the library. Income from the fund, which has amounted to approximately $150,000 the past 10 years, goes to the purchase of new books.

During the ceremony, a plaque and a large photograph of Della Chiesa, who died in 1975 will be unveiled inside the branch.

L. Paul Marini, Chairman of the Library Board of Trustees, will be master of ceremonies.

Speakers will include Mayor McCauley and Ron Della Chiesa, nephew of the former mayor, representing the Chiesa family.

Refreshments will be served.

Can, Bottle Drive To Aid Funding Of Houghs Neck 350th

Hough's Neck Community Council has come up with a new twist to raise funds in financing its closing 350th birthday celebration—a neighborhood can and bottle drive.

Martin Gordon, committee co-chairman, will coordinate the 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. collection this Saturday, with stops to be made at all Hough's Neck residences. Also, contributions of cans and bottles can be dropped off at 245 Winthrop St., or 94 Rock Island Rd.

On Sept. 6 there will be a 350th birthday clam bake and dinner dance by the Quincy Yacht Club. Paul Shaw is coordinator.

Closing events of the summer long celebration will take place Sunday, Sept. 21, at 1 p.m. with a parade. Coordinated by Bill Morrill, all organizations, businesses and residents are urged to take part.

USS Quincy Museum Dedication Sept. 6

The official dedication of the U.S.S. Quincy Museum will be held Saturday, Sept. 6, 2:30 p.m., on the third floor of old City Hall building, now the James R. McIntyre Government Center.

Former crewmen of the ship have extended an open invitation to those who wish to attend the ceremony and view the memorabilia on display in the room to be dedicated.

Crime Watch

By ROBERT HANNA
Crime Prevention Officer
Quincy Police Department

The information contained in this condensed version of the Quincy Police journal is intended to make residents aware of crimes that may be happening in their neighborhoods.

As the Quincy Police Crime Prevention Officer, I encourage Quincy residents to become involved in fighting crime. If you see anything that looks suspicious don't hesitate to call the Quincy Police and report it. You will not be required to identify yourself when you report something suspicious.

As you can see in the condensed version of the journal, on Aug. 17 at 1:53 a.m. a party called the Quincy Police to report a suspicious person in the parking lot of Sagamore Place on West Squantum St. As a result of this call, a youth was arrested for attempting to steal a car. If that caller had not called someone would probably have had a car stolen.

While some suspicious situations could have innocent explanations, Quincy Police would rather investigate crime-prone situations than be called when it is too late.

YOUR CALL MAY SAVE A LIFE. PREVENT AN INJURY OR STOP A CRIMINAL ACT!

If you would like a free copy of the pamphlet "Suspicious, You Bet!", call 479-1212, ext. 368.

Remember, "Crime doesn't pay, you do."

Recent Police Journal entries which may alert you to trouble areas -- including your own neighborhood:

All In The Family

Here is an unusual family age coincidence that might be a candidate for "Believe-It-Or-Not."

Virginia Brolin of Smith St., West Quincy and her two sisters and three brothers share it.

It took 48 years to show up and the odds of it happening again could be one-in-a-million -- or more. It goes (if we have it straight) like this:

The birth dates, from the oldest to the youngest are: Betty Glockner of Halifax, 1938; Russell Rose, Jr. of Wrentham, 1940; George Rose of Arkansas, 1942; Virginia, 1944; Jayne Norris of Brockton, 1946 and Richard Rose of Stoughton, 1948.

Reverse the order of the names -- but not the years -- and the last two digits are their ages.

For example, Richard is last on the list. By teaming him with the first date -- 1938 -- you get his age of 38.

Likewise, Jayne, 40; Virginia, 42, George, 44, Russell, 46 and Betty 48.

Making the coincidence even more remarkable is the fact that each of the six births happened two years apart when their parents Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rose lived in Roslindale.

Paging Ripley:

MAYOR Francis McCauley, who did a guest column for us Aug. 7, had two political trivia questions and invited readers to answer them.

No one did, including the guy who called him at home at 2:30 a.m.

Anyway, here are the questions again -- this time with the answers:

Q: A Quincy Mayor, early in his political career, served as a ward councillor in two different wards. Name the mayor and the wards he served.

A: Joseph Whiton served two years as Ward 2 councillor, eight years as Ward 1 councillor and two years as councillor at large. He was mayor from 1917 to 1920 under Plan A.

Q: Name the Quincy mayor who served the only three-year term in the city's history.

A: Charles Ross served the only three-year term. All together, he served nine years and three months and was elected mayor under Plan A five times.

ANSELMO

SCHOOL COMMITTEEMAN

Frank Anselmo sent in this year's first donation to the Quincy Sun-Jerry Lewis Telethon Pledge Center. A check from Anselmo arrived 11 days before the pledge center opened. We appreciate it, Frank.

BUT, WE HAVE a friend who wishes to remain anonymous, who has been making a donation to MDA every week for the past two years.

He comes in to The Sun office, buys two copies of the Sun, hands over a $1 bill and says "Give the 50 cents change to Jerry's Kids."

The change, so far, has added up to $52.

BUY AMERICAN: Sen Paul Harold was recently called upon at the last minute to meet Sen. Gary Hart at the Hyannis airport to transport him to a fund-raiser at Dunphy's Hotel.

It was discovered that the advance person scheduled to meet Hart happens to drive a Japanese car. Campaign aides thought it would be better if Hart arrived in an American car.

Harold, who is on the Hart fund-raising committee and was going to attend the function anyway, was happy to deliver Hart to the hotel in his Ford Escort.

WHERE ARE THEY now dept.? Anthony Famigletti, former Quincy cemetery superintendent, is now director of marketing for Empire Engineering based in Quincy Point.

OBSERVATION via the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter (and from wherever they got it): "Sitting down to wait for your ship to come in is a sure way to miss the boat."

Alfred Cawthorne Wins NASA Science Contest

Sixteen-year-old Alfred Cawthorne, 3rd, a student at North Quincy High School won the top prize in a NASA student science competition at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Cawthorne, of 78 Willow Ave., was presented the award there by astronaut Robert Crippen.

His project, "Low G Osteogenic Abnormality," was judged the best of 1,500 entries in the Space Science Student Involvement Program, and proposes a study of the effect of zero gravity on the bones of astronauts in space.

His entry also won him a $3,000 scholarship from World Book Inc. in memory of Christa McAuliffe, the New Hampshire school teacher killed aboard Challenger when it exploded Jan. 28.

Cawthorne, whose father is a science teacher at North Quincy High, will be a junior there this fall.

The competition is a joint venture between NASA and the National Science Teachers Association aimed at giving secondary school students a chance to devise experiments that might one day be performed in orbit.

His Flower Garden Is 'A Labor Of Love'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

David Erickson is a Quincy school teacher with a gift for helping flowers grow in addition to students.

And the result is a colorful 25-by-12 foot garden on Miller Stile Road, Quincy Center, which provides a welcome respite to those who walk by it.

"We get lots of comments from people who see the garden on their way to and from work," said Erickson, a fifth grade teacher at the Daniel Webster School for 16 years.

The garden, which is in continuous bloom during the spring, summer and fall, includes annuals and perennials.

There are hollyhocks, foxgloves, tulips and other flowers, as well as Japanese lanterns and bird feeders which attract such birds as cardinals.

A red fence bears inscriptions such as "Look forward, not backward," and Helen Keller's quote, "It's terrible to be blind, but worse to have eyes and not see."

There is even a bench in front of the garden on which the elderly and others can sit which says, "Rest a while."

"It's a labor of love," said Erickson. "Houses should reflect a person's philosophy."

"My wife, Ruth, and I are sharing our philosophy."

The garden is actually constructed on part of Erickson's driveway. "We only have 6500 square feet for the house and all," he explained.

"There's nothing aesthetic about blacktop," said Erickson, who first poured earth over his driveway four years ago.

He salvaged a large boulder after a water main break in the area, and began to build the garden around the stone.

"I collect a lot of things rather than throw them away," said Erickson. "Nothing is obsolete."

"There's always a sense of recycling everything, flowers or objects."

For example, Erickson used in the garden material thrown out after parts of the Daniel Webster was remodeled.

Portions of the fence are from American Fence Co. which discarded them as firewood.

He buys plants which have been marked down in price.

"I try to rejuvenate them," said Erickson, who sometimes shares his flowers.

"I gave some flowers to one lady and she said 'you'll be hearing from me.' A while later, I found a whole box of different kinds of flowers which I don't have," Erickson said.

"There's a nice sense of sharing or trading."

A graduate of agricultural college with a degree in horticulture, Erickson also keeps a garden in his cellar.

He is a member of the Arbor Day foundation as well.

"I like to plant trees. We've planted many trees at the Blue Hills, recently in memory of the late teacher Mary Lou Glaman," he said.

"People and nature are one and the same," said Erickson. "We never should get too far from one another. That's the basic foundation."

First Islamic Mosque In N.E. To Be Built Here

The Arab American Banner Society of Quincy announced plans for the construction in Quincy Point of the first Islamic Mosque in New England.

The $25,000 mosque would serve the two-fold function as a house of worship and to perpetuate the rich heritage of Arabic culture.

Prominent Arabic-speaking citizens of Quincy Point of the Moslem faith were taking the leadership in raising funds. Officers of the Arab society were Abdo Hassan, president; Fanthal Hassan, treasurer and Aziz Abraham, secretary.

Quincy point, with some 200 Arabic-speaking Moslems, had one of the largest groups of Moslems in this section of the country.

COUNCILLOR AUSTIN URGES CITY HALL SITE COMMITTEE

Councillor Edna Austin announced that she would introduce a resolve asking the city manager to appoint a committee to recommend a site for a new city hall.

Councillor Austin pointed out that the present city hall was more than one hundred years old and housed a comparatively small part of the various municipal operations.

"The rent which the city now pays for office space would go far toward amortizing a loan for a new city hall," she said.

NAVY SHIFTS HOUSING UNITS FROM WEYMOUTH TO SQUAMTUM

The 150-family units housing development which the U.S. Navy originally planned to build at the South Weymouth Air Facility would instead be built at the Squantum Naval Air Station.

The site change was made because with the expansion of the South Weymouth facility there would not be enough room for the housing development.

Have You Really Looked At The Litter And Weeds?

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As a historic, thriving municipality Quincy has much to be proud of.

But, perhaps every citizen should take a visitor's look at the city. Have you really looked lately at the litter, at the rampant growth of enormous weeds everywhere?

Each of us is responsible for the litter. Every carelessly dropped gum wrapper adds to the volume. The trash is unsightly but relatively harmless but the weeds are another matter. Their roots are breaking up pavement, making openings into which water will flow and freeze in winter. Then expansion and contraction with changes of winter weather will break up the pavement and we'll all be screaming for street and sidewalk repair - which is expensive. Then we'll complain bitterly about the money spent on roads and sidewalks.

No one can help but notice the extraordinary weed growth at every curb and in every open area. Last winter's left-over sand collected in the gutters and encouraged growth of trees, let alone weeds. There are young maples by the hundred growing in the gutters. Had we, as householders, swept that sand up in April, there would be no weeds there, and the sand could be re-used on walks and driveways next winter.

So - let the other fellow do it? Let the city do it? Let the state do it? No! Let's you and I do it.

Our civic associations and community organizations could promote a community clean-up. We should also get after the city to do its share. There are areas that are definitely the city's responsibility. There should be a citizen demand for the city to do its part. Each individual call to City Hall helps.

Places of business should also be made aware of their responsibility for keeping their property, especially parking areas, clean and attractive. Seek out your supermarket manager, your convenience store manager, the merchants in our many shopping centers to cooperate in keeping the city clean.

If they hear no complaints, how are they to know we care?

Neighbors should help each other or even cooperate in cleaning up a vacant area near them.

This is a democracy; a government by the people. We are apt to forget that because we are so used to city services. A special effort by each citizen of Quincy, a little personal care, will make a big difference.

In Sun Spotlight Colpitts Offers The Right Travel Combination For Wherever You Are Going

By DAN CONNELLY

If you're looking for just the right combination to get more out of your vacation, business trip, or group tour, then Ruth Maurer has the key at her Colpitts Travel Center in Quincy.

The agency which she owns and manages is located at 1550 Hancock St., where a gallery of posters and racks of brochures are exhibited and magnetize you, or your pampered companion of your choice, as you exchange comments of where to go all over the world.

Her romance with the travel business has been going on since 1973, "and I still love it," she says.

"I simply enjoy helping and working with people. Our aim here is to have our clients look back in time and say they were satisfied we provided them with an extraordinary travel package, whether it's a vacation on Cape Cod, a business trip to other major cities, an island in the sun, or Egypt," she added.

She says that, thanks to an improved economic climate, folks in her profession are seeking a greater number of the young and single, the married couple with two incomes, and older Americans dominate the travel scene today.

"The foundation of running such an agency like this is providing full service with an abundant quality of knowledge to guide the customer in the complex travel market without a lot of hassle," Maurer added.

"Whether it's honeymooners, vacationers, business travel,

LAST YEAR, WE SENT $37 HOME TO MA

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

*Year ending June 30, 1985

* * Year ending June 30, 1986

We at the Massachusetts State Lottery are very proud of this list.

We're proud because we started the Lottery with the intention of bringing more money into Massachusetts' cities and towns without having to resort to huge tax increases. And we accomplished just that. In fact, in fiscal year 1986, we put over $375 million back into our neighborhoods. That represents $1 out of every $5 in local aid received by your community.

These revenues continue to increase year after year. From 1985 to 1986, revenues in nearly all of the 351 communities in Massachusetts showed a significant gain.

Clearly, The Massachusetts State Lottery has been very successful at running some very lucrative as well as wonderfully entertaining games.

So, remember, when you play Megabucks, The Numbers Game, or The Instant Games, you're not only taking a chance at winning some great cash prizes. You're also helping out good 'ole MA.

Robert Q. Crane

STATE TREASURER AND CHAIRMAN OF THE LOTTERY COMMISSION

THE LOTTERY

<sup>1</sup> Proceeds are distributed in two ways: 1. Revenue for the Weekly Game, Instant Games and Daily Numbers Game is distributed twice yearly directly under G.L. c.10 § 35 (c) 2. Revenue from Megabucks (Arts Lottery) is distributed to the State Arts Lottery Fund and the Local Aid Fund under G.L. c.10 § 35 B (b). The figures for cities and towns are derived from the direct distribution and the Arts Lottery contribution to the Local Aid Fund. Totals are determined by local aid figures for each city and town as calculated by the Department of Revenue divided by the percent contribution provided by the Arts Lottery revenues.

Canisters Available To Help Jerry's Kids

For the past nine years, Quincy kids have been helping Jerry's Kids by raising money with canisters.

Canisters are available at The Quincy Sun, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

Youngsters can take a canister around their neighborhood to help fill the fishbowl.

This year, The Sun pledge center will be located aboard the Edmund Fitzgerald at Marina Bay, Squantum. The Sun fishbowl will be on the boardwalk in front of the Edmund Fitzgerald.

To help those with canisters to get to Marina Bay, a free bus shuttle will run from The Sun to Marina Bay and back throughout Monday.

Those returning canisters to the fishbowl will receive prizes.

Quincy Receives Over $5 Million From Lottery

The City of Quincy received $5,759,950 in fiscal 1986 from the Mass. Lottery Commission, an increase of $1,158,165 over fiscal 1985.

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane in announcing the Quincy figure, said all 28 communities comprising Norfolk County received an increase in disbursement of funds from the lottery. This totaled $30,817,976.

Statewide cities and towns got back $375 million from the lottery, he said.

STATE TREASURER Robert Q. Crane outlines an annual report which indicates that lottery revenue to cities and towns in fiscal 1986 amounted to $375 million.

"From a modest beginning of $22 million net for the first nine months of operation in 1972 the lottery has earned $1.4 billion for 351 cities and towns through June 30 of this year," he said.

The $375 million earned for the cities and towns is distributed in three ways.

The law establishing the lottery included a direct aid formula which distributes the proceeds from the Weekly Game, Instant Games, the Daily Numbers Game and a small amount from Beano operations to the 351 cities and towns twice yearly. Checks are sent with each community's share in June and December. In fiscal 1986, that totaled $175 million.

When the Arts Lottery, Megabucks, was established in 1982, the law provided that the first $3 million in net income be made available to the State Arts Lottery Council for distribution to local arts councils. That amount was raised to $5 million recently.

The remainder of the net income is sent back to the cities and towns through the normal local aid channels, and that totaled $200,762,235 last year. That money is then factored into all of the distribution formulas for school aid and general government.

H & R Block To Offer Tax Schools Throughout Boston & South Shore Area

Thousands of people are learning to prepare income tax returns.

H & R Block, the world's largest income tax preparation service, is offering a basic income tax course starting the week of September 8th with morning and evening classes available. Classes will be held in H & R Block offices throughout the Boston and South Shore areas.

During the 14 week course, students will study all phases of income tax preparation and receive actual experience in preparing individual returns. Experienced Block personnel will teach current laws, theory, and application as practiced in Block offices nationwide. There is a classroom lecture on each subject and practice problems at every level. Courses are programmed to teach students increasingly complex tax problems as study progresses. Students will find the course both interesting and challenging.

Anyone may enroll. There are no restrictions or qualifications. Courses are ideally suited for housewives, retired persons, teachers, or anyone wanting to increase their tax knowledge.

Qualified course graduates may be offered job interviews for positions with Block. Many accept employment with Block because of the flexible hours available. However, Block is under no obligation to offer employment, nor are graduates under any obligation to accept employment with H & R Block. Those students that are employed by Block however may be eligible for a rebate of the tuition paid to attend the course.

Registration forms and a brochure for the income tax course may be obtained by contacting the H & R Block district office at 19 Commercial Street, E. Braintree, MA 02184, telephone (617) 848-4240.

This course is regulated by the Massachusetts Department of Education. H & R Block is a member of the Massachusetts Association of Private Career Schools.

October Pre-Schooler Programs At Library

Programs for pre-schoolers will begin at the Thomas Crane Public Library in October. Jane Granstrom, Supervisor of Children's Services, announces,

"Toddler Time" enters its third season and will again be held at the Adams Shore Branch Library under the direction of Lori Seagraber, children's librarian. This proven program brings parents, their two and three year old children, and library resources together in an open and enriching environment. Toddler Time will be held Tuesdays at 10:30, beginning Oct. 7. For more information contact Miss Seagraber at Adams Shore.

"Picture Book Story Hours," which are standard fare in public libraries nationwide, will be conducted at the Central Library in Quincy Sq. on Thursdays, beginning Oct. 9 at 10:30 under the direction of children's librarian Nancy Brief-Pilz.

The Wollaston Branch Library on Beale St. is also the site of Picture Book Story Hours scheduled for Fridays at 10 a.m. beginning Oct. 10, with Marian Cicciariella, children's librarian. These programs are open for four and five year olds and expose youngsters to storytelling, reading aloud, book talks, fingerplays, films and filmstrips.

Three series of film programs for children three years old and older will also be offered this fall. Two series will be held at the North Quincy Branch Library where Mary Raux is children's librarian. One begins Wednesday, Oct. 8, at 10 a.m., the other on Friday, Oct. 9, at 10.

The film program series at the Central Library in Quincy Square begins Thursday, Oct. 9, at 1 p.m. These film programs now a Quincy tradition, not only offer the best in movies for children but also offer an introduction to books and fingerplays.

Registration for these programs begins after Labor Day and is held at all library units. Anyone wishing more information may call the Central Children's Room at 471-2400, ext. 38.

Congregation Preaches Sermon To One Person At Squantum First Church

In an unusual departure from the traditional pattern, the sermon in the early service at the First Church of Squantum Sunday was preached by the whole congregation to one person.

Since one member of the congregation, Susan Scott, will be leaving Quincy this week to go to college in Vermont, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor asked everyone in the congregation

Sunday to help him preach the sermon particularly to Susan.

It was entitled, "Your Going Out and Your Coming In." The text was taken from Psalm 121: "The Lord will keep your going out and your coming in from this time forth and for evermore."

Members of the congregation worked with each other in small groups to derive their message from various newspaper clippings that the pastor distributed and from the biblical text. By the time the service was over, each person present had the opportunity to say something personally to Susan about the Christian faith that she will take with her.

Guitarists Mary Ruth Scott and Andrew Ogilvie accompanied the Hymns. Deborah Stohlberg and Kristen Reister served as the ushers. Deborah Stohlberg was also in charge of the refreshments for the service.

During the second service,

Dr. Langevin spoke on the subject, "Time Off With God." His text was taken from Psalm 46: "Be still, and know that I am God." In his sermon, the pastor gave the worshippers a devotional pattern for their own quiet times.

The hymns included "O Worship the King, All Glorious Above," "Be Still, My Soul," and "Now, O Lord, Go With Us." Mary Ruth Scott played the organ. Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were the ushers. Grace Holmes and May Lewis were in charge of the Fellowship Hours after the service.

There will be two services again this Sunday: the guitar service at 8:15 a.m. and the traditional service at 9:30 a.m. On the following Sunday, Sept. 7, the church will return to the fall schedule of services, 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m.

Islamic Center To Celebrate New Year

The Islamic Center of New England, 470 South St., Quincy, will celebrate the beginning of the Islamic New Year with a special program Sunday, Sept. 7, at 11 a.m.

The beginning of the Islamic New Year based on the lunar calendar, Hijrah 1407, is Friday, Sept. 5. All are welcome to attend the celebration.

For more information, call 479-8341.

'The Conscience Ticks Away' Bethany Church Sermon Topic

There will be one service Sunday, Aug. 31, at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon "The Conscience Ticks Away," based on texts from the Bible in Acts 19:23-28 and the Gospel of Luke 14:7-14. The lay scripture reader will be Robert Leo Eng.

Edmund A. Aluisi, clarinetist, will play two classical Mozart selections: as the meditative solo, "Allegro moderato" from Concert K622, and "Alleluia" as the offertory. Peter E. Krasinski will be at the organ console.

Nursery care will be provided during the worship service for babies and toddlers, with Wendy Eng as the attendant.

The worship service will be broadcast live at 10 a.m.

Sunday over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc.

There will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor beginning at 11 a.m.

Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship.

For additional information about Bethany's programs and ministries please contact the church office at 479-7300.

'Things Still Sacred' Sermon Topic At Covenant Congregational

Because of the wet conditions from Saturday night's rain, the 10 a.m. worship service of Aug. 24, was held in the sanctuary of Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

Rev. Fred Lawson preached about "Things Still Sacred; specifically, the Bible, the Church, and the Family." The scripture lessons were taken from Genesis 2:21-25 and Matthew 16:13-19.

Special music was provided by Rev. Lawson, who sang "O Wondrous Joy," by G. Danielson. He was accompanied on the organ by Karen Nelson. The hymns were: "When Morning Gilds the Skies," "O For a Thousand Tongues to Sing," and "God of Grace and God of Glory."

The ushering team consisted of Trudy Acker,

Anna Day, Etta Erickson and Virginia Sylvester. The coffee hour following the service in the fellowship hall was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Nelson.

This Sunday, Reverend Lawson's sermon will be: "The Bible Speaks To Worries." The choir will start the fall season by meeting for a rehearsal at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 27. Sunday School begins Sept. 14.

Healthy Mom, Baby Program

Quincy City Hospital is sponsoring a two-session program, "Early Pregnancy - For Healthy Mom and Healthy Baby," for expectant women in the early stages of pregnancy, beginning Thursday, Sept. 11.

The program, for women only, will cover the emotional and physical changes of pregnancy, fetal development, nutrition, exercises and other information that will guide mothers-to-be in making important decisions for themselves and their baby.

Classes will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on consecutive Thursdays, in the Childbirth Education Classroom in the Family-Centered Maternity Unit. Expectant women, regardless of their hospital affiliation, may call 773-6100, ext. 3017, to register or to receive a brochure. The program is free to all participants.

In addition, Quincy City Hospital offers classes in Sibling Orientation and Breastfeeding. The Family-Centered Maternity Unit also has available for low-cost rental, car seats for infants. This program is in response to the Massachusetts law, requiring that children under the age of five be properly secured in a restraining car seat or seat belt while riding in a motor vehicle.

For information about these or other family and parent education courses sponsored by Quincy City Hospital, call 773-6100, and ask for the Family-Centered Maternity Unit.

Blood Pressure Screenings At Quincy Hospital

Quincy City Hospital will conduct a free blood pressure screening for the general public Tuesday, Sept. 2, in the Ambulatory Care Department from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

The screenings, performed by nursing staff, will enable individuals to keep track of their blood pressure, and be aware of dangerous elevations in the pressure. Persons in need of referral to a physician, will be advised to do so.

The screenings, which will take place on the first and third Tuesday of each month, are free of charge.

Quincy Sun Pledge Center Goes On Location

(Cont'd from Page 1)

Win Bettinson, Herb Fontaine, Charles Ross and Bill Coleman will be behind the microphone and also helping out behind the phones.

Activities at The Sun pledge center will be carried via delayed tape over an American Cablesystem cable TV network to nine South Shore communities starting at 11 a.m. Monday.

The program will be seen on Ch. 3 and Sun Ch. 8 in Quincy and Ch. 8 in Milton and Randolph. It will also be seen in Cohasset, Hingham, Hanover, Hull, Norwell and Scituate.

Reporting the activities will be Sun Ch. 8's John Noonan, Leslie Thompson and Frank Cammarata.

There will be music by the Quincy High School Alumni Band, Just One Look, Baron Hugo, the 25-piece Richard Whitmarsh Circus Band, the Fair City Band.

Entertainment will include the Rockettes Alumni, The Canton Fire Department will have a dunking booth.

Anyone donating $1 or more to The Sun fishbowl will be eligible to win a $350 Toshiba microwave oven donated by John Poreca of Vesco, Inc., Copeland St., West Quincy.

The first 50 people donating $5 or more to the fishbowl will receive two tickets to the Wollaston Theater donated by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chandler.

Back to greet youngsters outside the pledge center in front of the Edmund Fitzgerald will be Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Fred Flintstone, Tweetie Bird and Sylvester. And, from McDonald's of Quincy, Grimace, Hamburglar and Birdie The Early Bird.

Also appearing will be a clown from Clowns of America, who will paint clown faces on children for a $1 donation to the fishbowl. This year's 21st annual national telethon will air live for the fifth consecutive year from Caesars Palace in Las Vegas starting Sunday at 9 p.m.

Last year's telethon was the most successful in its history, raising over $33 million in pledges.

Jerry Lewis will be joined during the 21-1/2 hour show by Ed McMahon as co-host and by many stars including: Liza Minelli, Robert Wagner, Ann-Margaret, James Caan, Elliot Gould, Betty White, George Peppard, Richard Moll, Roberta Loggia, Don Stroud, Danny Pintauro and many others.

In the Greater Boston area, the show will be carried by

Ch. 5 with Natalie Jacobson and Chet Curtis as co-hosts.

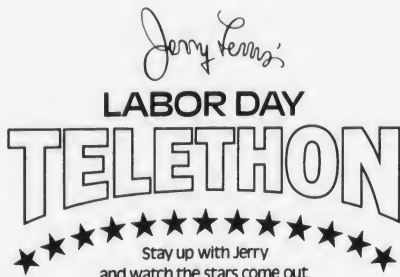

Ch. 5 will telecast live periodically out of Marina Bay starting with a Telethon Kickoff Gala Sunday night from Amelia's Restaurant. Ch. 5 personalities will be on hand Monday for live telecast reports from the Marina Bay boardwalk.

Representatives from The Quincy Sun pledge center and the Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee will be among those appearing on Ch. 5 from Marina Bay and on the American Cablesystems cable TV network.

Money raised by the telethon supports MDA's worldwide research effort and nationwide service programs that help people with any of the 40 neuro-muscular diseases covered by the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

MDA currently sponsors some 500 individual research projects worldwide and supports some 240 hospital affiliated outpatient clinics nationwide where those with any of the 40 disorders receive a wide variety of medical services.

MDC clinics serving the Quincy-South Shore area are at Boston University Medical Center, Children's Hospital, New England Medical Center and Massachusetts General Hospital.

WJDA To Cover Pledge Center Activities

For the 10th straight year, Quincy radio station WJDA will team with The Quincy Sun to help Jerry's Kids.

WJDA (1300) will provide live coverage of activities at the Quincy-South Shore telethon pledge center.

The pledge center based the past nine years at The Quincy

Sun this year will operate out of the Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant at Marina Bay, Squantum.

WJDA will begin coverage at 7 a.m. Monday and continue with reports every half hour until the end of the telethon Monday night.

Roy Lind, Herb Fontaine,

Win Bettinson, Charles Ross, and Bill Coleman will give progress reports, interview volunteers working at the pledge center and those making donations to the pledge center.

The number to call to make a pledge is the same as last year's: 328-6622.

Pledge Center On Cable TV Network Monday

Activities at The Quincy Sun pledge center aboard the Edmund Fitzgerald at Marina Bay, Squantum will be carried over an American Cablesystems cable TV network to nine South Shore communities Labor Day.

The telecast, via delayed videotape, will start at 11 a.m. Monday on Ch. 3 and Sun Ch. 8 in Quincy and on Ch. 8 in Milton and Randolph.

It will also be shown in Hingham, Scituate, Norwell, Cohasset, Hanover and Hull. This is the third year of the cable network coverage.

The Quincy-South Shore pledge center which has been based at The Quincy Sun the last nine years, will operate out of the Edmund Fitzgerald Sunday night and all day Monday.

Ed Fiddler of Quincy Cablesystems will coordinate the TV coverage, assisted by Bob Gohl of Sun Ch. 8 and volunteers from Quincy Cablesystems.

Hosts for the program will be Henry Bosworth, publisher of The Quincy Sun and Richard Koch, Sr., executive secretary of the Quincy Park Recreation Board who are co-chairmen of the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee and John Noonan and Leslie Thompson of Sun Ch. 8.

$889,314 Raised Here By Telethon Committee

The Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee has raised $889,314 the past nine years to help Jerry's Kids.

The figure represents money raised at special events, telethon pledges and fishbowl receipts up to Dec. 31, 1985.

It does not include any of this year's special events proceeds which won't be completely tabulated until Labor Day.

Last year the committee raised $96,635. This includes $40,207 in pledges and $7,216 in fishbowl receipts at The Sun pledge center and $49,212 in special events.

Quincy Sun publisher Henry Bosworth and Richard Koch, Sr., executive secretary of the Quincy Park Recreation Board are co-chairmen of the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon committee.

This year, the pledge center will operate out of the Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant at Marina Bay, Squantum.

Communities coming under the committee and pledge center are Quincy, Braintree, Cohasset, Hingham, Hull, Milton, Randolph, Weymouth and Scituate.

The number to call to make a pledge is the same as last year's: 328-6622.

Microwave Oven Pledge Center Prize

A $1 donation to the fishbowl at The Quincy Sun pledge center will make you eligible to win a $350 microwave oven over the Labor Day weekend.

The Sun pledge center this year will operate out of the Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant at Marina Bay, Squantum.

The fishbowl will be set up on the boardwalk near the Edmund Fitzgerald.

The Toshiba microwave ovens being donated by John Poreca of Vesco, Inc., 273 Copeland St., West Quincy.

The 1.0 cubic foot touch-tone microwave oven has nine power levels, jet defrost, a carousel dish, a temperature probe and comes with a cookbook.

This is the ninth consecutive year Poreca has donated a large prize to help Jerry's Kids. He has given seven other microwave ovens, a color TV set and a color game computer in the past.

The lucky name from among those donating $1 to the fishbowl will be drawn at the end of the telethon Monday.

The Sun pledge center will be open from 8 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. and Monday from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

12 Organizations Sponsoring Telephones

Twelve organizations are sponsoring telephones at The Quincy Sun telethon pledge center which this year will operate out of the Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant at Marina Bay, Squantum.

Richard J. Koch, Sr., chairman of the Telethon Patron Program and telethon co-chairman, notes that by paying for the use of the 12 phones, the organizations are allowing money it would have cost for the phones, to go instead to MDA research and patient care.

The 12 organizations doing their part to help Jerry's Kids are:

Colman's Sporting Goods, Granite Cooperative Bank, Quincy Firefighters Local 792, Quincy City Club;

Quincy Kiwanis Club; Quincy Koch Club; Quincy Lions Club; Quincy Rotary Club; Quincy Sons of Italy; Quincy Municipal Credit Union; Sacred Heart Church and Riley & Rielly Insurance agency.

Call 328-6622 starting at 9 p.m. Sunday night and you will ring one of these phones.

100 Wollaston Theater Tickets To Be Awarded

One hundred tickets to the Wollaston Theater will be awarded at The Quincy Sun Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Center which this year is being set up at the Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant at Marina Bay, Squantum. The first 50 people donating $5 or more to the fishbowl will receive two tickets each to the theater.

The tickets are being donated by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chandler, owners of the theater.

This is the eighth year in a row the Chandlers have donated 100 tickets.

Mickey, Donald, Grimace, Hamburglar At Center

Those popular, lovable characters who helped raise funds for Jerry's Kids down through the years at The Quincy Sun pledge center will be back again this Labor Day weekend.

They will be roaming the boardwalk at Marina Bay near The Sun pledge center which this year is operating out of the Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant.

On land will be Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Fred Flintstone, Tweetie Bird, and Sylvester through the courtesy of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association's Christmas Festival Committee.

Also appearing from McDonald's of Quincy will be Grimace, Hamburglar and Birdie The Early Bird.

Free Shuttle Bus From Sun To Marina Bay

A free shuttle bus service will be provided from The Quincy Sun to Marina Bay and back on Labor Day.

Those wishing to donate to The Sun fishbowl in front of the Edmund Fitzgerald at Marina Bay or youngsters returning canisters will be taken to and from Marina Bay.

The shuttle bus will run hourly.

The Quincy-South Shore Telethon pledge center which has been based at The Sun the past nine years will operate out of the Edmund Fitzgerald this year.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Employers who supply statistics and reports on labor matters are increasingly disturbed about the apparent problem of job dissatisfaction. Their concern is not limited to the blue collar worker alone. It includes categories of white collar workers also. Studies show the dissatisfaction is not always due to dull, repetitious, tire-some jobs. In some cases, at least, an element of self respect is involved. A job which is not intrinsically valuable is felt to be dehumanizing. When people work solely for financial gain, with little or no pride in their work to maintain quality, it is unfortunate. Surprisingly, what is not generally realized is job dissatisfaction can cause a decline in physical and mental health.

Of course there are many, many people who are not disenchanted with their work. They enjoy it and do it well. And most people want to work. The idea of not working is repugnant to them. No job is perfect. Every job has its faults. If you are relatively happy MOST of the time (as most people are), you have cause to be thankful. Very thankful!

WICKENS AND TROUPE FUNERAL HOME

26 Adams Street, Quincy, Massachusetts 02169
Telephone (617) 472-5888

There are many misconceptions about funeral costs. That's not surprising, really, as there are other charges involved in a funeral, then those of the funeral director. . . cemetery or cremation charge . . . monuments or markers . . . newspaper death notices and flowers. Many also believe that funeral directors will not discuss funeral or burial costs frankly and specifically. Nothing could be further from the truth. Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., adjacent to the Quincy Historical Society Home, stands ready to give you whatever cost information you desire at any time. Roger Hamel, Donald McCarthy and Joseph Thompson are thoroughly trained in the profession they have chosen and ready to discuss frankly, funeral cost information. Call the pre-need specialists of Quincy and the South Shore, Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home at 472-5888. That's 472-5888.

Milton L. Saffer, 67 Owned Auto Salvage Firm

A funeral service for Milton L. Saffer, 67, of Quincy, was held Sunday at Temple Beth El Quincy, conducted by Rabbi Jacob Mann, Rabbi David Jacobs and Cantor Morris Semigran.

Mr. Saffer, co-owner of Saffer's Auto Salvage for many years, died Aug. 22 at his business after a brief illness.

A lifelong resident of Quincy, Mr. Saffer was a graduate of Quincy High School and Northeastern University. With his brother, Marvin Saffer of Canton, he operated the auto parts and salvage business at 473 Quincy Ave., that his father started during the 1920s.

Mr. Saffer served in the Army in Greenland during World War II and was a member of the Jewish War Veterans. He was also on the board of directors of Temple Beth El and served as president of the Massachusetts Auto Wreckers Association from 1968 to 1970.

He is survived by his wife, Rita (Cooper) Saffer of Quincy; a son, Gary Saffer of Stoughton; a daughter, Hollie Blaustein of Sharon; a brother, Marvin Saffer of Canton; a sister, Adeline Levine of Quincy; and three grandchildren.

Memorial week is being observed at the family residence.

Burial was at Sharon Memorial Park.

Memorial contributions may be made to Temple Beth El, 1001 Hancock St., Quincy.

Mary K. Lynch, 92

A funeral Mass for Mary K. "Mac" (O'Connor) Lynch, 92, of Quincy, a retired bookkeeper and secretary, was celebrated Aug. 22 in St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Mrs. Lynch died Aug. 19 at the John Scott Nursing Home in Braintree after a long illness.

Born in Boston, she had lived in Cambridge and New York before moving to Quincy 15 years ago.

She was employed by the Strand Theater chain before retiring in 1961.

Wife of the late Michael F. Lynch, she is survived by two nephews, Clifford McNulty and John McNulty, both of Florida; and a niece, Dorothy Spaulding of Suffield, Conn.

Burial was in Holywood Cemetery in Brookline.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Alfred Marasca, 83

A funeral service for Alfred Marasca, 83, of Quincy, was held Aug. 22 in the Cartwright Funeral Home, Randolph.

Mr. Marasca died Aug. 19 in Quincy City Hospital.

A native of Italy, he had lived in Jamaica Plain before moving to Quincy three years ago.

He was a mattress factory upholsterer for many years.

O'Flaherty, Richard Win Fallon Cup

John O'Flaherty, with partner Ray Richard of Plymouth Country Club, won the championship of the 47th Fallon Cup member-guest tournament over the weekend at the Wollaston Golf Club for the third time.

The only golfer to win the tournament more times than O'Flaherty is Eddie Morgan who, with John Tosca Jr., has won it four times.

Each of O'Flaherty's titles has been with a different partner. Ben Murphy and Brendan Davis were his previous championship partners.

Richard contributed heavily to the win from the qualifying round on. Previously he had played in the tournament with Bernie Lynch Sr. in 1981 and last year but hadn't won.

In the title match O'Flaherty and Richard defeated Ian Harrison and Rich Cunha, 2 and 1.

In the semifinals O'Flaherty and Richard defeated defending champions Jerry Driscoll and Carl Leone, 2 and 1, and Harrison and Cunha defeated Brad Cartwright and Dave Cronin, 3 and 2.

Jake Glancy and Biff Mulcahy won the first flight title by defeating Paul and Steve Zine, 2-up.

In the semifinals it was Glancy and Mulcahy over Charlie Fellows and Don Reycroft, 3 and 2, and Zine and Zine over Emmett Maguire and Dennis Monahan, 5 and 4.

In the second flight Paul Murphy and Dave Farina defeated Mike Burke and Craig Ghio, 3 and 2, for the title.

In the semifinals it was Burke and Ghio over Gus Bosworth and John Siddell, 1-up, and Murphy and Farina over Tom Sogin and Bob Rosata in 20 holes.

The third flight was won by Dave Cifino and Brian Hill, who defeated Peter Van Wart and Bob Buckley, 3 and 2, in the finals.

In the semifinals Van Wart and Buckley defeated Mario Labadini and Russ Murphy, 3 and 1, and Cifino and Hill eliminated Joe Plunkett and Paul Seddon, 3 and 2.

In the fourth flight it was Gene Ferguson and Dick Howland over Tony Wine and Tom Harrington, 1-up, in the finals.

In the semifinals it was Wine and Harrington over Joe and Jack Moran, in 19 holes, and Ferguson and Howland over George Gales and Jim Pyles, 3 and 1.

The fifth flight championship went to Mike Brandon and Dick Blomstrom, who defeated Bill Walsh and Larry Kelly, 7 and 6, in the finals.

In the semifinals Walsh and Kelly defeated Henry DiRico and Paul Ochs, 1-up, and Brandon and Blomstrom defeated Mike DiStasio and Kevin Folan, in 20 holes.

In consolation finals Bill Foley and Jim Ahern defeated Steve Gardner and Mark Ludtke, 1-up, in the championship flight; Tom Quinn and George Smithy defeated Ken Mulvaney and Paul DiFederico, 1-up, in the first flight; Paul Luttrell and Jim Doyle defeated Bo Holland and Dave Driscoll, 2 and 1, in the second flight; John and Richie McGovern defeated Dick and Ed Clasby, 3 and 2, in the third flight; Joe Higgins and George Crowe defeated Bernie Lovely and Jay Schiott, 1-up, in the fourth flight, and Jim Higgins and Larry Block defeated Frank O'Neill and Paul Riordan, 2-up, in the fifth flight.

On Injured Reserve List Dudek Still With Denver After 40-Player Cut

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Denver Broncos have cut nearly 40 players and North Quincy's Joe Dudek, the all-time collegiate scoring leader from Plymouth State College, is still with the NFL team.

However, the former North Quincy High standout has been placed on injured reserve due to a sore shoulder and will be out of action for at least four weeks.

Dudek, who played in all three Bronco exhibition games, is one of five players placed on injured reserve.

"Dudek is suffering from a left shoulder impingement, which has been bothering him throughout training camp and the preseason," Coach Dan Reeves said.

Dudek will be allowed to resume full-contest workouts in four weeks. He can be activated any time after that if his name clears the recall waiver wire.

Dudek has been used mostly on the special teams and, according to Reeves, "is a promising young player who has worked hard in the preseason."

Joe is one of three free agents fighting for the only open running back spot and former Boston College back Ken Bell appears to have the inside track.

Dudek was not particularly upset and took the news in stride. He will be on the Broncos' payroll for at least another four weeks and said, "maybe for the first time in my life, it's fortunate that I got injured."

Prior to Denver's exhibition opener, Dudek had taken part in two scrimmages and, after feeling good after the first, was disappointed in his performance in the second.

"I was terrible," said Dudek after the second scrimmage, apparently being too hard on himself. "I'm trying to do too much out there. I fumbled twice and this team bases everything on having no turnovers. If I keep doing that, I'm not going to be around. I'm really upset."

In the first scrimmage with his peers (rookies and free agents), Dudek, who set 23 NCAA records at Plymouth State and is the all-time collegiate scoring leader, gained 21 yards on his first carry and finished with 47 yards in seven rushes. He was the shining light in that workout.

In the second scrimmage with the veterans included, his figures weren't that much different as he carried 10 times for 54 yards, including the night's longest run of 18 yards, and caught a pass for five yards, but he was still disappointed.

On his team's first play from scrimmage, he caught a Gary Kubiak pass but could not keep it away from the search-and-strip technique showed him by veteran linebacker Ricky Hunley.

A Mike Hold pass caromed off his shoulder pads, the result of lost concentration.

He tripped over a blocker's foot on a sweep that could have been a big gainer. He wound up with a three-yard gain.

After another three-yard gain he fumbled.

"I was just too out of control," he said. "It just wasn't working for me. The pass I dropped I saw the linebacker coming and I wanted to catch it and cut back against the grain. I should have thought first about catching it. I've got to stick to the basics. I'm just trying to make the team. I've got to remember that."

Broncos backfield coach Nick Nicolau wasn't nearly as critical of Dudek's performance as was Joe himself.

"The first scrimmage was with the rookies and free agents," said Nicolau. "The second was with the veterans around. He didn't run all over the lot, but I'll tell you one thing, a couple of times you saw it again - those bolts of lightning. If he hadn't tripped over his tight end's foot on the sweep, he'd still be running."

Nicolau was impressed with Dudek's blocking. Fullback Tony Boddie, running in the third backfield with Dudek, scored on a nine-yard run after being sprung at the line of scrimmage by Dudek's block.

"That was the guy that had the best chance of taking the play away immediately," said Nicolau, "and Dudek took him out of it. I'm watching what Joe does when the other guys run the ball, and that's got to be important to him and all our backs."

"I'm not surprised at Dudek's assessment of his own performance. A competitive athlete is never happy with failure, or what he sees as failure. That's what he's supposed to be feeling. It's a good sign."

VETERANS STADIUM Lighting Committee members Bill Myers, left, Jerry Perfetuo and committee president Bob Meenan inspect one of the holes dug by Derbes Construction Co.

EMPLOYEES of Derbes Construction Co. are shown working on one of the holes for the light poles at the stadium.

Fund Now At $42,505

Work Begins On Veterans Stadium Lighting

Work has begun at Veterans Memorial Stadium on the installation of permanent lights and it is hoped by the lighting committee that the lights will be hooked up by Labor Day.

The fund now stands at $42,505. Goal is $100,000.

"We are well on our way to reaching our goal, but we are still in need of more money to see our dream realized," said committee president Bob Meenan.

Derbes Construction Co. has donated the excavation work and has completed the digging of the holes for the poles.

Antonelli Iron Works is donating all the iron work and is providing a crane and the Ricciardi Co. is donating the concrete and doing all the concrete work.

Electricians Union Local 103 is supplying the electricians to install the lights and it is expected they will complete the work by Labor Day.

It is expected everything will be completed in time for the pre-season jamboree Friday night, Sept. 12, at which time the lights will be officially turned on.

The first night games are scheduled for Friday, Sept. 19 (North Quincy vs. Milton) and Saturday, Sept. 20 (Quincy vs. Cambridge Rindge and Latin).

In addition to the $1000 check from State Street Realty Trust, Cyril P. Morrisette Legion Post and Montilio's Bakery contributed $400 each, South Quincy Social Club $200 and A.F. Murphy Die and Machine Co. $100.

Also contributing were Nora and Norma of the school athletic department.

BOB DERBES of Derbes Construction Co. has donated the excavation work at Veterans Memorial Stadium for the installation of permanent lighting and he is shown here at work.

Police, Firefighters, City Officials, Media In MDA Doubleheader

The Quincy Firefighters will meet the Quincy Police at 6:30 tonight (Thursday) and the News Media will face the City Officials at 8 at Adams Field in the annual softball doubleheader for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy.

Last year the News Media outlasted the City Officials, 26-28, in a wild game while the Police topped the Firefighters, 8-3.

Among the city officials who will play are:

School Committeeman Frank Santoro, Building Inspector Kenneth Johnson Jr., Richard McNeice of the Cemetery Department; Mike Shaheen of the Health Department, Brian Buckley of Council On Aging, Bob Brennan, data processing; Auditor Bob Foy, Arthur Foley and Peter Kenney of the mayor's office; Personnel Director Dave Smith; Solicitor Jay McRichie, Kevin Shea, Planning Department; School Committeeman Stephen Durkin, Councillor Dick Koch Jr., Ray Cattaneo, Park Department; Councillor Ted DeCristoforo and Councillor Pat Toland.

Among those playing for the media will be John Nicholson, Bill Coleman, son of Ken Coleman, Voice of the Red Sox and a WJDA alumnus; Herb Fontaine, Susan Travers, Darlene Brown, Nancy Sheehan and Marilyn Kearsley of WJDA; Henry Bosworth, Brian O'Neill, Bob Bosworth, Fred Happel, Dave Gray, Ben Harrison, Linda Santoro, Carmen Hendrick, Debbie McCarthy, and Bob Gohl of The Quincy Sun and Bill Ketter, Earl LaChance and other members of the Patriot Ledger staff.

Because of complex airline schedules and other factors, she suggests people book well ahead when at all possible. "This wards off any problems in travel plans when they are made at the last minute," she said.

Her agency, she says, is affiliated with a firm that has been in the business of arranging travel packages for 50 years, with a solid credentials in the fine points of travel packaging.

"Some people come in and browse, take this and that brochure, ask a few questions and depart," she says. "After they leave they make their own travel plans. Later, while they are well into their vacation or business trip, things go wrong. What they thought they had, they didn't have. That's when they admit they should have let us handle their plans."

Maurer and her associates are not arm chair travelers. They've been there. That's why she says it's wise for people to go for the experienced agency.

Because with Colpitts of Quincy, it's not just where you're going, it also is important how you get there that counts.

Camp Fire Recruitment Sept. 10

Quincy Camp Fire will hold their annual Recruitment Night Wednesday, Sept. 10 at 7 p.m. at United First Parish Church, Quincy Sq.

A brief program and slide show will explain Camp Fire, a non-profit youth organization active nationwide since 1910.

Members meet weekly in small groups for arts and crafts, field trips, skill building, and community service projects. In addition, there are citywide Camp Fire activities throughout the year.

This year's program will include a trip to the Statue of Liberty, a sock hop, square dance, trips to the Children's Theatre, a splash party, talent show and ice cream social, field day, and a three day camp out in Plymouth.

The citywide project for 1986-87 will be Camp Fire's new program, "A Gift of Peace," a series of activities designed to teach the young people what peace is, what a peacemaker is, how the children themselves can be peacemakers, and what a world of peace can be.

Registration will be accepted on Recruitment Night for kindergartners in Sparks and for first through third graders in Blue Birds. Fourth and fifth graders will be accepted into Adventure level clubs.

Interested parents should make every effort to attend the event since clubs will be formed that night and priority in placement given to those present.

Membership in Camp Fire is open to boys and girls from kindergarten through high school.

Good Music, Entertainment On Tap At Sun Pledge Center

There will be plenty of good music and entertainment outside The Quincy Sun pledge center on the boardwalk at Marina Bay, Squantum, and in other areas. Labor Day.

Past favorites, Baron Hugo, the Quincy High School Alumni Band and Just One Look will be among those performing.

In addition, there will be the Richard Whitmarsh Circus Band, and the Fat City Band.

The Rockettes Alumni will also perform. The Canton Fire Department will have a dunking tank.

The 15-piece QHS Alumni Band directed by George Vallatini will start things off from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday.

The band features the sound of Glenn Miller and other big bands, jazz and show tunes.

Just One Look will play from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. in the tent and then outside the pledge center.

The 25-piece Richard Whitmarsh band will play from 1 to 3 p.m. in the vicinity of the Quincy Sun pledge center which this year will operate out of the Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant.

The Fat City Band will follow from 3 to 5 p.m.

The Rockettes Alumni will perform at noon. The Just One Look group has a sound of its own that appeals to all ages.

Singers Grace Greene and Elaine Spitz bring back memories of the top harmony teams of the past.

Also featured are Bobby McGin, a left handed guitarist and Mark Puglisi, drummer.

The group is led by Kathy Clancy, who plays piano, does the special arrangements for the band and sings and harmonizes with them.

The QHS lineup includes: Saxophones: Joseph Pearson, Jr., Laurie Aronoff, Rick Pearson, and Tim O'Leary.

Mellophones: Jayne McGowan and Lisa Merenda who is also a vocalist.

Trumpets: Matt Warner, Rick Aramian and Bob Coviello.

Trombones: Ed McGowan and Pat Sullivan.

Guitar: Mark Preble.

Percussion: Dale Solander, Paul Francis and Bryant Carter, Jr.

Fireworks, fun and festivities will be featured for the fourth annual Marina Bay Festival this Sunday.

The festival, a fun-filled day for the whole family is sponsored by O'Connell Management Company and Mayor Francis McCauley's office.

The festival will be held at Marina Bay, Squantum from 12 noon to 9:30 p.m.

The entire day's events are free and open to the public.

Quincy Choral Society Rehearsal Set For Sept. 8

The Quincy Choral Society has scheduled a rehearsal for the 1986-87 season Monday, Sept. 8, at 8 p.m. at the East Congregational Church, 610 Adams St., Milton.

Brian O'Connell will return as conductor for the society, now in its sixth season of activities.

According to society president Nancy H. Nelson of Wollaston, all experienced choral singers are invited to try out for this up-and-coming chorus. Information concerning auditions can be obtained by calling 328-5970 or 479-6343.

Nelson added that included in the program for the annual Christmas concert will be St. Saen's "Christmas Oratorio," "A Carol Cantata" (arr.), spirituals and traditional and modern carols. The concert will be performed twice at North Quincy High School.

First on Friday evening, Dec. 5, and again on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 7.

Those interested in working with the society in capacities other than singing are also welcome to join. The chorus plans to form a group to assist with concert arrangements, promotions and other related activities. Call one of the above numbers if you would like to participate.

Outsiders Win Top Taste Prizes

Time Just Wasn't Ripe For Local Tomato Growers

Obviously the time wasn't ripe for Quincy backyard gardeners and local commercial growers who saw Peter Field of Tower Hill Farm in Brimfield win the top prize in the second annual "Taste of Massachusetts Tomato" contest held last week at McIntyre Mall, City Hall Plaza.

Field was one of about 40 commercial and backyard tomato growers from all over Massachusetts who entered their vine-ripened fruit in the competition. Field's prize was $50.

Placing second in the commercial division was Julie Hyde of Gateways Farm in Weston ($35), followed in third place by Alan Wilson of Wilson Farm in Lexington ($20).

Top winner in the home-grown division was David Rose of Swansea, who was awarded $25. Placing second and third respectively in the home-grown category were Max Maire of Cohasset ($15) and Jane Hulte of Quincy ($10).

In a separate category for home-grown cherry tomatoes, the winners were Susan Puleio of Scituate, first place ($10); Clarence Snook of North Quincy, second place ($7); and Max Maire of Cohasset, third place ($5).

Sponsored by the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture and the Quincy Farmers' Market, the tomato taste-off showcased the high quality and nutritional value of Massachusetts-grown tomatoes.

CONTEST JUDGES -- Time is ripe for state tomato festival judges Paul Lopes, foreground, Phyllis Hanes, Cathy McSweeney and Alan Wilson to make their choice.

Under that program, which was launched last year at the Quincy Farmers' Market, surplus produce from farmers markets throughout Massachusetts are given to soup kitchens and other needy organizations.

Tomatoes left over from the Quincy contest were donated to area food pantries as part of the Department's "Farmers Feeding People" program.

South Quincy Italian Festival To Be Held Sept. 6

The second annual South Quincy Italian Festival will be held Sept. 6, beginning at 12:30 p.m., at Malnati's Block on Liberty St. Rain date Sunday, Sept. 7.

The festival planning committee said there will be games and prizes for children up to age 12 and will take place at the nearby Paul Grasso playground on Columbia St.

Also featured at the festival will be crafts and food with free refreshments for all children.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets said the rededication of Liberty Square Park War Memorial has been postponed.

For further information call Alba Tocci at 472-2580 or Ernie Aristide at 472-6312.

Last year's function was attended by some 1,000 people who enjoyed music, dancing, Italian food and games.

2 Quincy Girls Finalists In Mass. Teen Contest

Two Quincy girls, Leanne Peterson, 16, and Shiloh Thompson, 14, were among the four runners-up in the Miss Massachusetts Teen beauty contest recently at the Westboro Plaza Hotel.

Taryn Markey, 15, of Andover, was selected as the winner. She received $500 and will compete in the Miss Teen All-American Contest.

'Telethon Preview 1986' On Sun Ch. 8, 'Cabletalk'

A preview of this year's Quincy Sun-Jerry Lewis MDA pledge center activities and highlights of last year's will be shown on Sun Ch. 8 and Ch. 3's "Cabletalk."

"Telethon Preview 1986" will air on Sun Ch. 8 tonight (Thursday) at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. and again Friday at 6 and 8 p.m.

It will be seen on

"Cabletalk" Thursday at 9 p.m. on Ch. 3 in Quincy and the American Channel in Milton and Randolph.

Quincy Sun publisher Henry Bosworth and Richard Koch, Sr., executive secretary of the Quincy Park-Recreation Board will be the hosts.

They are co-chairmen of the Sun pledge center and the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee.

The pledge center and committee have raised almost $900,000 in the past nine years and hope to reach the $1 million mark this year.

The pledge center, based at The Quincy Sun the past nine years will this year operate out of the Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant - Marina Bay.

Lisa Beck Appointed To QJC Staff

Mrs. Lisa R. Beck was appointed Director of Extended Program Services at Quincy Junior College by the Quincy School Committee.

This is a new position falling under the Dean of Community Services.

Mrs. Beck has been the campus director of the Braintree campus for Newbury Junior College for the past three years.

Mrs. Beck was born in Boston and graduated from Milton High School. She and her husband Paul live in Situate.

"I look forward to joining the Quincy Junior College administration and to the new year," Mrs. Beck said. "I'm also looking forward to the challenge and the growth which I foresee in the program," she continued.

MOST TWO-INCOME COUPLES COULD GO FURTHER WITH TWO NEWS NETWORKS.

Staying informed and staying ahead go hand in hand. That's why so many working couples appreciate the two-sided advantage of CNN & HEADLINE NEWS—two distinct networks with two distinct formats.

They know that CNN covers all the important issues with the speed of television and the depth of a magazine. And they know that HEADLINE NEWS offers a complete world-wide newscast every 30 minutes around the clock. So the news is always current, and always convenient.

The advantages are obvious. For the hard-working couple, no combination of news works harder than CNN & HEADLINE NEWS. We give you two ways to stay informed.

STARSCOPE

By Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: August 28

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Your changing ideas can lead to a period of worthwhile introspection. Wherever you find yourself and travel is highlighted you're in demand. Don't postpone business-related calls.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Cultural and recreational activities are spotlighted throughout this period. Creativity flourishes too, but don't ignore business responsibilities. Paperwork may overwhelm you after weekend.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
You're in the limelight; this is a good week to make your pitch to a large audience. Relationships benefit from frank discussions, be sure not to rush any of these sessions.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Music is in the air; the week may find you spending time in a melodic setting. You're quite influential now; people in authority are interested in your ideas.

GEVINI - May 23-June 21
A hectic period on the job; this is a good week to prove yourself. Old debt may be repaid to you by Wednesday. Relative or old friend may be willing to sponsor your plans.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Don't be shy when it comes to offering your ideas for a community project. Your letter to the editor, for example, may bring results. Long-term relationships are favorably spotlighted.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Artistic abilities shine through this period, but be warned that your artistic temperament may easily flare up before the weekend. Searches in general pay off starting Friday.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
You're involved in sporting events, either as spectator or participant. Romance thrives on an intellectual level. If making a career choice, accent logic over impulse.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Your inquisitiveness can lead to important discoveries. People in high places are taken with your good humor and efficient systems. Best friends are of the opposite sex.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Generosity proves both an asset and a liability. Travel is highlighted, especially if new destinations are included. Ingenious ideas may require one more trip to the drawing board.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Projects are delayed; this is a fine week for getting a head start on long-term assignments. Avoid making announcements till plans are finalized. Week is upbeat for Friday.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
It's important to clear the air quickly over a family matter. In a community role, your magnetism is inspiring. Budding relationships may blossom after the weekend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You provide a sense of security to those you love. Commonsense is another winning trait. You're frugal, realistic, practical. Over the past year or years you've drawn the blueprint for a career or family related project. Your plans may come into fruition by late winter/early spring.

BORN THIS WEEK
August 28th, actor Ben Gazzara; 29th, director Richard Attenborough; 30th, actress Elizabeth Ashley; 31st, actor James Coburn; September 1st, actress Yvonne De Carlo; 2nd, singer Jean O'Brien; 3rd, actress Valerie Perrine.

VACATION HOME AND TAXES

QUESTION: I plan to rent out my vacation home. What expenses can or cannot be taken as tax deductions?

ANSWER: There are always the usual deductions for mortgage interest and property taxes. There are other deductions that also may be taken - just as you would if you owned an apartment house for an investment: depreciation, maintenance, utilities, insurance, etc. In order to take these deductions the total cannot exceed the amount of rental income (less taxes and interest) and the home cannot be occupied by the owner for more than two weeks or 10% of the rental use. However, rents are not taxable if the house is rented for less than 15 days.

KNOW THE LIMITATIONS on personal use before you rent out a vacation home.

Development Petition Drive Launched

limitation and Business C area (PUD) minimum of 1,000 square feet, he probably would support the petition.

"If it (the petition) came to me in the form presented, even though I am not happy with all of it, I could live with the overall package," McCauley said.

Planning Director James Lydon said he also generally supports the petition with the exceptions of the six-story limitation and Business C minimum of 2500 square feet. Lydon said limiting a building to six stories will result in spreading a building out and consequently reduce the amount of open public space.

Lydon also said he is against a regulation that limits the number of dwelling units in the Business C area or downtown zoning. "Downtown Quincy will not have a future if in fact it is not allowed to have some density," Lydon said.

Councillor Cheney said this same group has appeared before the City Council rezoning task force with a similar proposal. He feels that when the task force has completed its report this group as well as all the citizens of Quincy will be very pleased with the results.

Cheney added "that almost everyone I have spoken with, in and around the city, have expressed similar concerns over density and it is important we work together to preserve the quality of life while still making improvements."

Nutley said he is hopeful that by the end of October he will be able to submit a committee report to Council President Stephen McGrath.

Nutley said "I resent this group's interference in an orderly process and I also resent this rather shabby attempt to gain publicity. "This task force has been meeting all summer long, studying and reading to learn as much as we can about zoning and to see where zoning changes may or may not be needed."

"I've reviewed and studied reports on rezoning that have taken other communities two years to complete. This task force rezoning review committee is working very hard to accomplish two years of study in just four months. I suspect this group is politically motivated," he said.

Nutley said the group was given ample opportunity to prepare an oral report at a meeting of the task force on June 19.

He added the committee is scheduled to meet Sept. 11, 18 and 25. "By that time we will have submitted an interim report with our recommendations. We will continue to meet throughout October and I am hopeful that by the end of that month I can submit the final report to Council President McGrath.

At the 12 noon press conference other petition supporters who submitted their views were:

John Keenan of 83 Lincoln St., Wollaston. He said he grew up in Quincy and is not saying no to development.

But he is participating in this drive to save the city from overdevelopment. He feels the city needs a balanced ordinance program.

Mrs. Maureen Mazrimas of 49 Bayberry Rd., Squantum, said she is also not a foe of development but she pointed out that the density issue has created similar problems in other South Shore communities. She describes Quincy as a family city and urges city officials to focus their planning on residents here. She added that current development has not satisfied the majority of people in Quincy.

Mrs. Mary Ann Lencki of 10 Homer Rd., Merrymount was highly supportive of the various splinter groups banding together under one group which she feels will show city officials how strong the residents feel about this issue. She added that the type of development currently going on is out of reach to many because of "skyhigh rents."

Peter Kolson of 215 Palmer St., Adams Shore, another spokesperson for "Save Our Quincy" said the petition drive is not a moratorium on development but rather people participating in a process, a belief he or she feels will benefit Quincy in the end.

Kolson added that "it is time to put aside our differences and use all our energy to save the quality of life as we know it in Quincy." He said that concerned citizens will be canvassing neighborhoods seeking registered voter signatures on the proposed changes the organization seeks."

Sun Pledge Center Hits Its $1 Million Goal!

By HENRY BOSWORTH

We did it -- unofficially!

Officially, at press time, the Quincy Sun-Jerry Lewis Telethon pledge center was about $3800 away from its 10-year goal of $1 million.

But special events figures have not been completed and money still out there is expected to be more than enough to hit the $1 million mark. Late fishbowl donations are still coming in also.

The Sun pledge center, located this Labor Day weekend aboard the Edmund Fitzgerald at Marina Bay raised approximately $53,000.

This represents $37,747 in pledges and $15,246 in fishbowl receipts.

In addition to this the special events figure has reached over $54,000 to date.

This brings the Sun pledge center and Quincy-South Telethon Committee's figure for this year, so far, to approximately $107,000.

And that brings the 10-year total so far to around $997,000.

A last-minute $5,000 pledge from Peter O'Connell of O'Connell Management dramatically boosted the pledges and virtually guaranteed that the $1 million mark would be reached.

The ideal weather and all the activity at Marina Bay brought out thousands of people resulting in a $15,246 fishbowl total. This was $8,000 over last year's figure.

Mayor Proposes Fee Increase For Building Permits

Mayor Francis McCauley has submitted an order to the City Council requesting an increase in fees for building permits for new structures, alterations and repairs.

The last such increase occurred in May, 1981.

The bulk of the increase in fees would come from the removal of the $25,000 maximum fee from the present fee structure.

"Big projects take in more money," said McCauley. "It's only right that they pay more in fees, because they require more inspections.

"The fees haven't been changed since 1981. It's time to do it again."

The new fee schedule was recommended by newly appointed Building Inspector Kenneth F. Johnson, Jr.

The recommendations were formulated as a result of a survey of building fees levied by other Massachusetts cities and towns conducted by Johnson and recently retired Building Inspector Allan F. MacDonald.

Under the proposed changes, income from Building Department fees of $393,160 for 1986 would have risen to $797,534.

Projected income for fiscal year 1987 with the new fee schedule is estimated at $1,350,000.

Building permits for new structures, additions, alterations and repairs would increase from $10 to $20 per thousand for the first $1,000, from $6 to $10 per thousand above the first $1,000, with no maximum fee.

Change of occupancy fee and builder's licenses would not change, but most other fees would.

Architectural Questions Raised

Delay In Quincy Sq. Renewal Plan

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The city's urban renewal plan in connection with the proposed $54 million President's Place project in downtown Quincy probably won't be presented to the City Council until October, rather than this month as expected.

"The Citizen's Advisory Committee raised some questions about the architecture," said Mayor Francis McCauley. "We want to be sure the project is compatible with Quincy Square."

"Before we go forward with the urban renewal plan, we want to be sure we are comfortable with the project and the architecture."

"Instead of Sept. 15, the presentation of the plan to the council will probably be put off until mid-October," said McCauley.

The urban renewal plan would enable the city to take by eminent domain any of some 14 properties near the Bargin Center that are not sold voluntarily by their owners.

Ricciardi Co. of Quincy, one of the developers, paid about $3 million for the Bargin Center which closed last spring after being a Quincy Square landmark for 49 years.

The other developer is Campanelli Industries of Braintree.

The 225,000 square foot project is scheduled to include retail and office space as well as residential condominiums.

The Boston Five Cent Savings Bank will finance, and be the major tenant, of the project which has been called the single largest development project ever in downtown Quincy.

Leo Kelly, a former City Councillor who is chairman of the Citizen's Advisory Committee, said his group is not happy with the design at all.

"We want the project to be more compatible with the historic surroundings," said Kelly.

"The elements are there to

New Entrance, Parking Areas At Hospital

Construction of the new Quincy City Hospital will be in full swing, Tuesday, Sept. 9.

A new entrance and new visitor and patient parking areas have been created to accommodate the construction project.

The main entrance to the hospital for vehicles will continue to be from Whitwell St., but to the right of the Administrations Building, next to the Gordon House. The new Emergency Room, Admitting and Ambulatory Services entrance for patients will be on the ground floor of the East Wing.

A designated patient and visitor parking area will be located close to this new entrance. A security guard and new information center will also be located at this new entrance for patient and visitor assistance. A second visitor information center will be located inside the entrance of the Medical/Surgical Building at the rear of the hospital.

The parking plan also includes the introduction of a parking charge system. The charge system will be in effect, Monday through Friday between the hours of 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Under this system, the first two hours of parking will be free. After the first two hours, a nominal parking charge will be assessed.

For further information, please call the Community Relations Office at the hospital at 773-6100, ext. 4016.

Zoning Task Force To Meet

The Special Task Force on Zoning established by Council President Stephen McGrath will meet in the city hall conference room on the second floor of New City Hall Thursdays, Sept. 11, 18 and 25, at 7 p.m.

Typed or printed recommendations should be presented to task force chairman Thomas Nutley on, or prior to, Sept. 11.

Close Pilgrim Plant Urges QCA

The Quincy Citizens Association has written to the City Council seeking its support in recommending the permanent closing of the Pilgrim Nuclear Power Plant in Plymouth.

The letter states that, since the Chernobyl nuclear disaster, "the residents of Quincy now have serious misgivings about the imminent dangers of the continued operation of the Pilgrim nuclear plant in Plymouth - right on our doorstep, a mere 30 miles from Quincy.

"Because Quincy is the largest community on the South Shore, the members of the Quincy Citizens Association feel that our city should take the initiative to prevent the reopening of the Plymouth nuclear plant ever."

Councilman John McGrath

McGrath supported the move.

"I am not convinced anyone can guarantee the safety of these nuclear plants," said McGrath.

"As a result, the Pilgrim plant ought not to be reopened if they cannot give proper assurances.

"I still think the dangers are such that they far outweigh any benefit."

A PLAQUE dedicated in 1925 to Ellen B. Fegan, a Willard School teacher for 50 years, was recently returned by Willard Building developer Morton S. Grossman of the Grossman Companies, Inc., and presented to School Supt. John Osterman. The plaque, made from Quincy granite, had been mounted on the wall of the entrance hall of the Willard School building until two years ago when restoration and conversion work began. Shown here are James Lavin, president of South Bayshore Management, Mark Dickinson, president of Dickinson Development, Grossman, Osterman and Fred Nolan, elementary school coordinator.

City Receives $175,797 In State Grants

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces that he has received notice from two state agencies that Quincy has received grants totalling $175,797.

Amy S. Anthony, Secretary of E.O.C.D. announced that the city is eligible for a Gateway Cities Grant of $43,354. The Gateway Cities program will provide funding for cities with large populations of non-English speaking newcomers.

The funds will become available upon approval of a city plan, set up in accordance with the program guidelines.

McCauley noted that his office is planning an open house this fall to introduce members with the city's services.

Coordinating the city's efforts are Dr. Carol Lee Griffin, Director of Pupil Personnel of the School Department, and Claire McGill, Assistant Planner in the Planning Department. A date for the event will be announced in the middle of September.

McCauley has also received word from Sharon M. Pollard, State Energy Secretary, that Quincy City Hospital has received a grant of $132,443 to install energy conservation measures at the hospital.

Several weeks ago, the city received a federal EPA grant of $250,000 to initiate preliminary work on the clean-up of Quincy Bay and a state grant of $780,450 for infrastructure work in connection with the Bargain Center project.

Mayor McCauley notes that in the past several weeks, the city has received $1,206,247 in state and federal grants for city projects.

SSARC Relocates Sheltered Employment Program

The South Shore Association for Retarded Citizens, (SSARC) announces the relocation of its sheltered employment program. Harbor Industries, to the Quincy Fair mini-mall, 1585 Hancock St., Quincy.

The building, a newly renovated complex of retail space on two levels, is owned by F.X. Messina Enterprises, with whom SSARC has signed a multi-year lease. The workshop occupies the lower level of the former Sears building and provides a spacious, modern work area for trainees, a loading dock, conference room and offices for supervisory staff. The downtown site also affords that opportunity for community awareness training for individuals in the program because it is centrally located near stores, restaurants, and community services.

SSARC has been providing services to persons with mental retardation and their families for the past 35 years. In the 10-town area of Braintree, Cohasset, Hingham, Hull, Milton, Norwell, Quincy, Randolph, Scituate, and Weymouth. Trainees in the Vocational program receive on-the-job experience to develop work skills by performing subcontract work for such well-known companies as Raytheon, Polaroid, Procter & Gamble, Channel Trap Company, and All Tech of Abington.

The relocation was necessary because of expansion in the number of persons involved in the program, and the increase in the subcontract assignments from companies who have come to appreciate the quality of work produced at the workshop. SSARC's Pre-Vocational and Day Activity programs are still located at 371 River St. in North Weymouth.

An open house and ribbon cutting ceremony is planned for Sept. 24, at which time Richard E. Frye will receive the 1986 Challenge Award.

The Mayor, Francis X. McCauley, and other guests also attend the special awards ceremony on that evening.

City Has Cash Surplus Over $4M

Quincy is over $4 million richer in its free cash surplus for 1986 said Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

He was notified by the state Department of Revenues it has certified the city's free cash surplus balance as of July 1, in the amount of $4,283,967. This figure represents an increase of $4,066,558 over last year's certified surplus of $217,299.

McCauley said the reason for the dramatic improvement has been the success of a city drive to collect delinquent real estate taxes and interest.

He said that his goal while in office is to increase this to $6 million by the close of fiscal 1987. Free cash balances are generally maintained by municipalities to offset unforseen or emergency expenditures, he said.

The mayor said that since he took office in 1982, tax title and interest collection through fiscal June 30, 1986 totaled $6,316,462, an increase of $4,723,954 or 297 percent over collections for the preceding four-and-one-half years.

He also pointed out that short term borrowing in anticipation of taxes amounted to $6 million for fiscal 1986, the lowest short term borrowing in many years. As recently as fiscal year 1982 the short term borrowing amounted to $45 million. Interest charges on short term borrowing declined in fiscal 1986 to $251,791, down from a high of $1,587,823 in fiscal 1982.

McCauley plans to schedule meetings with officials of Standard & Poors, as well as Moody's Investor Service to seek an upgrading of the city's credit rating. That financial firm increased Quincy's credit rating from Ba to Baa last December.

Approve 4 Quantum Taxi Licenses, Reject 12 In North Quincy

By DAN CONNELLY

The License Board voted Tuesday to grant licenses for four taxis in Quantum but denied a request for 12 such licenses in North Quincy because of lack of parking.

The second request was continued until Sept. 16.

The board approved the request of Michael T. Condon, 133 Commander Shea Blvd., for four hackney permits for his Marina Bay Taxi Service, 542 East Squantum St.

Condon, who told the board he has previously operated a limousine service, said the cabs will be garaged in a hanger behind Boston Harbor Marina.

Later the board heard from John R. Lipfin of 115 East Squantum St., who sought 12 hackney permits for his cab company to be based at 22 Billings Rd.

But Lipfin failed to satisfy the board that he has acquired sufficient space to off street park the cabs when they are not in operation. Board Chairman John Gillis advised Lipfin he would continue his request for two weeks at which time if and when Lipfin finds his required parking facilities he then can resubmit his request.

Last June at an informal Licensing Board hearing two of the city's largest cab fleets, Wayne McCauley's North Quincy Taxi, which has 24 cabs and headquartered at 2 Billings Rd., merged with George Parker's 40-fleet Yellow Cabs, based at 91 McGrath Highway.

During that informal hearing McCauley said his cabs would continue to park at the city's MBTA and State Street South business area waiting for dispatching orders, while Parker said he will operate his fleet of yellow cabs from his present location.

Nutley Wants Sidewalk Parkers Ticketed, Towed

Councillor Thomas J. Nutley is urging the police department to take immediate steps to curb vehicle parking on the city's sidewalks.

In a letter to Police Chief Francis X. Finn, the Ward six councillor is asking that the police take immediate steps to tag, and tow if necessary, cars parked on sidewalks.

"This arrogant practice of parking on the sidewalks is a disgrace to the city," said Nutley, "and even worse, presents a very real danger to the many children who will have to walk these sidewalks on the way to school this week."

"Although the problem exists throughout the entire city, it is an especially dangerous situation for youngsters who will have to make their way along major streets such as East Squantum St. on the way to school. I'm looking forward to the police taking immediate action," he said.

USS Quincy Museum To Be Dedicated Saturday

A memorial museum dedicated to the cruiser USS Quincy will be officially opened Sept. 6, at 2:30 p.m. in Quincy City Hall.

Sponsored by the USS Quincy CA-39 and CA-71 Reunion Committee, the museum will be known as the USS Quincy Memorial Foundation and located in the old city hall building.

USS Quincy veterans are currently meeting through Sept. 9 at the Sheraton-Tara Hotel in Braintree.

The non-profit museum will immortalize the two U.S. Navy fighting ships and the more than 400 who died off Savo Island in the South Pacific on Aug. 9, 1942.

The cruiser USS Quincy CA-39 was sunk off Savo Island during the Guadalcanal campaign in 1942. A sister ship was built and commissioned on Dec. 15, 1943, and later served in the Normandy invasion. The ship also saw action in the Pacific as part of the 3rd Fleet in the bombardment of Japan.

Former crew members of the USS Quincy and their families will be introduced at the museum dedication.

THE QUINCY SUN-Jerry Lewis Telethon pledge center this Labor Day weekend was located at the top deck of the Edmund Fitzgerald at Marina Bay, Squantum.

MAYOR Francis McCauley, Leo Bottary and Sandra McCauley man the phones.

Sun Pledge Center Hits Its $1 Million Goal

But the pledges were down $2,460 from last year's $40,207.

The weekend, the best of the summer weatherwise, kept most people away from telephones as they finally got out to enjoy the great outdoors after "The Summer That Wasn't."

Reflecting the weather, the pledges this Labor Day weekend were 1580 compared to 2,146 last year when the weather was cooler and showery and kept people inside -- near their telephones and TV sets.

One of the special events still to be counted is the softball doubleheader between Quincy Police and Firefighters and city officials and news media which was rained out last week.

The doubleheader will be played tonight (Thursday) at Adams Field with police and firefighters squaring off at 6:30 p.m. and city officials and news media at 8 p.m.

One of the most disappointed people at the pledge center Monday was old friend Baron Hugo who was there with his Harvard drum ready to lead the victory parade.

But because the $1 million figure was still not official the celebration was put on hold. Baron and his drum will be back.

At the risk of omitting some names -- it's hard to keep track of everyone who came to the pledge center to donate or help out -- here are some of the people who deserve a "well done":

The mailing department, Joe and Vera Sullivan, Laura Hatch, Ruth Perry.

The telephone volunteers, many who did other duties to help out and/or made donations themselves: Peggy Madden, Gene Santorelli, School Committeewoman Peggy Nigro, Mayor Francis McCauley and First Lady Sandra, Norfolk County Register of Probate Thomas Hughes, Donald McCarthy, Winifred Hall, Judith Becke-Rochelle, Eileen Cohen, Leo Bottary, John Tamasco, Anthony Vardaro, James Mastrantonio, Sebastian Papagone, Councillor Ted DeCristofaro and his wife, Betty; Susan Baldassini, Irving Isaacson, Rose Leavitt, Paul Bailey, Cynthia Bailey, Ed Rubin, Paul and Marion Ricca, Fr. William McCarthy, pastor St. John's Church, Gene Panzone, Rep. Michael Morrissey, Police Capt. Dave Rowell, Nello Miele, Joseph Bernadine, Councillor Mike Cheney, Arthur Chandler, Donna Baker, Barry Lass, Betty Houston, John Cascarano, Donald Gosselin, Pauline Ron, Marjorie DeCarli, Lisa Vardaro, Susan Gosselin, Marion Haddad, Bill and Jackie Monahan, Ann d'Entremont, School Committeeman Frank Santoro and his wife, Linda, Senator Paul Harold, Dorothy Conley, Marion Fantuccio, Leah Shea.

And of course, our good friends from WJDA who for the 10th straight year have covered us live at the Sun pledge center on Labor Day and have always been most generous with publicity for our special MDA events throughout the year: Roy Lind, Win Bettinson, Herb Fontaine, John Nicholson. They also helped on the phones.

Thanks also to Quincy Cablesystems for setting up a cable television network to carry the pledge center activities to nine communities: Quincy (Sun Ch. 8 and Ch. 3), Milton, Randolph, Cohasset, Hingham, Hull, Scituate, Norwell, and Hanover. . . . To program director Ed Fiddler, assisted by Ch. 8's Bob Gohl, and cameramen Keith Nickerson and Ken Galvin.

And, of course special thanks to our Ch. 8 news team, John Noonan, Leslie Thompson and Frank Cammarata who turned in a nice job reporting the activities and doing interviews.

And thanks to Sheriff Clifford Marshall, Deputy Sheriff Ken Runge and the other deputies for all the security. Marshall also donated Sheriff Department T-shirts to help raise proceeds for the fishbowl and provided a cruiser and Deputy Sandy McLaughlin to shuttle video television tapes to Quincy Cablesystems and its affiliate in Scituate.

To "Old Faithful" Tony Siciliano who is always there when you need him and he came through again Sunday night when it was discovered the top deck of the Edmund Fitzgerald which is lighted cozily for a restaurant was not bright enough for a telethon pledge center at night. A call went out to Tony. He was there in a few minutes with all the lighting needed.

Thanks also to the 12 organizations that sponsored telephones at the pledge center: Colman's Sporting Goods, Granite Cooperative Bank, Quincy Firefighters Local 792, Quincy City Club, Quincy Kiwanis Club, Quincy Koch Club, Quincy Lions Club, Quincy Sons of Italy, Quincy Municipal Credit Union, Sacred Heart Church and Riley & Rielly Insurance Agency.

To John Poreca of Vesco Inc., West Quincy, who donated a $360 Toshiba microwave oven as a fishbowl prize -- the ninth year he has come through like that. (The oven was won by Ellen Joyce of South Boston). Frank and Richie Barrett, who let us have the Edmund Fitzgerald for the weekend as the location for The Quincy Sun pledge center this year. It's believed to be the only "ship-to-shore" telethon pledge center in the national telethon's 21 year history. . . . Ginny Harting, who hand drew all the numbers for our tote board. . . . South Shore Television who loaned us a brand new color TV set so we could watch what was going on nationally from Las Vegas and to see some of the Quincy pledge center representatives on Ch. 5. . . . George White of the Patriot Ledger for arranging the appearance of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Fred Flintstone, Tweetie Bird and Sylvester. George also came by with a nice donation from the White Family. . . . Steve Gillig of McDonald's of Quincy who helped out at the pledge center, provided food for the workers and brought along his friends: Grimmace, Hamburglar and Birdie The Early Bird. . . . Fasano Caterers for helping to feed our volunteer army.

Thanks to the South Shore Chapter of "Clowns of America": FMilly Fantuccio, Dick Lee, Laurie Dewey, Al Gardner, Barbara Adams, Josephine Adams, Florence Broadbent, Linda Sullivan, Sabrina Hutt and Ida Gilcoine who painted faces, entertained and raised $416.

Thanks to Arthur Chandler, who besides helping on the phones, again donated 100 tickets to the Wollaston theater as fish bowl prizes.

To our musical groups who were a big hit. The Just One Look Group led by Kathy Clancy, and including Grace Greene, Elaine Spitz, Bobby McGrine, Mark Publisi, with an assist from Ed Bennett. . . . The Quincy High School Alumni band, directed by George Vallantini and including Joseph Pearson, Jr., Laurie Aronoff, Rick Pearson, Tim O'Leary, Jayne McGowan, Lisa Merenda, Matt Warner, Rick Aramian, Bob Coviello, Ed McGowan, Pat Sullivan, Mark Preble, Dale Solander, Paul Francis and Bryant Carter. Carter also came by with a nice donation.

Also thanks to the Rockettes Alumni, Richard Whitmarsh concert band, and the Fat City Band.

To Lori and Mike Santoro, Ilana, Shana and Alyssa Cobban, Julie Buckley, Ann Marie Montgomery, Karen Gralton and Maureen and Tara Mellett for doing their thing as Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Fred Flintstone, Tweetie Bird, etc. They also carried canisters.

Thanks to a lot of other people including George Parker of the Yellow Cab Co. who made his annual visit to the pledge center with two $500 checks -- one from Yellow Cab and the other from himself. . . . Former Police Capt. Frank Vallier who isn't feeling that well, drove to Marina Bay and climbed to the top deck of the Edmund Fitzgerald to make his traditional donation. . . . Sheila McIntyre, Ed Russell, Ken Cerny, Peggy Iaria, Joseph Moriarty, Bob McAndrews for nice donations. . . . Also Harold Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Young, Paul Horgan Family, Ken Callahan, William Blake, Ruth Ross, Ruth and Kin Mikami, the family of George Tobin, who used to save his pennies all year round to make a donation. . . . and somebody special: Kathleen

Gravestone Survey At Hancock, Christ Church Cemeteries

A Gravestone Art Survey and Inventory Project will soon be undertaken at Quincy's Hancock and Christ Church Cemeteries to make a permanent record of the carvings and inscriptions on stones dating before 1800.

Wherever possible, the stone carvers will be identified and the history of the art and the stones studied. The project is sponsored by the Quincy Historical Society and funded by a grant through the Quincy Arts Lottery Council.

The project is headed by anthropologist Dr. George R. Horner of Abington, formerly at Eastern Nazarene College and long associated with the Quincy Historical Society. Dr. Horner recently completed a similar study of the Elm Street Cemetery in Braintree and was able to identify over 80 percent of the gravestone artists. The special photography will be done by Mrs. Virginia Smith, and others will also assist in various aspects of the project. The result will be an inventory, a written survey report, and a photographic record.

With environmental factors, age and vandalism taking their toll on the important part of historical heritage that old burial places represent, projects are being undertaken in many places to preserve the historical records and the art that are unique to them.

The great historical importance of Quincy's early burial places has long been recognized. Here rest the early settlers and those who have made history through the years. The artistic value of the old gravestones, however, has received little attention. Some of the stones are well known for their merit and have appeared in books on gravestone art and other publications. Most, however, have never been studied and the identity of their styles and carvers has not been recorded.

For Quincy, this project has special significance. In later cemeteries there are some of the finest examples of the stonemason's art for the period when Quincy was a center of granite quarrying and stone cutting and sculpture. A better knowledge of the art of the earlier period in Quincy will be a great asset toward fuller appreciation of a cultural asset that few cities or towns can match.

Mayor's Commission On Handicapped To Meet

The Mayor's Commission on Handicapped Affairs announces its regular monthly meetings will resume Monday, Sept. 8, at 6 p.m. in the second floor conference room in the new City Hall.

Speaker will be Kathleen Norton, supervisor of Rehabilitation Services for Community Workshops, Inc.

Community Workshops, Inc. is an organization that provides screening, job placement and follow-up for handicapped individuals. Norton will discuss the many facets of her organization, as well as vocational opportunities and special training available to the handicapped.

Miss Norton, who is a certified rehabilitation counselor is a board member of the Massachusetts Chapter of the National Rehabilitation Association and the National Rehabilitation Counseling Association. She was named Counselor of the Year for the New England area in 1983.

Over 10,000 Expected For Ship Launching

Plans for handling what was expected to be the greatest traffic problem in the history of Quincy were tackled at a meeting of city and state officials, police and Fore River executives. The occasion was to be the launching of the USS Massachusetts.

Sept. 4-10
1941
45 Years Ago

It was expected that more than 10,000 visitors would come to Quincy to witness the launching.

Police Chief John Avery said tentative plans called for the blocking off of all streets between River St. and the Southern Artery and between Washington St. and Quincy Ave.

COAST GUARD TAKES OVER MAYOR'S YACHT
The U.S. Coast Guard officially took over Mayor Thomas Burgin's 34-foot power cruiser "Aries" at ceremonies at Quincy Yacht Club.

The "Aries" would be painted gray and designated the CGR-7. She would be used for general patrol in Massachusetts Bay waters.

The boat would be returned to her owner at the end of the national emergency.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT UP

Quincy's annual decreasing school enrollment was expected to increase, though actual figures would not be available for several days.

It was reported that there were more out-of-town students registering this year because of the number of new people working in Quincy defense plants.

At Central Junior High School, principal David Goodspeed reported that 75 out-of-town students had registered to date.

USE OF NON-QUINCY GRANITE QUESTIONED
Costanzo Pagnano, business agent for the Quincy Granite Cutters Association, protested the use of non-Quincy granite for the curbing of Centre St. (in the heart of the city's granite district).

He met with John Lane, city purchasing agent and Commissioner Ezekiel Sargent to ask for an investigation of why Chelmsford granite was being used in the city.

They will serve on the commission until June 30, 1987.

Law Firm Automation For Legal Secretaries

The Norfolk County Legal Secretaries Association will present a program on law firm automation Tuesday, Sept. 16 at the Holiday Inn, North Main St., Randolph.

Dinner will be served at 6:30, followed by the program at 7:30 p.m. and business meeting thereafter.

Speaker will be Judith C.

Murray, CPA, Business Consultant, from Derry, N.H., who will begin with a general overview of microcomputers using specific reference to time and billing software. She will provide novices with a general introduction to hardware components and basic computer concepts and jargon and will proceed with insight about factors involved in making the decision to automate, cost considerations and the basic steps to automation. Time and billing software will be used as an example of office automation and tips will be given as to sources of information and how to make the right choice.

Anyone interested in attending the meeting should contact Alice Allan at the law offices of Kafka & Kaufman, P.C., 26 Pond Street, Sharon 02067 (Tel. 828-3111).

Licensing Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action during its first fall meeting Tuesday at City Hall:

- Granted a request from the North Quincy High School cheerleaders to hold a canister drive, Sept. 5-6. The board warned there would be no soliciting of funds at street intersections.

- Granted a one-day all alcoholic license for the Masonic Temple, 1170 Hancock St., for installation ceremonies on the following dates: Sept. 6, 12, 13, 27, and Oct. 11, 18, and 24.

- Granted a request from the Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., to hold its annual flea market, Sept. 20, 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Rain date is Sept. 27.

- Granted a permit to the Quincy Yacht Club, 1310 Sea St., to hold a clam bake Sept. 6, 12 noon to 6 p.m. This event is part of the Hough's Neck 35th birthday celebration.

- Withdrew, without prejudice a request from Nicola Maffeo and Frank Carchedi for a Motor II license at European Foreign Cars, Inc., 365 Washington St. (a total of five vehicles.) Ward Two Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro opposed the license, citing the location as a congested area. The Board agreed.

- Granted a request from the South Quincy Social Club for a one day all alcoholic license for Sept. 7, 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the Fore River Clubhouse.

- Granted a request from Mrs. Mary Progetti for a secondhand license to run a bric-a-brac shop at 49 Copeland St., to be called The Spare Room. Shop hours will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday through Saturday.

- Granted a permit to Lew Y. Heung Lee for two upright video games, two pinball games, and one billiard table, at the China Star Restaurant, 105 Sea St.

- Granted the transfer of a common victualer license being held by Antonis Bandis at the Copeland Street Subs & Pizzeria House, 150 Copeland St., to Zaharias Korfas and Theodore Dimitropoulos.

- Granted a request from Ayoub Engineering, Inc., Pawtucket, R.I., to remove three 6,000 steel gasoline storage tanks at the Shell Oil Company gas station, 8

Franklin St., and replace them with three 12,000 fiberglass storage tanks. This will increase the gasoline storage capacity at the station to 36,000 gallons.

- Granted a request from Domenic J. Mignosa, 22 Dole Ave., for a common victualer and 10 day licenses at the Winfield Coffee Shop, 853 Hancock St. Mignosa, who operates The Egg & I at 258 Willard St. The license was granted subject to inspection by the fire, building and health departments.

- Withdrew, without prejudice a request from the South Quincy Social Club for a Club-All alcoholic license at 390 Granite St. The premise once housed a Finnish bathhouse. It was brought out at the hearing that their plan to open a club there was in conflict with the zoning ordinance. Board Chairman John Gillis urged the group to present their plans to the Board of Appeals. Site of the proposed club is in the Residence B area.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

It seems only a few weeks ago, instead of months, most of us were asking others, "What are you going to do on your vacation?" Vacation time was just around the corner. Now the corner has been turned - for most of us.

We hope those of you who vacationed resort areas... beaches... golf courses... boating... fishing... hotels and motels... camps... family reunions... in different cities and states had a wonderful time. We hope it was filled with fun and unforgettable pleasant experiences. And now, the summer vacation season is over.

In the Fall, Winter and Spring seasons ahead, we hope you continue to read these thoughts every week. We hope you find a thought now and then to cause you to ask, "What does this mean to me?" We hope you can then ask, "How can I adapt the thought to myself?" We hope what you read here can, in some small way, relieve you from worry; give you encouragement, hope and confidence - if and when needed. We hope, too, that many of you will continue to express your thoughts, pro and con, to us in person, phone or letter. Your response and your thoughts give us encouragement, hope and confidence too...

Brownell Survey

Constituents Want Housing, Development Curb

By DAN CONNELLY

A curb on further housing and business development in Quincy and support of an employee takeover of General Dynamics shipyard, highlighted the results of a recent poll taken by Rep. Thomas Brownell on 10 important issues.

According to Brownell some 1000 questionnaires were mailed out to constituents in Hough's Neck, Germantown, Merrymount, and parts of Wollaston. Some 400 responded by mailing back their answers.

Brownell said the results of the poll illustrate that voters in his district have particular interest in issues of local concern. The results of each of the 10 questions may not add up to 100 percent because of rounding.

• Sixty-five percent in favor of curbs on further housing and business development. Only 23 percent are opposed and 11 percent undecided.

• Fifty-four percent in support of the state providing financial assistance for an employee takeover of the General Dynamics shipyard, while only 30 percent are opposed, 16 percent undecided.

• Voters expressed a strong preference for allowing police officers to temporarily confiscate the licenses of suspected drunk drivers. Some 56 percent in favor, 36 percent opposed, eight not sure.

• On a question pertaining to cable television, a large majority of the respondents favor prohibiting or restricting companies from airing programs with sex and violence. 54 percent are in support, 37 percent opposed, seven percent undecided.

Leo Shea Wins Volvo Award

Leo P. Shea of Wollaston, comptroller of Boston Volvo in Cambridge, has been awarded first place in Volvo's business management honor roll.

"This award acknowledges high achievement and efficiency in the accounting side of the business," said Lisa Gallinoto, a business management analyst at Volvo Corporate Headquarters in Rockleigh, N.J. "The program is an incentive for accuracy and efficiency in the business office."

Shea has been with Boston Volvo since 1981.

THOMAS BROWNELL

• When asked if a random drug testing program should be set up for state employees, 51 percent said yes, 36 percent said no, and 13 percent were unsure.

• On a much debated issue, 51 percent are for the repeal of the seatbelt law, 44 percent opposed, and six percent undecided.

percent undecided.

• In regard to nuclear energy, just 30 percent of those questioned believe that it is a safe and economical energy alternative, while 45 percent are opposed and 26 percent undecided.

• The responses concerning the fairness of the recently passed medical malpractice legislation to both physicians and consumers showed there was no consensus among the voters. Fifty percent were undecided, 25 percent voted in favor, and 25 percent no.

• On another question concerning personal liberties and public health, 58 percent of those surveyed feel that smoking in public areas should be further restricted, 38 percent are against, and just four are undecided.

• Finally, on the national level, a question regarding the tax reform proposals before congress, 40 percent said they would be in favor of the legislation, 28 percent are opposed and 31 percent undecided.

Church News

Schools Open Sunday At United First Parish

The new school year begins this Sunday at United First Parish Unitarian Church School, 1306 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Children will join their parents at 10:30 a.m. for the traditional water ceremony in the sanctuary. Members of the congregation will come forward with water brought from places visited during their summer travels, then pour the water into a common receptacle while telling about why the place was special to them.

The ceremony was begun five years ago by minister emeritus Keith Munson to give young and old a chance to share summer memories and to symbolize the coming together again of the church family after the summer hiatus.

Rev. Dr. Cynthia Edson has expanded the ceremony this year to include soil, which will be used for plantings on the church grounds.

Church school registration will be held at 11:30 a.m. during the social hour which follows the service. Ages 0-3 yrs. will be registered in the nursery class; kindergarten-grade I, in Level I which will be using the unit "Teaching Children to Care." Grades 2-5, in Level II with the curriculum "What is Religion-for Others and for Us?" Grades 6-8, in Jr. High Level, with the program "How Can I Know What to Believe?"

Middle school children are also invited to join the Youth Group, which meets monthly for a variety of activities such as pool parties, skating, bowling, as well as different social service projects.

Weather permitting, the Church School children will celebrate their first Sunday together after the summer vacation with a giant bubble making on the lawn after the services.

'Life A Pilgrimage' Squantum Topic

"Your Life is a Pilgrimage" was the title of the sermon preached Sunday morning at the second service of the First Church of Squantum.

The preacher, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, took his text from the 23rd Psalm: "Even though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I fear no evil; for thou art with me..." (v. 4ab)

Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were ushers; Marie Mildram was organist. Hazel Mayne and Grace Holmes hosted the Fellowship Hour.

At the early service, the sermon was entitled "Returning to School in Confidence." It was based on the first two verses of Psalm 91: "He who dwells in the shelter of the Most High, who abides in the shadow of the Almighty, will say to the Lord, 'My refuge and my fortress; my God, in whom I trust.'"

Guitarist Andrew Ogilvie accompanied the congregational singing. Mindi Hurd and Karen Reister served as ushers. Andrew Ogilvie was also in charge of the refreshments for the morning.

This Sunday, the church will return to the winter schedule of services with the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. There will be a special meeting of the church after the second service.

Nursery and Sunday

School for children through the fourth grade will begin this Sunday during the second service. Classes for older children and teen-agers will be held during the week. Seven-Up will meet Sunday at 4 p.m. Orange Crush will announce its meeting time Sunday.

A new Bible Study group for adults is being formed at the church. It will have its first meeting Wednesday, Sept. 10, at 7:30 p.m.

First meetings of the choirs are as follows: Chancel Choir, Thursday, Sept. 11, at 7:15 p.m.; Crusader Choir, Thursday, Sept. 11, at 3 p.m.; Youth Choir, Sunday, Sept. 14, at 11:45 p.m.; Junior Choir and Cherub Choir, to be announced later.

who have ever considered adopting an older or special needs child to attend the meeting.

For further information call 773-6203.

PSB Information Meeting Sept. 8 On Adopting Older Children

The Protestant Social Service Bureau will hold an informational meeting on adopting older children, Monday, Sept. 8 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at 774 Hancock St., Wollaston.

According to Linda Palmer there are nearly 1000 children in the adoptive process in Massachusetts and many of these are older children.

The bureau urges those

'Church Family Reunion Sunday' At Quincy Point Congregational

The Revs. Fred and Carol Atwood-Lyon, co-pastors of Quincy Point Congregational Church, announce a "Church Family Reunion Sunday" will be held Sept. 7, beginning at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary with worship.

All church members, friends of the church and visitors will be welcomed at the door by the church's greeters. Rev. Fred Atwood-Lyon will deliver the morning meditation titled "Refreshing The Hearts Of The Saints." The Chancel Choir will sing under the direction of Herman Weiss, Organist and Choir Director. And the Sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated.

Miss Laura Stein, a first year student at Andover Newton theological School will be introduced and welcomed by the congregation. Miss Stein is a graduate of Loyola University in Chicago where she received her Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology and minored in Theology. She will now be preparing for the Christian ministry.

At Quincy Point Congregational Church, Miss Stein will serve as Advisor and Supervisor of the Junior Pilgrim Fellowship for young people in grades six through eight and the Senior Pilgrim Fellowship for high school freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors. She will also share in worship leadership and other forms of parish ministry on a part-time basis each week.

Sunday is also "Rally Day" in the life of the local congregation when infants and children through grade eight participate in the Church School under the direction of Supt. Glenn McGhee and his teaching staff.

Child care is provided in the Crib Room every Sunday morning from 9:45 to 11:15 a.m. for infants through two years of age with adult and experienced supervision. All children will sit with their parents for the first portion of the morning worship service before going to their classrooms.

Parents may register their children in the Church School by telephoning the church office at 773-6424 or by registering them in person next Sunday.

Creative Curriculum is used throughout the Church School, and the Fall theme will be "Between Church and Family." Nursery and kindergarten children will learn about "Wondering About My World."

In the Primary Department, children in grades one and two will learn answers to the question "Who Is God?" Children in grades three and four will form the Midler Department and will enjoy learning how "God Walks

With Me."

The Junior Department will include children in grades five and six and will learn about "Living God's Way." "Our Bible Lives" will be the Fall theme for young people in the Junior High Department for seventh and eighth grade youth of the area.

Parents wanting to know more about the Christian Education program of the church should feel free to call one of the Pastors at the church. At the close of this Sunday's worship and education hour, there will be a balloon lift-off from the church's parking lot as the Fall season gets underway.

The annual "Welcome Back Brunch," sponsored by the Diaconate, will be served following morning worship. The menu will include orange juice, scrambled eggs, french toast, potatoes au gratin, ham, muffins, coffee and tea. Tickets are now on sale at the church office, located at Southern Artery and Washington St.

All church members, friends of the congregation and visitors are welcome to enjoy Sunday's "Church Family Reunion." Call the church office for more information at 773-6424. There are more than 100 parking spaces at the church or within one block of the building.

Rev. Donald Dunkerley At Fort Square Presbyterian

Rev. Donald Dunkerley, director of Proclamation International, will be at Fort Square Presbyterian Church, 16 Pleasant St., South Quincy, for five days of meetings beginning Sunday, Sept. 14.

Rev. Dunkerley, a former pastor, divides his time between evangelistic work in the U.S. and missions in Uganda and Portugal. He has helped train the leaders in the new Ugandan Presbyterian Church following the persecution of Christians under Idi Amin.

The public is invited to all of the meetings which include Sunday morning and evening services, men's banquet, women's group youth rally, a young at heart meeting, and a seminar on evangelism. Child care will be provided at both Sunday services.

For more details call the church office at 471-6806.

Registration for the 1986-87 religious education program at St. Joseph Church will take place Sunday Sept. 7, and Sunday Sept. 14 from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. in the school hall on Pray St. All students in grades one through 10 should be registered.

Classes will begin Sunday Sept. 21 and continue through May.

St. Joseph's Religious Education Program Begins Sept. 21

Masons To Install Officers Saturday

Ancient Free and Accepted Masons will hold a Rural Lodge public installation of

Crime Watch

By ROBERT HANNA
Crime Prevention Officer
Quincy Police Department

Handbag Thefts At Supermarkets

A problem has recently surfaced in Quincy that you should be made aware of. It is the theft of handbags while you are shopping in local supermarkets. Most women place their handbags inside the shopping cart and never give the opportunity to take the handbag or remove the money without being detected.

When you are shopping you should try to attach your handbag to the shopping cart so that the handbag cannot be taken without taking the whole cart. And does that ever surprise the thief.

Some handbags have straps that can be removed. These should be placed around the shopping cart handle. Other handbags have straps that are long enough to tie through the handle of the shopping cart. If you cannot tie your handbag to your cart, carry the handbag. You should also keep your handbag closed, latched or zipped, at all times. An open purse is an invitation to a pickpocket.

The following information contained in this condensed version of the Quincy Police journal is intended to make residents aware of crimes that may be happening in their neighborhoods:

Aug. 22:

Past Break, 2:50 pm 107 Liberty St. Resident came home and found a party in his home. This party was described as a white male, 6 ft. 4 in., approx. 230 pounds. He was wearing an army camouflage jacket, jump boots and a mask. Unknown how entrance was gained, nothing missing.

Past Break 4:25 pm 51 Brook Rd. Entrance gained by breaking front door. Home was ransacked. Taken was an amount of money and a cable TV box.

Past Break 6:11 pm 15 Burgin Parkway. Home was ransacked. Entrance gained through front door.

Aug. 23:

Vandalism 12:28 am Reported at 50 Brook St. Resident reports front door smashed, no entrance gained.

Vandalism 8:13 am 1047 Southern Artery. Party reports his Porsche was vandalized while parked at the above location.

Break in Progress 10:44 pm Clarendon St. Neighbor reports suspicious activity at Clarendon St. address and resident is not at home. Quincy Police responded and arrested two Quincy juveniles for Breaking and Entering in the Night Time. (Another good job by an alert neighbor.)

Aug. 24:

Past Break 12:50 am 55 Nut Island Ave. Entrance through small air conditioning hole. Taken was VCR.

Past Break 2:46 pm 70 Safford St. Entrance through front door. Taken was a stereo and speakers.

Vandalism 11:04 pm 133 Commander Shea Blvd. Party reports that his 76 Corvette was vandalized during the night.

Aug. 28:

Vandalism 6:45 pm 65 Presidents Ave. Several parties report vandalism of 4 vehicles in the parking lot. Rocks were thrown at vehicles causing body damage.

If you have any information on any of the above crimes please call the Quincy Police Detective Bureau. If you see anything or hear anything that seems suspicious call the Quincy Police immediately.

YOUR CALL MAY SAVE A LIFE. PREVENT AN INJURY OR STOP A CRIMINAL ACT.

Delay In Quincy Sq. Renewal Plan

make it a very advantageous project as far as the historical significance of the area," said Kelly.

"But we haven't really seen that in the renderings or plans so far," he said.

"One building is very modern, very office building-looking." It's not what you'd like to see done.

"The condominium is too overbearing for the historical buildings which surround it," he said.

Kelly noted that the area surrounding the project includes the historic First Parish Church, where two U.S. presidents and their wives are buried; Hancock Cemetery, Old City Hall and Adams Academy, the birthplace of John Hancock.

He added that the nearby Thomas Crane Public Library will be added to the national Historic Register.

"Along with providing jobs for people, the project could really be a catalyst for bringing the historical significance of the area together," said Kelly.

One of the recommendations of the committee is that Quincy's planning department put together a statement describing what the city would like to see in the project.

"Instead of the city reacting to the developers, the developers will be reacting to the city," he said.

Planning director James Lydon said that his department could develop such a general design statement.

"It has been my position in conversations with the developers and Leo Kelly that the city's goal should be to seek historic values and amenities in that area of Quincy Square," said Lydon.

"The design, thus far, has been a point of discussion. But neither developer is 100% locked into the ideas which have been forthcoming.

"Both developers have expressed a willingness to work with the committee so that the project which will evolve will be one in which we can all take pride in the years to come."

Lydon said that delay in presentation of the urban renewal plan to the City Council will not hinder the project's progress.

"There is still the environmental review process with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and it is still required that the project go before the Historic District Commission," he said.

"I don't believe anyone has talked about anything before a spring, 1987 construction start.

"A few weeks or months delay in the beginning of the project are not significant."

Lydon said the developers have not yet obtained a demolition permit from the city for the Bargain Center.

"I think you'll begin to see activity on the site within the next week to 10 days," he said.

Tickets Available For McIntyre Memorial Clambake

Tickets are still available for the first annual James R. McIntyre Memorial Clambake to be held Sunday, Sept. 14, from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. at Marina Bay in Squantum.

The event is to help raise funds for the James R. McIntyre Memorial Scholarship.

This is the first major fundraising event for the scholarship being established by McIntyre Fund, Inc. in memory of McIntyre, a former Quincy mayor and state senator who died March 7, 1984.

A drawing, with a first prize of a trip for two to Bermuda, will be held in addition to the clambake at Marina Bay Sept. 14.

Among the other prizes to be awarded in the drawing include:

- A 19-inch color television set.
- A microwave oven.
- A video cassette recorder.

Drawing tickets are $2 each, with a book of six for $10. They can be purchased at O'Connell Management through fundraising coordinator Diane D'Olympio, Marina Bay Office, and The Quincy Sun, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Tickets for the clambake are $35 per person and can be obtained at O'Connell Management and Marina Bay.

Other events are being planned for the clambake. Atty. Peter Eley is special events chairman for the clambake.

Fundraising chairman is Peter O'Connell of O'Connell Management.

Mrs. Sheila McIntyre said the scholarship will be awarded to a Quincy resident who is a college graduate student pursuing a career in law or government. The recipient should "best exemplify the characteristics of James McIntyre," said Mrs. McIntyre.

Patricia Hunt is the memorial fund chairman.

Six-Part Film On Family Begins Sept. 7

The public is invited to attend a six-part film series: "Turn Your Heart Toward Home," to be shown at Central Baptist Church beginning Sunday, Sept. 7 at 6 p.m.

Dr. James and Shirley Dobson said the series will include: Overcoming A Painful Childhood; The Heritage; A Father Looks Back; Power In Parenting; The Young Child; Power In Parenting; The Adolescent; The Family Under Fire.

The church is located at 65 Washington St.

Catrambones Win Cade Cup Tourney

The father-son team of John Catrambone Sr. and John Catrambone Jr. won the championship of the 39th William E. Cade Cup golf tournament over the weekend at Furnace Brook Golf Club.

The Catrambones defeated Paul DiFederico and Ed Bradley, 4 and 3, in the championship match Monday.

In the semifinals the Catrambones defeated Ed Miller Jr. and Rich Adams, 5 and 3, while DiFederico and Bradley defeated Paul Ceriani and Tom Costa, 2 and 1.

Skip Weaver and Jeff Burrell won the first flight, defeating Tom Gleason and George O'Rourke, 1-up.

In the semifinals Weaver and Burrell defeated Jon Adams and Tim O'Leary, 1-up, and Gleason and O'Rourke defeated Bob Foley and Bob Bradley, 3 and 2. George and Don Robbins won the second flight by defeating Charlie Rizzo and Joe Caruso, 1-up.

In the semifinals it was Robbins and Robbins over John Beck and Ed Clancy, 2 and 1, and Rizzo and Caruso over Gerry Layden and Leo Layden, 2 and 1.

In the championship consolation Frank Guilloy and Roy Cavicchi defeated Rich Ghiorse and Rick Dennis, 5 and 4, in the finals.

In the semifinals Guilloy and Cavicchi won 20 holes to defeat Jim McNeice and Jim McNeice Jr., and Ghiorse and Dennis won 19 holes to defeat Tony Cibotti and Colin Robertson.

Dennis Clinton and Ray Riddle won the first flight consolation, 4 and 3, over Bryan Morrissey and Carl Leone.

In the semifinals it was Clinton and Riddle over Tom Fardy and Barry Sullivan, 4 and 3, and Morrissey and Leone over Jim Ridge and Al Sarruda, 7 and 6.

Bruce Henriksen and Joe McBournie won the second flight consolation, defeating Bob and Tony Malvesti, 3 and 2.

In the semifinals Henriksen and McBournie defeated Mike Kroll and Rod Smith, 2 and 1, and Malvesti and Malvesti defeated Bob Ryan and Dave Reilly, 2 and 1.

Scott Roberts was the tournament chairman and saw 48 teams start last Thursday.

Last year's champions were Bob Foley and Bob Bradley.

Firms, Unions Donate Labor For Stadium Lighting Installation

Work continues at Veterans Memorial Stadium on the installation of permanent lighting for high school football games and other activities for high school and youth sports.

Derbes Construction Co. donated the excavation work and finished its work last week.

The JFK Company is pouring the cement and expects to be finished by this weekend.

Antonellis Iron Works is donating the iron work and providing a crane and the Ricciardi Co. is donating the concrete and doing the concrete work.

Electricians Union Local 103 is supplying the electricians to install the lights.

Contributions during the past week raised the lighting fund to $43,405. The goal is $100,000.

Vin Moscardelli of Central Real Estate and Beacon Sporting Goods each contributed $400.

Other contributions were received from George Peachey and P.J. Streadwick and Dorothy M. Mixer.

Competition Wide Open In City Tennis Tourney

The 16th annual Tennis Tournament sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department and the Granite Co-operative Bank will begin this week, and one thing for certain is that there will be new champions in seven of the 16 divisions of play.

Tournament Director John Franceschini is looking at a draw that sees injuries and business commitments keeping the past year's champions from defending their crowns.

That, he thinks, will make for some new faces to move to the top. Strong competition is expected in the men's singles for the "Buckley Cup" with Steve Durante, last year's champion out with an elbow injury. Also out is six time men's over-50 champion Neil Cronin, also out due to illness. The men's doubles, mixed doubles, men's 35 and over, men's B championship, and boys 16 and under will also have new champions.

Matches are open to the public and are being played weeknights and weekends at the Vo-Tech Tennis Courts at Russell Park in Quincy Center.

MDA Doubleheader On For Thursday

The 10th annual softball doubleheader to aid Muscular Dystrophy scheduled for last Thursday was postponed due to inclement weather and will be played tonight (Thursday) at Adams Field.

In the 6:30 opener the Quincy Police will face the Quincy Firefighters and at 8 the City Officials and News Media All-Stars will clash under the lights.

Proceeds from the games have resulted in over $6000 going toward the Muscular Dystrophy Telethon during the last nine years.

Last year the News Media, with representatives of the Quincy Sun, Patriot Ledger and radio station WJDA, outlasted the City Officials, 36-28, in a wild game, while the Police defeated the Firefighters, 8-3.

Youth Baseball Registration Saturday

When registration for the 1987 Quincy Youth Baseball Leagues season is held Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon at the North Quincy K. of C. Hall, all those who played this year must register as well as 8-15 year old wishing to join the program.

Registration is for Junior Farm, Triple A and 12-year-old Junior League. Application fee is 50 cents.

Information on tryout dates will be issued on registration day.

Registration is open only to Quincy residents who were born after July 31, 1971, and prior to Aug. 1, 1979.

● Babe Ruth

A.L. 15-Year Olds Roll Over N.L.

The Quincy Babe Ruth League American League 15-year-old all-stars rolled over the National League stars, 23-0, in the 12th annual all-star game at Adams Field.

The American League players were Shawn Murphy, Bobby Bottomer, Dan Crespi, Bill MacDougall, Chris Noble, Nick Dragone, Joe Gately, Danny McLaughlin, Robbie Cinquigrano, Jim Kearns, Eric Abboud, Bill MacDonald, Mike Connor, Mike Walsh, Scott Logan and Tim Baker. Coaches were Bob Dinan and Ray Dunn.

Playing for the National League stars were Paul

For the Americans MacDougall had four hits, Bottomer, Walsh and Logan three apiece, Dragone, Connor, Abboud, Gately and Baker two each and Murphy, Noble, McLaughlin and Kearns one apiece.

For the Nationals McLellan had two hits and Thompson, Bellew, Norton, Noonan, Shields and Higgins one each. Roberts and Higgins made diving catches in the National League outfield.

American League first baseman Connor made two fine throws to third base, cutting down runners and completing double plays.

MacDougall, who also pitched two scoreless innings, was named the Americans' Most Valuable Player and Higgins, who pitched three innings with five strikeouts and two scoreless innings, was the Nationals' MVP.

N.L. 14-Year Olds Top A.L. 6-2

The Babe Ruth League National League 14-year-old all-stars defeated the American League stars, 6-2, in the annual all-star game, getting even for the 15-year-olds' defeat.

The Nationals scored four runs in the last two innings to break a 2-2 tie.

The National League players were Tony Anderlonis, Eric DeBoer, Steve Wysocki, Jeff Calvert, Brian Kelley, Brandon Farrell, Steve Kohler, Dave Hutchins, Rick Kiscil, Chris Abate, Kevin MacDougall and Keith Oliver.

Playing for the Americans were Jason Doyle, Steve Nieters, Brian Taylor, Bob Austin, Steve McInnis, Peter McLaughlin, Bob Crespi, Barry Glyn, Pat O'Donoghue, Greg Clifford, Dan Gilmartin, Jim McCarthy, Mike Doherty, Jim Glynn, Ken

Brian O'Malley and Aaron Silverman.

DeBoer was named the Nationals' MVP and Jim Glynn the Americans' MVP.

DeBoer led the Nationals with three line drive singles and Anderlonis and Farrell had singles.

The Americans were paced by O'Donoghue, Taylor, Clifford, O'Malley, McCarthy, Gilmartin and Glynn.

Point Panthers Select Cheerleaders

Our Local Business', Alumni, All Citizens

Who are concerned in assisting the athletic programs of our youth that have been greatly effected by recent budget restraints.

Our goal, to install permanent lighting facilities in our Veterans Memorial Stadium.

We need, $100,000 to achieve this goal.

We know that there are many citizens and alumni of our athletic programs that have many fond memories of our stadium. We want our facility to be second to none. Night athletic events will allow many more people to attend various competitions involving all of our athletes. The city of Quincy has always shown great pride in our Athletic Programs and throughout the years they have proudly represented our city of Presidents.

Now in these restricting times our Athletes need our support. We cannot let them down.

We the Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee are asking your help in achieving our goal to rededicate Veterans Memorial Stadium and help us "Brighten Up" the future of our athletic programs for all of the youth of our city.

Your support and tax deductible contributions would be greatly appreciated by the youth of our city.

Lack Experience But- Raiders Have Size And Speed

North Quincy's football team, following a 7-3 season in 1984, fell to 3-7 last fall but salvaged the year by squeaking out a 7-6 victory over Quincy.

"We will do better than last year," said fifth-year coach Ken McPhee following the first week of practice. "We have good size and speed but we have a lot of inexperience. We might start slowly but we'll come along and I feel we should have a good season."

McPhee was greeted by 100 candidates, including freshmen, got by the first week without any injuries and the Raider coach is cautiously optimistic about the approaching season.

"This is a very dedicated and hard-working group of kids and they really hustled during our first week of practice. They reported in fine condition and are raring to go," he said.

McPhee feels the offensive line is the team's strongest point and feels the backs should be able to run behind it.

The tight ends are sophomore Mike Ainsley, who had an outstanding year as a freshman linebacker; Mark DiMattio, Steve Brooks and Mike Shields.

The offensive tackles are led by returning starter Matt 'Tank' McNamara, who has worked his eight 'down' to 250. He is backed up by Dan Smith (230), Brian Campbell, Tom McDonald (200), also a backup center; Mike Curtin and sophomore Sean McDonough, who has been sidelined with an injury.

Tim Kelly, (210) a starter on defense last year; Co-Capt. Tom Dolan (205), a returning starter; Dave Levine and Jim Liberato are the guards and Paul Hogan (210), Paul Nimerskin and McDonald are the centers.

For wide receivers McPhee has sophomore Billy McDougall, who had an excellent varsity season as a freshman; returning starter Steve Haggas, Ted Stevenson, Joe Bodie and Jack Mullin.

Bobby Silva and Joe Mulvey are the leading quarterback hopefuls, both up from the junior varsity, and they are backed up by Tom Casey and Dave Hutchings.

The fullbacks are sophomore Ryan Craig, Chris Mendes, Eric Giordano and Paul Jeffers.

The halfbacks are Brian Callow, Brian Durgin, Dave

Lawless (210), Paul McCormick, a returning starter; Steve Patch and Lou Sasso.

"Silva and Mulvey lack varsity experience but look good and they are about even," McPhee said. "Each handles the ball well and can pass adequately. I feel they can do the job."

"I'm looking for a big year from Lawless, who stands 6-3 and weighs 210. He was outstanding two years ago as a freshman but did not play last season. He should do well and McCormick and Craig should gain a lot of yardage."

McPhee has Ted Sadowski, Kevin Cobban, Jamie Walsh and Pete Zoia back as assistant coaches and Peter Chrosom, son of North's principal, who coached at Quincy last year, has joined the staff.

The Raiders crimmaged Braintree last Saturday, had scrimmages with Naxerian and Scituate lined up, will play in a jamboree Friday night, Sept. 12 when the Veterans Stadium lights will be officially turned on, and will open the season Friday night, Sept. 19, at 7 o'clock against oldtime rival Milton at the stadium.

Next week: The defense.

Hope To Shed Injury Jinx Presidents Will Be A Running Team

By TOM SULLIVAN

Jack Raymer is starting his third year as Quincy football coach and he hopes that this fall he can escape the injury jinx which hit the Presidents the past two seasons.

Last season Quincy went 0-0, the school's first winless record and for the second year in a row the Presidents were hit hard by injuries.

"If we can stay healthy, I feel we will have a good season," said Raymer. "We had a great off-season conditioning program put together by assistant coach John Taglieri and the boys are in great condition."

The injury jinx doesn't seem to want to go away. Sean Munroe, one of several veterans and the top wide receiver, broke his foot on the first day of practice. He will miss several games.

Quincy has a lot of experience on offense and should be able to move the ball.

"The offensive line looks good and we should be able to run," Raymer said. "We will be mainly a running team, although Steve Austin proved last year he can pass and, although we will surely miss Munroe, we have some boys who can catch the ball."

For the tight ends Raymer has returning starters Steve Gardner (195) and Frank Calabro (200), Mark Farrand, who saw a little action with the varsity, and newcomer Ken Gurney.

Three returning starters, Dave Savage (220), Jeff Sprague (205) and Mike Eastwick (215) lead the tackles and they are backed up by Brian Norris, a good looking sophomore, and Mike Madden.

At guard there are two starters, Steve Picarski (200) and Rick Smith, Tom Bjork, who saw some varsity service, Eric Walorz, Paul Kirk, Steve Acorn, Karl Staskywick, Kerry Byrne and Phil Daley.

Norm Hassan, a defensive starter a year ago, and Jim Feeley are the centers.

Wide receivers are Chris Mackey, Bill Ryan, Jim Kimmell, Mike Miele and Wes Crowley.

Austin (6-3, 205) is expected to have a good year at quarterback. Backing him up are Jay Dennett, Chris Noble and Scott Campbell.

The fullbacks are Dennis DeCoste, Joe Cardarelli (205), Chris Kohler, Dave Spencer, Dave Nourse, a promising sophomore, and Pete Oliveri.

Returning starter Joe Innello heads a promising group of halfbacks. Others are John Bogan, a starter at guard last fall; Joel Rogers, Greg Doten, Tom Tegen, Ernie Light, sophomore Scott O'Brien, who looks good; Dan Sullivan, Craig Keefe and Todd Kimmell.

"We had a turnout of 70, not including the freshmen," Raymer said. "We will have more than 100 when the freshmen report. We have a promising sophomore group."

The Presidents will scrimmage Walpole Saturday and Milton next Wednesday. They will play in a jamboree Sept. 12 when the Veterans Memorial Stadium lights are officially turned on and will open the season against Cambridge Rindge and Latin Saturday night, Sept. 20, at 7 at the stadium.

Raymer has two returning assistants, defensive coach Taglieri and Jim Kennedy, who will handle the receivers and offensive backs. Bob Noble, who has coached the Elks of the Youth Football League for 11 years, has joined the staff and Paul Gilbody is the new freshman coach. Sean Burke, who played at Boston University the last three years, will work with the ends, and Peter Cassidy also is helping out.

Next week: The defense.

Youth Football League Opens Season Sunday

The Quincy Youth Football League will open its 36th season Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Plans are still tentative as to where the five league teams will play due to the lighting construction at the stadium.

Barring any last minute schedule changes, the Quincy Point Panthers will play the Squantum Sailors and the North Quincy Apaches will face the Houghs Neck Manets. The West Quincy Elks are idle.

Games are played throughout November.

Junior varsity games are held Saturday mornings at 10 a.m. at each team's practice field.

Home Run 10-K Road Race Sept. 18

The Quincy Youth Commission's seventh annual Home Run 10-K road race will be held Sept. 18, 5 p.m. at Veterans' Memorial Stadium, Hancock St.

Entry fee is $5 for pre-registration and $6 on the day of the race. Free tee shirts will be presented to the first 400 registered runners.

Grand prize will be two get-away weekends for two, sponsored by the Sheraton-Tara and the Hyatt Regency. These will be awarded to the top male and female finishers.

Medals will be presented to first, second, and third place finishers in each division which are: 15 and under; 16-19; 20-39; 40-49; 50 and over; wheelchair. Certificates will be presented to all runners upon completion.

All registered runners will be eligible to win merchandise prizes, donated by area merchants.

Quincy Golfer In Women's Tourney

Pat Olson of North Quincy will tee off against approximately 75 local golf champions competing in The Boston Globe Women's Tournament of Club Champions Friday at the Oakley Country Club in Watertown.

Olson earned her berth in the tournament by winning the championship at the Braintree Municipal Golf Club, where she was also club champion in 1985.

This year marks the first women's competition in the history of the annual Boston Globe Tournament of Club Champions. Sponsored in conjunction with the Women's Golf Association of Massachusetts, the 18-hole stroke play event is open to champions of member clubs throughout the state.

Koch Men's Bowling League Discontinued

The Koch Club Men's Bowling League will not operate this year and members wishing to bowl are advised to join other leagues for the 1986-87 season.

The league was forced to discontinue one of its oldest activities when the Wonder Bowl closed and a mixup in scheduling at the Merrymount Daylight Alley's resulted in the decision.

President Paul Koch, the only original member of the 36-year-old league, said it is hoped that the league will return to action in September of 1987 with alleys to accommodate the 40-member league.

DayOne Offers Day Treatment For Drug, Alcohol Abuse

D. Raymond Mount of Stoneham, Ph.D. candidate and a specialist in polydrug and alcohol abuse has been appointed staff psychologist at the DayOne day treatment program for substance abuse in Quincy.

Mount holds a bachelor's degree in biology from Wagner College, a master's in educational counseling from Boston State, and will receive his doctor of philosophy degree in clinical psychology from Hofstra University in September.

Mount, who has done extensive research in the comparison of treatment methods for alcohol and other addictions, is a strong advocate of day treatment programs in which the client returns home to family and friends each evening, rather than the traditional in-hospital programs, which he says, are therapeutically more limiting.
